Captain Edwards and Fuller have summoned the witnesses in the case to appear at their office in the customs house building May I for a hearing of the charges. The Beaver will be in port on that date, and Captain Mason and officers and sailors who were on deck at the time have been summoned. Members of the crew of the Vosburg will also be present.

On her last voyage out, bound for San Francisco and Los Angeles, the steamer Beaver was below Astoria, headed out for the bar, according to the charges preferred, when she overtook the Vosburg, also headed out, with the barge Nehalem in tow, at 8:45 p. m. It is stated that the Beaver blew two whistles to pass to the starboard and the Vosburg answered with one whistle, thus cross-whistling the approaching passenger liner. thus cross-whistling the approaching

It happened that Captain Bulger was a passenger on the Beaver, bound for San Francisco, and as a result of the occurrence he has preferred the charges against the Vosburg. Washington, April 24,—Leaving the White House at noon, President Wilson went to the president's room at the capitol today and conferred with various senators regarding appointments. In many cases the president wishes to select the appointers instead of appointing those favored by the senators.

Considerable criticism of the president's action in going to the senate in-stead of making the senate come to him was heard today. The president evidently expected criticism to follow, as he refused to make any comment. He merely explained that he wished to save his own time as well as that of the senate members.
