

HEAVY COLONIST TRAVEL PREDICTED FOR SPRING TERM

Commercial Club Obtains Telegrams From Number of Eastern Railroad Men Giving Glowing Estimate.

Heavy colonist travel for the spring period of low one-way western fares is predicted by C. C. Chapman, state immigration commissioner, and secretary of the Oregon Development League, after making inquiries as to how the season is opening in the middle west gateways. A very heavy inquiry at the Portland Commercial club from all parts of the country during the past few months is another reason for the belief he holds. Telegrams from eastern railway men yesterday on this subject state:

Carl R. Gray, president of the Great Northern railway—From information at hand we are going to have the largest immigration movement this season for many years, and we believe Oregon will receive a very considerable proportion. On two occasions, from which figures have been received, there were 42 for Oregon.

Will Break Records.
L. Y. Brycker, immigration agent Northern Pacific—Indications are that the coming colonist season will eclipse all records. We have already three parties now en route to Portland destined for various Oregon and Washington points.

E. C. Leedy, immigration agent Great Northern railway—The colonist movement through St. Paul is almost double that for a corresponding period last year. Indications are that business will keep up through the entire colonist season and will probably increase daily. The mail inquiries in this office during February exceeded 10,000 and up to the present time this month there are over 8000, which is considerably in excess of any previous year. The people of the east are interested in the entire Pacific northwest.

"Our correspondence with prospective newcomers from the east," said Mr. Chapman, "has been the largest for a long time, in fact, we have never had such a large inquiry in proportion to the amount of advertising we are doing. The Oregon Almanac, too, has helped a great deal in attracting attention to this state."

Central Oregon to Gain.
"Probably half of this travel will go into central Oregon. Bend, Ontario and Vale are probably the points where the majority of the homeseekers will leave the trains to strike into the interior. At these places the commercial clubs are prepared to handle the newcomers. Business men, wearing Commercial club badges, will meet the settlers at the trains to give the homeseekers help and information as to the best places to settle."

"Roseburg and The Dalles are two of the other places that expect a large immigration, the commercial organizations there having been active in corresponding with inquirers whose names have been supplied from this office. In southwest Washington, Chehalis, Raymond, Hoquiam and Goldendale are the points that may be expected to be sought out by the colonists in large numbers. All are ready to do everything possible for the aid of the settlers.

Planning to Welcome Them.
"While the outside points in the state have plans made to give the glad hand to these new citizens, we here in Portland have not special facilities for them. True, colonists arriving here are but stopping over between trains, about all having their final destination in mind, but if we had the permanent exhibit maintained by the Chamber of Commerce in a prominent place on a well lighted street, in connection with the publicity office of the Development League and a lecture room where pictures could be shown in connection with lectures, we could take much better care of our new citizens."

"Under the circumstances, we will do the best we can to welcome them, and will cooperate with the Chamber of Commerce to show them the exhibit and give them literature descriptive of the sections they intend to visit."

FESTIVAL FUND CANVASS RUSHED

Rosarians Redoubling Efforts to Obtain $100,000 From Local Citizens.

"To the citizens of Portland—Pledge has been given the world that the 1913 Rose Festival will be the greatest entertainment event ever given anywhere. To keep our promise $100,000 must be raised. The crowd that will come here will leave $2,500,000 on the most conservative count. We want to be worthy of the attendance and to give visitors such a good time that they will come back next year and be advertising the Rose Festival, Portland and Oregon during the interval. The reputation of Portland is at stake. We have organized committees of public-spirited men who are giving their time without pay to the raising of this cash. They are doing work for which you who contribute will get the benefit. They have made personal pledges. Their service is to get the subscriptions. Your service is to give the subscriptions as generously as you can afford as quickly as possible when committees call on you. Will you do it? Are you worthy of the name, 'good citizen'? This week's campaign is to tell. We expect your help. Portland expects every man to do his duty."

The above statement was issued yesterday morning by the Rose Festival fund campaign committee of the Royal Rosarians.

Rosarians to Hoop.
One hundred Royal Rosarians, aided by as many more volunteers, will spend today and tomorrow completing the $100,000 fund for the 1913 Rose Festival.

Since Monday 23 committees have been working each from two to six hours a day. Headquarters for the campaign until next Monday evening have been opened in the first floor room of the Lumbermens National bank at Fifth and Stark streets. Big signs are being put into place. A staff of clerks will be kept constantly on the job recording the subscriptions as they are reported by the committees at work.

MUNICIPALLY-OWNED PLANT TO BE STUDIED

At a meeting of the East Side Business Men's club last night, a communication from S. C. Davis, of the Tacoma Light & Power company, was read, announcing his willingness to come to Portland and tell about the municipally owned plant of Tacoma. This club will confer with members of the Federated East Side Clubs and decide upon a date for a mass meeting of all east side citizens for the purpose of studying and discussing municipal ownership.

The club endorsed the Clyde ordinance which requires the street to be kept to sell eight tickets for 25 cents, good during the rush hours of morning and evening.

C. C. Hall, secretary, reported that he was unable to obtain any information regarding the increased cost of operating the water department. He was instructed to try to get a statement for January, 1912, and one for the same month of 1913, so that a comparison can be made.

COUNTRY-BRED BOY WON'T WORK IN CITY

Has any farmer in eastern Oregon a place for a sturdy 17-year-old boy? The juvenile authorities are holding a boy who is accustomed to hard work. He has lived on a farm and he says he is anxious to get work on a farm again. The boy has tried working at several places in Portland but city life seems too much for him and he needs rural awakening according to the officers. He declares he will work if he can get employment on a farm subject are now under consideration. The owners ask that to avoid disputes, the time of going to work be specified in the laws, so as to make it clear whether it starts when the men enter the mines or when they actually commence work.

ALASKA MINE OWNERS FAVOR 8-HOUR LAW

(United Press Landed Wire.)
Juneau, Alaska, March 21.—Mine owners of Alaska have notified members of the legislature, now in session here, that they are in favor of an eight-hour law. Several bills on this subject are now under consideration. The owners ask that to avoid disputes, the time of going to work be specified in the laws, so as to make it clear whether it starts when the men enter the mines or when they actually commence work.

GOLDEN DAY ACTOR FINDS MAP CHANGED

Colonel Phillip Ray of Los Angeles, "Pilot of Celebrities," which is to say west coast manager of big things musically and otherwise, is in Portland for a week or so. Colonel Ray was formerly an actor himself, and in the golden days was a frequent visitor to Portland. He remembers well the old Park theatre and "widows' row," across the way, and one of his two perturbations is that now he can't even find the site of the old playhouse.

Colonel Ray's other worry is that the Theatrical Managers' association has cast John F. Cordray to play Little Willie in the attack to be made on "East Lynne" at the "1913 Follies." Colonel Ray, who looks up as big and handsome as a lighthouse on a dark night, feels that he, because of many qualifications, should have been cast for that Little Willie role.

Colonel Ray handled the Chicago Grand Opera company down in Los Angeles and says that the singers were given a wonderful reception and receipts of staggering proportions. Bruce Gordon Kingsley, English musician, originator of the grand opera recital and the music travails, is on the Ray list of 1913 attractions, and will be seen in Portland during the season.

Queer Acting Bullet Causes Death.

(United Press Landed Wire.)
Fort Townsend, Wash., March 21.—As the result of a street fight, followed by an attempt to escape, Private Tolman of the Sixty-third coast artillery of Fort Warden, is dead. Tolman assaulted Policeman Flater with a club and when Policeman Ezell appeared, started to run. Ezell fired one shot into the ground, which glanced upward, striking the fleeing soldier in the back. Ezell has been exonerated.
