GREEKS BLOW UP JANINA MAGAZINE AND RENEW WAR

Crown Prince Attacks Turkish Fortifications at Basini; Allies End Armistice; Send Sultan Joint Note.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Athens, Jan. 29.—Anticipating a rupture of the Balkan-Turkish armistice, the Greek army, Crown Prince Constantine commanding, attacked the Basini fortifications, near Janina, yesterday, blowing up a powder magazine and killing many Turks. The fighting lasted from early morning until midnight.

London, Jan. 29.—The joint note of the Balkan plenipotentiaries, declaring the allies would terminate the armistice with Turkey immediately, unless the porte makes a conciliatory move forthwith, was handed to the Turkish peace envoys here today. Envoy Novakovitch of the Servian delegation personally delivered the note to Reschid Pasha.

The Turkish envoys are expected to ask time to consult with Constantinople regarding the note.

Diplomats believe neither side can afford to resume the war. They believe both factions are trying to kill time, hoping the powers will intervene.

The Bulgarian plenipotentiaries gave a "farewell" luncheon today to the other Balkan envoys before M. Grovitch, Servia's minister to England, accompanied by Envoy Novakovitch of the Servian delegation, who delivered the joint note to Reschid Pasha.

Sir Edward Grey, England's foreign minister, was notified immediately of the note's delivery. The foreign ambassadors, he said, plan to try and persuade the envoys not to leave London. Dispatches received this afternoon from Constantinople said Turkey's reply to the powers' note would be delivered to the Austrian ambassador there tonight or early tomorrow. It will propose an entirely new basis for peace negotiations.

Constantinople, Jan. 29.—War in the Balkans will be resumed if peace hinges on the ceding of Adrianople and the Aegean islands to the Balkan states.

This is made plain in the answer the porte is drafting to the powers' note, which suggested that Turkey comply with the principal demands outlined by the Balkan plenipotentiaries at the London peace conferences. Semi-official announcement to this effect was made here this afternoon.

The Young Turk leaders are anxiously awaiting the predicted coming to Constantinople of the Fourth army corps, reported en route from the Tchataija forts, to restore the recent ministry, headed by Kiamil Pasha, to power. Although Enver Bey and other Young Turk leaders scouted the report, it is generally credited in foreign circles.

ARBITRATION BOARD HELD UP BY SENATE

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Washington, Jan. 29.—Unless the deadlock in the senate over various nominations by President Taft, which the Democrats refuse to confirm, is broken by Saturday night, the arbitration board created under the Erdman act, to assist in mediating strikes, will be powerless to act in the threatened walkout of firemen employed by eastern railroads.

Labor Commissioner Neill, one of the three mediators named under the Erdman act, has been renominated by President Taft, but the Democratic senators are holding up confirmation. His term expires Saturday. Republican senators have pointed out to the Democrats the necessity of confirming Neill's nomination because of the impending strike of firemen, but have received little encouragement.

SAULSBURY'S ELECTION INSURES A MAJORITY

Dover, Del., Jan. 29.—Willard Saulsbury, Democrat, was elected United States senator by the legislature today, succeeding Senator Richardson. This makes 49 Democrats in the federal senate, giving that party a working majority.

Austin, Texas, Jan. 29.—The legislature in joint session today ratified the election of Morris Sheppard as United States senator for the long and short terms. He will succeed Senator Johnston, who was named to fill the unexpired term of Senator Bailey and will then serve another term.

STEEL CORPORATION SHOWS LARGE GAINS

New York, Jan. 29.—The report of the United States Steel corporation for the quarter ending December 31 shows net earnings of $35,180,000, as against $30,063,000 for the quarter ending with September.

Body Recovered From River.

Hugh Brady, city grappler, connected with the harbor patrol, this afternoon recovered the body of Joseph Bourglin, the cook on the tug Edith, who was drowned on the night of January 22. Brady had been grappling for the body at every opportunity since the accident occurred, but was unable to recover it before today, because of the strong current setting under the steamers moored at the wharf between Salmon and Taylor street. Bourglin was a man about 65 yars old.

SENATE BARS LIQUOR FROM OREGON FAIRS

(Staff Correspondence.)

Salem, Or., Jan. 29.—The senate this morning passed Von der Hellen's bill distinctly separating the state library from the supreme court library, and appropriating $7500 annually in addition to present funds for the use of the library commission. Senator Dimick was the only one to vote no.

Other bills passed by the senate were:

Senate bill No. 49, by Smith of Coos—Prohibiting sale of intoxicants within half a mile of any fair grounds, or sale of soft drinks on fair grounds except by permit of fair authorities.

Senate bill No. 121, by McColloch—Changing name of state board of control to state water board.

Senate bill No. 99 by Hollis—Amending law as to rights of dower, a minor amendment.

Senate bill No. 52, by Wood—Declaring roads, in town of Gaston to be streets.

REPUBLICANS WANT ON ELECTION BOARDS

(Staff Correspondence.)

Salem, Or., Jan. 29.—Senator Thompson this morning introduced a bill to restore the Republican party to representation on the election boards of the state, of which they are deprived by the present law, which gives judges and clerks to the two parties casting the first and second highest number of votes for president. Just now the Democrats and Bull Moosers are the only parties answering that description.

Under the amendment of the law proposed by Thompson, the county courts in each county will not be permitted to appoint more than two judges and two clerks from the same party. This will give representation to Democrats, to Republicans and Bull Moosers equally, or even the Socialists and Prohibitionists, if the county court wants to appoint them.

STATE HIGHWAY BOARD AND $4000 HEAD ASKED

(Staff Correspondence.)

Salem, Or., Jan. 29.—A bill to create a state highway board and a state highway commissioner was introduced in the house this morning by Spencer of Multnomah.

Three highway commissioners, to be appointed by the governor and to serve without pay, are provided. One is to be a bona fide resident of the section east of the Cascades, one from southern Oregon and the other from the remaining part of the state.

The highway commissioner is to be appointive. His salary is fixed at $4000 a year. If possible, the bill says, he must be chosen from the office of public roads, a branch of the United States agricultural department.

The commissioner is to act in an advisory capacity to county judges and commissioners, is to have jurisdiction over road supervisors, and is to collect and report on road statistics.

ALBANY TO VOTE ON CITY LIGHT PLANT

(Special to The Journal.)

Albany, Or., Jan. 29.—Louis C. Kelsey, a civil engineer of Portland, has been engaged by the city council of Albany to prepare preliminary estimates of the probable cost of a municipal electric lighting plant to be used for furnishing current for the lighting of the business streets of the city with cluster lights.

The tentative plans as suggested by Mayor P. D. Glibert, contemplate a plant that will supply a current for 600 cluster poles and it is to be a steam plant. A 300 horsepower engine is expected to furnish sufficient power. No attempt will be made to light more than the business streets, although it is expected that if the plan works out satisfactorily, an additional plant will be installed to furnish commercial electricity to all consumers. The plans and estimates are to be prepared in time for submission at the next session of the council, which will be February 12.

SAVE REMAINING POWER SAYS NEUNER'S NEW BILL

(Staff Correspondence.)

Salem, Or., Jan. 29.—Withdrawal of all potential water powers of the state not so far appropriated until such time as legislation may be enacted to provide for their disposition, is the essence of a bill introduced in the senate this morning by Neuner of Douglas.

It is the theory of the bill that water powers yet open should be closed to the private investor until the state determines fully upon its policy, and that they should be held by the state until legislation is worked out. It is drawn on the line of similar legislation in congress, where a fierce fight has been waged on the question.

LIMIT TO INJUNCTION PLAN OF SENATOR DAY

Salem, Or., Jan. 29.—A bill aimed at abuse of the injunction power by the courts was introduced in the senate this morning by Day of Multnomah. It provides that no temporary injunction shall be issued without notice to the defendant, and no temporary restraining order unless it shall appear from specific facts shown by affidavit or verified bill that immediate and irreparable loss will result. Such an emergency order without notice must be heard as soon as possible, and in not less than 10 days.

Governor Makes H. B. 17 Law.

Salem, Or., Jan. 29.—H. B. 17, repealing obsolete sections 3449, 3441 and 3442, which provide that the secretary of state should take office in June, was signed today by Governor West.

German Aviator Killed.

Aix La Chapelle, France, Jan 29.—Elevating his planes suddenly to avoid telegraph wires, a German aviator, Huell, was thrown 30 feet from his seat and killed. His skull was fractured.

FAVORS STATE AS BANKING LAW UNIT

Senator Newlands Proposes Reserve Associations for Guaranteeing Deposits.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Washington, Jan. 29.—Predicting the enactment of banking reform legislation by the special session of the new congress along strictly Democratic lines, Senator Newlands of Nevada announced today his intention to seek the adoption of a scheme of reserve associations in the several states, to be federated nationally, whose operations would bring about the practical guarantee of deposits.

"I believe the Democratic insistence upon the state as a unit in this legislation to be correct," he said. "While the Aldrich plan of a reserve association of America would divide the country, regardless of state lines, into 16 subdivisions or zones, and would virtually create a central bank, my plan would unite in a reserve association all national and state banks within a state that were doing interstate business, and these banks would inevitably come to protect one another by mutual guaranty of deposits."

Newlands will not introduce a banking measure until he learns whether the house Democrats prefer to bring in the first bill on the subject. His plan may then be offered as a senate amendment. He counts on a majority in the upper house in favor of his ideas.

DEER HUNTER WHO SHOT AND KILLED HIS FRIEND FINED $250 AND COSTS

Goldendale, Wash., Jan. 29.—W. R. Smith of Wah-kai-cus, who shot and killed his friend, Lewis W. Carnahan, while hunting deer in the Big Klickitat canyon last November, was arraigned in the superior court yesterday on a charge of assault in the second degree. Smith pleaded guilty and was fined $250 and costs. The prosecution was based on a law making it a felony for one person to shoot another while hunting wild game. The maximum penalty for the offense is 10 years, a fine of not to exceed $1000, or both.

WRONGDOER IS GIVEN SEVERE REPRIMAND

"You are engaged to a nice, respectable girl at Hoquiam, but came down here to associate with this woman for a few days. You surely are a fine specimen of humanity. Pose as you may, you will never erase the shame that now hangs over your head."

The above was the sharp and bitter retort of Miss Pearl Chandler, assistant in the department of public safety for girls, this morning to Roscoe Haight in the municipal court. Haight was arrested a few nights ago with Goldie Armond, who was also accused of larceny from department stores.

Haight admitted that he had been living with the woman in Portland hotels, registering as Mr. and Mrs. Ross Arthur. The Armond woman came from Aberdeen recently. Haight told Miss Chandler that he was engaged to a young woman at Hoquiam and was to be married within a few days.

The judge sentenced the Armond woman to 360 days in jail, but suspended the sentence upon representation that she would leave today for Aberdeen. The case against Haight was dismissed.

SUES GAME WARDEN FINLEY FOR $50,000

On grounds of false arrest and search of property without due process of law, Frank Russo, proprietor of the Helix hotel, yesterday started suit for $50,000 damages against State Game Warden William L. Finley in the circuit court. Russo charges that Finley's deputies came to his hotel and demanded a pair of elk antlers which he was holding as security for a board bill, on the ground that the head of the elk was that of an animal killed out of season.

Russo refused to give the antlers up and he claims the deputies then forced their way into the hotel, and after searching several of the rooms, found the antlers and took them. Russo was placed under arrest, according to the complaint, without any warrant being issued. Later the charge was dismissed. Finley claims the antlers were stolen from a deputy in Tillamook after they had been seized when discovered in a deserted cabin.

ASTORIA THINKS $300,000 ENOUGH FOR PANAMA FAIR

(Special to The Journal.)

Astoria, Or., Jan. 29.—The Astoria Chamber of Commerce held its annual meeting last night and reelected the present officers for another year. They are: President, W. A. Sherman; vice president, J. N. Griffin; secretary, C. J. Trenchard; treasurer, C. R. Higgins.

In reply to a telegram from the Portland Commercial club requesting this body's support of a bill to appropriate $500,000 for Oregon's display at the Panama exposition in San Francisco, the chamber adopted a resolution to notify the Portland organization that this body considers $300,000 sufficient for the state to expend for that purpose.

TRAFFIC RESUMED ON NORTHERN PACIFIC ROAD

Assistant General Passenger Agent A. D. Charlton, of the Northern Pacific, stated this morning that the company's lines in Washington are now open and traffic has been resumed practically on schedule. The heavy snow in the Cascades had necessitated reduction of the service for several days, but it has been restored again. In the meantime through business was handled by way of Portland, the North Bank route and Spokane without interruption.

Confiscates Elk Hides.

George Russell, deputy game warden, yesterday went to Forest Grove and confiscated two barrels containing four elk hides, complete for mounting. The barrels had been left at the home of a resident of Forest Grove several weeks ago. He discovered what they contained and notified the state game department. The hides are in excellent condition and had been removed from the animals by an expert taxidermist. Their condition indicated that they had been secured several years ago. The owner of the hides is not known, but he will be prosecuted if caught.

TAXPAYERS MAY SAVE THEMSELVES TROUBLE BY USING U. S. MAIL

If plans of the tax department do not go wrong, the office will be prepared to receive payments of taxes beginning next Saturday. A large number of deputies have been extending the tax roll and it practically is completed.

That much time and trouble may be saved taxpayers, Deputy Alexander Smith, who is in charge of the office, has suggested that taxpayers submit in a letter to Sheriff Word a list of all property on which they expect to pay taxes.

Statements will be returned to them by mail and the taxpayers can return the statement with a check, thus saving time spent in line at the courthouse and the delays of payment. The tax collection offices are on the main floor of the courthouse in the north wing.

SAYS DOCTOR FAILED TO REPORT SMALLPOX

For failing to report a case of smallpox, Dr. N. P. Poulsen, with an office in the Selling building, was arrested this morning on complaint of City Health Officer Wheeler. Dr. Wheeler's attention was directed to the case of M. B. Ballard, East Twenty-fifth street, near Hawthorne, who was thought to be suffering from smallpox. Dr. Wheeler's diagnosis determined a severe case of the disease and learned that the victim had been afflicted for 10 days or more.

The patient gave the name of Dr. Poulsen as his attending physician, and Dr. Wheeler thereupon signed a complaint against Poulsen. This is the first arrest for some time on a charge of this nature, local physicians having been particularly careful to report contagious diseases as required by law.

Dr. Poulsen in defense of himself said this morning that he visited Ballard but once, and that the man's malady had not developed to such an extent to make possible a diagnosis of smallpox at that time.

Dr. Poulsen said that there was but a slight eruption when he saw that patient, and that the smallpox diagnosis was made by Dr. Wheeler, who was called later. Dr. Poulsen said he did not consider Ballard as a patient because of personal friendship, and that he did not understand that he was to make more than the one call.

BERNHARDT TO MAKE ABODE AT MILWAUKIE

The West Side not providing the solitude desired by Madame Sarah Bernhardt, her special car "Colonial" was shifted to a spur in Milwaukie yesterday, and the actress will make that her abode for the remainder of her engagement at the Orpheum. The section of railroad selected for the car has been christened "Bernhardt Spur" by Southern Pacific officials.

The maids and men attendants in the Bernhardt family go to Milwaukie by street car after the two daily performances at the Orpheum and are transported to the Bernhardt car by barge, such an arrangement having been made by Edward J. Sullivan, manager of the Bernhardt show. Madame Bernhardt's car has been berthed in the most isolated spot available. The site was selected by her not only because of the quiet vicinity but because it affords a view of the river.

SICKLES DEFIES FOES TO EVICT HIM

General's Son Threatens to Sue Woman Friend of His Father for Million.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

New York, Jan. 29.—"While there is life in this old body I will never allow anyone to evict me from my home."

This was the answer here today of General Daniel Sickles, the hero of Gettysburg, when he was informed that his many financial troubles soon would culminate in his being turned into the street.

The aged general's defiance was voiced to reporters who had been told by his son, Stanton Sickles, that the veteran soon would be dispossessed from his Fifth avenue mansion.

General Sickles admitted that he was as yet unable to meet the $23,000 shortage in the funds of the New York State Monument association, which has caused his latest troubles. He said, however, that offers of succor had been made and that the money soon would be found.

More trouble for the aged fighter was promised today by his son, Stanton. The younger Sickles said that he proposes to sue a woman who he alleged was extremely friendly with the general for 16 years, and who now is the wife of a wealthy New Yorker, for $1,000,000. This money, Sickles says, was squandered on the woman by his father while properly it belonged to himself and other grandchildren of General Sickles' father.

In this connection young Sickles made public two letters which he alleges General Sickles wrote in 1907, immediately after the woman concerned agreed to marry her present husband.

MAYOR'S STATEMENT RELIEVES EMPLOYES

Several hundred employes of the city were greatly relieved yesterday when Mayor Rushlight announced that he had received an opinion from City Attorney Grant stating that no emergency clauses were required on the annual appropriation ordinances passed by the council last week. Though the ordinances, in question passed, they did not receive enough votes to make them effective as emergency measures owing to the opposition of Councilman Maguire and others. It was at first feared that the opposition of the minority of the council would prevent laborers and others who need their money when their salaries are due to wait 30 days for it. The opinion of the city attorney, however, sets at rest this fear. All city employes will be paid as usual on the first of the month.

"The payment of salaries and other debts of the city," reads the opinion, "are not matters which are subject to the referendum. These come under the head of what is termed general business of the city and the referendum can have no effect upon the appropriations made by the council at its last meeting.

"The council is, therefore, advised that in my opinion no emergency clause was necessary in said ordinances to make them effective immediately, so far as salaries are concerned.

WATER RATE REDUCED; RECEIPTS SHOW GAIN

Although the water board reduced rates charged for water sold during 1912 by 25 per cent, the annual receipts were still 3.8 per cent greater than in 1911. This remarkable increase, says Superintendent Dodge, in his annual report filed today, is due to the unprecedented growth of the city.

The report contains figures showing the gross earnings and expenditures of the water department for the past 26 years and many other interesting facts. The gross earnings for 26 years ending December 31, last year, were $10,190,104.35. Besides this sum, the total of receipts for water rates, the department received enough for the sale of bonds and miscellaneous sources to bring the aggregate receipts for the period up to $15,883,012.33. The total expenditures for the same period amounted to $15,792,129.13. Cash on hand December 31, amounted to $90,883.

The appraised value of property owned by the water department now is approximately $11,989,320.98.

There are 13,221 meters in use, these being used in 22.1 per cent of all places supplied by water. The total number of places supplied with water is 54,481, an increase of 5672, or 10.4 per cent over 1911, the increase being due to the growth of the city.

HOLDS MINOR IS NOT RESPONSIBLE FOR DEBT

L. B. Holbrook, a 19-year-old student at the Hill military school, possessor of a fortune of over $20,000, which, however, will not be his until he is over 35 years old, and who is allowed only $1 a week spending money, yesterday in Justice Jones' court had to explain why he had not paid a judgment for $74 in favor of Dr. William S. Knox. He was discharged, however, when it was brought out that he was still a minor and not responsible for debts contracted.

Over a year ago when he was in need of medical attention he was treated by Dr. Knox and Dr. Rockey. When Dr. Knox presented his bill the young man told him that he was unable to pay. Later the doctor took the matter up with the boy's mother, but the money was not forthcoming. About two months ago Dr. Knox brought suit against him and the case was heard before Judge Olson, who awarded judgment for the entire amount asked.

Attorney B. S. Pague was the boy's counsel. It was brought out yesterday that he was looking after the interests of young Holbrook, who owns property in Nebraska worth between $20,000 and $30,000, which will not be his until he is of more mature years.

According to Dr. Knox the boy is willing to pay the amount due, but his attorney will not allow him to do so. It is probable that suit will be brought against the estate.

Killed Deer Out of Season.

Matt Dibble and Bert Surfus were fined in the justice court at Estacada Monday morning a total of $70 each for killing deer out of season, according to word received today at the state game warden's office. The men were arrested last week by Deputy Game Warden Ben S. Patton at Elwood, in the mountains east of Estacada.

HOMER BAKER TO HAVE CHANCE TO MAKE GOOD

On recommendation of Rev. William G. MacLaren, of the Portland Commons, Circuit Judge McGinn allowed Homer Baker, who pleaded guilty to larceny from a dwelling some time ago, to change his plea this morning and go on signing a recognizance bond to remain in the state and under the control of Mr. MacLaren.

Mr. MacLaren believes the man has a lot of good in him and declares he will bring it out and make a man of him. He will provide work for him and will unite him again with his wife and baby who are now in a town in northern Washington.

Baker was released from the Walla Walla penitentiary just before he got into trouble here and while incarcerated there his wife waited in the city of Walla Walla, working to support herself and child. Coming to Portland he attempted to get work but was unsuccessful and falling in with bad companions he was implicated in a robbery.

When officers went to his home to arrest him he held them at bay with a gun until his wife's entreaties moved him. Fred Franks, his companion in the burglary, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to the penitentiary. Baker refused to plead guilty at first, but later changed his mind and appealed to Judge McGinn for clemency.

Judge McGinn withheld sentence for some time while studying the case. A letter from Baker's wife came a few days ago to Baker and was sent to Judge McGinn by him in which Mrs. Baker told of a week without food or sleep, a sick child and no work. While this touched Judge McGinn's heart he did not feel justified in allowing the man to go without punishment and it was not until Mr. MacLaren promised to take the man in charge that he decided to give Baker another chance.

Williamson Reported Improving.

Acting Postmaster W. E. Williamson, who has been ill for several days, suffering from a nervous breakdown, was reported improved today. He was taken to the Convalescent sanitarium Monday. When he has improved sufficiently to stand the trip he will go to California for several weeks to recuperate. He will not be back at the postoffice for some time.

INDIAN ON WARPATH IN P. O. BUILDING

Crazed with liquor, Hiram Moore, a six foot tall Indian buck of the Klamath reservation, was taken into custody this morning by an officer of the United States marshal's office just in time to prevent him carrying out his announced intention of attacking an old squaw named Mary Chiloquin.

Moore is to stand trial tomorrow for beating her, in a fit of anger, one day last summer, and he came to Portland last night. He has been out on bond. The first thing he did this morning was to go in search of whiskey.

Someone called up from the National hotel and told Assistant United States Attorney Johnson that Moore was on the warpath and to look out. The information was imparted that the Indian had put on his war paint and danced a war dance in the hotel lobby, and had then left for the postoffice. The announcement struck consternation into the hearts of a dozen Indians who had just arrived from the reservation as witnesses to appear for the government.

Arriving at the postoffice building, Moore mistook the second floor for the third and walked plump into the arms of D. B. Fuller, deputy marshal, who was waiting for him. Mary was cowering on the third floor, and she was vastly relieved when word came that Moore had been arrested. He was taken into court immediately and placed under a bond of $3000. This he was unable to furnish and went to jail.

Government authorities immediately begun an investigation to determine who sold Moore the liquor.

2 RICH CHURCHES BEGIN AN AUCTION ON PASTOR

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Seattle, Wash., Jan. 29.—Determined to outbid Los Angeles in the contest for the services of Rev. M. A. Matthews, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of this city, who has received an offer from the southern city, 5000 members of his church have banded to give him any "support" he asks. The offer from Los Angeles included a statement that the congregation there was financially able to carry out any program he might plan, and local Presbyterians propose to show the southerners that there is no ground for insinuating that this church can't do likewise.
