

ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE MAY UTILIZE BENSON MOVE TO AID FIGHT

Plan Suggested to Get Brewers and Distillers Quarreling and Eradicate Both.

Anti-Saloon league forces of the United States are said to be planning to force an open fight for self-preservation between the brewers and distillers, with the intention of stepping into the breach and sweeping the country in the cause of temperance.

The resolution of Senator Works, introduced in congress at the behest of S. Benson of Portland, which seeks to prohibit the manufacture and sale of distilled liquors is the cudgel by which the anti-saloon league seeks to battle its way to victory.

It is apparent that if the brewers can be pitted against the distillers, the forces opposed to the saloon will benefit by the internal strife.

The Anti-Saloon league is not behind the Benson movement. We make no distinction. In fact, we contend that the brewers are themselves arch offenders, and we are not willing to lend our support to any fight that will eliminate one evil and retain the other.

"But, to my mind, the time is now propitious for a general attack upon the drink evil. Now is the moment to strike. The Benson movement is a serious menace to the cause of the distiller. The latter will not, I conclude, sit idle and permit congress to put him out of business while the brewer is allowed to escape.

"The brewer and distiller are natural competitors in the same field of trade. It is reasonable, however, for the brewer to look kindly upon the proposition of eliminating the distiller, if in so doing, the brewer's lease on business life can be made more secure.

"Anti-Saloon league forces will never agree to compromise," continued Superintendent Sheldon. "The National Anti-Saloon league is thoroughly aroused and great things will be accomplished at the ensuing national conference at Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 10-12.

"At this conference there will be considered the Senator Works resolution and the Congressman Hobson resolution. The Hobson resolution comes nearest fitting the views of the anti-saloon men. This resolution does not go quite far enough to suit some of our leaders, however. The resolution is more drastic than the Senator Works measure, in that it includes beer and wine.

"Just what action will be taken toward the Hobson resolution, is yet a matter of uncertainty. It is probable, however, that an amendment looking to the prohibition of the exportation for sale of all liquors would meet the situation. The national board of trustees of the National Anti-Saloon league is expected to make some recommendations along this line. Mr. Anderson, referred to in the telegram quoted, is a member of that board.

Albert H. Greenberg of Portland, secretary of the Brewers' association, when informed that a movement was on foot to involve the brewers and distillers in a fight with each other, declared that he had no knowledge that such a coup was contemplated by the Anti-Saloon league.

DR. DIXON WILL TAKE SYMBOLIC PICTURE

Photograph of Indian at Celilo to Go in Archives of National Monument.

That he might get for the archives of the proposed national monument to the Indian in New York a photograph symbolizing the spirit of the great waters, Dr. Joseph Kosuth Dixon broke his outlined itinerary so he could get back to Celilo falls today.

The Rodman Wanamaker missionary to the Indians has secured a picture of the red man in almost every part of the nation, inducing great men of the tribes to pose in front of the forests or mountains or streams. In company with General Passenger Agent William McMurray and A. C. Jackson of the O.-W. R. & N. Co., Dr. Dixon visited the falls Sunday, but the wind was so strong and the Indians so suspicious that it was impossible then to obtain the pictures he especially desired.

But today on a rugged promontory of rock a chief will stand with hands uplifted, and Dr. Dixon will photograph him with the mighty falls and the whole sweep and swirl of the river for background.

This picture will "the spirit of the great waters," and Dr. Dixon believes it will be the prize of his whole collection.

The party was at Zillah, Wash., yesterday, and left Walla Walla last night for Celilo. The "missionary" will go to Lewiston, Idaho, Friday, and will close his work in the northwest at Spokane Saturday.

DEFINITE PLAN FOR AUDITORIUM HAS NOT BEEN DECIDED UPON

Site Not Selected and Condition of Bond Market Prohibits Sale of Securities.

It may not be possible for the city commission to utilize the little that was accomplished by the auditorium commission. The location on the Market block, it was intimated yesterday, may not be favored as the proper site for the monumental community center structure for which bonds in the sum of $500,000 were voted more than two years ago.

The auditorium commission, which was appointed after the authorization of the bonds, succeeded before its members resigned a short time ago in having the city designate the Market block as an auditorium site and in having plans drawn on a competitive basis which may not now prove available.

The plans approved require an additional half block south of the Market block which the auditorium commission took no definite steps to secure.

"A definite plan for proceeding with the public auditorium matter has not been formulated," said Commissioner Brewster, who, as the head of the department of public affairs, has charge of the auditorium under commission government.

His idea is that we should learn what an auditorium's uses properly are, then adapt the building to the uses to which it will be put.

"An auditorium, for instance, without small assembly rooms, would have small utility for the people or as a revenue producer. We must have an auditorium that contains more than one big assembly room.

It must be located where the greatest number of people can have the greatest amount of use of it.

"The condition of the bond market makes it certain that we could not now sell the auditorium bonds for enough to meet the costs of the building, let alone the additional half block. I understand that the heirs of the Kamm estate have agreed to sell a quarter block of this property for $100,000. If this should be the price agreed upon, the cost of the half block would probably not be less than $200,000, and the cost of the building would be considerably over $500,000."

REAL ESTATE DEALERS HELD FOR SWINDLING

All but three of 13 real estate dealers indicted by the grand jury last week for swindling are either in jail or under bonds. By Kaufman, alias B. Kivich, and H. G. Kemp are in jail unable to secure bonds of $150 and $100. Bell has secured his release on bonds.

Helen M. Geren, J. H. Tipton, R. L. Mathison, R. D. Black, J. I. Meareaux, Ed De Young and William Evans have put up bail. Ted Edwards left the country at the time of the exposure. Two others are being sought. All are under indictment for obtaining money under false pretenses.

RESERVATIONS FOR ROUND-UP TO CLOSE

Only Few Vacancies on Journal Specials and These Disappearing Fast.

Owing to the fact that there has been an unprecedented rush for reservations aboard Journal special trains for the Pendleton Round-Up, and accommodations are limited, reservation lists will, in all probability, be permanently closed Saturday night.

During the last few days the business office of The Journal has been besieged by people anxious to make the journey and 50 and 60 reservations per day have been the average.

There are a few vacancies left on one of the trains, however, and when they are gone, the lists will be closed. In this connection the policy of first come first served will be followed.

The Round-Up is only a few days off. Every indication points to it being a bigger, better show than ever before in its history, something which augurs well for exciting entertainment and thrilling feasts from Cowboy Land.

The Journal special trains will be characterized by first class service in every particular. Each train will be made up exclusively of Pullmans, and will carry a diner, baggage car and observation car. The trains will travel over both the O.-W. R. & N. and North Bank tracks, and during their two day stay in Pendleton, will be parked as near the Round-Up grounds as possible, and used as hotels.

The trains will leave Portland at 11 p. m. Thursday, September 11, will remain in Pendleton Friday and Saturday, leaving for Portland at midnight Saturday.

The Journal plan, it will cost the traveler $25 and no more. This includes fare both ways, berth, meals and admission to the Round-Up park and grandstand for all performances Friday and Saturday.

SUIT FOR $20,000 HEART BALM BEGUN

Suit has been begun in the circuit court by Herbert H. Knox to recover $20,000 from Paul Woerner for the alienation of his wife's affections. In his complaint Knox alleges that he and Wilene Agnes Booth were married at The Dalles, October 25, 1909, and continued to live together as man and wife until March 4, 1913. This separation was caused, it is alleged, by the attentions of Woerner to Mrs. Knox. Mr. Woerner is a bacteriologist. He denounces the suit as one brought for blackmailing purposes.

FINE PEACHES SENT FROM THE DALLES

The Journal is in receipt of a box of excellent peaches from The Dalles Business Men's association. The fruit is of the kind that would keep well, anywhere else than in a newspaper office, for each peach is big and yellow and firm. The box was sent by Jud S. Fish, secretary of the association.

CITY'S DOMINATION WHOLLY DEPENDS ON DEEP CHANNEL TO SEA

Railroad Engineer Declares Prestige of This City Depend on Removal of Bar.

W. H. Kennedy, former chief engineer of the O.-W. R. & N., the man who discovered the Sullivan's gulch gateway into the city and who laid out the line of the Astoria and Columbia River railroad, secured last night the opportunity of signing the original document by which the leading commercial and business interests of the Columbia district were committed to the campaign for deepening the channel over the Columbia river bar.

In company with friends Mr. Kennedy, whose home is now in Pittsburg, looked over the record which shows that last year the foreign commerce of Seattle was $115,000,000 and that of Portland $16,000,000.

"It is criminal," he exclaimed, "I can scarcely believe that Portland, with all her opportunity, would let her commerce drift away as this indicates. Portland has the water grade haul to the sea. Seattle has the mountain climb. Most of the exports from Seattle come over the mountains to Seattle for transshipment. Portland is the logical point for transshipments."

But between Portland and the sea, continued Mr. Kennedy, speaking with his friends, lies the Columbia river bar. Without its removal Portland cannot hope to dominate commercially. The bar having been removed, he predicted Portland's natural advantages with this help will give her enviable Pacific coast leadership.

"The government engineers should be provided with money so that the work of removing the bar may proceed as rapidly and on as large a scale as possible," said he, referring to the necessity for adequate appropriations by the government.

"Work on the jetty should go forward with all possible expedition. If dredging in addition is shown to be the thing, put dredges enough on the bar so that the work can be done quickly."

Mr. Kennedy spent several days in Portland meeting the friends of other years. He has extensive wheat land interests at Waitsburg, for which place he left last night.

Commenting on the selection of Dr. Alfred Kinney of Astoria as chairman of the committee of the Ports of the Columbia, Mr. Kennedy said: "No better qualified man could have been found; no better selection could have been made."

NORTH PORTLAND CLUB TO WORK FOR BRIDGE

At the meeting of the North Portland Commercial club Tuesday night, it was decided that the club should inaugurate an immediate campaign for the interstate bridge. The club will circulate petitions asking that the measure be put upon the ballot at the special election in November. It was also decided to arrange a series of meetings at Graham, Lents, St. Johns, Fairview, Troutdale and other towns of Multnomah county.

The club went on record as opposing the purchase of a site for a public dock at Westport, which is outside the city.

The Mock's bottom site is favored by the club members. A mass meeting will be held shortly in the North Portland library to discuss the public dock question. In the meantime the matter will be taken up with the Greater East Side Clubs association. J. H. Nolte presided at the meeting. Journal Want Ads bring results.
