

PARTING BLOW TO AFFIDAVIT OF LIQUOR VETO

First Time His Veto Has Not Been Sustained in Webb Bill Prohibiting Shipments of Intoxicants.

(By the International News Service.)
Washington, March 1.—By a vote of 244 to 95, the house today overrode President Taft's veto of the Webb bill, prohibiting interstate shipment of liquors for general sale into prohibition territory. Yesterday the senate also overrode the veto, and the bill now becomes a law.
This is the first veto of the president that has not been sustained by congress. Attempts have been made to override other vetoes, but there has been a failure to get the required two-thirds majority in either the house or the senate. The latest of these attempts was with the veto of the ill-fated test immigration bill. The house would not override the veto, although the senate did. President Taft's vetoes of the tariff bills last summer were sustained by the senate after they had been overridden in the house.
The Webb bill carries heavy penalties in fines and imprisonment for those engaged in the manufacture of liquors and beer who ship into dry states or districts for the purpose of sale.
The purpose of the law is to break up the "blind tiger" and like illegal methods for distribution of liquor in prohibition states. President Taft vetoed the bill on the ground of unconstitutionality.

GOVERNOR FILES 1915 FAIR BILL BUT REFUSES TO NAME COMMISSION

ure a slap at the authority of the chief executive's office, the governor is accepting it because of the great importance to the state in being represented at the Panama exposition. The bill appropriates $175,000 for the fair and designates the governor, the state treasurer, the secretary of state and the president of the senate and the speaker of the house as a commission to name a commission of five to have supervision of the expenditure of the money.
When the governor was considering the bill after it had passed the legislature he went to State Treasurer Kay and suggested that the five named in the bill agree to let each one name one member of the commission which is to handle the appropriation. This Mr. Kay declined to do, and then he went down to Portland to consult with President Malarkey and Speaker McArthur. When he returned this evening he told the governor that none of them would agree to his proposal. Mr. Kay said that Malarkey and McArthur said they "would treat the governor as a slush fund," but that they would not agree to endorse any appointment he might make.
When the bill was introduced by Senator Joseph, it provided for an appropriation of $500,000, and for the governor to appoint the commission. Before it got through the legislature it was so mutilated that Joseph refused to recognize it as his bill, and voted against it. But today he arose to the occasion and wired the governor the following message:
"Fearing that you might veto the Panama Fair appropriation bill, I beg leave to urge you not to do so. I hold the Oregonian and Malarkey responsible for the small appropriation made and they have put the same in control of petty politicians to be used as a slush fund. Considering the amount appropriated and those in control of the expenditure thereof, the same should be vetoed under ordinary conditions, but circumstances are such we should have some representation at the fair, and this reason causes me to urge you not to veto the bill."
Following this message came one from Julius Meier, saying:
"Having heard a rumor that you contemplated vetoing the Panama Fair bill, I wish to say that although the amount appropriated is insufficient to make proper representation of Oregon, however I wish to urge that you allow the bill to become a law, as otherwise Oregon might be entirely deprived of representation at the fair. As chairman of the commission and other commissioners appointed by you, we held the Oregon Fair excursion and were permitted to select the first site and had anticipated a great showing for this world wide event and commemoration of the opening of the Panama canal."

Cardinal Refers to Hike as Clamorous and Spectacular

Gibbons Denounces Ardent Antics of Suffragists and Declares Such Publicity Ineffective in Furthering the "Votes for Women" Movement.

Baltimore, Md., March 1.—"Noisy, clamorous and spectacular" were the terms used by Cardinal Gibbons in describing the recent visit of the hiking suffragists to this city. He was speaking before the Women's Auxiliary of the St. Raphael Institute here.
Members of the auxiliary are engaged in the task of providing clothing for poor children. After an entertainment by the children the cardinal let it be known that he wanted to say a few words:
"I wish to say a few words of unattained praise on behalf of the noble and modest women who have devoted their lives to the sisterhood and the service and uplift of the poor," said the cardinal.
"Here we have true women—women who know their place. Then look at the other picture in contrast. On one hand we see good accomplished in a quiet, modest way. On the other hand we see the noisy, clamorous and spectacular way of other women and as an example of this I point to the hikers who were among you a few days ago."
When seen at his home the cardinal added that he had been much annoyed by the reports that in receiving the hikers he had endorsed the cause.
"I am not in favor of suffrage now nor was I when I received the hikers," said the prelate. "I did not say on any occasion that they reminded me of Joan of Arc, nor did I compare their sacrifice with that of the noble woman of France."
"Do you think the hiking method has aided the cause of woman suffrage?" he was asked.
"Oh, I am sure it has not," replied the cardinal.

BOURNE WAS ORIGINATOR OF NATIONAL BUDGET

(Special to The Journal.)
Washington, Mar. 1.—President Taft's stand for a national budget caused some of the politician historians around the capitol to recall that in 1909 an Oregon senator, Bourne, made a speech advocating a better business system and a budget, and that Bourne's suggestion received a quietus at the hands of the president.

Saturday in Congress

(By the International News Service.)
Washington, March 1.—What congress did today:
Senate.
Army and navy appointments considered in executive session.
Newlands opened a filibuster on rivers and harbors appropriation bill, because of the failure to agree to his plan to conserve the waters of the Mississippi valley.
Remainder of session devoted to eulogies to Senator Hayburn of Idaho and Jefferson Davis of Arkansas.
House.
Webb interstate liquor bill passed over the president's veto by a vote of 244 to 95.
Hardwick's filibuster against the workmen's compensation bill was ended by Underwood's motion to sidetrack the unanimous consent calendar which Hardwick was using to obstruct business.
Postoffice and naval appropriation bills were sent to conference.
Conference report on military bill was agreed to.

INFLUENZA EPIDEMIC BRINGS APPENDICITIS

Berlin, March 1.—That there is some connection between the influenza epidemic which has been prevailing in Germany and Austria, and the increase of appendicitis, is the conclusion of the German health authorities. In the annual report of the Prussian health department, which has just been issued, attention is called to the subject. "Extensive influenza epidemics in Germany during the last few years have invariably brought with them a marked increase in appendicitis," says the report. "It can no longer be denied that there may be a relation or connection between these two diseases."

Great Change Is Certain in Social Life at Washington

Incoming Democratic Administration Will Effect Marked Alteration in Capital's Social Prestige That Inevitably Follows Lines of Political Preference.

(Special to The Journal.)
Washington, March 1.—With the passing of the present administration and the consequent unsetting of a social background built up during the years of Republican supremacy, a change will come over the face of Washington's social life after March 4.
Women of dominant political households who have enjoyed the social prestige, which, during the last decade, almost invariably has followed in wake of political preferment, will be replaced by practically a new circle, a far-reaching difference in political creed and viewpoint being reflected in the changing personnel of the official citizenship. Whether Washington society will continue to be as brilliant as it has been heretofore remains to be seen. That the women of the incoming official households, as a rule, will be of the type more given to the consideration of serious affairs is practically assured.
New Leaders Are Conservative.
The president-elect and Mrs. Wilson and the vice president-elect and Mrs. Marshall and their kindred hall from the conservative old Presbyterian element.
Neither the presidential nor the vice-presidential family has heretofore in its ramifications "gone in" strongly for society, per se, and it is not regarded as likely that the advent in high administrative life at Washington will materially modify the habits of a lifetime or the heritage of generations.
Mrs. Wilson and her daughters more-over are women who have assiduously cultivated their talents. Each in her own right is a woman of attainment. Mrs. Wilson and her second daughter, Miss Eleanor, being accomplished in all; Miss Margaret Wilson, a student of vocal music, and Miss Jessie Woodrow Wilson, a student of sociological problems and an active worker in behalf of social betterment projects.
Mrs. Marshall, too, is interested in the larger affairs of the life of the day. While it is true that a large and active circle of society, unaffiliated with officialdom, exists at the capital, it also is true that the White House strikes the keynote to which the social life of the capital is attuned.
The Wilsons have a large circle of relatives, who will spend much of the next four years at the capital. By virtue of their affiliation with the White House family, these will be factors in the new regime.
The executive board of the United Mine Workers has decided to levy an assessment of $1 per member throughout the country to raise a fund to assist the strikers in Colorado and West Virginia.

BAT NELSON ALSO WANTS DIVORCE

Pugilist Declares That He Will Sue for Separation From His Bride.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Atlanta, Ga., March 1.—Far be it from Bat Nelson to allow anyone to beat him to the punch after all these years of encounter.
If Mrs. Fay King Nelson intends to sue for a divorce she will have to hurry. Nelson declared here tonight that he intended to instruct his attorneys in Chicago to bring suit immediately.
Bat was considerably peeved at the reports given him here of the statements made by Mrs. Nelson, and asserted that he had sufficient grounds to warrant asking a court to count his bride out.

Cohn Gets Infielder.

(Special to The Journal.)
Spokane, Wash., March 2.—President Cohn, of the Spokane baseball club, today closed a deal with the Memphis club of the Southern league, for infielder Jackson, who has been in the southern organization two seasons. He has played every infield position but first base, is a right-handed hitter and thrower and batted .252 last season. Jackson asked to be sent north because of the excessive heat in the south. Cohn secured him by purchase and sent a contract to the player today.
