LANE VOWS HE'LL HEW TO LINE OF HIS PLAIN DUTY

superiority of personal or divine rights is longer going to satisfy the people. "If one man can set himself above the law and honest methods of dealing with his neighbors, others can and will do the same and confusion and other things not pleasant to contemplate are sure to arise. The functions and affairs of this great country must be carried on in a manner of exact justice and honest dealing to all alike, else it will cease to hold the respect of the people and the nation will and ought to perish. This country with its almost unlimited resources belongs to the people, and I recognize the right of no man to usurp or take over to himself one iota more of its blessings or its property than justly belongs to him.

"The people are now demanding honest treatment for themselves and their children and they are quite within their rights in doing so.

"The man who demands the right to wrest success for himself by securing special privileges at the expense of his neighbor, selfishly desires that which does not belong to him and which he has no right either to ask for or to receive, and if he persists and succeeds in his efforts he becomes an evil and a parasite upon the community and he must be gently but firmly 'booster' out of the way of his more honorable fellow citizens.

"The gentry who have taken over to themselves and exercise the power to extort arbitrary and almost prohibitive prices for everything the people eat, drink and wear are going to be picked up and carefully looked over, and dusted with bug powder.

Cottolene makes delicious biscuit

Cottolene "creams up" so beautifully that it makes delicious biscuits—light, flaky, free from grease and sogginess. They almost melt in your mouth.

Cottolene is the perfect shortening—a vegetable product without the possible taint of animal fat. It is far better and more wholesome than lard. It will give equally as good shortening results as butter, and Cottolene is usually one-third butter's price.

Here's another economy point: Cottolene, being richer, uses one-third less than either butter or lard.
