AMERICA Has furnished to the world the beautiful and never-to-be-forgotten character of Washington, and tomorrow is the birthday of him who is dear to the hearts of his countrymen. No temple of fame will rise in any part of our own American republic or the world in which his name and work will not be given their due prominence. And we—the least any of us can do is to become better acquainted with "The True George Washington"—and just such a work have we, written by Paul Leicester Ford—a book that may act as a mirror reflecting the thoughts, acts, utterances, enthusiasms and character of the real Washington. Above all—if there be children and young folk in the home, let this book be there—priced at $2 in our Book Store, Basement.

KODAK the scenes and events you'll cherish in the years to come. There's a world of pleasure derived in the taking of pictures, and the "All-by-Daylight" way is very simple. Consult the expert who's here from the Eastman factory. Ask to see our complete line of Kodaks and Brownie Cameras
