Woman Awarded Damages,-Mary D Hammer was yesterday given judgment for $800 damages against Patrolman M. D. Wells and the National Surety company, which provided bond, by a jury in Circuit Judge Calkins' department. Mrs. Hammer charged that Wells arrested her at midnight, August 25, 1912, in her home, 1107 Albina avenue, handcuffed her and took her to jail, where she was held for four hours. She alleged that the treatment caused the loss of an unborn child. Wells alleged in answer that he went to arrest her husband for drunkenness and disorderly conduct, that she suggested that she be handcuffed to her husband that he might be taken quietly to the patrolbox, two blocks from the home, that Mrs. Hammer went in the patrol of her own accord and that she was at the station but 45 minutes, after which she was sent home. He denied using undue

EAST

IN EARLIER DAYS

By Fred Lockley,

J. A. Cox of Langlois, Curry county, is in Portland as a delegate from the Golden West Masonic lodge at the neeting of the grand lodge. "I am 66 years old," said Mr

"and I have spent my whole life in Oregon. I was born in Polk county in 1847. My father's name was Isom Cox. They came in the immigration of 1845, At the Hot Springs, near where Boise is, they were met by a man named White, who told them of a better way to the Willamette valley. "Stephen H. L. Meek said that he knew the new road and would act as guide. Meek said that by following the Malheur river to its source they would come to a low pass in the mountains at the head of the Willamette valley, where they could cross. There was an old trail of this kind used by the fur trappers. The country was so rocky that the oxen could not stand it. There wasn't enough grass and rocks made their feet sore. The water was full of alkali, which made the emigrants sick. The emigrants finally refused to follow their guide farther. Meek was compelled to leave the party but he told them how to strike the headwaters of the Deschutes, and follow it to the Columbia river. So after many hardships the party finally got out all right.

"I lived in Polk county until I was 18 years old. In 1865 I went to Floras Creek, in Curry county. Floras Creek is named after Ned Floras, one of the guides in the Indian wars of 1855. went there to engage in mining. There is a big deposit of black sand mixed with gold and we tried to save this in sluice boxes. The gold, however, floats off, and after I had spent all the money I had and was $500 in deebt I decided to quit. I got a job in a lumber camp and punched bulls to get money to pay what I owed. I don't know how it is in other mining camps, but there we spent $2 or $3 in silver to get every dollar in gold out of the sand. "I followed stock raising for some years after that and six or eight years ago I went into the dairy business.

"Curry county has no railroads. We come out by boat to Marshfield and from there take a boat to Portland, or we come out by stage to Myrtle Point and from there take stage to Roseburg. A railroad is now pointed in our direction. Some think it is the Hill road. There is another survey made down the coast from the Siuslaw to Eureka, Cal., so maybe some day we will get a road. Frank Langlois, from whose father the town of Langlois was named, is one of our oldest settlers.

SCHOOLS AND COLLEGES

BELMONT SCHOOL Belmont, Catifornia

Belmont school does for its boys what thoughtful and careful parents most wish to have done. Its location beyond the diversions and temptations of lown or city, the fineness of its elimate, the excellence of its equipment and the spirit of its faculty combine to make this possible. It prepares boys for the best colleges and schools of engineering, and offers in addition such elective courses as boys may wish who are not planning for university work later.

Appaintments for personal interviews concerning the school may be made at the Portland hotel, during the month of June, with Mr. H. D. Oliphant, a member of the faculty. Fall semester opens August 18, 1813.
