terested yourself before you can interest and teach others. The teacher that isn't bigger than the text book in goography is that you get out of bounding the states. All that has gone by the board in the best educational circles. This good news for children—and teachers, too, if you recollect what used to happen in geography class—was told at this morning's session of the Multnoman county teachers' institute by E. S. Evenden of the Oregon Normal school.

"Examination papers are good mirrors of the way in which children have been taught. Take this answer, in a paper sent to me for marking, in answer to a question to define a watershed:

"A watershed, said the boy, is a small building near the livery stable where they wash the buggies off."

"He was right—it is. That was the virtually the same grave crime, furdefend his choice and tell why. The Mass and his deputies yesterday. George Taylor, 50 years of age, of they learn that way without knowing Canby, was arrested by Sheriff Mass says Boston is larger, make him nished a busy afternoon for Sheriff on a charge preferred on account of his step-daughter, aged 14. William Lillie, account of his own daughter, made good his escape, after having driven Constable George Brown from his farm at the point of a shotgun, and after having taken the daughter away from her mother and the deputy. Lillie then took the girl and escaped.

Constable Brown, accompaniel by Mrs. Lillie, who is diverced, and the daughter, drove to the Lillie farm yesterday afternoon to get a bundle of clothes belonging to the daughter. It was thought the accused man was in the state of Washington, as he had disappeared a week ago or so, when the complaint was sworn out. Deputy Brown was going up a ladder leading to the upper story of the crude hame, when a shotgun was poked in his face, and from the darkness above came Lillie's voice:

"Brown, you get down from there." He then ordered the surprised deputy from the premises, after forcibly taking the daughter from Mrs. Lillie. The two returned at once to Oregon City, and a posse with shotguns drove quickly to the Lillie farm, about six miles from town, on the Clackamas road. Lillie had crossed the Baker's Ferry bridge with the girl and started out through the woods with his shotgun over his shoulder, according to neighbors, Lillie has long brooded over his domestic troubles. Several weeks ago he applied before the county court for the custody of his daughters, on the ground that the mother was not a proper person to care for them. This request was denied by Judge Beattle. The daughter is about 15 years of age.

Sheriff Mass had no trouble arresting the other man accused on his farm near Canby. The complaint was sworn out by neighbors. Taylor is married.

TWO CITIES CONTEND FOR BILL CODY'S OLD COACH

Cody, Wyo., Dec. 12.-Colonel W. F. Cody (Buffalo Bill) and a party of friends have been spending two weeks hunting in the vicinity of Pashaka lodge, the colonel's fine country place between Cody and Yellowstone park. Colonel Cody will spend a portion of the winter at the ranch.

Colonel Cody's fellow citizens here are urging him to remember his home town, the town that bears his name, in the distribution of his collection of stage coaches. They want the old Deadwood stage coach with its battered and bulletriddled sides. Governor Carey and others have requested Colonal Cody to give it to the state museum in Cheyenne, but the people here believe that it should be left in Cody. The old yellow stage coach which used to run between the Cody depot and the Irma hotel, after it had seen long service on trips between towns, has been shipped to Miss Elizabeth Gentry, the chairman of the old trails committee of the Missouri D. A. R. of Kansas City. Although few people knew about the presentation it was brought down from the T. E. ranch by four horses and pa-raded up and down the streets here be-
