

BALLARD MILL MAN ACCUSED OF HIRING DYNAMITER AT $100

Explosion in His Yard Then Is Laid to Striking Shingle
Weavers, Is Charge.

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 25.—A warrant was issued today charging Napoleon Campbell, wealthy owner of the Campbell Mills in Ballard, with conspiracy in hiring dynamite in the yard of his own plant for the purpose of discrediting the striking shingle weavers.

The case against Campbell has been under investigation for several months and Saturday night was brought to a head when J. M. Semple, a well known professional strike breaker, was arrested by deputy sheriffs as he was about to leave for Vancouver. B. C. Semple is charged with having hired the dynamite for a consideration of $100 paid by Campbell.

Deputy Prosecuting Attorney Kennedy is in possession of six affidavits from people employed during the strike by Campbell, which he says completes the chain of evidence against the big shingle man.

Campbell is confronted with evidence, according to Kennedy, to the effect that he approached a certain man with an offer to give him $100, $50 cash and $50 after the job was done for discharging the dynamite. This man is said to have turned it down. The other men also turned down the offer, it is alleged, when Semple undertook the job. Semple, however, positively denies complicity.

OFFERS TO CONVICT MURPHY; STARTLING CHARGES BY N. Y. MAN

Foley, Alfred E. Smith, Assemblyman Levy, Thomas Carmody and others.

Arnold is publisher of the Knickerbocker Press of Albany.

Certain indictment of alleged henchmen of Charles P. Murphy, Tammany Hall chieftain, for bribery and coercion in connection with the impeachment proceedings against Governor William Sulzer, is predicted this afternoon in a statement attributed to James Garrison, one of Sulzer's closest friends, but believed to have been written by Sulzer or one of his attorneys. It said:

"The whole trouble of the loathsome criminal conspiracy to destroy Governor Sulzer is rapidly in the way of being told. The grand jury will get most of the facts within a week.

"Governor Sulzer will offer to go before the grand jury. District Attorney Whitman of New York city is familiar with the facts in the case. It has been demonstrated to him that Murphy used the following agencies to stop the machinery of justice which Sulzer had started against state plunderers:

"State Senator Frawley, who will be indicted before the end of the week.

"Assemblyman Levy, who also probably will be indicted.

"The charge that Governor Sulzer abandoned a woman in Philadelphia was inspired to bring breach of promise suits and for the purpose of blackening the governor's reputation."

The statement also named others of less importance who also would be indicted.

Pear Shipments Heavy.

More than 175 carloads of pears have been shipped from the Rogue River valley through Portland destined for eastern markets within the last 20 days according to estimates at various railroad offices today. Most of this will find a market between the Missouri river and New York city. From eastern Oregon, 60 carloads of green pears have already been shipped, most of this being sent south to the Union Pacific connection at Granger and continued eastward.

Poison Blindness

This is the English for "Toxic Amblyopia," that form of loss of vision, one of the causes of which is excessive indulgence in the cup that cheers but does inebriate.

When a person can't see well what he is looking at, for instance, newspaper print, and no glasses will help, there is a possibility that the alcohol is getting in its work. Naturally, there are some men to whom we cannot say, "You drink too much," but if they are doing so it won't take long to find it out in the tests. I have at least a dozen cases each week, and the only thing I can say is "I'm sorry, but glasses will not help you."

If you are an excessive drinker or smoker, stop now, before the little vision you have left is gone forever. Many persons do not realize that nicotine and alcohol used excessively will in time produce total blindness. I trust this article will be a warning to the many that indulge too frequently.

YOUNG 'ROUGH NECKS' TAUGHT GOOD LESSON

Judge Van Fleet Follows Up
Admonition With Swift Act of Justice.

Sacramento, Cal., Aug. 25.—Because United States District Judge William C. Van Fleet of San Francisco is willing, when occasion demands, to apply the law muscled, as well as to propound it academically, two roughnecks of the Bay City today have a new regard for the anti-fight ordinance.

The story is being told here by Court Reporter Warren Deane, who witnessed the unique application of the law while going to lunch with Judge Van Fleet.

"Here, boys, stop that," admonished the judge addressing two boys fighting in the street over possession of a hat.

"Aw, go and take a chase at yourself; this is our fight," growled the older one, starting off with the "heavy" of his antagonist.

"Give the young man his hat, I say," repeated Judge Van Fleet, squaring off for action.

With that the judge waded in.—After a short wrestle Van Fleet emerged victorious.

"Now you boys go about your business," he panted, restoring the hat to its owner, while the vanquished bully hurried away. "No more fighting in the streets."

Then: "As I was saying before the interruption," resumed the judge, linking arms with Deane, and continuing his walk and conversation.

WILL STUDY ROAD QUESTION IN OREGON

Col. C. W. Thatcher, Expert, to Make Tour of the Willamette Valley.

Colonel Charles W. Thatcher, apostle of good roads, has written the Portland Commercial club that he will arrive here August 28 from a tour of the Klamath and Crater Lake regions and will study conditions in the Willamette valley en route.

His letter tells of the growing interest in roads throughout the state, especially in Crook county, where a $200,000 bond issue is to be voted on this fall and in Klamath county, where a $400,000 issue is being agitated.

The letter declares Oregon people should awaken to the possibilities of good roads in opening up some of the finest scenery in the world. He visited a road camp near the summit of McKenzie pass, where he found most satisfactory work going on. He describes this highway as infinitely more picturesque than the much touted Emigrant pass, en route to San Francisco, and says the selection of this road as part of the Lincoln Highway to Portland was a most fortunate one.

DON'T GET HYSTERICAL, IS ADVICE OF JUDGE

Admonition Follows Refusal to Allow Intervention in Paving Suit.

"Please tell these people not to become hysterical," declared Circuit Judge McGinn when he refused to allow about 50 property owners of Rosemead to intervene in the suit of H. B. Ewbank Jr., to enjoin Elwood Wiles from operating a paving plant at East Fifth and Fremont streets. Attorney Frank Grant represented the petitioners and said that they desired to intervene because an injunction would be up paving work in their district and damage them.

When Elwood Wiles said that he had done everything asked to abate dust from his plant Judge McGinn ordered that a stay of a few days in prosecuting the suit be made to determine whether the new arrangements are satisfactory. Should further trouble develop it is probable that Judge McGinn will visit the plant and determine conditions for himself before acting in the matter.

Wiles has placed a hood on the plant, which catches the greater part of the dust, and is sprinkling the streets to prevent the raising of clouds of dust by his teams. He said that it would be but a few weeks more that the plant would be in operation.

Petitions and letters have been sent to Judge McGinn by residents of the neighborhood seeking to place their plea before him, and he has had all of these turned over to Attorney George S. Shepherd and L. A. McNary, representing Wiles, declaring that people had no right to attempt to influence a judge by means other than regular court proceedings.

MOELLER WILL HAVE PRELIMINARY HEARING

Peter Moeller, who last week shot and killed Charles A. Brodrie during a quarrel in Brodrie's houseboat in South Portland, will have a preliminary hearing in the municipal court tomorrow.

The police are holding Moeller on the charge of murder, and the coroner's jury held him responsible for Brodrie's death. He is in jail without bail.

Brodrie was held this morning from Dunning & McNelly's parlors. Interment was at Lone Fir cemetery. Brodrie leaves a widow and three small children.

NAMED RECORD CLERK FOR DISTRICT ATTORNEY

Thomas Maguire, brother to Deputy District Attorney Maguire, was appointed record clerk of the district attorney's office by District Attorney Evans this morning to succeed Charles Robison, who has been named a deputy district attorney. Mr. Maguire spent last year at the University of Michigan studying law, and will continue his studies in the legal department of the University of Oregon here. He came to Portland from his home in Toledo, Ohio. Mr. Robison will take the place left vacant by Arthur R. Smiley, who resigned some time ago on account of his health.

Officers were elected as follows: Division commander, Colonel E. Hofer, Salem; senior vice division commander, W. W. McDowell, Lents; junior vice division commander, R. H. Miller Jr., St. Johns. Division council, R. G. Morrow, Portland; John Huntington, Lents; Charles Cornforth, Salem. Delegates to the national encampment, Eugene Bland, Portland; Paul Melvin, Lents; Ashland No. 8, Grants Pass No. 9 and Roseburg No. 10. It includes a membership of 250.

The division is composed of the following camps: Bandon No. 1, Lents No. 2, Oregon City No. 3, Portland No. 4, St. Johns No. 5, Salem No. 6, Albany No. 7, Ashland No. 8, Grants Pass No. 9 and Roseburg No. 10. It includes a membership of 250.

Organization was under the direction of Colonel C. S. Scott of San Francisco, past division commander of California and Pacific, assisted by Frank McCrellis, Portland, past division commander of Illinois, and Edgar M. Swan, Vancouver, Wash., division commander of Washington and Alaska.

The officers will be installed and resolutions will be considered at this afternoon's session.

One of the objects in organizing the division was to secure representation at the national encampment at Chattanooga September 5 to 20.

Colonel Scott has been endorsed by the division of California and Pacific as its candidate for commander in chief.

RECREATION DECK ON PUBLIC DOCK TERMED A USELESS EXPENSE

Devers of Closset & Devers and L. A. Lewis of Allen & Lewis.

Pointing out the fact that changing the dock from heavy mill construction to fireproof construction will add approximately $75,000 to the cost of the dock, bringing the total cost to $204,000, instead of $129,000, Mr. Devers said:

"I believe in beautifying the waterfront, and it is the proper thing to do. But I do not believe it is good business sense to put a park atop a dock in the midst of warehouses, railroad tracks, and the smoke and clutter of the waterfront."

Mill Construction Sufficient.

"Even if it were really necessary to build a park on the roof, I see no reason why a building of slow burning mill construction would not serve the purpose."

"The amount of money I understand the city commissioners are willing to spend for a roof garden could be used with much better advantage for public playgrounds and parks situated elsewhere."

"I certainly do not favor the scheme and am amazed that it has been considered."

Characterizing the plan as "poor business," Mr. Lewis said:

"The public dock commission was put to work to build public docks and not playgrounds. Those who have authority to spend public funds for playgrounds should ask themselves if they would put a recreation center on a dock roof if they only had $200,000 to spend for parks and playgrounds. I, for one, am pretty certain that they would not."

"Two hundred thousand dollars is a lot of money. It has to be raised by taxation, and I believe the project would be voted down mighty quick, if it were referred to the voters for decision."

"As I understand it, the dock commission can spend none of its money directly in making the east side dock a recreation center," said Mr. Anderson.

"The money must come out of the city's coffers. With all the beautiful places we have available for playground sites, it seems to me that a much better place could be found than a public dock, if the city is determined to build our park facilities at the present time."

"A dock roof might be all right in a congested city, like London for instance, where land cannot be purchased cheaply. Here, however, there is no necessity of hunting up roofs. There is certainly plenty of land, in locations far superior to a dock roof."

OPEN WINDOWS BEST MEANS OF SUPPLYING FRESH AIR TO SCHOOLS

Infection furnished by the school, it was admitted that while the state, the common drinking cup and the roller towel are fast passing away, sufficient facilities for the transfer of disease germs still exist in the friendly exchange of the pocket handkerchief, lip, and spittoon, chewing gum and the like," said Professor Jordan. "One danger peculiarly difficult to guard against is the discharge of minute 'droplets' of spray from the mouth or nose by sneezing, coughing or speaking. These highly infectious droplets may float in the air for some minutes and, as shown by experiments, can be borne by air currents to a distance of several feet. In the opinion of many, these air borne 'droplets' are the principal factors in the spread of tuberculosis."

Charles W. Eliot, president emeritus of Harvard university, was in the chair when the congress opened here today. Many hundreds of educators, physicians and scientists were present to take part in the discussions of best means of improving the hygiene of the school. More than 200 speakers are scheduled, and they include some of the most prominent physicians, surgeons and teachers in the country. Six days will be devoted to the congress.

FIANCEE FILES CLAIM FOR SERVICE AS NURSE

A claim of $100 against the estate of Ernest R. Wallace, who died August 17 as the result of a fall from a street car, is set up in a petition for letters of administration of his estate by Miss Edith McCall, his fiancée. Miss McCall said that she nursed him following his accident and demand for her services. She said his only heirs are two children, under 10 years, Edith and Louise, residing in England. The estate here consists only of a claim against the Portland Railway, Light & Power company, which she desires to prosecute.

YOUTHS STEAL AUTO AND ROB TWO STORES BEFORE BEING TAKEN

Career of Crime Brought to a Halt When Car Found, With One of Lads in It.

Three boys under age last evening stole the automobile of Judge C. U. Ganter and then robbed two stores. One of the boys, James Yaden, was caught, while the other two escaped.

The judge left his auto near the Commercial club last evening. At 9 o'clock it was gone. The police were notified to watch for it, and about 2 o'clock this morning Patrolman Ulfers saw the car standing in front of the Rosemary Park grocery, 7255 Foster road.

Yaden was in the front seat of the machine, while the other lads were in the grocery store. When they saw their companion in the hands of the police, they ran through the back door.

Before going to the grocery the trio broke into and burglarized the Regan Drug company at Forty-seventh street and Sandy road. Tobacco, candies and small articles were taken. The Yaden boy confessed to Patrolman Ulfers and Captain Keller. He is 17 years old, and was turned over to the juvenile court.

Joseph Ryshager, proprietor of a pool hall at 351 Sixteenth street north, reported to the police last evening that his place was broken open and robbed of $8. An attempt was made to burglarize the Terrace grocery at 967 Thurman street, but the burglars were frightened away by W. H. Thornton. The manager of a moving picture theatre reported the loss Saturday night of five picture reels and part of the lantern. A colored man giving the name of Edward Koonks was arrested at 91 North Park street for robbing his room mate of $10.

DAVID POWELL DIES; 3D RYE VALLEY VICTIM

Leaves Bride, Age 14, Whom
He Married Less Than a Year Ago.

Huntington, Or., Aug. 25.—David Powell, the third victim of the Rye Valley murderous shooting affray, died at the Huntington hospital Saturday evening. For days his improvement generally gave strong hopes of his pulling through, but complications set in and carried him off after one of the greatest fights for life a young fellow could put up. His parents were present at the hospital. He leaves besides them and other relatives a young wife of less than a year. She is aged 14. His body was taken to the home place at Rye Valley to be buried.

Powell was shot at the home of Mrs. Lawrence Cortwright, who was murdered by her brother-in-law, who then killed himself, after shooting at Powell, his nephew.

PEOPLES THEATRE BILL AN EXCEPTIONAL ONE

Never in the history of picture theatres has there appeared a more phenomenal program than that offered by the Peoples management yesterday. In presenting Mme. Talleyrand with her own international mechanical motion pictures, a supreme note of highest efficiency has been struck.

Mme. Talleyrand is touring the world and in her extensive travels has gathered her wide variety of subjects, which are fully and most artistically interpreted by the most expert motion picture and mechanical effect men which can be obtained. Her subjects breathe, move and talk before your eyes. This is without doubt the latest scientific achievement in motography, and the management in presenting so marvelous a wonder without advance in price has placed the benefit of its research with the rest of all—among the most striking numbers of Mme. Talleyrand's program were the following: "Through the Gorges of the Garonne" of Southern France, "Pietraquale Italian Alps," "Missing Link," "Slate Quarries of Wales," "Spectacular Victoria Falls of South Africa," "Elephants at Work and at Play," "A beautiful hand-colored picture, 'At Home With the Birds,' and many other numbers. Aside from the scientific standpoint of modern research, the educational feature of Mme. Talleyrand's numbers cannot be overestimated. Her subjects embrace topics from all sections of the entire globe, authentic and reliable in the most minute detail. On Wednesday, the program will be entirely changed and, while it is claimed to be fully as wonderful and pleasing in every way, it is difficult to imagine a more interesting, broad and marvelous an entertainment than the one which appeared yesterday and will run until Wednesday.

Among the striking subjects of Wednesday's change will be "Animal Sagacity," "Wheat Industry," "Winter Sport in the Alps," "The Unskilled Skater," a comedy of typically French originality; "Shooting the Rapids in Rivers of Europe," "Ways with the Throttle," one of those intensely interesting and mysterious trick films which never fail to amuse and amaze. It is safe to predict that those who have already seen Mme. Talleyrand's almost inconceivable mechanical wonder will avail themselves of this rare opportunity to attend the latter half of the week. It is to be hoped that during her brief engagement of one week those interested in education, science and phenomena may witness these programs.—(Adv.)

MILK SHOW IS GIVEN SUBSTANTIAL SUPPORT

East Side Business Men's Club
Makes Subscription to Show Faith.

Giving unlimited tangible indorsement to the milk show soon to be held in Portland, the East Side Business Men's club, at its luncheon at the Clifford hotel today, expressed their faith in the movement by subscribing $20 to help the work along.

The luncheon guests were addressed by Mrs. G. M. Bransford, city milk inspector; Dr. Esther C. Fohl-Lovejoy, former milk inspector, and Mrs. H. M. Reynolds. Each speaker outlined the importance of the city's milk supply as it affects the general health of its citizens, dwelling especially on the necessity of pure milk for babies. It was shown that the adult death rate in Portland is lower than any city population considered in the United States, while the mortality among infants is about average.

Mrs. Reynolds announced that the school board will grant school children a half holiday that they may attend the show. Dan Kellaher presided.
