Brief Items of Tuesday's Late News

Short Stories of World Happenings Not Received in Time for Yesterday's Issue of The Journal.

Congressional.
The House banking committee has begun consideration of the administration currency reform bill, and it will probably be reported about the middle of August. It is expected that a number of "opposition" currency bills will be introduced.

Senator Simmons, chairman of the finance committee, has secured a copy of a lengthy analysis of the Democratic tariff bill, prepared under the direction of Senator Smoot. This points out what the Republicans contend are serious defects in the measure, and Senator Smoot has delayed its introduction for a month, despite the insistence of Democratic members, with a view to availing themselves of such of its criticisms as may be pertinent, before they send the tariff bill to the printer.

Political.
It is announced from Washington that Attorney General McReynolds has practically finished his investigation of the telephone situation on the Pacific coast. He will determine whether the government shall prosecute the Bell interests on charges of monopoly.

It has been indicated at the department of justice at Washington that the government's suit at Los Angeles against the Southern Pacific railroad will probably be delayed until the United States supreme court has decided the suit brought against the road by Edmund Burke and other private litigants. The government seeks to recover $500,000,000 worth of oil lands.

Eastern.
A fierce storm swept Tuesday throughout northern Illinois, southern Wisconsin and parts of Indiana. High winds attained a velocity of 60 miles an hour, and rain and hail descended in sheets. Three persons were killed and a score injured.

Ray Pfanschmidt, 21 years old, has been sentenced to be hanged October 18 at Quincy, Ill. He was convicted of murdering his parents, his sister and a young woman school teacher.

Foreign.
As the result of eating lamb infected with anthrax, six persons are dead at Avila, Spain, and 18 others are dying. The municipal veterinarians had passed the meat fit for consumption, and the government is now taking steps to prosecute them. The meat came from dead lambs that had been exhumed, and was sold for 7 cents a pound.

In the English house of commons a motion to reject the Welsh disestablishment bill was defeated by a vote of 247 to 244. The bill then passed to its third reading.

Miscellaneous.
The McKinley club at Canton, Ohio, has forwarded resolutions to the president and postmaster general protesting against the substitution of the picture of Jefferson for that of McKinley on postal cards.

A delegation of Japanese notified the city authorities of Denver Tuesday that they would appeal to the ambassador of their government at Washington against an order barring Japanese from the bathing beaches in Denver city parks. They declare that the order violates their recent treaty rights.

Pacific Coast.
A fire which started from the explosion of a gasoline stove in the upper rooms of a bakery destroyed a large part of the little town of Lapwai, Idaho, west of Lewiston. Business and residence property was damaged to the extent of $12,000, with little insurance.

caucus in delaying the tariff cut in wool until December, will materially aid the western wool man. He said that between now and December "our mills should be able to consume a large part of this year's wool."

President Wilson has virtually decided to prolong his vacation visit at Cornish, N. H., until Sunday, unless affairs at Washington should become so pressing as to require his presence. He is gaining in weight and health, as the result of plenty of golf and brisk motor rides in the cool mountain air.

31,083 ACRES OF LANE TIMBER TRANSFERRED

(Special to The Journal.)
Eugene, Or., July 9.—The transfer of 31,083 acres of timber land lying in the old military wagon road grant east of Eugene from J. E. Wheeler of Portland to the Penn Timber company of Warren, Pa., has been revealed by the filing with the county clerk of Lane a mortgage for $800,000, given to the Detroit Trust company to secure bonds in that sum at 6 per cent. The mortgage was given by the Penn company, and immediately after it was filed a satisfaction of a mortgage for $900,000, held by the Booth-Kelly Lumber company against Wheeler.

Wheeler bought this land last November, and has since transferred it to the Penn company. The money derived from the issuance of the mortgage being used to make the final payment to the Booth-Kelly company.

This land lies along the Klamath extension of the Southern Pacific railway, now in operation as far as Oakridge, it embraces three townships, and is between the towns of Lowell and Oakridge.

RAIN AND NOT REMORSE MADE DIAMOND GIVE UP?

(Special to The Journal.)
Roseburg, Or., July 9.—The robbery of the Glendale State bank by Ray Diamond was premeditated and not committed on the impulse of the moment while he was drunk, as he says, is the opinion of District Attorney Brown after a lengthy interview with the youthful bandit. Brown believes that Diamond's escape was due to the fact that he encountered much unexpected unfavorable weather and that he could not find the trail leading to the Eureka, Calif., country, where he had planned to go and remain in hiding with friends until the affair had blown over sufficiently to enable him to escape to the States.

That Diamond thought himself more closely pursued than he was, and that when he found himself at Agness feared to turn back, and so decided to surrender and tell the story he did in the hope that he would be dealt with mildly.

Young Diamond seems to enjoy telling of his escape, but at times gets a little blue. When asked for an interview by The Journal correspondent, he said: "Let's see, what kind of a roast did your paper give me? Well, it doesn't matter, anyhow, for my name does not amount to anything now."

Diamond said that he could have escaped easily enough had he desired to. He said he could have gone to the Eureka country and remained with friends, exactly as Brown thinks he had planned to do.

BROWNSVILLE MAN BUYS SIGNAL OF NEWPORT, OR.

(Special to The Journal.)
Newport, Or., July 9.—The Newport Signal, T. F. Kershaw, editor, was sold today to C. V. Averill, an employe of the Brownsville (Or.) Times. Mr. Averill will take charge with next week's issue.

The Signal was founded six years ago by John Fleming Wilson, one time reporter on The Journal and now widely known as a writer of short stories. It continued under his management for about a year but was unsuccessful on account of Wilson's indifference to the advertising and business end. It was sold to A. B. Clarke, an old newspaper man of Lincoln county, and shortly after to H. G. Guild, of Roseburg, who is now in the land office at Vale, Or.

Mr. Kershaw acquired the plant from Guild, and under his management the Signal has become one of the county's leading papers.

Leper Helps Leper Escape.
(United Press Leased Wire.)
Port Townsend, Wash., July 9.—Surgeons of the federal health service here are urgent in their support of the movement to set aside an island on the Pacific coast for the care of lepers, following the escape of Dominik Pittori, a leper, from the temporary quarantine at Diamond point. Pittori escaped with the assistance of John Early, Spanish war veteran, an attendant at the leper colony, who is himself a leper. Early has recently developed marked signs of insanity, and close watch is being kept on the two lepers remaining at the station. Dr. E. O. Sawyer, health officer of Los Angeles county, California, inspected the Diamond point station yesterday and conferred with Past Assistant Surgeon Earl in the interest of the former's bill for the establishment of a permanent leper station which is now before congress.

GOOD MUSIC AT GLADSTONE PARK

This Afternoon "Catch-My-Pal" Patterson Entertains Large Crowd.

(Special to The Journal.)
Gladstone Park, Or., July 9.—Chaunauqua patrons, long accustomed to "eastern" musical attractions, were given a western treat last night, and 2500 westerners felt pride in the excellent concert given by the Sierra Mixed Quartet. The Sierras are from Los Angeles, and the quartet are all well known concert artists: Carl Edwin Anderson, tenor; Ruth Waterman Anderson, soprano; Silpha Eugenia Jenkins, soprano, and Lowell Moore Redfield, pianist and accompanist.

Perhaps the most popular quartet numbers were "Carmena, Meet Me," and the lively, joyous "Estudantino." The encore arrangement of "Annie Laurie" was most effective. It is predicted that over 3000 people will hear the Sierras in their final concert at 8 o'clock tonight.

Of unusual interest this morning was Mrs. Frances Carter's recital of Shakespeare's famous "Much Ado About Nothing." Portland Shakespeare women and enthusiasts from other places heard Mrs. Carter in great numbers. Mrs. Carter won great favor with her mastery interpretation, and lived up, in every way, to the flattering commendations of her work that have followed her from her home in New York city. She is a true artist in her chosen work, and her daily classes in elocution work are largely attended.

Rev. Robert J. Patterson of Belfast, Ireland—he of "Catch-My-Pal" fame—was the afternoon speaker today in the main auditorium, and talked before a large afternoon audience of "Modern Good Samaritanism." The eminent Irishman "made good," just as he did at the World's Citizenship conference in Portland.

Among the interesting morning features today were Dr. Gilbert's talk on "Railways and the Public," Mrs. Chapman's violinist, "The Relation of Art and Life"; Dr. W. B. Hinson's talk on "The Best Book in the World"; Miss Lamkin's "Play: Its Place in Education," and in the afternoon aside from the appearance of Dr. Patterson, Miss Bigelow's lecture on the "Child and His Road," and A. G. Linn's talk on "An Egg and How It Should Be Handled." The program for tomorrow will feature the Tyrolean Alpine Singers of the Tyrolean Alps, Switzerland. Thursday's program complete is as follows:

Of these 762 are Republicans, 377 Democrats, 51 Progressives, 49 Socialists, 39 Prohibitionists, 39 Independents and 21 refused to designate any affiliation. DAY BILL ATTACK COMES TWO WAYS

If Held Constitutional It Will Be Assailed as Not Self-Operative.

(Salem Bureau of The Journal.)
Salem, Or., July 9.—The petition of the Marion county circuit court, as intervenors in the injunction suit brought by A. C. Libbey against Secretary of State Olcott to test the constitutionality of the Day special election measure, will come up for hearing before Judge Galloway tomorrow, according to present plans.

"We now have two chances to knock out the Day bill," said Attorney Yankwich. "First, we will test it on the ground of its constitutionality; whether the legislature has the authority to call a special election without stating in the call the measure or measures that are to be voted upon at the election, and then if the court holds that the act is constitutional we will have the question up as to whether the act is self-operative."

"We take the position that the machinery for holding an election was omitted from the measure. The bill is like the framework of a building, without anything in it to make it habitable. It is without force or effect."

"If this contention is upheld by the court and the Marion county court refuses to furnish supplies and defray the expenses it will be impossible to hold the election."

Supervisor Covers 3800 Miles.
(Salem Bureau of The Journal.)
Salem, Or., July 9.—From his annual report, just received by the state school superintendent's office, it appears that

BUSINESS WOMAN MAKES STATEMENT

Telling of the Benefits She Received With Plant Juice, the Vegetable Remedy.

The following testimonial is from Mrs. Alma Holm, who resides at 267 Taylor street in this city. Mrs. Holm has been in business many years, having conducted a fashionable laundry in New York and later in Boston. In commenting on Plant Juice, she said:

"Since September, 1912, I have suffered dreadfully with nervous debility and stomach trouble. Everything I ate seemed to disagree with me. No matter how careful I was, I had tried many things before trying Plant Juice. When I read of the many people who were being helped by it I thought I would try it also, and the relief I have had by its use has been simply wonderful. I am feeling better than I have for years, and was able to resume work last week."

If we printed all the testimonials we have received from people who have used Plant Juice and been benefited by it we would have to take up an entire edition of one of the great papers in this city. If Plant Juice did not live up to its promise, no such letters of praise would come to us. If you feel in need of a spring tonic, try Plant Juice. If you have no appetite, tire easily, feel weak, have no ambition or energy, sleep poorly, wake up tired and grouchy, with bad taste, coated tongue, sour breath and general all round run down feeling, try Plant Juice.
