PLAYLET STAR AUTHOR OF OVER 100 PLAYS

Hyman B. Adler.

Hyman B. Adler, star of his own playlet, "The Miser's Dream," at the Empress, is not only a notable actor but a singer. He appeared before the public for the first time as a choir boy in Buda Pest, Hungary, and when but 12 years old made a tour of the world under the celebrated Vohy. After reaching his majority, Adler decided to adopt the drama instead of music and formed his own company. He wrote his own plays and frequently wrote a drama every fortnight for his little band of actors and actresses. Bella Baker, Sam Stern and Dave Samuels, all of whom have attained stage prominence, are graduates of Adler's company. Adler is the author of more than 100 plays. "The Miser's Dream," his vehicle along the Sullivan & Considine circuit, is remarkable as a playlet, because of its variety. Youth and age, comedy and pathos, severity and gentleness are characterized in the sketch presented by Adler, Daisy Stempel and Merita Valentine.

Dramatic Reader Pleases Audience

A large and discriminating audience gathered Tuesday afternoon at the Hellog, the occasion being the presentation of "Tomorrow" by Mme. Harriet Labadie, the dramatic reader, who, through her appearance here last week, had many sympathetic friends and admirers in the assemblage. Plays are not books with a purpose are apt to be deficient in balance. Percy MacKaye would seem to have avoided that snare. The subject of the play is a difficult one, prudery dies hard, and prudery often treads upon her skirts. But the writer has grasped his nettle with success, he has treated a difficult subject delicately but firmly, his courage being no less conspicuous than his tact. The plot of "Tomorrow" is simple enough. A professor, disciple of Mandel, devoting his life to the improvement of seedling in breeding to the production of the best in plant, in flower, in forest tree, has a beautiful daughter named Mona—the Spanish word for tomorrow. She has been taught the meaning of her father's life. She believes in the need of order and the sense of responsibility in race production. "Loves Man With 'Tast'."

PUTS DEEP STUDY IN CHARACTERS

Whenever the Baker Players put on a play that is dramatized from a book, William Lloyd secures a copy of the book immediately and studies the author's idea of whatever character he may be cast for. In this way he has acquired a reputation for remarkable character make-up and originality. His "Four-Eyed Willie" in "Going Some" this week is said by critics to be one of the best things that has been seen on the Baker stage this season. Willie is a creation of Rex Beach, who wrote the story and who is well versed in people who live on the edges of civilization. He is a mild, meek-looking little chap, whose apparent harmlessness has caused many men to attempt to use him for the brunt of a bad joke. The character is a complex one and Mr. Lloyd got the author's true idea of it from a close study of the book. There will be a special Thanksgiving day matinee of "Going Some," which is one of the most hilarious and exciting comedies ever presented here.

DECLARES PORTLAND MUST HAVE PLAN

"The appearance of Portland gives evidence of the presence of plan. The faces of the people reflect pride of city and confidence in its future. Their manner of alert busy-ness gives the newcomer the impression that here is the city where they do things." This statement was made by Alicia M. Zierden, financial secretary of the American Civic association, of Washington, D. C., who came to Portland yesterday for a visit of a few days. "I have never before been in a city so splendidly lighted," continued Miss Zierden. "You have no 'dark corners.' I admire the fountains of bubbling, pure, water which are found on the street-corners. They are artistic, but more, they are promoters of temperance. If I could I would put such fountains in every city of this nation."

"While the streets of Portland are neither so wide nor so well arranged as could be desired, the cause is easily discernible in the extremely rapid growth of the city, and the cure is to be found in the recommendations of the Greater Portland plan which I consider one of the greatest ever provided for any city. I do not believe Portland could safely build further without a plan as a guide."

VIOLIN VIRTUOSO WILL APPEAR IN PORTLAND

John Marquardt, violin virtuoso, with his wife, noted as a harpist, are to play in Portland. Both are very well known musicians. Mr. and Mrs. Marquardt belong to the Thomas orchestra, the Philadelphia orchestra and two Boston symphonies, he as soloist and concert master, and she as harpist. Mrs. Marquardt has sometimes been called the "Paderewski of the harp." She played with Meib, Sembrich and Tetrasini, on two world-tours, and has played in Japan, China, Russia, the Philippines, Java, Sumatra and India, besides America and the European countries.

In New York both the Marquardts have appeared in concerts with Damrosch and the Philharmonic orchestra. They were in San Francisco for several years, where Mr. Marquardt directed orchestras. While here the Marquardts will be heard at the Portland hotel grill restaurants and evenings.

PIONEER WOMAN OF 88 ASTORIA'S OLDEST VOTER

(Special to The Journal.) Astoria, Oct. 27.—Mary A. Kinney, 88 years old, has the distinction of being the oldest registered voter in Clatsop county. Despite her advanced age, this pioneer woman, who was born in Providence, R. I., and brought up among Puritans of solemn mien and morals, is as vivacious as a girl in her teens and is well versed on politics and politicians. It was with much pride that she said in Judge Anderson's office yesterday, "I have lived to see woman vote." The second best elector in the age column falls short of the record by three years.

It is imperative that those contributing news for the Sunday society pages should have it reach the desk of the society editor not later than Friday. News is always welcome and those who have affairs early in the week would confer a great favor by sending their reports in as soon after as possible.

At the Concert.

A LONG line of taxis and private motors conveyed a large gathering that filled Masonic Temple last evening for the concert of William Wallace Graham, violinist, who was assisted by Miss Thelma Waters, contralto, and Edgar E. Courson, piano. Patronesses for the event were Mrs. Helen Ladd Corbett, Mrs. J. Wesley Leach, Mrs. Solomon Hirsch, Mrs. James Laddlaw, Mrs. Richard Koehler, Mrs. Henry L. Corbett, Mrs. Charles F. Beebe, Mrs. Walter E. Byrnes, Mrs. Gray W. Talbot, Mrs. David T. Honeyman, Mrs. Warren F. Houghton and Miss Mary Falling.

Son Arrives.

Mr. and Mrs. William V. Dolph are being showered with congratulations on the advent of a little newcomer in their home yesterday. William Vanderbilt Dolph Jr., a brother to little Miss Jane Dolph.

Dates Ahead.

Mrs. Roger B. Smett is entertaining with a few tables of bridge on Tuesday. Mrs. William A. MacRae has cards out for a bridge to be given a week from tomorrow and Mrs. William H. Grindstaff also has cards out for a bridge on Friday week.

Mrs. Spencer Complimented.

Mrs. John Claire Montelth entertained an informal gathering of friends at tea yesterday to greet Mrs. Donald Spencer (Miss Delta M. Watson) of Everett, Wash. Mrs. Warren E. Thomas presided at the table with the assistance of Miss Louise Small, Mr. David T. Honeyman, Mrs. Warren F. Houghton and Miss Mary Falling.

Christmas Sewing Party.

A charming affair of yesterday afternoon was the informal Christmas sewing party given by Miss Geraldine Courson. Violet was the color scheme developed in the dainty collation, in the serving of which the hostess was assisted by Miss Emma Klosterman, Miss Mary Long and Miss Jessie McLean. Other guests were Mrs. Lloyd Bates, Mrs. Coe A. McKenna, Mrs. Guy Standler, Mrs. Matthew B. Evans, Mrs. Frank Butler, Mrs. Charles W. Morden, Miss Gretchen Klosterman, Miss Jean Brownlie, Miss Gladys Ross, Miss Louise Williams, Misses Louise and Ruth Smith, Miss Louise Bradley, Miss Verna Guthrie, Miss Ruby Crichton, Miss Dorothy Moulton, Miss Fleetwood of Tacoma, Miss Marjorie Forbis, Misses Janet and Marie Noble and Miss Winifred Abbott.

Two Bridges.

Mrs. Frank A. Heitkemper planned a bridge of 10 tables yesterday afternoon when her favors were captured by Mrs. J. B. McKeown and Mrs. Ernest Catlin. Assisting the hostess were Mrs. A. D. Charlton and Mrs. F. H. Fogarty. Yellow was the color scheme used in the decorations and all appointments of the refreshments. The rooms were beautiful, almost transformed into a bower of yellow chrysanthemums. In the evening Mr. and Mrs. Heitkemper asked guests to make up nine tables of the game. High scores were won by Mrs. J. J. Valentine and Paul E. Froelich. Mrs. Froelich, Mrs. Fogarty and Mrs. Harry E. Coleman assisted Mrs. Heitkemper.

Patronesses Chosen.

Mrs. Robert S. Bean, Mrs. J. George Beach, Mrs. Harriet McArthur, Mrs. William L. Fenton and Mrs. F. J. Zeigler have been chosen as patronesses for the Oregon University Alumni dance to be given tomorrow evening in Masonic temple.

Wake Up! You Lazy Stomach

Make Your Stomach Cheerfully Do Its Work—Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Digest Your Food and Assist the Stomach. People who complain they are worn to a frazzle are nearly always dyspeptic and are recommended to use Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. The stomach gets lazy, food ferments and sours, gas betches up, there are symptoms of bloating, the blood becomes thick and sluggish, the liver is blamed, the head is heavy, the mind a blank and the dining room is a chamber of horrors. One of the greatest evils of our modern life is the quick lunch. To this evil, as much or more, than any other, may be traced the preponderance of the stomach troubles of our times. Instead of taking time to thoroughly masticate the food before swallowing it, the average person rushes through the meal, bolting the food, deglutition taking place while it is only partially mixed with saliva, and only half masticated, thus leaving the stomach to do the work the teeth should have done. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets contain digestive elements, a single grain being capable of digesting 3000 grains of food, including meats, eggs, grain, vegetables, starches and mineral matters. They prepare every particle of food by thorough digestion for ready absorption and assimilation by the lactical glands, which pass it into the blood, whence it is conducted to all parts of the system, rebuilding and revitalizing it. Every druggist has Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets in stock and sells them at 25 cents a box.

THANKSGIVING GIFTS REQUESTED BY SOCIETY

The Boys' and Girls' Aid Society of Oregon asks to be remembered by its friends this Thanksgiving. The receiving home, situated at the corner of East Twenty-ninth and Irving streets, is crowded with children, 78 being under its roof. These children all have to be provided with turkey on Thanksgiving and the youngsters are anxiously looking forward to that day and in order that they may not be disappointed the management requests that all persons having anything to donate, either groceries, provisions, fruit, vegetables, etc., will notify Superintendent Gardner on phones East 5, or 2-1247, when such donations will be promptly called for.
