EGG MARKET SHOWS A FURTHER ADVANCE ON THE LOCAL TRADE

at 22 Cents Along Street Today; Fight on Between f. o. b. Buyers Results in Rise.

> Today's Produce Trade. Candled eggs higher. Chicken market lower. Strawberries hold steady.

Market for strawberries was steady to firm today, both on Front street and on the farmers' market. Sales by produc-ers were made generally at 85c for most varieties, while on the street values ruled from $1 to $1.10 for best offer-ings aside from Wilsons and Clarks.

CHICKEN PRICES DROP AGAIN

Chicken market prices are down again on the street, with buyers not anxious. Bids as high as 14c a pound are report-ed for hens, but no cleanup is shown. Northern markets are not buying at the

FLORIDA EGG PLANT ARRIVES

A small shipment of Florida egg plant was received on the street today in excellent condition. It was quoted at 25c a pound. There was not enough available to generally establish quotations. Florida peppers are firm at 30c a pound.

APRICOTS ARE LOWER

Sales of apricots are reported in the local market at lower prices, with increasing supplies from the south. Quotations today ruled from $1.50 to $1.75 per crate of four baskets,

OLD POTATOES MOVE BETTER

Quite a fair improvement is shown to the demand for old potatoes on account for new stock. All through the coastates the call for old stock of goo guality is better, and values are fractionally higher.

ASPARAGUS MARKET IS GOOD Very good tone is shown in the marke for asparagus today. While there wer fair arrivals today from local points an from Walla Walla, the market held well local bunched stock is selling at 75c

COURT DECISION IS OF

Handlers Are Not Liable for Undercharged Rates After They Have Paid Consignees.

A decision of much interest and portance to the railroads, shippers and in a - York court, which means that the wholesalers will no longer be liable for failure of the railroads to charge sufficient rate, at least after the former have settled for the shipments with the producer.

Cheese and butter firm.

Strawberries hold steady.

Veal market rules easier,
Old potatoes in demand.
Hop market gains strength.

The local egg market shows a further advance in the price of candled stock. Sales were reported this morning along Front street at 22c a dozen. This action was expected and was forecast several adays ago by The Journal.

Eggs at case count are quoted firm at its along the street, with buyers paying country shippers from 19 to 19½c. The latter extreme price is due to a fight between two of the leading f. o. b. buyers. The extreme price really means that the buyers are handling the product for nothing, and ars paying their own selling expense. This therefore is an unnatural condition, and will probably not last for an extended period.

Receipts of eggs along the street are any fair, and demand, both from the home trade and for shipping, is somewhat better. With the northern market firmer at high prices, local interests are able to clean up their offerings quite saily.

Indications are now pointing to a further advance in the local price of eggs.

STRAWBERRY MARKET STEADY

For several years the railroads have been suited from $1 to $1.00 for best offer.

Movement Today.

New York, June 14.—There was a big bull movement again today in the stock market and almost the entire list was sharply higher at the closing. Trad-ing was rather extensive for the Satur-day short day; the demand coming prin-cipally from shorts who were anxious to cover o cover. James J. Hill declares that the Wash ington situation is satisfactory and advises people to keep a clear head and that everything will come out all right. Western trade reports are more optimistic in character and the outlook in business circles is better.

Sales of Candled Stock Being Made New York Court Decides That the Chicago Touches $9 for Day, but Little Fleece Is Being Offered and Further Strength Is Shown in New Producers Are Holding Back for Higher Prices; Mill Men Are Reducing Their Bids.

There is an extremely dull tone in the wool trade. Buyers are seemingly less anxious to purchase and many have reduced their limits at some points. On the other hand producers are firmer in their views and are holding back for a change in conditions.

The fact that recent sales were made in the eastern market to foreign inferests demonstrated that wool incess throughout the United States have been forced to too low a basis, but mill interests are trying to force prices still lower.

terests are trying to force prices still lower.

At primary Pacific northwest centers wool sales dates were conspicuous for their absence of general selling among producers. Only a few lots were sold at any one place, the bulk of the offerings being held back for higher figures.

The Boston representative of The Journal wires the following regarding the situation there:

"Boston, Mass., June 14.—Conditions have nor materially changed in the Boston wool market. Sales the past week have been well up to 750,000 pounds, including a fair proportion of the new wools, both fleeces and territories. Trade is "spotty" and irregular, some houses reporting a moderate interest on the part of manufacturers, while others compiain of the lack of demand. Foreign wools are quiet with only small lots selling. The feature of the week is the change in attitude toward primary wool markets. Mill buyers have reduced their buying limits and therefore his company had added $5,000,000 to its stock for "good will." Henry Oxnard was the next witness. He boasted that for 25 years he "had fought every bill threatening the well being of the sugar industry." Oxnard said his company spent $60,000 fighting Cuban reciprocity, and that the Havemeyer company spent $750,000. He asserted, however, that all this money was spent lightimately. After Oxnard was excused the committee adjourned to Monday.

Declaration that the lobby inquiry may continue several weeks longer was made by Senator Lee S. Overman, of North Carolina, chairman of the senate sub-committee carrying on the investigation. Overman announced he would request authority to indefinitely continue the inquiry. It was apparent today that 40 subpenaed witnesses here will be unable to testify unless the time limit is extended. The committee wants to study just how far lobbyists have gone in furnishing "patent insides" to newspapers.

Government Printed Circulars. Ansel Wold, a senate printing clerk, was questioned regarding testimony by Truman Palmer, representing sugar interests, that the sugar people had saved $16,000 by the distribution of sugar propaganda through congressional franks. He also declared the propa-ganda had been printed by the govern-

Further strength is shown in the mar-ket for contracts on the coming wheat crop at Pacific northwest points. Bids for club are almost general today at 81c for new crop. Sales are only fair.

Sic for new crop. Sales are only fair.

There is a very strong tone in the spot wheat trade, but little business is resulting because of the lack of offerings. A few mixed cars are being purchased here and there but practically no straight cars of any one variety are available. This puts the business in a very nominal basis.

Much demand is showing for oats both here and elsewhere along the Pacific coast. While bids are showing no price change, the demand is very liberal and buyers eagerly snap up offerings whenever presented. whenever presented.

Barley market, while nominal, owing to the limited stocks, is very firm in price with bids practically the same as yesterday.
Milistuff market is dragging at extreme prices because of the lack of general offering.
