MUNICIPAL ECONOMY AIM OF WARRENTON'S WOMAN MAYOR

of his own family and so discussed po-litical questions with us when the ordi-"I suppose, Miss Munson," said I, you were an ardent suffragist and nary man would go down to the corner thought it was time that women should grocery and sit on a cracker barrel or do some of the governing, in place of a dry goods box and discuss politics always being governed."

"You are not the only one who has and swam and talked politics with my done a lot of supposing," said Miss father almost as if I were a boy. Munson. "As a matter of fact, I was not very much in favor of woman suf-ident of Mills college, was my governess." frage. Now that women have a vote, for two years when we were at Fort however, I believe they should take an active interest in political affairs and show they are able to make good use of show they are able to make good use of a young lady, my father and mother the ballot. The citizens here were disdecided that I ought to have a better satisfied with the administration we education so they sent me to St Helen's ad been having, and someone said, 'I Hall at Portland, which I attended for believe Miss Munson would make a five years. One of my school chums good mayor.' I took it as I supposed it was Maria Clopton. Her mother was one was meant—as a good joke. Others of the sweetest characters I ever knew. took the suggestion seriously. A caucus Miss Clopton later became Mrs. C. was held and my name and one other name were placed in nomination for the office of mayor. My opponent did not prove to be much of a runner. In any event, I got most of the votes. A nonpartisan citizen's ticket was put up, headed by myself for mayor.

"A good many of the men who held old fashioned views about a woman's sphere being in the home, and who belleved that a woman should be seen and not heard didn't like to see a woman 42. You can have ten years lee-way either way you want or you can average running for mayor. Finally a Mr. Deidrich said that rather than have a woman for mayor he would run himam going to use a woman's prerggative self. The election was held December Mr. Deidrich received 22 votes. I and let you do your own guessing. You received 38. I believe that if I should enough to give Warrenton an economrun again that a good many of the 22 ical and businesslike administration as who voted against me would vote for mayor."

"I preside over all of 'the council meetings, and inasmuch as the councilmen who ran on the citizen's ticket were elected, we get along very serene-Even in a little place like Warrenton with only a few hundred people, we have our civic problems. For example, we formerly employed a city attorney and a policeman. As mayor, backed by the council, I was given a free hand, so I disposed of the services of both of these officials. I am now mayor, city attorney and chief of police. The money we save by dispensing with the services of a city attorney and a police officer we are putting into improvements-rebuilding the old sidewalks and putting in new ones. The mayor of Astoria, Mr. Gray, has been kind enough to give me free legal advice whenever we have required it. Paces Liquor Problem. "One of the problems I have had to thresh out was the matter of a saloon here. The question of reissuing the license of the saloon here came up. The license fee is $400 a year. There are very few women in favor of salogns, and what the saloon stands for, for liquor and prostitution go together, and they are both destructive forces of soclety. The money received, from licenses is only a drop in the bucket to what society has to spend as a result of the use of liquor. "There are 50 saloens in Astoria. seven miles distant, and four saloons in Hammond, three miles away. I thought the thing out carefully, and decided that as long as Uncle Sam and the saloon man were in partnership, it was not fair to punish the weaker partner-the saloon man. As long as you and I and the others who constitute Uncle Sam tell the saloonman that he may pay a certain sum of money to carry-on his business, all we can do is to see that he does not transgress the laws. The real solution of the problem is for Un cle Sam'not to become the silent partner of the liquor men. "If you want a further discussion of this matter, however, you had better see Dr. Owens Adair, who lives mear u

Harry A. Roberts, formerly a well known Portlander, arrived from Edmonton, Alberta, yesterday, bubbling with enthusiasm for the north country-particularly Peace River-declaring, however, in the next breath that he wishes he was back in Portland to stay. He expects to remain in town two weeks, then return to Alberta,

"More than 60 per cent of the sub-stantial business men in Alberta are Americans," declared Mr. Roberts, "and

"Saskatoon," said Mr. Roberts, "It the best-boosted town on the continent, but it is taking a breathing spell now. Medicine Hat, which also had a rapid growth on account of the natural gas and coal, has quieted down, and even Calgary, the pet town of the Canadian Pacific railway, is a bit quiet in everything ex-cept building, Edmonton Substantial City. "In my opinion Edmonton is the substantial city of Alberta and western Canada. It has an almost unlimited field in agriculture, coal, asphaltum and tar sands which must reach the world through its railroads. But that isn't what I want to tell about—I'm not ex-actly an Edmonton booster yet.

an idea that the Arctic circle begins with the city limits of Edmonton on the north side. But there is a railroadthe Canadian Northern—that runs 100 miles farther north to Athabasca Landing. Three years ago there was a handful of people around the Hudson Bay post there, but now there are 3000. At Athabasca Landing the trains meet boats that run down the river to Lesser Slave Lake. This lake is 85 miles long, and a good steamship line runs in it, At the western end of the lake the boats land at Grouard, which a year ago was only a mission, and now has 1800 inhabitants. Old Bishop Grouard, after whom the town was named, has been there 52 years, and the Hudson Bay company has maintained a post there for a cen-

The "New Idea" Is the Most Economical and Sanitary Gas Range WORLD

SANITARY! WHY?

Because it requires no stove blacking, merely clean it with a damp cloth and the range will look like new—because the "New Idea" has tie lined canopy, white enamel broiling pan and clean-out tray, which is absolutely sanitary.

ECONOMICAL! WHY? Because the "New Idea" consumes

25 per cent less gas than any range made. Because the patent burners are constructed to consume more air than any other gas range, the air costs nothing. Sold for Cash or on Easy Terms of Credit
