

That she can be heard in a hall holding 10,000 people.

"I have always been interested in women and I am especially interested just now in western women who have just been enfranchised," said Professor Sanford. "I am delighted to see such beautiful clean cities as you have. Clean cities are not only a matter of public health and personal advantage but they are a wonderful financial advantage. I am sure you women appreciate this and will even further improve your cities now that you have the power of the ballot. It is along just such lines as these that women will be able to do the greatest good with their votes, viz. the cleaning up and beautifying of their cities, the improvement of their city government, the enforcement of social purity laws and the abolishment of legalized vice. In no way can this be more effectively accomplished than the training of the boys and girls in the right way.

"My lectures are principally along the lines of literature and art. I have a series of lectures on the history of art and on some of our finest literature. I am a very great admirer of Shakespeare and delight in nothing more than to read the plays of the great English writer. I think my second choice in the literary world is Lowell.

"I am very glad to see an increased interest in the public schools in art and literature. The introduction of art in the public school is a long step forward along the right line. In Greece the beauties of art and architecture were free for everyone to see and enjoy, but with us we are too apt to find our best art in private collections where only a few can enjoy it. We should make room in our public buildings for sculpture and thus develop the public taste for a taste of delight. This is quite as true in literature as in art. The children should be trained in a taste for the best in literature from babyhood. The love of literature as a means of enlargement of the soul is a virtue which should be inculcated in the young of all the earth. One need not be rich in order to enjoy the really good things of earth and I am glad to know that in many of the humble homes of today are to be found children who are being trained in much of it in the public schools as coming to possess some of the best of the pictures."

Sex Hygiene Advocated.
Professor Maria Sanford, for many years a member of the faculty of the University of Minnesota, in her address before the Congress of Mothers at the Y. W. C. A., said in part: "The old idea of breaking the will of the child has been entirely abandoned with our newer ideas in education. The policy of the best educators today is to strengthen the will of the child instead of fortifying him against the dangers surrounding him. We women are coming into a greater responsibility along lines of civic purity. We cannot hope to overcome all these retarding influences at once for there will always be evil men and women, but we can prevent commercialized vice.

"Every effort should be made to abolish commercialized vice and I would suggest the inflicting a severe penalty upon people convicted of contributing to the delinquency of little girls. I heard Jane Addams say that in her investigations she had found that in one group of 30 fallen girls, the average age at which they strayed from purity was eight years.

Talk on Parks.
A large number of representative club women of the city interested in civic affairs gathered yesterday afternoon in the auditorium of the Journal building in response to an invitation from the Women's Park and Playground committee, to listen to an address by park acreage is now before the people. If they are not opposed to the issue, they may as well be unless they are actively for it. When the issue lost before it was mainly because people did not know what was on the ballot and so when in doubt they voted "No." Do not believe that a majority of the people were opposed to those bonds, it was simply a matter of not knowing. Let us all study and know this year and vote the bonds which will mean so much for the welfare of our city and to her citizens."

"Our Branch" Discussed.
The Oregon branch of the Association of Collegiate Alumnae held its monthly meeting yesterday afternoon at the East Side library. Special guests of the afternoon were members of the Oregon Alumnae association and several house guests of members. The local branch comprises graduates of 23 colleges of the United States and its membership is 100. The evening was spent in a discussion which was led by Mrs. Lucia F. Addison. "The Genius of Socialistic Journalism" is the subject of a paper to be given by Dr. Nina Evelyn Wood.

The Forestry association members are going to Salem tomorrow to be guests of one of their members, Mrs. T. A. Elliott. After luncheon the members will attend the legislature. It is expected that seven or eight will accept Mrs. Elliott's hospitality.

The Social Science department of the Portland Women's club will meet Thursday afternoon in Women of Woodcraft hall. A. B. Wastell, secretary of the Pacific League, will be the principal speaker, his subject being "Conservation of the Country and of the Logged-off Land." Mrs. Lucia Addison will also speak. Current events will be given by Mrs. Thomas Hawkes.

The Council of Jewish Women will meet Wednesday afternoon in the Selling-Hirsch hall. The principal address of the afternoon will be delivered by Marshall N. Dann, his subject being "Immigration and the City." Mrs. J. S. Fox, secretary of the club, will be accompanied by Miss Jessie Lewis who will give a double violin number: (a) "Air Varié" Opus 22, No. 3 (H. Duetemps); (b) Flower Dance (E. O. Spitzner). Current Events, Mrs. Julius Louison. There will probably also be an informal discussion of the need for a public playground in South Portland. The Jewish women are interesting themselves in this matter and are trying to secure the cooperation of other clubs and women organizations. The South Portland district is thickly populated, many homes have almost no yards, the children are obliged to play in the street and in consequence several little ones have been killed within the past year.

The Coterie will meet in Ellers hall Wednesday at 11 o'clock a. m. Besides the regular business, matters pertaining to educational affairs in our city, state and nation will be discussed. The chairman of the educational committee, Mrs. C. M. Kiggins. The status and needs of our state university will be presented by Miss Emma Woid, who is representing throughout the state, that institution in the effort to arouse a deeper interest in higher education.

Women's Political Science Club.
The plan of discussing definite topics of vital interest to the women voters of the state instead of a text book on civil government, met with the surest signs of approval at the last meeting of the Women's Political Science club held Tuesday in the Medical building. W. S. Woodruff, who is chairman of the club, said that the plan of the club will take up the study of methods of taxation. The club will take no stand on either side of any measure but aims to make of its members intelligent voters. All women interested in this subject are welcome to the meeting which will be held at 2:30 p. m. in February 4 in the lecture room of the Medical building.

Morals Problem Discussed.
A meeting of the central council was held Friday afternoon in the State W. C. T. U. headquarters at which time Mrs. Emma Butler of the Juvenile court read a paper on the morals of the city. The speaker spoke enthusiastically of the need for a court of morals and he also touched on the great human waste under present moral conditions. Mrs. Millie Trumbull made a practical address on the morals of the city. She maintained that we already have enough institutions and that these girls should be placed in homes. She advocated the opening of the public schools to the children of the city and the erection of more buildings. Dr. Bauer of the Boys' Industrial Home was one of the speakers. An informal discussion closed the meeting.

Educational Problems Considered.
Friends of higher education to the number of sixty-five gathered Friday afternoon around the luncheon tables at the Commercial club. At the conclusion of the meal Eugene Brookings was named chairman and a number of short papers were read. The subject of the proposed appropriation for the development of the State University at Eugene, Judge Bean spoke as did also Dr. Foster, Judge Fenton, R. L. Sabin, Mrs. Minnie Washburn and Professor Rebec of Eugene. The sentiment of the meeting was very strong for the passing of the bill appropriating a sum of money to increase the working facilities of the university. The thought was expressed that the hope of the country is in the hands of the young people. A committee consisting of Mrs. F. Egger, Mrs. Pettenger, Messrs. Brookings, Fenton and Werlin, was appointed to look into the merits of the bill as now drawn.

Women Time Wasters? Writer Says Not and Produces Proof to Contrary

Mere Man Who Scoffs at Frivolous Activities of Fair Sex Confronted With Long List of Worthy Achievements by Club Women All Over Country.

By Ada Patterson.
A woman-hating bachelor sniffed contemptuously at the society column, pushed his newspaper across the table, attacked his grapefruit ferociously and remarked: "It's a sin and shame the way women waste their time."
Waste their time? In the list of guests that stirred the disgust of the clubwoman there were at least a name of men as women. Every woman who chases the hours from a ballroom floor has a male partner. For every ball gown there's a set of evening clothes.

Women time wasters? Yet on the front page of the newspaper the man who hates us tossed from him as something unbearable there was a column about the women of Indiana having collected a fund for the investigation into the mysterious murder of a woman physician of a town in their state.

Women time wasters? In two middle western states they've started an annual baby show, where children are graded according to their points of health and knowledge, and so given an impetus toward health in the home and a standard for a better race.

A town in Iowa has been forced to cleanse its slums, through the efforts of a little woman who used every moment of her leisure to devote to the better her family's welfare for the welfare of the community in which her children were growing up.

Two women have been appointed to watch the girls and boys of the dance clubs, to head and supervise the girls in St. Paul will confer with the police-women and give them aid and information and moral support.

The women of Baltimore are teaching children to keep the school grounds sanitary and make the city a more healthful place. The women of California are storming the legislature for a law providing that only persons of sound health shall marry.

Chicago clubwomen have investigated the poorer quarters of their city and got a list of 1856 violations of the sanitary ordinances. Through their efforts the owners of 413 buildings have been ordered by the city to make those buildings habitable under penalty of fine or imprisonment.

The women's club of Albany is urging the city to dispose of the garbage and ashes and all waste instead of leaving the matter to private collection and destruction.

The Women's club of Omaha has named its members of the social service board, which will regulate playhouses, moving pictures and dance halls.

The Women's Municipal league of Boston has suggested plans for the improvement of city housekeeping, which it intends to do and probably will execute.

The Women's club of Nutley, N. J., thinking the home could be better school gardens by Robert Withycombe. Miss Hunt gave a talk on domestic science.

General Club News.
At a meeting of the Household Workers' league of Cincinnati, Miss Mary Brennan, organizer of the league, and by occupation a cook and housemaid, answered Miss Florence Marshall, head of the Manhattan Trade school of New York, who declared that the factory does not necessarily lessen ability of young women for home-making. Miss Brennan declared that household work is woman's natural employment and that the factory work is because of the long hours, lack of companionship and monotony of home work. Miss Brennan advocated domestic science courses for all who hope to take up cooking as their life work.

California club women, together with others interested in the finer things of life are making a strenuous effort to make Los Angeles the "Athens of America," by gathering together some of the great art treasures of the world. The Museum of History, Science and Art to be opened in the Angeleno city will be the center of this great exhibit of rare and beautiful things. Already many very fine things in the way of pictures, tapestries and sculpture have been received to be placed in the new museum.

The rural committee of the Oklahoma State Federation of Women's clubs is one of the most active of the entire federation and is doing some splendid work in organizing the country women of the state. Purely social clubs, current events clubs, domestic science clubs, mother's clubs and study clubs all find a place among the wives of the farmers and are being welcomed as a means of making life happier as well as broadening and educating the women.

The Omaha Women's club has started a campaign for new members. Captains have been chosen and each member will be asked to bring in at least one new member or a renewal. This club is one of the most active in the middle west and this membership campaign is expected to make the club one of the largest in that section.

The Women's Political League of San Francisco held its annual election of officers last week. Mrs. Mary Fairbrother was elected president. She is studying the Australian ballot form. A resolution was passed in which the senators and representatives of the state were urged to secure ample appropriation for the enforcement of the white slave traffic act.

The Women's League for Animals of New York city, is to erect a hospital de luxe for animals and birds, with a bath, elevator, reception room, parlor, study, kitchen, dining room, operating room—in fact, all appointments of a modern hospital. The building will cost $50,000. Anything from an elephant to a pet mouse will be received. Mrs. James Speyer is the president of the league.

The Chicago Women's club is indorsing a general federal health bureau. There is some opposition to such a bureau on the ground that it would drive heaters and so-called physicians of all sorts. The topic is one of greatest interest in Illinois club circles now.

The Columbian club of Boise, recently held a legislative day which proved of much interest. The speakers were Chief Justice Allshie, Judge Koelsch and Mr. Kahn. This prominent club is following up its pure food law with an effort to have a woman market inspector appointed.

The millennium will arrive ahead of schedule, according to Dr. Woods Hutchinson in an address before the Chicago Women's club last week when he said: "Things to do: (1) Stop the first ever community born defects, (2) Stop the money makers from piling up fortunes until ever child born is guaranteed food, shelter and care; (3) Stop killing a third of our geniuses in childhood by starvation."

The Pacific Coast Women's Press association of San Francisco held an unusually interesting meeting last week. Mrs. Austin, a New York writer, made a humorous address on "Breaking Into New York." San Francisco newspaper women each responded with bits of "shop." Mrs. I. Lowenberg, president of the club, gave a large luncheon early in the week in honor of the following Klammoke, the gifted artist and protégé of the great Rosa Bonheur.

The organization committee of the Illinois Equal Suffrage association has prepared a plan of organization embodying the plan of the Consumer League of Illinois. It is expected that the people must not rest content with a perfunctory law.

Jane Addams of Hull House and Florence Kelley, president of the Illinois Consumer League, have promised their help in drawing up a bill for a minimum wage commission in Pennsylvania for working women. This was in answer to the request of Dean William Draper Lewis, chairman of the eastern subcommittee, which is working out the provisions of the bill.

The class in political science of the philosophy and science department of the Chicago Women's club, is studying the representative form of government. Among the problems to be taken up are the initiative and referendum, the recall, direct primaries and direct election of United States senators. At a recent meeting of the general club, Dr. Albin W. Small of the University of Chicago spoke on "Political Modernism." The tendency of the Chicago clubs is in the direction of suffrage, politics and kindred subjects.

Distinguished Woman Educator.

ONE of the most distinguished and interesting women in the world of American letters today, Professor Maria Sanford of Minneapolis, was a Portland visitor last week. She arrived Thursday night and while here was the house guest of Mrs. J. C. Elliott King. On Friday afternoon she addressed the Congress of Mothers and in the evening she spoke under the auspices of the Women's club.

Professor Sanford has devoted fifty-five years of her life to teaching. She was for ten years a member of the faculty of the University of Pennsylvania and for twenty-nine years she occupied the chair of rhetoric and public speaking in the University of Minnesota. Three years ago she was retired as professor emerita. For forty years she has been one of the well-known public speakers of the country and now that she has retired from teaching she is devoting even more of her time to lecturing, for though she has had a long and useful life she is still young in spirit and is not only a bright and vivacious lecturer but a very delightful woman to meet personally. Her voice is one of the most remarkable things about her being perfectly modulated and pleasing in its quality yet so perfectly handled

English Beauty Tells Complexion Secrets

"(Elise) in American Home." Through a fortunate meeting with an English lady, noted for her dazzling complexion, I recently learned the full meaning of that old adage, "Beauty is but skin deep." She taught me how to remove my muddy old skin, revealing the young and beautiful skin underneath. The process is so simple, harmless and inexpensive, I'm sure you'll be glad to know about it. Just get an ounce of ordinary mercerized wax at any drug store and apply nightly, like cold cream, for a week or so. Every morning in washing off the wax, the dirt and grime of the week will come off. The action is so gentle and gradual, there's no discoloring. It's a wonderful treatment as it not only peels off the faded or discolored skin, but all of its defects, as chaps, roughness, freckles, pimples, blotches, blackheads.

I am indebted to the name lady for a remarkable wrinkle-removing formula. One ounce powdered wax is dissolved in a half pint with hazel. Used as a face bath, this is an effective that just one application causes the finer lines to disappear, and soon even the deepest ones go away.
