MAUD'S SUPPLE FIGURE GROWS PLUMP AND HER REIGN THEREBY ENDS

Maud was a high stepper and showed "class and speed." Possibly this, and the fact that she had a trim figure and was well bred, accounted for her popularity. In any event, she was admitted wherever she ap-reased

But her reign has passed, for with passing years her figure lost its suppleness, age mel-lowed her high spirit to a point of serene gentleness and transformed her into a sedate old family mare.

Maud is a horse, worn by years of faithful service and beloved by children,

T. Samard, who resides in Sellwood, owned her until a few days ago. He did not want to dispose of the old family pet, but realizing her uselessness to nerself, and him in the city, he began looking around for a good home for her. Being a business man he took the most direct way of doing it. He advertised-and chose the classified section of The Journal of course. Here is the ad that brought results:

"$65 BUYS good family mars, weight 1100 pounds; barness and buggy. Phone Seliwood 1788." Maud has a home in the country now, a place where, among pleasant surroundings, she will round out her life span, the pet of a family that will love her.
