"I was born in London," said Mr. Loveland, "and came to the United States in 1883, 30 years ago. From Colorado, I came to Idaho in 1890, taking charge of the office work for the Denver contractor who was building New York canal near Boise. for his office on the tract. He had blue prints made of the proposed town of Twin Falls, The stage from Shoshone to Rock Creek brought in water from Blue Lakes each day. At that time there was no water on the tract. One day a shoe drummer stopped and wanted to water his team. Bob told him that the stage had not yet brought his water so he couldn't give him enough water him the blue prints of the proposed town of Twin Falls and told him where the court house was to be, where the surrounding miles of sage brush, saw the horned toads scuttling around in the hot sand, shook his head and went on. When he got to Shoshone he reported that there was a crazy man living in a shack out in the desert, trying to sell town lots where even a jack rabbit couldn't live. He advised that he be examined for his sanity. Six years later, the lot that the shoe drummer turned down at $50 was sold for $6000.

"While we were at Twin Falls, we organized the famous Homeless Twenty,' This was in 1904. One of our members, M. B. DeLong, the uncle of Frank Buhl, recently died in Paris. Bob Mc-Cullom's wife came to Twin Falls and she used frequently to invite the Homeless Twenty' up to her house.

"We had a building there where we ate our meals which was called 'The Bucket of Blood,' It consisted of a saloon, restaurant and livery stable all under the same roof.

'Kuhn Brothers of Pittsburg bought the north side project and enlarged it from 17,000 acres to cover 200,000 ew York. This company failed in The Twin Falls tract was settled largely westerners,-men from Oregon, Washington and northern Idaho. A large part of the success of this project was due to the fact that practical farmers took up the land and at once began irrigation project,

"One thing that helped greatly was the fact that the company employed an irrigation expert to instruct newcomers along irrigation lines. The development of this idea has resulted in the united safort of the present settlers to obtain the best markets and place their products before the consumer in the best possible condition. "Many of the towns of Idaho are named for the early promoters of the irrigation projects. The town of Kimberly is named for Peter Kimberly. Buhl is named from Frank H. Buhl, Milner is named after Colonel Milner of Salt Lake. Murtaugh is named from Mark Murtaugh, one of the engineers of the Twin Falls Land and Water company, The town of Hanson is named for the ploneer judge of Rock Creek. They wanted to name a town after Mr. Kuhn but he objected. He said, everyone would call it 'Coon town' so they named the town after Mr. Kuhn's son Jerome and, by the way, Jerome is a very enterprising little city. There are about 800,000

ATTEMPT TO BLOCK SALOON CASE FAILS

Circuit Judge Kavanaugh overruled a motion to strike out the complaint of the state against Paul Wessinger, Henry Wagner, Rufus Mallory, Dan Coppoch, M. H. Meyer and E. Frichkorn, asking for an injunction against the sale of liquor at the Jefferson street depot

The grounds on which the motion was presented was the allegation that H. M. Esterly and Ernest R. Ringo, Governor West's special agents, had no authority to bring suits in behalf of the state, and that the complaint was not signed or verified by the district attorney

Judge Kavanaugh held that Governor West had authority to appoint special agents, and that the special agents had authority to act for the state. The case will come up shortly for a hearing. It was filed October 16, 1912, during Governor West's cleanup campaign.
