MILLIONAIRE GAVE $700 TO PLANTER OF DYNAMITE JOB

Breen Testifies in Lawrence Conspiracy Cases Atteaux Paid Him $500 When He Took Explosive, $200 Later.

LEFT EXPLOSIVE WHERE STRIKERS WERE THICK

"Dynamite" Sticks Produced in Court Frighten Spectators; Prove Harmless.

(United Press Leased Wire.) Springfield, Ill., May 21.—Lieutenant Governor O'Hara was officially cleared of all suspicion of immorality laid against him by an affidavit of Mrs. Maude Robinson by a report today of the state senate committee under Senator Eitelson, which investigated the woman's allegations.

The Eitelson report also censured the white slavery and starvation wages committee of which O'Hara was chairman, for the methods employed in its investigations, here, as a result of which Samuel Davis, who was forced to testify, procured Mrs. Robinson's affidavit through revenge. Davis also was bitterly censured.

The report of the Eitelson committee recommended that anyone who tries in the future to interfere with the work of the O'Hara committee, as Davis did, shall be cited before the senate for contempt. It declared, however, that O'Hara and his vice committee were unduly severe on the Springfield witnesses, Senators Eitelson, Dally, O'Connor and Jones signed the report.

Whitney examined the explosives found in Lawrence and pronounced them 15 per cent dynamite. He then produced three sticks resembling dynamite, and spectators in the courtroom were frightened. Their fears were dispelled when Whitney informed the court that the exhibit was nothing but wood, with dynamite coverings. The witness then explained the danger in handling dynamite and described laws regulating its use.

Conferred with Atteaux. John Breen, a Lawrence undertaker, followed Whitney on the stand. He testified that Atteaux conferred with him prior to January 20 regarding the strike at Lawrence. Breen said he reported things "pretty troublesome" at Lawrence, and that rumors of a plot to dynamite the textile mills were rife.

Breen said he suggested that Atteaux use the "strikers' own methods" and plant dynamite to scare the strikers. Atteaux, according to Breen, then telephoned Ernest Pittman, a wealthy contractor, and arranged for Breen to meet Pittman later.

The testimony offered yesterday by Collins, one of the defendants, was fully corroborated today by Breen. He also told of Atteaux giving him a package containing $500.

January 20, Breen said, Pittman introduced him to a man named Rice, who handed him a package of frozen dynamite. Breen said he then gave the package to Collins, who carried it to Lawrence.

Breen contradicts Collins. Collins' statement that he did not know of the existence of the plot was contradicted by Breen. The witness also said that in choosing places to plant dynamite he wished to leave the explosive where the strikers were thickest.

Breen also described telephoning to Police Inspector Rooney and telling him that he knew where dynamite had been planted. He told of Rooney finding the dynamite, and of the arrest of the occupants of places where it was found. One of those arrested, he said, was a woman with a baby in her arms.

District Attorney Pelletier questioned Breen closely regarding his alleged meeting with Atteaux. Breen stuck to his story, adding that Atteaux afterward sent him $200 by special delivery.

Breen declared that Atteaux gave him a second sum, $200, after he had been arrested and had asked Atteaux to help him.

IMMIGRATION OF CHINESE REACHES HIGH WATER MARK

British Columbia Had 7378 Enter During Fiscal Year Just Ended, Paying $500 Per Head; $3,689,000 Year

(United Press Leased Wire.) Vancouver, B. C., May 21.—In spite of the repeated protests of Premier McBride against oriental immigration and for a "white" British Columbia, Chinese immigration for the fiscal year just ended reached the highest mark in the history of the dominion.

The $500 entrance tax established to act as a bar on the rush from the orient, failed in its intention, for 7378 Chinese entered, paying the government a total of $3,689,000 and 367 more were admitted as students. The total Chinese population of Canada is 20,000, more than two thirds of whom live in British Columbia.

The immigration of Japanese is limited to 400 per annum, on whom no head tax is charged.

Webb Defends His Bill. (United Press Leased Wire.) San Francisco, May 21.—Attorney General Webb, framer of the anti-alien bill just signed by Governor Johnson, pointed out at a civic center dinner here today that California stands safe in her legislation.

"We have not violated any treaty. We must keep this in mind. Our framing of the anti-alien bill was not based on a feeling of race superiority or directed against the Japanese alone. It was predicated on race and desirability. It is as good to invite a stranger to your house and another to give him the house."

John D. Bennett in speaking against the bill said: "Oriental legislation dates back to 1875. We have limited the oriental in regard to fisheries, land, schools and taxes. All this has been based on race hatred. Californians have never cared who cultivated their lands. There is as little need for this sort of legislation in California as in New York, where scores of other races have been pouring in steadily for years."

Japanese Are Incensed. (United Press Leased Wire.) San Francisco, May 21.—The Japanese people are incensed against the United States and it will take but slight provocation to start them clamoring to take up arms.

This was the declaration of H. T. Tammen, one of the publishers of the Denver Post, who is here after a tour of Japan.

"Foreigners sojourning in Tokio who pretend to a knowledge of economic conditions say Japan is not financially able to carry on a war with the United States. That may account for the effort of Japanese statesmen to minimize the effect of anti-alien legislation in California."

War with the United States, however, is the general subject of conversation in Tokio and many Japanese journals are adding the spirit of emity and bitterness.

HENRY L. BOWLBY IS MADE STATE HIGHWAY ENGINEER; $3000 JOB

Man Who Is Not an Applicant Is Selected Over 50 Men Who Do Apply.

(Salem Bureau of The Journal.) Salem, Ore., May 21.—The state highway commission, comprised of the members of the state board, today appointed Henry L. Bowlby of Portland as state highway engineer, under the new highway law passed by the last legislature.

Mr. Bowlby's appointment was made largely on the recommendation of Samuel Hill, the good roads enthusiast, with whom Bowlby has been associated in highway construction for a number of years. Mr. Bowlby is now engineer for the Pacific Highway association, which position pays him the same salary that he will receive from the state, namely $3000 a year.

There were about 50 applicants for the position, but Mr. Bowlby was not one of them. He never made application and his consent to accept the position was secured by Mr. Hill.

'AYE-HEE,' THE HUMAN PUZZLE, BELIEVED TO BE MISSING BANKER

Unidentified Inmate of Rochester Hospital for Six Years Recognized by Woman.

(United Press Leased Wire.) San Diego, Cal., May 21.—"Aye-Hee," the human puzzle, who for six years has been kept under that name alone at the state hospital, at Rochester, Minn., was virtually identified here today by Mrs. John Dean, living in a suburb of this city, as J. C. Ramsey, former cashier of the State bank of Paul Valley, Okla.

TWO DOWN STAIRS OF COURT HOUSE TO THEIR LIBERTY

Prisoners in "Tank" First Tear Screen From Window and Crawl Around Cornice to Another Open Window.

THREE OTHERS DO NOT ATTEMPT TO LEAVE

Officers Have No Trace of Fugitives, Wilbur Dean and Cavoni Helmer.

Frying apart the heavy strands of a wire netting covering one of the seventh story windows in the county jail last night, two prisoners confined in the "tank" for city and juvenile prisoners, crawled through the aperture, down to the outside cornice, then around it to an open window on the west side of the building, thence downward by the way of the stairs to the street, where they were free.

Although the room in which they had been confined contained five other prisoners, no others attempted to escape. When questioned this morning the remaining ones denied knowing anything about the escape, saying they heard no unusual noise. They say that the break was made after they were asleep.

The two who escaped are Wilbur Dean, recently brought back here from Spokane to answer to a charge of passing a forged check and Cavoni Helmer, 15 years old, a runaway from Marshfield, who was caught here a few days ago, while on his way to Seattle to visit with a relative.

Although the men who escaped knew absolutely nothing about the arrangement of walls and windows on the west wing of the building and the way to the back stairs, they made their way around without being heard by anyone inside.

Escaped After Breakfast. The escape was not discovered until this morning after the prisoners in the room had been furnished with breakfast and a roll call of the men started. As neither Dean nor Helmer responded to the call, a search was immediately started. Then it was noticed that the strands of the heavy wire netting had been pried apart and the two young men had crawled out to a cornice a few feet below.

As this room is in the northeast section of the building and no stairs are accessible from this floor it was necessary for the men to walk along the cornice. They were protected from the sight of the street by a heavy outside wall which was built to finish up the appearance of the building. Following the cornice about 10 feet to the corner of the building, the men walked westward and around to the west wing. There, as on the east wing, all of the windows except one are covered with bars. This window had been used by workmen who are working on the new jail and the bars had been removed to allow them to get in and out to the walls.

Find Way Back. It was through this window that the two crawled into the building. As there was no one on this floor it was an easy matter for the men to find their way about without being heard. From this floor they made their way downward by the stairs to the half floor between Sixth and Seventh, which is used as a chamber to conceal the steam pipes. From there they found their way to another flight of stairs to the sixth floor and thence downward to the ground floor. As the doors of the court house can be opened from the inside they had no difficulty in getting to the street and making good their escape.

Immediately after it was learned that the men had gotten away the police were immediately notified and a search started by both the police and deputy sheriffs, but as yet the men have not been apprehended.

Sheriff Word's Explanation. Sheriff Word said this morning that the escape would have never occurred had he been allowed to place the young men in the regular steel cells with other prisoners. People with humane inclinations have been responsible for keeping the young prisoners in the room from which the escape was made.

This room contains no steel bars of any sort and is entirely separate from the rest of the prison. It is not a part of the new tool proof steel jail now under construction.

BOMB EXPLODES IN ROYAL OBSERVATORY

(United Press Leased Wire.) Edinburgh, May 21.—A bomb, believed to have been planted by militant suffragettes, slightly damaged the Royal observatory here today. It tore a hole in the second floor, but aside from ruining several delicate instruments, did no other damage.

Birmingham, England, May 21.—Another joke "bomb" filled with sand, was found here today on the doorstep of the National Provincial bank.

TARIFF BILL FAVORABLE TO OREGON, SAYS KING

(Special to The Journal.) Ogden, Utah, May 21.—Will R. King, chief counsel United States reclamation service, stopping off here today, en route from Washington, D. C., to Portland, said:

"In my mind there's no doubt but that the Underwood bill will pass. It is generally thought in Washington the bill will go through about July 1. The Oregon senators will vote with the majority. There is no question but that the bill is favorable to Oregon in general. Some few oppose its passage but they are alone in their opposition."
