

BANK ROBBER DIAMOND BREAKS DOWN WHEN MOTHER COMES. REV. N. M. SKIPWORTH DIES AT 84

MRS. DIAMOND COMES FROM EUREKA, CAL., TO VISIT WANDERING SON

Wants to Take Him Home With Her, Regardless of Demands of Law.

(Special to The Journal.)
Roseburg, Or., July 12.—Plutiful was the scene enacted at the sheriff's office this morning when Mrs. J. Diamond of Eureka, Cal., met her son, Ray Diamond, the Glendale bank robber. Ray did not know of his mother's arrival here, and when brought from the jail to the sheriff's office and told who was waiting to see him, the bandit exclaimed: "My God! A moment later he was in his mother's embrace."
She, brokenhearted little woman, was suffering keenly the disgrace of her son's downfall. In her presence she broke down and cried like a baby. The couple spent an hour together talking over matters. Speaking of the meeting on the way back to the jail, Diamond said:

"That's worse than anything I've got before me."
Mrs. Diamond, who is now separated from her husband, with unfeeling motherly instinct, blames herself for parting and thinks Ray would not have gone bad if she had stayed with him. Now, not realizing the rigors of the law, she pleads to be allowed to take her boy back to Eureka with her. Since he voluntarily gave himself up, pleaded guilty and returned all the stolen money, she thought he might be released to go home with her. She talked with District Attorney Brown and Judge Hamilton, but since the law allows the court little discretion in such matters and the penalty for his crime is life imprisonment, they of course must follow the mandates of the law.
It is said Mrs. Diamond will go to Glendale and endeavor to have the bank officials not prosecute. It is probable she and her husband will live there, and agree upon some line of defense and fight for Ray's liberty.

NEWPORT'S MOLA-MOLA FISH

(Special to The Journal.)
Newport, Or., July 12.—The latest freak brought in by the Newport deep sea boats is a mola-mola fish, or head fish, commonly known as a sunfish, on account of its habit of lying on the surface sunning itself. This one was speared with a pike pole while on the surface by Engineer Baker of the Arrow. It is perfectly round, and looks like the head of a fish rather than a whole one, hence the name head fish.

FRUIT DISTRIBUTORS EXPECT TO SEND OUT A $6,000,000 OUTPUT

President Davidson Declares Northwest Tonnage Is Rapidly Coming In.

(Special to The Journal.)
Hood River, Or., July 12.—The North Pacific Fruit Distributors will handle approximately $6,000,000 worth of northwest fruit this season if all who seek affiliation with the association carry out their purpose. The officers of the distributor's association are highly pleased with the manner in which the tonnage of the northwest is being signed up, and in fact we are a little surprised in the success of the movement thus far in view of the fact that we got started so late in the season," said H. F. Davidson, president of the association.

"We got into the field a little too late to handle the cherry crop of the several fruit districts. These have been handled by the local organizations this year under the guidance of the distributors. However, we are ready to take care of the peach, pear and prune crop that will now come on the market and we have been busy arranging with dealers to take care of this crop.
"All the districts are now busy making estimates of the different fruit crops and the amount of each variety to be marketed. This is very necessary as the central office must have the full and complete data relative to the tonnage of each kind of fruit. This is more especially important for reasons that none of the districts outside of Hood River have cold storage facilities for their apples, and the large apple crop east will make cold storage at a premium. In fact, there is little or none available in the east at the present time."
"Several of the representatives of the North Pacific Fruit Distributors will attend the conference of the International Apple Shippers' convention to be held in Cleveland, Ohio, on August 7 and 8, and we are making arrangements to meet several hundred fruit dealers at this convention for the purpose of arranging details for handling the large volume of business which is already assured to the distributors."
"One of the most important phases of the work this year will be to meet with the several fruit districts on our return from Cleveland and consider with the growers the prices at which the fruit of the different districts is to be sold. A member of the board of directors of the distributors will attend each of these meetings of the districts as far as possible to get out such information as is obtainable relative to the possibilities and prospects of the fruit market, and following the conclusion of these district gatherings the directors will hold a meeting at Spokane and adopt a final schedule of prices at which the fruit is to be offered for trade. We want the growers to feel that they are full partners in this business and we believe that we can also make the dealers realize the same fact and when this is done a great saving can be made to all concerned by mutual cooperation in the handling of the fruit from the time it leaves the tree until it comes into the hands of the consumer."

HUGE SUNDAY CROWD EXPECTED TO THROG PARK AT GLADSTONE

Sacred Concert, Recital and Other Special Music Are on Religious Program.

(Special to The Journal.)
Gladstone Park, Or., July 12.—Plans are being made this evening for a monster crowd of Portlanders tomorrow at the Chautauquus. With the weather man predicting fair skies, the management estimates tonight that 5000 will spend Sunday at picturesque Gladstone Park. Today's attendance was not quite so large as the attendance of Thursday and Friday, when about 4000 people swarmed the park each day. The sessions continue all during the coming week, and next week, with Bain, Baumgardt and Walt Holcomb as lecture stars, along with other features, all attendance records of past years will in all probability be broken.

"Tonight's program was purely a Portland evening, and the following well-known Portland people took part: F. T. Chapman, violinist; Pauline Miller-Chapman, mezzo-soprano; Maldwyn Evans, the Welsh baritone; Carmel Sullivan, harpist; May Van Dyke, pianist, and an excellent quartet composed of C. H. Patterson, tenor; Mrs. Dean, soprano; Mrs. Henry, alto; Mr. Whipp, bass, and Mrs. Eleanor Fisher-Phipp, pianist. The concert was enjoyed by between 2000 and 3000 people.
Mrs. Frances Carter's recital of Browning's famous "A Blot on the Scutcheon" was the afternoon feature today. Mrs. Carter, whose home is in New York city, is a recognized reader in the east, and her first efforts in a recital line today won hearty applause. She conducts daily elocution classes on the grounds, which are largely attended.
Walter S. Brown's talk on "Problems of Distribution and Marketing" was one of the attractive summer school lectures of today. He traced the recent growth of a demand for better marketing methods in the northwest apple industry, which has brought northwest apple growers into a cooperative scheme of distribution of the product. Mr. Brown is ably assisted in his discussions by Merrill Evans of the O. A. C. extension department. Monday and Tuesday the college gives a two-day lecture course in domestic science, by Mrs. Robbins.
Tomorrow's program is as follows: 10:30—Sunday school. 2:00—Sacred Concert, Professor J. H. Cowen, director. Combined choir of Sunnyside Congregational church, Portland; Oregon City churches, Gladstone, Astoria, and "tent city" choruses. Among the numbers will be: "Voices of the Woods" (Rubinstein), 50 sopranos in union; "Lift Thine Eyes," Angel's Chorus from Elijah. 8:00—Recital, Maude Willis of New York; "Gypsywoman," the modern morality study.

HEAD OF GILLIAM HIGH SCHOOL IS REELECTED

(Special to The Journal.)
Condon, Or., July 12.—This county high school board has again selected D. W. Hammack as principal of the Gilliam county high school for the next school year. Principal Hammack is a native of the Blue Grass state, and is a graduate of the state university at Lexington, Ky. Later he was granted the L.L. B. degree from the Jefferson School of Law at Louisville, Ky. He taught in the public schools of that state and three years in the Laurel Baptist seminary. He accepted the superintendency of the Naches, Wash., schools in 1910, and was first elected principal of the Gilliam county high school in 1912.

REV. N. M. SKIPWORTH, LICENSED TO PREACH IN 1849, DIES AT 84

North Carolinian Had Been in Pastoral Harness 64 Years; Mrs. M. L. Pipes Daughter.

(Special to The Journal.)
Eugene, Or., July 12.—Rev. N. M. Skipworth, at one time a prominent minister of the M. E. church South in Oregon, father of Eugene, and of Mrs. L. Pipes of Portland, died at his home here this morning, aged 84 years and 2 months. He was born in North Carolina, was raised near Macon, Ga., and was licensed to preach in 1849. He was married on August 14, 1855, to Miss Cornelia Brown, took a medical course in Nashville, Tenn., and New Orleans, La., and was granted a diploma by the medical society of Nashville. He had lived in Eugene during the past eight years, moving here so that his son could care for him in his declining years. Forest Grove, an old friend, will conduct the funeral services Monday afternoon.
Besides Mr. Skipworth and Mrs. Pipes, other children who survive him are Rev. Walton Skipworth, pastor of the M. E. church at Newberg, and Mrs. W. H. Wood, Walterville. His wife also lives here. Hiram Gould, of Forest Grove, an old friend, will conduct the funeral services Monday afternoon.

SANITATION FOUND BAD AT M'NEIL'S PRISON

Charges of Spread of Disease Not Wholly Substantiated by Grand Jurymen.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Tacoma, Wash., July 12.—Ordering that a certified copy be forwarded at once to Attorney-General McReynolds at Washington, the federal court here today received the report of a grand jury that has been for some time inquiring into conditions at the federal penitentiary at McNeil's Island, near here. The grand jury's report recommends that a special investigator be appointed further to look into conditions, and says that too rigid a system of economy is maintained by Warden Halligan at the institution.
It further states that, while charges of gross mismanagement, insufficient food, bread riots and the prevalence of disease at McNeil's Island are exaggerated, nevertheless officials are censured in the report for laxity in the observance of sanitary regulations, and, in the case of Deputy Warden Brook and Dr. Sagan, dereliction in the enforcement of discipline and other prison rules.

N. P. OFFERS CUP FOR PIG FAMILY AT FAIR

(Salem Bureau of The Journal.)
Salem, Or., July 12.—Secretary Meredith of the state fair board announces that the Northern Pacific railway has offered a cup as a prize for the best sow and litter of pigs under 4 months old to be exhibited at the state fair. The exhibit, however, must be the property of the state. The Great Northern has also offered a silver cup for the best individual agricultural display, and it is said that other railroads are considering offering prizes.
The fair grounds are the scene of much activity at present. The new half mile track is well under way, and men are engaged in laying out new flower beds and cleaning the grounds up. Several fine horses have arrived at the stables preparatory to going through a course of training for the coming race season.

MAILCARRIERS' WAGONS WILL FLASH WEATHER

Ranchers on Routes From Medford to Get Advices From the Roads.

(Special to The Journal.)
Medford, Or., July 12.—The United States weather bureau and the United States postal department will cooperate hereafter in this city to give the farmers the best system of weather forecasting. The small carriers on the rural routes will hereafter carry flags on their buggies or motorcycles of the same colors everywhere used for weather signals and every morning before they start out they will be given the weather prediction and will exhibit the proper flag so the farmers will know what kind of weather to expect the following day. Each of the 500 ranchers served by the rural route delivery will be given a card with the different weather flags printed in colors and each day when they see what flag flies from the carrier's vehicle they will know the prediction. Hay raisers, who have often lost heavily because of rain when their hay was cut, will be especially benefited and in the spring the orchardist will have time adequately to prepare for frost before the cold wave comes. This system is used widely throughout the eastern states but Medford is the first city in Oregon to adopt it.

UNION WOMEN'S CLUB ENTERTAINS IN GROVE

Annual Guest Day of Strong Old Organization Is Made Sort of Picnic.

(Special to The Journal.)
Union, Or., July 12.—The Women's club of Union, one of the oldest and strongest organizations of its kind in the state, holds an annual guest day, at which time the ladies of the club entertain many guests, and these events have come to be recognized as among the most enjoyable of the year. Upon such occasions, the Women's club provides a program of a musical and literary nature, followed by an elaborate banquet and a general good time. This year, by way of novelty, the plan was so changed that the ladies entertained their guests in the grove at the Gale ranch just west of the city. Thursday afternoon and evening, luncheon and dinner being served in the grove, participated in by one of the largest crowds ever entertained by the club. To the Women's club of Union is due much of the credit of securing the Carnegie library for this city, and during many years of the club's existence much other good work has been placed to its credit also. The club's membership includes the leading women of the city, all of whom are enthusiastic in the work each year, which includes a regular course of study in addition to numerous social events.

IDEA OF INCINERATOR APPEALS TO EUGENE

Burning Garbage Looks Good to Town That Hopes to Become Flyless.

(Special to The Journal.)
Eugene, Or., July 12.—The Eugene city council last night discussed the subject of erecting a municipal incinerator to dispose of garbage and rubbish. This subject was brought out by the present campaign to make the city as nearly free from flies as possible. Members of the council who have visited Portland recently were informed by the superintendent of the incinerator there that a similar plant for a city the size of Eugene may be erected for about $5000. The health committee of the council was authorized to investigate the subject, also to look into the question of establishing a municipal garbage hauling system instead of the present system of each householder hiring someone to haul away the garbage and trash.
The anti-fly campaign has already done a great deal of good in the city. Numerous mature piles have been abolished, cesspools have been covered up and the back yards of the residents have been made cleaner. Dr. Hodge, one of the instructors at the summer school of the University of Oregon, who is directing the campaign, says Eugene is already a remarkably clean city, and when the campaign is over he expects it to be one of the cleanest in the United States.

BODY OF DROWNED LENTS MAN IS FOUND

Clam Digger Comes Across Corpse of James Snyder High on Beach.

(Special to The Journal.)
Gearhart, Or., July 12.—The body of James S. Snyder, of Lents, drowned a week ago today, at Seaside, was found at Strawberry Hill, on Sunset Beach, six miles north of Gearhart hotel, at 3:30 o'clock this morning, by O. C. Johnson, clam digger.
The authorities at Seaside were immediately informed, and Coroner Gilbaugh, of Astoria, was notified. When Johnson found the body it was high and dry on the sand. Snyder was clad in a blue bathing suit, with the raised white letters "B. A." and a key with a tag No. 8, attached around his neck, which corresponds to the room rented to Snyder.
The body was ordered brought to Seaside, but when Auto Driver C. E. Stemmer, accompanied by Chester Murphy, went to Strawberry Hill to remove it, they found it so badly decomposed that it could not be removed in the machine. Later it was taken to Seaside by wagon.
The relatives of the dead man, Mrs. J. H. Snyder, of Milwaukee, and J. C. Snyder, of Beaverton, were notified.

6 MORE OREGON COUPLES HIE TO VANCOUVER, W.N.

(Special to The Journal.)
Vancouver, Wash., July 12.—Seven marriage licenses were issued by the county auditor today, bringing the total number of licenses issued so far this month to 15. Six of the seven couples who secured licenses reside in Oregon and are as follows: J. J. Donet and Mrs. I. Fay Emrich, both of Portland; Sam Carl and Miss Cordano Ve-tora, both of Portland; Herbert J. Wal-rath and Miss Jessie E. Turner, both of Portland; Gus Engstrom and Miss Elsie Belling, both of Grass Valley, Or.; William P. McMaster and Miss Pansy V. Wing, both of Portland; James A. Locke and Mrs. Anna McCoy, both of Portland. The other license was issued to J. C. Swain, of Walla Walla, and Miss Helen Pritch, of Portland.

W. T. NICHOLS LEAVES GOOD NAME

(Special to The Journal.)
La Pine, Or., July 12.—The La Pine Commercial club has passed resolutions of condolence with the family of W. J. Nichols, who was killed last Friday timber and who was buried in southern Oregon this week. The resolutions in part say: "W. J. Nichols has long been known to the older residents of the La Pine country as a man among men, as a man who knew this country well and loved it, who had the business to understand the needs of the settler, while fully carrying out the principles of forestry conservation, whom every man considered his friend and of whom no word save in praise was ever spoken."
Winners to be announced
Watch next Sunday's Journal for the winners of the re-written "ad" contest.

VETERANS HAD GOOD TIME ON FIELD OF GETTYSBURG

(Special to The Journal.)
Albany, Or., July 12.—Two of the four veterans sent from here to the fiftieth reunion anniversary of the battle of Gettysburg have returned and declare they never had a more enjoyable time. They are F. S. Doughton, who fought in the Confederate army, and John Catlin, who fought in the Union army in the memorable conflict.
"We were treated royally," said Mr. Doughton. "All the way from Portland the 90 or more of us traveled as one big family and all became thoroughly acquainted. We had the best of accommodations on the camp grounds. Nothing was left undone for our comfort and pleasure. It was beautifully hot, however, and we suffered almost as much as we did on that terrible day 50 years ago."
"The battlefield has been kept in a

PARROT CONSULTS COURT

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Chicago, July 12.—"Hello papa, how's the baby?" screamed a parrot at Judge Wade, a bachelor, in municipal court today. The judge blushed, and two women, each claiming ownership of the bird, fought until the court ordered Mrs. Clara Gunn, one of the claimants, to hustle the bird out of the court room.
"$10 sends a piano to your home. A few dollars monthly keeps it there. See Graves music company adv. on last page of section 3."

FOUR GENERATIONS OF WOMEN

Mrs. Sarah Warmoth, great grandmother; Mrs. Alice Warmoth Shay, grandmother; Mrs. Nina Shay Johnson, mother; Frances May Johnson, daughter.

(Special to The Journal.)
Hood River, Or., July 12.—Four generations gathered at the home of Mrs. W. E. Shay at Hood River and held a reunion. Mrs. Sarah Warmoth was born in Missouri in 1844, and crossed the plains in 1866 by team, settling in Linn county, and remaining till 1872. She then moved to Whitman county and lived for 40 years. Mrs. Warmoth is now residing at Oregon City. After a wedded life of 53 years, her husband died May 28, 1911. Six children were born; 20 grandchildren and two great grandchildren are living. Mrs. Alice Warmoth Shay was born in Halsey, Or., 1869, and married Walter E. Shay at Colfax, Wash., in 1887, and has resided in Hood River for the past 10 years. Mrs. Nina Shay Johnson was born at Colfax, Wash., 1890, married to Benjamin Johnson at Wyeth, Or., 1906. Frances May Johnson was born at Hood River, Or., 1910.
