STEAMER ALGOA WILL TAKE LARGEST LUMBER CARGO EVER SHIPPED

Big Craft Will Carry 6,500,000 Feet From Columbia River to the Antipodes.

To complete what is said to be the largest cargo of lumber ever set afloat on the Pacific coast, beating the previous record cargo by over a million feet, the British steamer Algoa of the Pacific Mail line, arrived at Linnton this morning to take on Oregon fir for Sydney. It is supposed that the 6,500,000 feet of lumber, valued at approximately $130,000, with which the Algoa will steam from the Columbia river for the Antipodes, will be the largest that has ever been placed aboard any vessel in any part of the world.

O. M. Clark, head of the Clark & Wilson mills where the steamer will take on her fir cargo, says that she is 15 feet longer than any steamer that has ever been in the river, her length being 455 feet. She has a beam of 58 feet and her depth of hold is 23.4 feet. She took out the record flour cargo from this port a few years ago. She is 4897 tons net register.

The fact that A. F. Thane & Co., the charterers, are willing to load the Algoa to her capacity here argues their confidence in the fact that the Columbia river bar can be negotiated by the biggest tramp steamers.

The Algoa loaded 2,748,000 feet of redwood lumber at Eureka before coming here and the remainder of her cargo of 3,752,000 feet of Douglas fir will be taken on at Linnton. She will be at the mills loading for about 12 days. The largest cargo of lumber taken out of here prior to this was on the British steamer Knight of the Garter, which had 5,000,000 feet even.

The Algoa is in command of Captain A. Lockett, who is well known here.

Another lumber carrier loading for Sydney at the Linnton mills is the Norwegian steamship Thor, under charter to Balfour, Guthrie & Co.

THIELBEKS PROGRESS SLOW

Wandsbek Sighted Her Nearly a Week Ago Off Oregon Coast.

In spite of the fact that the German bark Wandsbek sighted the German bark Thielbek last Sunday off the Oregon coast, the latter has not put in an appearance yet, although out about a month longer than the Wandsbek, which reached Linnton yesterday afternoon from Santa Rosalia. Captain Wilhelm Burmeister said that with the exception of the sighting of the Thielbek and another ship the voyage was rather uneventful.

With good stiff trades the Wandsbek made the voyage up from Santa Rosalia to Astoria in 24 days. She was two weeks getting out of the Gulf of California, which the captain says is an unusually long time. She encountered baffling calms there which prevented her making the run out of the gulf as she should have done. The American schooner Bainbridge sailed from Santa Rosalia for Port Townsend on the same day that the Wandsbek did and was also 14 days in getting out of the gulf. She was not sighted again by the German after getting into the Pacific ocean.

When the Wandsbek, which crossed in over the bar Tuesday, was off the coast last Sunday she sighted the Thielbek, of the same line, which sailed from Santa Rosalia 63 days ago today. On the same day she sighted a four masted full rigged ship, apparently headed for Puget Sound. He could not make her out but remarked on the unusual sight of a four masted ship full rigged on all her sticks.

Captain Burmeister was here on the last voyage of the Wandsbek to this port as her chief officer. The bark was then in command of Captain Kohnke, who is now in command of the German ship Reinbek loading lumber on Puget Sound.

As soon as the Wandsbek has discharged her ballast at Linnton she will shift up to the local harbor to load new crop wheat for the United Kingdom under charter to M. H. Houser.

ALONG THE WATERFRONT

Carrying passengers and freight, the steamer Breakwater, Captain Macgenn, is scheduled to arrive up this evening from Coos Bay.

When she arrived from San Francisco at 6:45 last night, the steamer Rose City, Captain Rankin, had 210 passengers and 1100 tons of general freight.

The lighthouse tender Manzanita was scheduled to leave Seattle today to relight the outer gas buoy at Willapa Bay which was reported extinguished by Captain Kettleson of the steamer Raymond.

Laden with 800 tons of general freight, of which 100 tons is bonded cargo and the remainder from New York, the American-Hawaiian steamer Paraiso, Captain Jacobson, arrived at Albers' dock at 6:30 this morning from San Francisco.

Captain Frank Stevens, who has been ill, has resumed the command of the ferryboat City of Vancouver.

The destination of the schooner Rosamond, Captain Matisen, which cleared this morning, was changed from Callao to Antofagasta. She is taking out 1,073,630 feet of lumber, valued at $14,264, under charter to W. R. Grace & Co.

The steamer Merced is scheduled to leave down for the sea from St. Helens today for California ports.

AGE IS NO HINDRANCE TO HILLSBORO WEDDING

Hillsboro, Or., Aug. 21.—Two supposedly confirmed celibates, residents of this city for decades, have surprised their friends by entering the Ancient Order of Benedicts. These are John Maynard, a septuagenarian, and Miss Emma Everett, some years his junior. The couple secured the marriage license early in the afternoon this week, and immediately repaired to the parsonage of Rev. W. J. Weber of the M. E. church, who pronounced the vows in the presence of Mary J. Fisher and F. E. Fisher, as witnesses. The newlyweds immediately left this city, keeping the location of their honeymoon a secret. It is said they are to spend a week in Portland, where both have relatives and business interests.

FROLICKING BOY SHOOTS HIMSELF, WALKS 5 MILES

South Bend, Wash., Aug. 21.—Harvey Hess, 13-year-old boy, shot himself through the hand and left side Tuesday while on a fishing trip with Office Tice and George Korkan, youngsters of about his own age, then walked five miles to his home here before he could get to a doctor and have the bullet removed. He and the other boys were on their way to Satterthwaite creek to fish, and came upon an old and very slow white horse. They got aboard and by firing shots into the ground persuaded him to move. Suddenly the animal gave a start and threw the children, and when they picked themselves up Hess took the gun and, in putting on the safety, accidentally pressed the hammer. His injuries are not considered dangerous.

FEDERATION PERMITS NO DUAL MEMBERSHIP

Sec. Staack Says "Independent" Longshoremen Can't Belong to Other Unions.

Portland, Or., Aug. 20.—Considerable publicity has been given to the longshoremen's trouble, with an "independent organization," and some of the statements in recent issues of the press of Portland are calculated to mislead anyone not familiar with the form of organization of the American Federation of Labor, of which the Longshoremen's union 38-6 is a unit.

The A. F. of L. has been given, by the unions which compose it, power to regulate and adjust jurisdictional disputes. One of the cardinal principles is that no union or any member thereof, shall affiliate with a dual organization. This being true, the statement that the independents are composed of members of other unions of the A. F. of L. is of little weight.

The object of the American Federation of Labor is to organize all workers. Therefore, it must necessarily be democratic in form, else it could not survive. It is a movement in which force and violence has no part, and alleged rioting should be deprecated, and no doubt will be, by Longshoremen's No. 6. The solidarity of the labor movement, however, depends upon the character of the workers. Competency and temperance is the demand of the times, so the union should have some say in the selection of its members.

When, as a result of false statements made in advertising for men some time ago, the city was flooded with idle men and the municipal government was compelled to provide work, it gave preference to citizens and men of family. Shall Longshoremen's No. 38-6 be criticised for doing likewise?

E. J. STACK,
Sec. Oregon State Federation of Labor.
