President Wilson said he was deter-mined to prevent the threatened railroad tieup. He declared he would not sit idle at this afternoon's conference. The details of the president's plan to bring the railroad managers and their em-ployes together to effect arbitration have not yet been worked out. As soon as he arrived today the president called for the documents in the case.

Asked whether he would support Sec-retary Wilson's position and advocate the Clayton amendment to the Erdman act, giving the department of labor authority over mediation and a conclus-tion board of six to replace the board of three created by the Erdman act or would back the Newlands amend ment, making the board independent, which is favored by the railroad officials and the National Civic Federa-

For several days the only hope felt for the Smiths has been that they might have turned northward, and descending the mountain, have got onto the Spirit lake trail. Word would have come from them ere now, however, had they taken this course and been able to reach a cabin, which would have been next to impossible under the conditions.

The North Fork Logging company which operates about eight miles this side of Cougar, this forenoon reported no news. A good many searchers went onto the south slope again this morning.

He passed the ex-amination successfully, and the insurance would have been in force from Wednes-day evening had not Mr. Smith been in too great a hurry to complete filling out the blanks. He had not decided upon the exact amount, but expected to take $3000. "T'll finish this when I come back," he said: "I want to see a friend first, and talk over one or two details with him." Mr. Smith carried no other insurance.

In the absence of Sheriff Reeves a definite statement cannot be secured, but it is understood that he was notified by the governor Saturday that according to the opinion of the attorney general a new license must be secured and that the bars cannot be operated under the licenses granted prior to the law taking effect. This is said to be a move of the Anti-Saloon league, and it is reported that the point will be raised in all counties.

If successful, it would mean the closing of hotel bars in unincorporated towns until new licenses could be secured, The saloons closed did not reopen this morning, and the proprietors came to Hillsboro and laid the case before the county judge.
