

SUMMER RESORTS

LAKE IS MAGNET FOR RESORTERS

View of Oswego lake, attractive and popular place of recreation, lying within 35 minutes' ride from Portland.

Oswego lake has a surprise for the lovers of the beautiful in nature. But three and a half miles from the city limits, going south, it is reached by Southern Pacific trains in 35 minutes. It is two miles and a half long, half a mile wide on the average and 20 to 30 feet deep.

Fed by numerous springs and the Tualatin river, the level of Oswego lake never lowers. Fishing, boating, bathing are added to the scenic beauties which are making it a resort and summer home residence district of growing popularity.

A launch recently put into service on the lake has taken passengers to points where charming views are to be had. The tinting of the hills, the curve where lake meets land, and the Lake View park, climax of the launch ride, are things better realized from seeing than description. At Lake View park every arrangement for the comfort of picnic parties has been made. On a warm day the shade is cool and the breeze from the lake refreshing. Train service is such that those who desire to come down and spend the evening, especially on Sunday, may do so.

For several years past all the land surrounding the lake was in private ownership and none offered for sale, but during the present summer an unusually attractive suburban home site was platted, and many of the buyers are making permanent improvements. It is predicted that Oswego lake as a summer resort will equal in popularity many of the more widely advertised places.

NORTH BEACH IS MECCA OF CROWDS

Famous Strip of Sea Shore Offers Much to While Away Idle Hours.

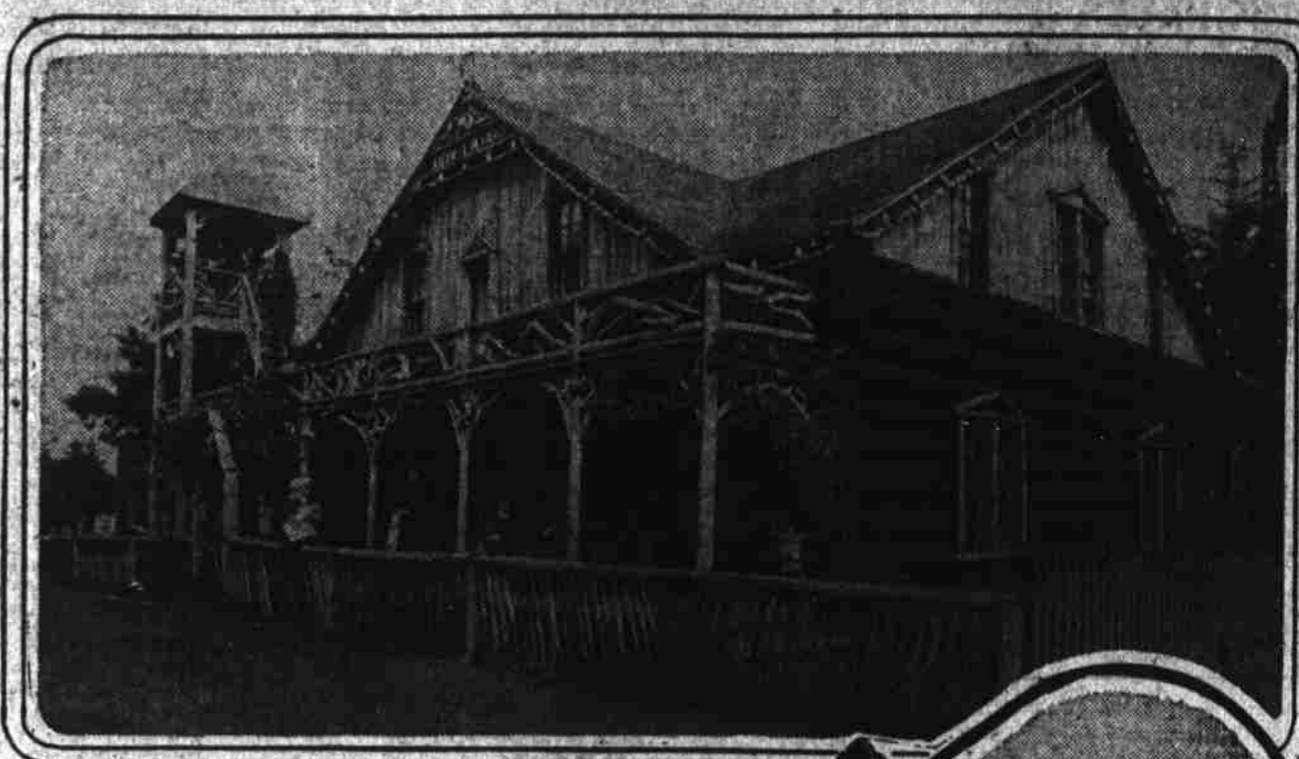

North Beach, justly famous for its level stretch of clean, ocean sand, extending a distance of 20 miles in a straight, unbroken line, is the Mecca for thousands of summer resorters. Crowds at the various resorts which include Seaview, Long Beach, Breakers and Ocean Park, are increasing daily. Hotels and cottages are filling up and the round of social pleasures, surf bathing, clam digging, crabbing, are in full blast.

At night time the beach is lighted up with scores of bonfires around which the resorters while away pleasant hours. Nature has done her part in preparing the grassy swards and verdant hills for the reception of tourists. Crowds are daily visiting the fishing rocks, Beard's Hollow and the life saving stations at Fort Canby and Klipsan Beach. The new government wireless station at North Head is a favorite point of interest. The station is one of the most powerful of its kind on the Pacific coast.

Construction work on the north jetty is a new item of interest to the beach dwellers. Ilwaco, with its fishing boats and salmon canneries, is another popular place which is within a few minutes' ride from Seaview and Long Beach. At Nahcotta, which is the terminus of the O.-W. R. & N. company's branch line on Willapa Bay, the visitors find pleasure in inspecting the oyster boats. The beach here itself offers excellent boating facilities. Trout fishermen find delight in the waters of the Nasel and adjacent streams that empty into the bay.

The railroad company has put on extra trains, which, together with the night and day boats which run between Portland and Megler, give North Beach the best transportation it has ever enjoyed.

NORTH BEACH ATTRACTS MANY RESORTERS

COOK BOOK ISSUED FOR CAMPERS' BENEFIT

Much as you have heard people talk about camping, did you ever hear anyone have anything to say about what they had to eat while they were out? You will hear wonderful descriptions of star lit nights that were part sleep and partly the music of wind in branches and rushing stream, but the fate of the breakfast pancakes will always be a mystery and the trout's flavor will not be discussed because, for some reason, there were no trout.

Now comes the extension division of the Oregon Agricultural college with a book by Ava B. Milam and Ruth McNary Smith, entitled "Camp Cookery." The book doesn't suggest that the reason for silence, usually, on the subject of camp cooking is the inexperience of the cook, but it does suggest that "No phase of cookery presents more interesting aspects than is offered in the preparation of food in camps." An expression that almost any camper or former camper will recognize as very true, is added:

"When one considers the significance of food and its relation to the efficiency and comfort of the human body, the importance of the knowledge of food values and the preparation of the food becomes apparent." It is advised that before any camping expedition is started the amount of food that will be needed and the varieties, be systematically determined.

The "Camp Cookery" book tells, for instance, how much food will be necessary for a man who goes out for a month, if he carries it on his back; also how much will be necessary if he has a pack animal. It seems that he needs more food if he has a pack animal to carry it. There are also contained the government tables on how much to plan for each individual in a camping party over various intervals. Directions are given as to securing camp equipment. Most important of all, the book closes with a lot of recipes for camp dishes that ought to prevent a lot of "out door indigestion."

Life is just one fool thing after another. Some people's breakfast is nothing but a cereal story.

NEWPORT, OREGON, HAS ITS ALLUREMENTS

People who have built cottages by the sea shore and have returned to them year after year become attached to the resorts of their choice. They acquire a home feeling for them and joyfully, so if you meet a man who goes to Newport every year, or any of the members of his family, you may at once expect to spend so long as your time or inclination permits hearing the praises of that oldest of Oregon coast resorts sung.

Newport, you will be told, is reached from Portland by the Southern Pacific, changing to the Corvallis & Eastern at Albany or Corvallis. Once there, the recital will continue. There will be association with thousands who come from all parts of the northwest to enjoy a climate that does not change, a sunshine that is never uncomfortably warm, a healthfulness of environment that is contagious. You will be asked to say if there is anywhere where more variety of sea coast enjoyment can be had. Your attention will be called not only to the surf bathing, but the surf fishing, for cod and kelp bite and fight like the gamiest trout or the bravest bass. Even the ambitious to get rich quick will be lured with tales of the agates, the moonstones and jaspers found on the beach after the tide has ebbed. Far in the depths of the ocean seems to be a treasure house of gems that waves gather specimens from daily and the children especially have the greatest delight in agate-hunting excursions.

Your attention, too, will be called to the trips on Yaquina Bay, the further journey into the Siletz country where the hunting and fishing are without peer in Oregon, you will be invited to join a party for deep sea fishing, you will be given opportunity to explore the nooks and caves of the coast, and you will be entirely guaranteed against having time hang the least bit heavily on your hands.

Newport has thus become one of the most established communities of the coast. The population is divided between those who live in hotels and those who have their own cottages. Year by year the summer population grows, for there are excellent building opportunities.

Of 74,000 locomotives inspected last year by the interstate commerce commission, more than 48,000 were found defective.

LAKE VIEW VILLAS

High-Class Suburban Home Sites Within 30 Minutes' Ride of Portland

Few people in Portland realize that within a half hour's ride of the city we have a beautiful lake 2½ miles long and averaging from 20 to 60 feet deep, where the lovers of nature can either enjoy the water privileges or roam through the beautiful groves which adorn its shores.

You will find good boating, bathing and fishing. Large strings of bass, croppies and trout are caught in the lake each season.

Approximately 1700 people enjoyed Decoration Day at Oswego Lake and fully as many went out on the Fourth. Very few of these have ever seen the upper end of the lake and the only way to really appreciate the rare beauties of this spot as a homesite is to take a tour of the lake on our new launch "LOTUS."

LAKE VIEW VILLAS is undoubtedly one of the most attractive suburban tracts ever laid out adjacent to Portland. Development work has been going on for the last year, and we now offer for sale parked acre tracts, with water to be piped to each tract, electric lights, sidewalks, graded roads, electric trains promised this Summer, two stations on the property. All this within 3½ miles of the city limits. If you have not seen this property since the new development work has been done, it will be well worth your while to take the family out there and spend the day in Lake View Park, the new picnic grounds, at the west end of the lake.

Quarter Acres $150 and $200
Lake Front Lots from $250 up

In St. Paul, Minn., every one who can afford it has a Summer home at White Bear Lake. In Minneapolis everyone builds at Lake Minnetonka, Lake Harriet or Lake of the Isles. In Portland we spend half a day or more getting to the seaside, and stay but a few days, because we have never had any Summer resort closer. Now, we offer you beautiful homesites, right at Portland's door, where you can stay all Summer and still work in town.

OVER $30,000 WORTH OF THIS PROPERTY HAS BEEN SOLD in the last 60 days. About one-third of the first plating has been taken up by homebuilders, and many of them are now doing development work on their lots. Come in and let us show you the pictures of Oswego Lake and Lake View Villas.

Where the Trout Can Be Caught

There is no place in or around Portland where the fish are so plentiful, of the mountain brook variety, as are to be caught near Estacada, upon the O. W. P. line, and Bull Run on the Mt. Hood division.

Hundreds of lovers of fishing seek the streams near these points, and are invariably successful in catching the finest specimens of trout in this region of Oregon.

Estacada and Bull Run are ideal recreation points. Each has a hotel of excellent accommodations. Estacada has a natural park in which rest and enjoyment can be obtained. There is boating in the Clackamas for those who wish to indulge.

For a few days of rest and pleasure Estacada and Bull Run afford the best of accommodations.
