

ADMIRAL EATON'S WIDOW ACCUSED OF HIS MURDER

She is Arrested at Hingham, Mass., This Morning, Upon Charge of Giving Retired U. S. Naval Officer Arsenic.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY; IS HELD WITHOUT BAIL

Analysis of Dead Man's Stomach Shows Poison; Willed Step-Daughter Money.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Hingham, Mass., March 20.—Charged with the murder of her husband, Rear Admiral Joseph G. Eaton, Mrs. Eaton was arrested here today. It is declared Admiral Eaton was poisoned.
The inquest into the mysterious death of Rear Admiral Joseph G. Eaton at his home in Norwell, near here, was resumed here today.
The police are seeking the Eaton will, which leaves everything to Dorothy Ainsworth, the admiral's step-daughter. Accompanied by two officers, Mrs. Eaton was brought to the courthouse in a closed automobile. She was arraigned before Judge Edward Pratt, and pleaded not guilty. The case was continued until March 28. She is being held without bail.
The district attorney announced today that the examination of Admiral Eaton's stomach, made by Professor Whitney, the Harvard chemist, showed strong traces of arsenic.
Declaration that Admiral Eaton was always afraid of poison was made today by James Prouty, Eaton's neighbor. Prouty said he once removed a package of pills from the Eaton home at the admiral's request.

Tragedy Is Weird One.
Peculiarly weird and uncanny in its rapidly developing details is the tragedy of the household of the late Rear Admiral John Gilles Eaton, United States navy, retired, and the stranger part of the tale of murder charges, poisoning plots and death is that the whole remarkable narrative clings about the love of an old man for a little child.
Upon the groundwork of that love is built the story of two tragic deaths, two sets of murder charges, and the gossipy scandal that involves the name of a man who commanded at different times four of the proudest war vessels that ever carried the American flag, and who was the swift merciful to the man who told the world that Spain's fleet had been annihilated near the harbor of Santiago.

AUSTRIAN FLEET GOES TO ENFORCE DEMANDS UPON MONTENEGRINS

Wants Hostilities in Albania Stopped and Satisfaction for Alleged Abuse of Sailors.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Vienna, March 20.—The government confiscated today's issues of several newspapers because they published accounts of the sailing of the Austrian fleet to make a demonstration off Montenegro and to enforce Austria's demand that hostilities in Albania stop.
Peremptory demands that Montenegro allow all noncombatants free exit from Scutari, by the Austrian government today brought the Balkan question near a crisis. The government also demanded full satisfaction for alleged abuse of Austrian sailors at San Giovanni Di Medua by Montenegrins and Servians.
It is believed here the sailing of the three warships from Pola is to enforce today's demands.

CANNIBALISM DENIED BY SCOTT'S DEFENDER

(United Press Leased Wire.)
San Francisco, March 20.—Hints that Captain Robert Scott's exploration party were driven by hunger to cannibalism were vigorously denied by the Rev. Father Lynch, an Australian divine, who arrived here today on the steamer Moana.
"Captain Scott was too brave a man to resort to such methods to sustain life," Father Lynch declared.
The Moana stopped at Wellington the day Mrs. Scott, the explorer's widow, arrived at that port.

GIVES HER GEMS, SILVER, FOR ALTAR MONSTRANCE

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Los Angeles, March 20.—The silver and practically all the jewels of the late Mrs. Ida Hancock Ross are given to St. Joseph's Roman Catholic church of Los Angeles for a monstrance, by her will, which is on file here today.
The pastor of St. Joseph's church is made trustee of the gifts, with the stipulation that the monstrance shall be melted and moulded into a monstrance for altar use, and all Mrs. Ross' diamonds and other precious stones not specifically given to relatives shall be set into the monstrance.
G. Allen Hancock, Mrs. Ross' son, is her principal legatee, being given real estate worth from $4,000,000 to $5,000,000.

ADMIRAL EATON AND FAMILY

Rear Admiral J. G. Eaton, who was poisoned; his second wife, who was arrested today on suspicion of poisoning him, and her daughter, beneficiary of the rear admiral's estate.

ALL LOVE AND PEACE IN BAT NELSON HOME, YES, THEY'VE MADE UP

Fay King Telephoned for Bat and He Came Running and Soothed Her—and Well—

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Denver, Colo., March 20.—The biggest, broadest and longest grin that Denver has seen in years today is smeared all over the face of Battling Nelson, former lightweight champion of the world. Bat says it's going to "stay put," too, and for the best reason in the world. Here it is:
Mrs. Nelson, formerly Fay King, a newspaper artist, sued Nelson for divorce within a week after her marriage. She claimed she "was literally kidnaped" by the fighter and "two hours after the ceremony knew a horrible mistake had been made." Yesterday Mrs. Nelson suffered a nervous collapse and wired "Bat at Pueblo to come at once" and to use the former champion's expression, "he came a-runnin'." Then in the presence of witnesses and while Bat's face expanded, Mrs. Nelson said:
"Bat is the squarest and biggest man I have ever known. He loves me and has proved it. I love him and I am going to prove it regardless of what has been done in court here."
Here Bat broke in:
"Well, fellows, I guess I should worry and get another cauliflower ear." "All this rubbish and lies," continued Mrs. Nelson, "about my breaking with Bat just for a press agent's story when my heart was breaking; the refusal of even my best friends to believe that I suffered and the tragedy of facing it all alone and unaided, caused my collapse yesterday."
"When the last shred of resistance in me gave way I knew the truth. I loved Bat, and I wanted him. I telephoned him at Pueblo, where he was playing, and he came instantly. He stayed and soothed me, and for the first time since our marriage I was perfectly happy."

HOTEL BRINGS SUIT FOR 'COMMON USER' UPON HOUSE PHONES

New Oregon Asks Railroad Commission to Force Pacific Co. to Grant Privilege.

(Salem Bureau of The Journal.)
Salem, Or., March 20.—To apply the "common user" principle to the wires of the Pacific and Home Telephone companies in the Oregon hotel in Portland, is the purpose of a complaint filed today with the railroad commission by the Wright-Dickinson Hotel company. It is alleged that the Home company is willing for such cooperation, but the Pacific company absolutely refuses.
Both telephone companies have a switchboard in the hotel lobby. The hotel company pays the companies a monthly rental for the number of telephone instruments installed and the trunk wires used, and in addition pays the expense of operating the hotel switchboards. The complaint points out that the switchboards are located close together and that it would be practically as easy to connect one company to the other as to connect the calls coming over the wires of one company to be connected up with the instruments of the other company.
"It would simply require the lengthening of the cords connecting with the trunk lines of said respective switchboards to such length that they can be plugged into the other switchboard," says the complaint. "A portion of the cords mentioned on the switchboard of the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph company were of sufficient length to make such connections, but they have been knotted in such a manner as to shorten them to such an extent that the same are not of sufficient length to make such connections, but the knots therein can be easily unraveled."
The complaint states that the rooms of the hotel are equipped with the phones of the Home company, and the hotel company wants to compel the Pacific company to switch calls over its lines for guests of the hotel to the lines of the Home company. This would be equivalent to a single telephone system in the hotel.

CHILD CAN'T DRESS ON $12,000, WANTS TWENTY

(United Press Leased Wire.)
New York, March 20.—Twenty thousand dollars yearly instead of $12,000 in the sum needed by Helen Dewitt, a 15-year-old heiress, "to keep up appearances," according to the showing made in court today by Joseph H. Dewitt, the girl's uncle and guardian. The court granted the increase. The child's spring outfit will cost $1300 alone, Dewitt declared.

NEVER INTEND TO WED, SAYS MAXINE ELLIOTT

(United Press Leased Wire.)
New York, March 20.—"The report that I am engaged to Mr. Wilding is not true. I am not engaged and never intend to be."
"This was the answer cabled here today from London by Miss Maxine Elliott, the actress, to rumors that she had secretly married Anthony F. Wilding, the Australian lawn tennis champion, in Nice, France. Efforts to locate Wilding today proved unavailing.

BRYAN'S AIDE IN STATE PORTFOLIO QUILTS IN A HUFF

Assistant Secretary of State Huntington Wilson, Hold-over From Taft, Resigns Office on One Day's Notice.

NOT IN SYMPATHY WITH CHINESE LOAN POLICY

President Runs Office While Bryan Is Away; Statement Blames Haste.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Washington, March 20.—Huntington Wilson, assistant secretary of state, resigned today because of the new administration's Chinese policy. President Wilson immediately accepted his resignation.
President Wilson practically has assumed personal charge of the state department during the absence of Secretary of State Bryan. Third Assistant Secretary Adee attends to the routine matters of the department, while the momentous affairs are referred to the president.
Secretary Tumulty announced that Secretary Bryan would not hurry back to Washington because of Assistant Secretary Wilson's resignation.
Assistant Secretary Wilson's letter said his resignation must take effect today. He declined to issue orders regarding the proposed Chinese loan as decreed by President Wilson, basing this action on the ground that to do so would repudiate his own conduct during the Taft administration.
Wilson said he felt out of harmony with the new administration's radical policy.

'IF ONE MILLION WILL BUILD BRIDGE, IT WILL BE DONE,' VANCOUVER

Determination of Citizens to Go Ahead Is Displayed at Meeting Last Night.

(Special to The Journal.)
Vancouver, Wash., March 20.—To minimize the cost of a bridge to meet the purpose of Clarke county, is apparently the only question to be considered, according to statements made at a meeting of the Vancouver Commercial club last night. It was attended by more than 100, the largest body of local business men that ever met at one time at the club house. The meeting was held to determine some line of action relative to the construction of the bridge across the Columbia river here.
Judge A. J. Miller, who attended a meeting with the Portland committee at Portland last Saturday, spoke.
"The Portland committee was anxious to go ahead with the construction of the bridge," he said. "Of course they are situated as we are, there is only a few of them, and the whole of Portland, some 250,000 people, must pass upon the matter."
"I feel confident, however, that Portland will go ahead."

FRIEDMANN, HELPLESS, SOBS AS MOTHERS BEG HIS HELP

Women Block His Way, Holding Up Emaciated and Crippled Babes, as in Ancient Days of Judea When They Held Up Sick Before Great Physician.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
New York, March 20.—Dr. Herman Frauenthal, director of the New York hospital for deformities, declared today that United States Surgeons Anderson and Stinson, who are supervising the administration of the Friedmann tuberculosis cure, are convinced that the treatment is the "greatest tuberculosis discovery in the history of medicine." Dr. Frauenthal said the government experts had confided to him their belief that the Friedmann cure is epoch making.
"Do not come to New York now. Stay at home and have patience. It will not be long before you will receive treatment. The railroad trip here will exhaust your strength and may cost your life. Furthermore I am powerless. I cannot treat cases which are not countenanced and arranged for by government physicians."

(United Press Leased Wire.)
New York, March 20.—Scenes paralleling those described in Judea when Christ healed the sick, and probably unparalleled since his day, were enacted today about the person of Dr. Frederick Franz Friedmann, discoverer of a serum which is declared to be a cure for tuberculosis.
Crowding before the hospitals where Dr. Friedmann treated selected patients today were scores of women holding in their arms the emaciated and misshapen bodies of their children who were victims of the white plague. Unheeding the pelting rain, the sorrow-stricken crowds waited the arrival of the Berlin savant, despite all published warning that only the cases already in the hospitals and selected by the government physicians could be treated at this time.
But hope for themselves and their little ones would not die in the breasts of the mothers, and when Friedmann's automobile arrived, scenes as pathetic as New York ever saw were enacted. Rushing up to the machine, the women fell on their knees and, impeding the progress of the physician, held up their children to him as he passed.
One woman snatched the rags from her infant's body and, speaking in German, implored the doctor to heal the twisted and swollen limbs she bared to his view. A score of women followed her example, tearing the clothing and bandages from the bodies of their children.
The spectacle of the mothers' woe unmanned the German physician. With tears streaming from his eyes, he forced his way through the crowd of women, explaining to them that at present he was powerless to treat their babes, but that if they would have patience he would try to cure them all. Later, still stirred by the pleas of the mothers, he issued a statement to all sufferers, promising that before long every victim of the plague would have a chance for life.

WHITE MAN IS DENIED LEGAL RIGHT TO WED AN INDIAN WOMAN

Helpmeet for Past Ten Years and Mother of Two Children, Is Now Dying.

Deprived by law of marrying Mary Tibbets, the last of the Columbia river tribe of Indians, with whom he had lived for 13 years, and who is the mother of his two children, W. S. Anderson, white, who had been arrested several days ago on a slatutory charge, returned to his home at Troutdale yesterday, only to find that while he had been in the county jail the shack that had been his home for many years had been burned to the ground and that he was an outcast, forbidden to even walk within the boundaries of that town.

NO HARM TO CROPS WILL RESULT FROM PRESENT COLD SNAP

Weather Man Says Good Will Come of It; Danger of Flood Now Looms Up.

This year's March lion, though strictly on the job just now, is not such a March lion after all.
The authority for this is Weather Forecaster Beals, who is on the job all the time, be March lion-like or lamb-like. Mr. Beals said this morning that the present little chilly spell is only an imitation of what has happened here in other Marches, and even up to April. As for yesterday's snow flurry, while it will go down in the government records as a snow storm, it will be marked "T," which stands for "trace." What snow fell over the government weather...

NEW YORK EXPERT COMES TO ASSIST IN CITY ANALYSIS

Winfred B. Holton Will Be in Portland 6 Weeks; On April 7 Dr. Henry Bruere Will Join Him in His Work.

HOLTON IS SPECIALIST IN DISSECTING BUDGETS

Portland Is Soon to Know if There Is Waste and if So, Where It Is.

Winfred B. Holton, expert from the New York bureau of municipal research, arrived in Portland this morning. He is to spend six weeks here in connection with the program of city analysis and department investigation proposed by the Portland bureau of municipal research. He brought with him the announcement that Dr. Henry Bruere, director of the New York bureau, brother of Dr. Gustave Bruere of Portland, and one of the greatest authorities in the United States on commission government, would arrive here April 7 to take up the work with him. Arthur E. Post, another expert of the New York bureau, will not come at this time.
Mr. Holton met after his arrival, conference immediately after his arrival. He arranged that this first work will be in connection with such public works as streets, sewers and the water department, in all of which departments he has been informed there is an immense amount of work to be done.
Mr. Holton is an expert in cost accounting. He is a specialist in the analysis of budgets and in finding the justification or lack of justification in propositions involving the money of the taxpayers. He has done work in connection with streets in New York, Philadelphia and other large cities. William H. Allen, municipal efficiency expert, who has been here until yesterday evening, said of Holton:
"Portland people will find that he will deliver the goods and that some of the things which he will find will open their eyes."
Holton and other experts who are to aid in the Portland investigation will have offices in the city hall, due to arrangement by Mayor Rushlight.

WANTS TO AMEND THE DESCHUTES CONTRACT

(Washington Bureau of The Journal.)
Washington, March 20.—State Engineer John H. Lewis and Senator Chamberlain have arranged to see Secretary of the Interior Lane Saturday to see if he will consent to amend the contract between Oregon and the government on the Deschutes project to make it conform to the state law.
Lewis also desires to get the geological survey to make an emergency appropriation for topographical maps and stream gauging, the appropriation having been lost when Taft vetoed the sundry civil bill. He also hopes to get an agreement as to quadrangles to be surveyed by the government in the state of Oregon this year. Lewis will ask the reclamation service to set aside $15,000 for investigation of the power project at The Dalles.

BRYAN WON'T DISCUSS WILSON RESIGNATION

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Des Moines, Ia., March 20.—Five speeches were on the program of Secretary of State Bryan here today. The first was delivered at the Jefferson club breakfast this morning. The second was before the students and faculty of Drake university. At noon he made of South, Iowa, Monday evening. The third speech before the legislature, and the fourth was delivered before the Jefferson club this afternoon.
The fifth and principal speech will be delivered at the Jefferson club banquet tonight.
Bryan refused to discuss the resignation of Huntington Wilson at length. "I have had his resignation for some time," he said, "but I cannot assume now from what information I have that he resigned for such a reason as his statement indicates."

STUDENT AT U. OF O. IS NOW GRANDMOTHER

(Special to The Journal.)
University of Oregon, Eugene, Or., March 20.—The first of its kind in the history of the University of Oregon, so far as known, to become a grandmother is Mrs. Ella A. Stearns, who returned yesterday from Portland, where she visited the son of her daughter, Mrs. Stanley C. G. Smith, born Monday evening. Mrs. Stearns, as a university student, is registered in the university school of journalism, carrying a regular course, although at the same time she serves as house mother at the women's dormitory. Although Mrs. Stearns is the only one in the university to be a grandmother, she was not the only one to be a mother. Several of the students this year are married men and women with children. Charles Lounsbury, a 35-year-old father of two children, wears a green, business suit.
