BUTTER TO DROP FOUR CENTS There will be a decline of 4c a pound in the price of creamery butter again tomorrow morning in the local market. This will put the price of cubes at 33c and prints at 3414c. Cartons are a half cent above this. The price of butterfat all will be 34c a pound.

A further drop of severe extent is due in the local butter market within the next few days. A further slashing of prices is shown at California points and unless the trade of the Pacific northwest takes heed at an early date, the southern trade will be taking all the business.

This is a mistake that the butter men of the Pacific northwest have made annually for many years and it begins to look as if they are going to repeat the performance this season.

The mistake is not made in the hope of getting more of the consumers money, but to the idea that it will help the producer. This is where the butter men err because the holding up of prices at this time has the opposite effect from what they intend it should have.

Best creamery butter was quoted on the San Francisco market during the last 24 hours at 27c a pound. At this time of the season there is only about 1c a pound difference between the quoted price and the actual selling rigure, therefore California butter can be landed here at this time at less than the set of the season there is only about 1 reports are verified and Montenegrins with the landed here at this time at less than the set of the season that the close. Suc a pound for best quality. This is so far below the actual quotation in effect here that it is startling. Butter makers need to look into the situation more thoroughly than they have beretofore.

SOME CALIFORNIA SALMON

Some supplies of California salmon are coming forward to the local market from the Sacramento. The stock is in good condition and is quoted firm at 20c a pound. Frozen stock is scarce at 10c.

STRAWBERRIES SELL WELL

A very good movement of afraw-berries is shown in the local market. The carload which arrived yesterday, a portion of which was unloaded in this city, has been well sold at $3.25@3.50 a crate, according to quality. Another carload is due within a few days.

EGG CASES VERY SCARCE

There is a great scarcity of second hand egg cases in the local market and in some instances an advanced price is ruling. The scarcity is due to the great-er supplies that have been marketed re-

LOCAL CAULIFLOWER COMING

Small shipments of local grown eauliflower are being offered in the local trade. No. 1 stock is being held firm at $1.25 a dozen, while No. 2 ranges down to 75c.

ASPARAGUS IS EASIER AGAIN

There is again an easier feeling in the asparagis trade on account of the more liberal offerings from California. Sales were reported today generally at 6c to $4c a pound. Green grass brought the shipping points, there is scarcely a movement at this figure.

Growers outside of the association—and it is stated some inside of the organization—are now offering No. I stock down to 50c a cental, but even this has scarcely helped matters. The scason is now so late that there is no expectation of any improvement in the situation, unless it comes at the very end of the crop year, or else something happens to the new crop in the earlier sections. The latter is now scarcely possible for several reasons. The chief one is that the crop is getting well on one is that the crop is getting well on toward maturity, and then there are a number of sections in various portions of the country that grow the early stock, and disaster is not likely to overcome

With Hawail now offering new crop onions to this country, and some small shipments having already been made to California points, the outlook for old

Folly of Eating Fresh Cheese

A Department For Consumers

By Hyman H, Cohen.

The average consumer has forced manufacturers to market a grade of cheese that is the worst possible enemy to their stomachs. They are demanding morea nd more a cheese that is almost rubbery in substance. The fresher the cheese the more easy it has been to sell it recently. This has caused all sorts of stomach complications within recent years, according to one of the most prominent physicians in the city. Up to two years ago practically all-the cheese sold in the markets of Portand and in fact all over the Pacific coast, was thoroughly cured. Then there appeared a famine in stocks of old cheese. The demand became so per-sistent that some of the makers finally were forced to supply the wants of their customers. That is how the habit of eating fresh cheese became started in tremely pleasing and it soon found a host of friends. The result was that after a while it became almost impossible for a manufacturer to market his cured cheese except in a very limited degree, because the public considered it old. The practice has grown to such an extent that it is a real menace to the health of all concerned. All efforts to stop the practice of eating uncu Manufacturers as a rule are adverse to marketing their product before it is really ready for market, but they claim that unless they give the public what it wants they might as well go out of business. As a rule cheese is not thoroughly cured for several months. Some makers consider two months as the proper time for ageing their product but others say that no cheese is fit to eat until fully three months after manufacture.

During the last two years most of the cheese that has been marketed was but a few weeks old at the best. Charles Ray, one of the veteran cheese men of

YORAN HAS MAYORALTY OF EUGENE; ALL BOND ISSUES ARE DEFEATED

(Special to Ton Journal.)
Eugene, Or., April 8.—The ballots cast it the city election in Eugene yesterday save not all yet been counted, and the work will not be completed until tonight. The result, however, can be seen in the ballots already counted.

D. E. Yoran is elected mayor over Gilbert Zacher by a two to one vote. R. S. Bryson is the new recorder; Frank ernment Report More Than Dis Relsner, treasurer, and J. W. McArthur member of the water board.

All three bond issues, $100,000 for a city hall, $100,000 for improvement of the water works and $15,000 for water meters were defeated. The band tax was lost. The ordinance to open theatres. on Sunday was lost by a small majority, The ordinance to prohibit public street speaking without the mayor's consent won and most other eminor amendments were lost, except to pro vide for depositing city funds in a bank to draw interest, and providing for installation of ornamental street lights at the cost of property owners, Women voted in large numbers and 40 of them were deprived of the privi- ing for. Portland is a very attractive lege because they could not reach the polls before closing time. Over 100 voters, including these women, were left standing outside in the rain and made a protest but to no avail.

MORO WOMEN TURN OUT IN FORCE AND VOTE THE TOWN DRY, 88 TO 26

Moro, Or., April 8.—In the city elec-tion yesterday great interest was taken. Previous elections have been decided by an average of 30 votes, but yesterday A cent advance was offered and paid 119 were cast, 56 by women. Fourteen votes were sworn in, half by women. Prohibition was the main issue, resulting 88 to 26 for a dry town, four not voting. One defective ballot was found, presumably a man's, as it was for wet. The main fight was on W. C. Rutledge, for councilman. He is an hotelkeeper. and was the principal one interested in the wet question., The W. C. T. U. ran O. B. Messinger against him. Messinger lost by five votes, and would have won but before any word was heard of him but before any word was heard contest. Under the charter, if the wets was learned of the matter until she dishad won, the charter would have had to be amended by special election before a saloon could be granted a license.
