The Crawford peach season will be in full swing in the Northwest within the next 10 days. Arrivals of early Crawford from the Dalles are now quoted quite freely with extra quality predominating. Extra fancy stuff from there is today selling in the front street produce trade at $1.50 while a heavy stock is selling at $1.25.

"The peach crop of The Dalles section is very good," says L. Thornton, a producer of that section in the city on business today. "The crop of late season peaches promises to be very good this season with quality splendid. The Dalles section has a better crop of tomatoes this season than for many years past. The acreage in tomato production is exceptionally good. At the present time the stock shows rather good quality."

peaches are fast driving California stock out of the Portland trade. With better quality offerings from the home territory and with much more liberal supplies, the outside stock cannot compete for the local trade. Quite fair supplies of California peaches are still being sold along the street but whole salers are making every effort to unload in order to take better care of the greater local offerings.

LOCAL PEACH TRADE GOOD

Market for local peaches is rather firm. Offerings from The Dalles and from the Willamette valley are plentiful and being sold but as much as might be expected. Practically all of the fruit is green. Sales are general at $2.50 a box.

CHICKEN MARKET IS HEALTHY

Market for chickens is showing a healthy tone with demand about the same as at the previous range. Pekin ducks continue in demand but Indian Runners are not wanted.

FRUIT INSPECTOR IS BUSY

Inspection of fruit in the front street trade is very thorough. "We are getting rather good fruit since most of the California shipments came," says J. E. Blansberry, county inspector. "We intend to keep after the delinquents."

HOP TRADE IS STEADY

Trade in the hop market is steady at 20c a pound for contracts. It is reported that 200 bales were purchased at $1.75 a bushel and the price is being maintained. Cables from abroad are showing no change.

APPLE TRADE VERY GOOD

Trade in the apple market continues very good with prices well maintained. Shipments are showing an increase but demand is very good. Better quality is being sold at practically the same price that ruled earlier in the season.

HIDE MARKET IS GOOD HERE

There is a rather good tone appearing in the local hide situation and all offerings are showing a good demand. Some small lots of hides are again reported sold at practically the same price that ruled earlier in the season.
