

Social and Personal

News for the Sunday society column must be in the hands of the Society Editor not later than Friday of each week and its receipt as much earlier as possible will be appreciated.

WITH Easter just two weeks off there is hope for some gay social affairs to come soon. This has been the best kept secret on record, the young people say with some impatience. Next week will be even more quiet for the many Episcopalians and Catholics who keep Holy week, and then as it takes time and careful thinking to select the Easter bonnet, there will be no time for entertaining at any rate.

Mrs. Jay Smith Luncheon Hostess.
Mrs. Jay Smith has asked friends for a luncheon Friday afternoon followed by bridge at her home on Portland Heights.

Luncheon Hostess.
Miss Helen Whitney presided at a charmingly appointed luncheon Saturday in compliment to Miss Clara Fleischman, bride-elect. A basket of red carnations and fern centered the tables. The guests were Miss Fleischman, Miss Sarah Patrick, Miss Karl Reed, Miss Clarice Blix and Mrs. Guy M. Standifer.

Samuel May Married in England.
Cards have been received from England announcing the wedding of Samuel May of this city to Miss Eleanor Parkin of Longborough, England. The wedding took place February 19, at the home of the bride's aunt at Shelthorpe. Mr. and Mrs. May are now touring Europe, and are expected home after May first. They will reside at the Alexandra Court.

Entertainers in Farewell to Friends.
Mrs. Mathew Delaney entertained with a luncheon of 14 covers this afternoon complimenting a number of friends prior to her leaving for San Francisco.

Debut Party.
Miss Adelaide Loewenson received with her mother Sunday afternoon when about 75 guests called. Although Miss Loewenson has been out this season this was her first formal bow to society. The house was a bower of spring flowers. Mrs. Marcus Fried and Mrs. Edmund Meyer presided at a tea table beautifully decked in pink Killarney roses. A bevy of the young girls assisted about the rooms.

For Miss Davis, a Bride of April.
In honor of Miss Florence Davis, Miss Henriette Rothchild will be hostess at a card party of eight tables Saturday afternoon.

Irvington Club Party.
Ye Old Time Dance will be given at Irvington club Friday evening, March 14. Following is the card sent out: "Go deep into the old chest and bring out the hoop skirt and pantaloons. Brush up the old Prince Albert, the stovepipe hat and dance the old dances over again. The committee urgently requests that the members wear the dress of the olden times. Members in costume admitted on presentation of membership cards." E. Hartman, George W. Caldwell, J. F. Meneffe, C. Beckley, floor committee, and W. J. Hoffmann, chairman social committee.

From M. E. Church Bulletin.
The Laurel club will meet in the church parlors on Friday afternoon, March 14, at 3:30 sharp. All girls from 14 to 18 cordially invited. Please bring small pictures, picture postals and short stories, such as small children enjoy reading.

Brotherhood dinner next Tuesday

Visiting Miss Daly.
Miss Emma Baillargeon of Seattle arrived yesterday to be the house guest of Miss Irene Daly. Miss Baillargeon is a charming girl with many friends here who have delightful plans for her entertainment.

Mrs. Howes Informal Hostess.
Mrs. L. C. Howes will entertain at the fifth of her series of afternoon bridge parties tomorrow at her home on the heights. There will be four tables at cards.

Society Notes.
Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Connell and Mrs. Thomas Connell returned this morning from a six weeks' automobile tour of California. They went as far south as

Los Angeles, arriving there in time to see the flooded streets.

Miss Dagmar Kelley, who has been visiting in Vancouver, B. C., will return home this week.

Miss Mabel Beck left Monday for Hood River to be the house-guest for a few days of Mrs. Wendell Poulson (Frances Jeffery).

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Winfere of Spokane and their daughter, are guests at the Hill. Mr. Winfere is president of the Spokane Title company of that city.

Benjamin F. Irvine is recovering from an operation which he underwent last week at St. Vincent's hospital.

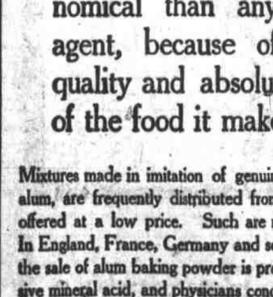

Mr. and Mrs. John L. Travis and children are passing a few weeks at their summer cottage at Gearhart.

Mr. and Mrs. James D. Hart and Miss Katherine Hart left the latter part of last week for southern California.

Mrs. William Sibson and her little granddaughter, Chauncey Rose Winslow, have returned after a month's visit in Los Angeles and Sierra Madre.

Build Hitch Racks at Hood River.
Hood River, Or., March 11.—Hood River farmers complain to the city council that they have no place to hitch their teams when they come to the city. The complaint has resulted in placing a crew of men at work on State street to put in 200 feet of hitching racks. As this street is to be paved, the racks will be made permanent.

ACTRESS AT EMPRESS ONCE "SISSY LITTLE"

Find Wander, pretty partner of George Stone in "The Beauty Shop" at the Empress, formerly played the part of "Sissy Little" in Gus Edwards' production. Stone first attained prominence in "The Time, the Place and the Girl" in which he held an important role. Miss Wander and Stone have been on the stage together for three years.

ROYAL

The most economical of all Baking Powder

Absolutely Pure

Royal Baking Powder is made from pure grape cream of tartar, and is the embodiment of all the excellence possible to be attained in the highest class baking powder.

Royal Baking Powder is more economical than any other leavening agent, because of the superlative quality and absolute wholesomeness of the food it makes.

Mixtures made in imitation of genuine baking powders, but containing alum, are frequently distributed from door to door, or advertised and offered at a low price. Such are mixtures of unhealthful ingredients. In England, France, Germany and some sections of the United States the sale of alum baking powder is prohibited by law. Alum is a corrosive mineral acid, and physicians condemn baking powders containing it.

LINCOLN HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS IN PROGRAM

Miss Anna V. Weigle, who had the lead in Lincoln High school.

The second joint society program to be given this year by the societies of the Lincoln high school took place this afternoon in the auditorium before several hundred students and teachers. One of the principal features of the program was the Photarian play, "The Bugle and the Camera." This little playlet seemed specially designed for the Photarians, inasmuch as it centered about the great advantages of a camera. It was replete with witty lines and the young people acquitted themselves with much credit. The principal part was taken by Miss Anna Weigle, who was the stenographer; Keith Kiggins, camera man; Victor Hoeflinch, editor of the Bugle; Mr. Wingard, assistant chief; Mr. McIntosh, policeman; Mr. Messenger, tramp; Mr. Serranous, tramp; G. Hoeflinch, office boy; Mr. Worthen, engraver; Mr. Hober, waiter.

The program opened with an orchestra selection; then followed the little play, "The Bugle and the Camera," which was given by members of the Boys' and Girls' Glee club. The Girls' Glee club sang "He Was a Prince." The Daloth Nuns were represented by Devandour Chulnard, who made a speech entitled "Marsyas." Thomas R. Worthen representing the Mosos gave a stereotypical lecture entitled "The City Beautiful." Jack Middleton gave "Apple Pie and Cheese" as the contribution of the Adelpheans. The Boys' Glee club sang "The Winter Song." The Phillos gave an exercise entitled "The Chapter of Honor." Gertrude Stone read a selection from Walt Whitman as the representative of the Adelpheans. The Girls' Glee club sang "Voice of the Western Wind." A humorous debate, entitled "Plumpy Debate," was given by a dozen members of the Tolos. The program closed with an orchestra selection, "Winning Fight."

QUAINT DRAMA GETS RESPONSE

"Buntz Pulls the Strings" Proves Pleasing to Heilig Audience.

When "Buntz Pulls the Strings" on the little play puppets on the stage and makes them do her bidding to her own satisfaction and theirs, she also pulls the heart strings of her audience, and the response is spontaneous. "Buntz Pulls the Strings" is as quaint as an old plaid shawl, and as appealing to the sentiments as "Auld Lang Syne" itself. It took last night's representative audience at the Heilig just a few moments to adjust its ears to the broad Scotch dialect of the real Scotch players sufficiently to get into the theme or plot of the play. Even it required close listening and perhaps a little more than ordinary knowledge of the dialect to catch quickly the full meaning of the epigrammatic dialogue of the piece. Because of the strangeness of the spoken words applause for some of the situations and effects was delayed. But it came eventually, and the listeners strained to get every line and meaning.

Tells Pleasing Story.
The mere fact that "Buntz Pulls the Strings" was originally produced in London by real Scotch players and that it was something "new," does not explain its success on this side the water, and its long runs in New York and Boston. Its real appeal is not in its quaintness, but rather in the story it tells, and in the old fashions and people it represents. And even this would not carry it were the play characters not portrayed by such very human actors and actresses as Miss Molly McIntyre and her associates.

Miss McIntyre, a dainty little native of Inverness, Scotland, plays a loveable "Buntz" who pulls the strings of family complications, gets her stern hearted old father out of a hole, and finds a marriage mate not only for herself, but her father and her brother as well. Miss McIntyre is a dainty little lady, whose dramatic success seems to lie largely in her ability to be just natural on the stage. She does nothing in play that a real good old fashioned daughter, Scotch or otherwise, might not do in real matter-of-fact life.

Miss Jean Burnett, as Susie Simpson, the village spinster of evil disposition and with a hold on Buntz's father, offers a splendid character study. Miss Burnett makes herself just as nicely disagreeable as possible, and that is her commendation.

Act Part Naturally.
Neil McNeil plays Bob Biggar, Buntz's brother, who presents a stern father's discipline. He gives a perfectly natural characterization. J. Nelson Ramsey has the stern old father's part, and plays it with a conviction that must carry a touch of parental fear to the disobedient boys in the audience.

William Lennox has the role of Weemum Sprunt, affianced to Buntz, and a good hearted villager without much character of his own. Mr. Lennox won praise for his impersonation. Miss Carrie Lee Stoyke plays Eelen Dunlop, Tammas Biggar's old and new sweetheart, and injects a good bit of life and philosophy into her part and lines.

The minor characters are all in capable hands, as they must be to satisfactorily support those who lead. The action of the play is set about the year 1860, and the crinolines, pantalettes and other strange dress of the day add materially to the effectiveness of the offering. The scenes are laid in a little hamlet in Scotland, the stage picture in the second act, a kirkyard, being in itself a splendid study in character.

Altogether, "Buntz Pulls the Strings" is one of the most genuinely entertaining things of the season. It is to be regretted that hazy front drop curtain which has balked before, should be allowed to even slightly mar the performance and embarrass the players.

The attraction runs through next Saturday night, with matinees Wednesday and Saturday.

The Best Cough Syrup is Easily Made at Home
Costs Little and Acts Quickly. Money Refunded if It Fails.

This recipe makes a pint of cough syrup, and saves you about $2.00 as compared with ordinary cough remedies. It stops obstinate coughs—even whooping cough—in a hurry, and is splendid for sore lungs, asthma, croup, hoarseness and other throat troubles.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with 1/2 pint of warm water, and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle, and add the Sugar Syrup. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours. Tastes good.

This takes right hold of a cough and gives almost instant relief. It stimulates the appetite, and is slightly laxative—both excellent features. Pinex, as perhaps you know, is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, rich in ginseng and the other natural healing pine elements. No other preparation will do the work of Pinex in this recipe, although strained honey can be used instead of the sugar syrup, if desired.

Thousands of housewives in the United States and Canada now use this Pinex and Sugar Syrup recipe. This plan has often been imitated, but the old successful formula has never been equaled. Its low cost and quick results have made it immensely popular. A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind. Pinex is fully guaranteed by Laurence Davis Drug Co., distributors, Portland.

PARENT-TEACHERS AT PENINSULA ORGANIZE

The Peninsula Parent-Teachers' circle has just been organized by Mrs. W. J. Hawkins, national president of the Congress of Mothers. The following officers were elected for the coming year: President, Mrs. J. Bugg; secretary, Mrs. Howard Scott; treasurer, Mrs. H. M. Carter. It is the intention of the club to devote the greater share of their time to child welfare work. A meeting will be held this evening in the Peninsula public school, at which time further organization will be effected.
