In the history of the cup contests, ex-tending over a period of 12 years, the trophy never has been held outside of England, Australia and the United States. This fact adds to the impor-tance of the trials between the United States and Australia, since it is generally assumed that either the one or the other of the two countries will meet the English team in the cup contests

The Australian and American teams are considered exceptionally well matched. The members of the Australian team are S. M. Doust, Horace Rice and A. B. Jones. All are seasoned match players, and therefore will not be troubled by nervousness or anxiety. Doust, who is the captain of the team, is rated as the best racquet wielder in Australia, and is a veteran of many championship competitions. Rice is a left-handed player and also a veteran capable of passing any volleyer with these strokes either side. Jones, the these strokes either size that the strokes of the team, is said to be the best all around player ever produced in Australia. His style is very Batteries—Wood and Cress; Peet and duced in Australia. His style is very similar to that of H. L. Doherty.

The Americans selected to play the Australians are Maurice E. McLaughlin of California, R.; Norris Williams of Philadelphia, and Harold H. Hackett and Raymond D. Little of New York. The team is considered exceptionally strong and well balanced. McLoughlin stands as No. 1 on the ranking list and holds the national championship in both singles and doubles, as well as other important titles. Williams, who is a student at Harvard, was the sensation of the past season, ranking No. 2 to locals defeated La Grande, 7 to 5, yes-McLoughlin. His chief victory was terday by timely hitting. the winning of the national clay court the third member of the team, has a record as a doubles player that has never been duplicated on the American courts. He has held the national title and at times all of the important ones. Little, the fourth member of the American team, is one of the veterans of the game. He has figured in other interna tional cup matches, and was also rated in the doubles with Hackett, with whom he has been playing steadily this sea-

REED COLLEGIANS IN TRACK MEET TOMORROW

The second real track and field meet to be held at Reed college will occur next Saturday in connection with the student celebration known as College day. As this is the last time the men can possibly pit themselves against each other during this term, interest is high and a number are training with exceptional care.

The meet, which was suggested by and is under the direction of the Athletic council, has been arranged with a special purpose of learning who the best men in the various events are, and therefore the meet is open, all entries being individual and unattached. Heretofore all the meets have been of an interclass nature, the sophomores being practically ever victorious. As a result some of the best men have never been in contest against each other, and it is believed the best possible records

Fair Tennis Players Even. University of Oregon, Eugene, Or., June 6 .- In the fifth set of a closely contested tennis match between co-eds of rival universities, Oregon won from Corvallis yesterday afternoon by one love set. The Oregon players were Miss Frances Addams and Miss Bess Cowden, both of Silverton. The O. A. C. team was composed of Miss Anne Rytledge of Corvallis and Miss Horteung of Eugene. Miss Rutledge won the singles for Corvallis from Mise Addams in the morning.

Game Against Munger; To Meet Wolfard Today.

Irvington's crack junior players, Kyle and Wolfard, continued their sensational playing yesterday afternoon and deof the state meeting of the Oregon feated Lents and Myers, of Vancouver, Sportmen's association, scoring 114 in the semi-finals of the men's doubles, out of 120 rocks shot at. The shoot was a 100 rock affair, but McCornack experts played great tennis with the exexperts played great tennis with the exception of the last part of the second set. The junior players will play K. Smith and A. D. Wakeman for the championship tomorrow,

Another feature of yesterday's play was the excellent net game played by Brandt Wickersham in his match against Munger. The city champion was in great form and his lobs and fast serves were too much for the Vancouver player. Wickersham meets Wolfard this afternoon, and although heavily handicapped, should defeat the young wonder if he plays like he did yesterday,

Richardson and Gill were beaten in the men's doubles by Smith and Wakeman. Both matches played yesterday in the mixed doubles were three set af-

The greatest difference in popular-priced cars is the difference in price, and this difference is due to factory and facilities.

The Willys-Overland Company do not claim to be more conscientious builders, but they are more economical. It is merely the Overland method-a 95 per cent efficient factory system making 40,000 cars yearly.

The Overland costs 30 per cent less than any other similar car made.

The Overland has a powerful silent, smooth-running thirty-horsepower motor, seats five large passengers comfortably. The body is finished in the famous dark Overland blue and the wheels in battleship gray: Every Overland owner is proud of his car and you will find them no matter where you go, in the country as well as the city.

Overland is a great favorite with the farmer, and he is used to buying machinery, and his choice is the Overland.

Let us show you this wonderful car today.
