day to the governors of states which have acted favorably on the constitutional amendment providing for the direct election of senators, asking them to formally report the fact to the state department of the government as soon as possible.

The senatorial committee in Massachusetts on constitutional amendments Monday reported adversely on the suffrage measures thereby killing all hopes of the suffragists for at least another year.

The house of representatives of the Delaware legislature Monday passed a resolution creating a commission of six men with the governor at its head to represent the state at the Panama-Pacific exposition.

Alleges last Monday following complaints by citizens that they had been swindled out of hundreds of dollars recently. The Maybray gang operate a fake race betting scheme and in the past have got away with thousands of dollars during operations at Council Bluffs, Iowa, and other points in the middle west.

Ten and twenty dollar gold certificates, thought to be a portion of $50,000 stolen by Charles Savages, a negro, from a mail truck at the Union station in Kansas City, Mo., five years ago, amounting to several hundred dollars, was found Monday at Leavenworth, Kan. Savages was convicted of the robbery and sent to the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth for 10 years.

Ferried street car passengers hid under their seats in a San Francisco street car Sunday while a policeman and two burglars engaged in a pistol duel. No one was injured and both the burglars, who are boys just out of the reform school, were captured.

Charles F. Baker, recently assistant cashier of the Crocker National bank in San Francisco, was indicted by the United States grand jury in that city last week, charged with abstraction of money and falsification of records in a national bank. The defalcation is said to run up to $204,000 and the grand jury is not yet through with its investigation of the matter. It is declared that brokers who knew that Baker was plunging in larger amounts than his safety warranted, will be investigated by the grand jury with a view to securing an indictment against them.

Professor Oscar M. Olson of the University of Minnesota farm school was acquitted of the charge of murdering Clyde N. Darling, alleged wrecker of the Olson home, by a jury in the Minneapolis circuit court Tuesday. The jury was out about three hours.

Five members of the famous Maybray gang of swindlers were arrested in Win-

STREET car traffic in Buffalo, N. Y., and along the frontier is completely tied up by the strike of motormen and conductors. Intermittent service was maintained early in the week, but it was discontinued because of hostile demonstrations. Strike breakers were imported the latter part of the week and at the present time an irregular service is being maintained. The men are demanding an increased wage, recognition of their union and shorter working hours. Three thousand state troops are on guard in Buffalo and in the frequent rioting, they have been forced to use their guns, injuring several persons.

The strike of telephone girls, employees of the Bell telephone system in New England, set for this week, was averted at the last minute by officials of the company making concessions and arranging a conference between the executive committee of the telephone operators' union, the electrical workers' union, and company officials. All the peacekeeping machinery of the state was put in motion to prevent the threatened walkout. The International Harvester company has announced that its twins mill at Au-

LOUCESTER, MASS., fishing interests have subscribed $5000 for an investigation for the exodus of New England fishermen to Pacific ports during the past few years. Captain Lemuel P. Spinney has been appointed to go to the west coast and inquire into the matter. Many of these, declare Captain Spinney, have gone to the Pacific coast on promise of better pay, and these promises have not been fulfilled.

The session of the New York Stock Exchange Monday will be postponed for two hours out of respect to J. P. Morgan, whose funeral will take place on that day. Monday's session of the exchange will last from noon until 3 o'clock. The steamer France, which brought the body of the late financier across the Atlantic, docked in New York Saturday. There were no unnecessary formalities in bringing the body to shore.

The Canadian Pacific railway announced last week that it will begin work shortly on the longest tunnel in the world. The tunnel will be built through Kicking Horse pass in the Canadian Rockies and will be 16 miles long, or four miles longer than the famous Simplon tunnel through the Alps. It will take seven years to build and cost $14,000,000.

A deadlock was reached Wednesday in the efforts of the Union Pacific-Southern Pacific interests to unshelve in a way that would meet the approval of the government. Attorney General McReynolds on that day flatly disapproved of a plan submitted to him by Robert S. Lovett of the Union Pacific.

The largest passenger vessel in the world, the Vaterland, weighing 3000 tons more than the Imperator, was launched in Hamburg last week and will be put into commission next spring. She has accommodations for 4050 passengers and a crew of 1200. Eighty-three life boats, more than enough to accommodate crew and passengers of the Leviathan, are provided.

Fifteen of the great German steamship lines have applied to the Isthmian canal commission of the United States government for sufficient space on the isthmus to store 15,000 tons of coal. This, however, is only one group of many of the commercial interests that are making arrangements to supply large fleets with coal and other necessities. The canal commission is encouraging individual dealers to establish their own plants and framing regulations to prevent monopoly of excessive charge to consumers.

Absorbs Skin, Chases Wrinkles—Young Again

"The shock at beholding myself in the glass after nine long weeks' abed, nearly caused a relapse," writes Emily Colson in Home Queen. "The faded face, with its lines of illness and worry, seemed thirty years older. Now, I thought, I could not attend my chum's wedding, eleven days off, to which I had looked hopefully forward."

"She herself came to my rescue. She procured an ounce of ordinary mercerized wax at the drugstore, which she bade me spread on like cold cream, washing it off next morning. Applied nightly, this apparently absorbed the withered skin, so gently I experienced no discomfort. Upon the wedding morn the pallid complexion had entirely given way to one of youthful color and loveliness."

"And there wasn't a wrinkle. This due to a wash lotion made by dissolving an ounce of powdered exfolite in a half pint of witch hazel. The daily face bath had dispersed every line."—Adv.
