Tried to Get "Easy Money"—On a charge of attempting to extort money from D. Dorfman, 27 North Third street, Blain Stratton was sentenced to 180 days on the rockpile this morning in the municipal court. Stratton recently came to Oregon from Virginia, where he served five years for manslaughter. Dorfman found a letter at his store Friday from Stratton, who demanded that $150 be sent him before Sunday or the Dorfman store would be burned. The matter was turned over to the police. Detectives Craddock and Goltz took up the trail of Stratton. Friday night the uniformed police arrested the man for breaking a window in a Japanese store. Stratton this morning acknowledged the charges.

Auditorium Meeting Delayed.—Since Judge W. D. Fenton and Phil Metschan Jr. have delayed their return from California visits, it will not be possible to hold the annual meeting of the public auditorium commission before the latter part of this week, said T. B. Wilcox, chairman of the commission, this morning. At this meeting committees from the East Side Business Men's club and Greater Portland Plans association will appear to urge that the people be given opportunity to decide the location by public vote. The commission will consider its plan for proceeding to build the auditorium on the Market block.

Will Not Sell Frozen Oranges.—Front street commission houses are opposed to the marketing here of frozen oranges, and every effort is being made by them to keep such stock away from Portland. Friday the Pacific Fruit & Produce company received a shipment from California through the brokerage house of R. F. Hoosking & Co. The stock was found to be frosted, according to Manager Carlwell of the firm, and was taken back to the broker. The city market inspector was notified and the stock seized. No attempt was made by the commission house to sell the oranges.

Sells Suit Cheap.—Selling a $40 suit of clothes for $17.50 proved the downfall of H. S. Patton, an alleged room prowler, who was arrested yesterday by Detectives Maloney and Swennes at Fourth and Washington streets. The suit was stolen from a lodger in a rooming house at 40 1/2 Washington street. He sold it in a north end second hand store. Patton recently came from Spokane, where he is accused of robbing rooms. His case will be taken up Tuesday morning in the municipal court.

Inner Study Circle.—The Inner Study circle, of the Portland Ad club will meet in the Bowers hotel at 6 o'clock tonight, when the new officers will be elected and installed. Talks will be made by E. B. Johnson, late of the New York World, and the Allen Advertising Agency of New York, Henry E. Miller, known as the street car advertising man, and others.

Maccahees Joint Installation.—Queen Elizabeth Drive No. 24. Ladies of the Maccahees of the World and Tent No. 87 will join in the installation of officers this evening at I. O. O. F. hall, East Sixth and Alder streets. The program will be furnished by the Lady Maccahees, and the Knights will furnish supper.

Mayor is Thanked.—Mayor Rushlight was agreeably surprised today to receive a copy of a resolution adopted at a recent meeting of the South Portland Boosters club, thanking the mayor for his efficient administration and his earnest efforts to serve the people of the entire city.

Lawsuit Over a Cow.—Because a milk cow purchased by Ray Ramesbothem from S. Shannon, it is alleged, did not give milk when it should, Ramesbothem has started action in the justice court against Shannon to recover $125 damage. In the complaint that has been filed, Ramesbothem states that he purchased the milk cow December 30, and that Shannon had said the animal was sound in body. When he tried to milk the cow, he found that the animal was not as it should be. Ramesbothem states that he took the animal back to Shannon, but Shannon refused to take it. Now he wants Shannon to pay him $75, the cost of the cow, $35 that was spent for veterinary services, and $15 for his trouble.

Wrong Name; Case Dismissed.—Because the complaint was made against the Northern Pacific Railroad company instead of the Northern Pacific Railway company, the incorporated name of the great Hill line that comes from St. Paul to Portland, the suit of Sofia O. Mann against the road to recover damages for the death of her husband in 1910, was virtually thrown out of the United States district court by a decision from Judge Bean this morning. The original bill of complaint of the plaintiff named the wrong corporation as the defendant. Later a motion was made by attorneys for the plaintiffs that the bill of complaint be amended changing the suit to the right corporation. Judge Bean overruled this motion, stating that it was a clear case of the wrong party being sued and that action would have to be started all over again.

Midwinter Excursion.—Wednesday afternoon the midwinter excursion to Oregon and California from the Puget sound country over the O.-W. R. & N. and Southern Pacific lines will arrive in Portland. The excursionists will spend about eight hours in the city and will be entertained at dinner at the Portland hotel. This will be the third of a series of midwinter excursion parties to visit Portland this winter under the auspices of the Harriman system. There will be about 250 in the party.

Land Case Near.—Within the next three weeks attorneys for the government and the Oregon & California Railroad company will be ready to argue the land grant case. All the testimony has been taken and is written up and the attorneys are busily engaged in getting their cases ready for argument. D. B. Townsend will present the case for the government as special prosecutor and W. D. Fenton will represent the railroad company.

Burgard Appointed.—The city council today authorized Mayor Rushlight to appoint a committee of one to confer with the proprietors of various civic organizations at a meeting to be held next Wednesday evening in the council chambers of the city hall, the object of the meeting being to devise ways and means of fittingly celebrating Lincoln's birthday, February 12. The mayor appointed Councilman John H. Burgard.

Court Held at Bedside.—Judge Tazewell adjourned his court to the New Huston hotel this morning to take the evidence of a woman unable to get to the city jail. She was a witness against A. B. Murphy, proprietor of the Auditorium hotel, who was accused of being a vagrant. The woman was Murphy's former wife. She was too ill to leave her bed. After hearing her story, the judge dismissed the case.

Steals in Church.—During services last evening at the Swedish Lutheran Emanuel church, Nineteenth and Irving streets, a thief entered the rear of the building, taking an overcoat and hat. The coat belongs to C. Erickson, while the hat is the property of Charles Swenson. A gray cap was left for Swenson. Rev. J. R. Olson, pastor of the church, notified the police of the theft.

Cats, Cats—Too Many.—Mrs. L. M. Eavins, 102 1/2 Union avenue, has appealed to the police to protect her from cats during the night. She states that shortly after midnight the cats begin to gather. Sometimes, she says, as many as 25 felines congregate in the rear yard, holding a tournament. Neighbors also complain of the gathering.

To Discuss Commission Form.—The second in the series of popular meetings, under the auspices of the W. C. T. U., will be held at 428 Behne-Walker building, tomorrow evening, at 7:30. Subject will be, "The Commission Form under government and the speaker will be W. C. Benbow. The present system of government will also be explained.

File Petitions.—Louis A. Haackl, proprietor of a tobacco store at 232 Washington street, filed a bankruptcy petition in the United States district court today. Assets are $300 and liabilities $698.15 are cited. Eugene E. Bonham, a laborer of Perry, Or., was a bankruptcy petitioner today, naming liabilities of $981 and no assets.

PLAN WOULD AFFECT STATE GATHERINGS

H. B. Miller, former consul general at Hong Kong and Belfast and former president of the Oregon Agricultural college, has laid before the Commercial club executive committee a proposition that all the state gatherings annually held in Portland should be so scheduled as to come within two weeks of each November. There would be included the flower, poultry, dairy, and produce, horticultural shows, and meetings of the horticultural society, dairymen's association, butter and cheesemakers, country live commission, wool growers, pure bred livestock association and others of an agricultural character. The proposition has seemed so timely that it will be thoroughly discussed at a luncheon to be held in the Commercial club one week from today. The thought is that those who live out in the state and desire to attend several of these meetings would be given opportunity to do so without duplicating journeys at unnecessary cost. The executive committee of the Commercial club has appointed a state and city committee to take up the proposition at the meeting January 27.

WOMEN JOIN FIRE FIGHTERS AT BURNS

Business Section Threatened When Landmark Building Destroyed by Flames. (Special to The Journal.) Burns, Or., Jan. 20.—A fire in the business portion of the city for a time menaced the north end of Main street last Wednesday morning. The fire was discovered at 10 o'clock Tuesday night in the Locher building, standing at the end of North Main street, and perhaps the most noted landmark in the city. The fire originated in the apartments of John Worlow, who is believed to have turned over his lamp. A number of frame residence buildings were near the burning one, also Lamphere's garage, McKennon's livery and feed barn and across the street Clansinger's furniture and undertaking store. The volunteer fire department did some unusually fine work. Realizing that the west end of the building was doomed, squads were put to work to protect nearby properties, and the east end of the burning building, and to confine the fire to the burning portion. This they succeeded in doing. Four wells were pumped dry. Many hoses were in the work and assisted the threatened homes in the removal of their household effects, and in pumping of water. Mr. Locher's loss is a heavy one, as the building was a good revenue producer, though a patchwork of wood and stone, representing years of hard work on the part of the owner, he having constructed it largely by himself. He carried no insurance, having allowed it to lapse last July.

CONFESSED ROBBER IS FORMALLY INDICTED

Formal indictment of the crimes charged against him and to which he confessed was made against John Torgerson, postoffice, store and station robber, of Jackson county, in a return by the United States grand jury this morning. Torgerson confessed to entering the Medford, Talent, Gold Hill and Rogue River postoffices, and these constitute the basis for four of the five counts of the indictment. The fifth count charges the theft of a letter carrier's key from the Medford postoffice. As soon as the requisition papers came from California and Governor West issues the necessary requisition papers Torgerson will be taken to Red Bluff, Cal., by Sheriff Jud W. Boyd to answer to a charge of murder. United States District Attorney John McCourt last week decided that Torgerson should be turned over to answer to the murder charge, but waited before making the announcement until an indictment could be returned here. Before indicting Torgerson, an indictment was returned against Charles Captain, a Klamath Indian, for selling liquor on the reservation. A not true bill was returned, liberating Harvey Bosole of the charge of passing defunct Georgia State bank notes.

FRISKY DOG CAUSES REAL COMMOTION; CAR IS DELAYED

A dog—a small, fuzzy-haired animal—stopped all incoming traffic on the Mount Scott car line for several minutes Saturday night, vexed a number of men who were on the car, angered the motorman and conductor and brought laughter to a number of women who were present. All this disturbance was caused by restless Fido being imbued with the spirit of winter manifested by the snow. The dog and its owner, a woman, had been riding on the car for several blocks. At Thirty-seventh street the car was stopped. Fido seeing his chance, made a rush for the door, jumped to the ground and started to frisk about in the snow. "Won't someone please catch Fido for me?" the young woman asked. "Sure," came a chorus from the gallant men aboard the car, and they all made a scramble for the door. Several minutes passed. The men chased the dog, and the animal, having the time of its life—thinking it was all in play—brought much laughter to the women in the car. When the men found the chase was hopeless the motorman summoned courage and spoke to the owner. "Please lady, call your dog. We are overdue now," he told her. "Here, Fido. Come here, Fido," she called. Fido came, the crestfallen men clambered back into the car and traffic was resumed.

MONSTER WAVE HITS ELDER, ROOM AWASH

(United Press Leased Wire.) San Francisco, Jan. 20.—Her stern crumpled in by a monster wave which flooded her dining room and 30 lower deck staterooms, while she was on her way from Portland, the steamer George W. Elder is today on her way to San Diego, after touching here for repairs. The wave tore into the vessel as the passengers were at dinner, and four seas were shipped before the gap could be boarded up. There was no panic. Two holes chopped in the dining room wall near the deck let the water out. The passengers whose staterooms were flooded had considerable difficulty finding dry clothing aboard the vessel.

POLICE NOT BOTHERED BY "BOOTLEGGERS"

The police were not bothered yesterday with "bootleggers." This was due to Sheriff Word's closing up orders of pool rooms where a bar is connected, although the bar is closed on Sunday. All large pool halls in the north and south ends were closed by reason of the order. This was the second Sunday for such an order. Heretofore, the police have arrested from two to six men peddling liquor in these pool halls. Two men and sometimes four have been assigned this work, but yesterday the chief gave orders that two men would be enough, as there appears nothing for them to do. However, the two plain clothes officers went over their territory, finding no one "bootlegging." Such violations of the liquor laws are directly traceable to the big pool rooms, where hundreds of men congregate on Sunday. With such a crowd it is easy for men to illegally sell liquor. In tracing the liquor found on the "bootleggers" the officers usually found the source to be with the proprietors of the combination saloon and pool rooms. Helping to Enforce Law. Commission merchants of the city are today cooperating with the market inspectors in their efforts to shut frozen carloads of frozen oranges shipped to this city within the past week have been condemned by Additional Market Inspector Keith, who was requested to inspect the fruit by the consignees. Grand Jury Acquits. Yale, Or., Jan. 20.—William Stone, charged with assault with a dangerous weapon, under indictment by the grand jury, was acquitted by a jury in the Malheur county circuit court.

HARDWARE MEN MEET TOMORROW

200 Members of Association Expected to Be In Attendance.

Approximately 200 members of the Oregon Retail Hardware and Implement Dealers' association are expected to attend the seventh annual meeting of the organization, which convenes for a four day session at the Imperial hotel tomorrow. During the week a number of matters of importance to the trade will be discussed, among them being the parcel post and its probable effect on the retail trade. The question of "Fake Advertising" will be brought up also, and it is probable that the convention will take a decided stand against it. On Thursday evening local wholesalers and jobbers will tender a banquet to out of town members. It will be held in the Multnomah hotel. Convention sessions will be held only in the afternoon, for the purpose of giving the visitors opportunity to visit the various business establishments and enjoy excursions and entertainments planned by their hosts here. The annual election of officers will be held Wednesday afternoon and on Friday afternoon the meeting place of 1914 will be selected. The names of those who will address the convention and the subjects they will speak on follow: J. Riley Craven, Dallas, Or. "What's What in Hardware"; Colonel E. Hofer, Portland, "Oregon Made Goods"; A. G. Clark, Portland, "Fake Advertising"; Theo. P. Cramer, Grants Pass, "Keeping Down the Costs in a Hardware Store"; N. D. Cool, Drain, "Cash or Credit Business"; Arthur E. Sugden, Portland, "How Can a Jobber and Retail Dealer, Under Parcel Post, Best Co-operate?"; Don C. Prentiss, Chicago, "Scientific Salesmanship in a Retail Store." In addition there will be a number of free for all discussions on vital matters pertaining to the hardware and implement trade. The Hardware World, one of the best trade publications, has issued a special souvenir number, in which are the photos of a number of implement and hardware men of the northwest. Among them are photos of a number of local men, including C. N. Stickwell, J. F. Carson, Charles R. Archer, H. W. Mitchell, W. E. Wilson, Thomas D. David T. Walter B. and James D. Honeyman of the Honeyman Hardware company; Jay Smith, A. E. Sugden, W. H. Wallace, W. F. Wiggins, Edward Newbegin, H. A. Sargent, A. H. Potter, H. L. Arnold, Perry Polson, A. G. West, L. H. Parker, James Gillespie, Henry North, H. L. Staver and Charles Deyette. The officers of the association are: Glen C. Goodman of Roseburg, president; J. Riley Craven, McMinnville, vice president; and H. J. Altow, Portland, secretary.

THE STORY OF A LOAF OF BREAD. 100 IN GOLD FOR THE BEST STORIES ON A LOAF OF BREAD. Clip Out Each Article to Qualify for the Contest. (No. 3 of a Series of Articles on Bread.) Yes, I am the Mrs. Skeptical Cabelle, who in company with the master baker went through the Royal Bakery, home of Table Queen Bread. I have been convinced that the Royal loaf, thoroughly impregnated with the richest milk and the body-building properties of the best spring wheat, is better bread than I have ever baked. It is better bread than my mother ever baked and better bread than our grandmothers were famed for baking. I was told all about the food properties of that "backbone of cereals" flour, "the lean meat of the vegetable kingdom." It is a fact that gluten is related to the vegetable kingdom as is albumen to the animal kingdom. The huge machines where the flour is blended to get just the proper fineness to make bread properly interested me. I was shown that the flour was carried automatically to the rotary sifter, where it was filtered from every impurity, and from this machine to the cleanly, sanitary tanks, where the flour was made acquainted with the rich milk that makes Table Queen Bread so delicious in toothsome, wholesome food qualities. The exactness of the measuring and the weighing of the ingredients of flour, milk, salt, sugar, yeast, and water, showed me how science and conscience could make possible such a loaf of good bread. Then I was shown the inside of the huge dough mixer and understood how much good effort and good intention there is in the making of a loaf of good bread. I will tell about the mixers and the other machinery processes in my next article. (To be continued in Next Thursday's Journal.) Royal Table Queen Bread is an appeal to your appetite and common sense. Full details of a $100 cash reward will be given in a few days. ROYAL BAKERY AND CONFECTIONERY
