THAW IS ORDERED RETURNED; HIGHER COURT FORBIDS IT

Immigration Finds Matteawan Fugitive Undesirable Citizen and Orders His Deportation Immediately.

HABEAS CORPUS WRIT SECURED IN MONTREAL

King's Bench Court Orders Thaw Brought Before It in That City.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Coaticook, Quebec, Sept. 5.—Harry K. Thaw was found deportable on two counts by the immigration board here this afternoon and was ordered deported immediately. Thaw's counsel at once entered an appeal. It is stated that a habeas corpus writ obtained in Montreal will bar Thaw's deportation.

The grounds for his expulsion from Canada are, first, that he entered Canada by stealth, and second, that he has been an inmate of an insane asylum within five years.

William T. Jerome left Coaticook this afternoon in an automobile. His destination is not known.

Habeas Corpus Issued.
Montreal, Quebec, Sept. 5.—It is authoritatively reported here this afternoon that Judge Gervais of the king's bench court has issued a habeas corpus writ requiring the immediate production before him of Harry Thaw. It is stated that the order was obtained by Attorneys La Flamme and Greenfields, two prominent Canadians, retained by the New York fugitive. A special train is waiting here in readiness to take the two lawyers back to Coaticook.

Judge Gervais later personally denied that he had issued a writ of habeas corpus.

At that time, it was not known that Johnson had any relatives here.

He laid before Secretary Bryan Chile's proposal to put an import tax equivalent to $23.40 per 1000 feet on Oregon pine. Bryan said he would take up the matter with the Chilean minister. Oregon shipped 73,000,000 feet of fir to Chile last year. The proposed rate is termed prohibitive.

Friends of Jerome Allege Arrest Is Part of Plot of Thaw's Lawyers, but This Is Denied by the Latter, Who Claim They Were Ignorant of Poker Playing.

Coaticook, Quebec, Sept. 5.—William T. Jerome, former district attorney of New York city and the man who sent Harry K. Thaw to Matteawan and kept him there, was arrested today on a charge of gambling. Representatives of New York state who are seeking Thaw's deportation, asserted Jerome's arrest was part of a plot hatched by the fugitive's attorneys.

Jerome was admitted to bail by Magistrate McKee after spending an hour in a cell. The case against the attorney probably will be continued to permit him to conclude his work in the Thaw case here.

Jerome was led through the streets with a hostile mob of hooting men and boys at his heels. He was locked in the same cell which Harry Thaw occupied when he was first arrested here.

CAMINETTI JURY OUT; VERDICT IS CONSIDERED CERTAIN BEFORE NIGHT

Court Warns Jurors Not to Allow Sympathy for Defendant's Family to Interfere.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
San Francisco, Sept. 5.—Whether F. Drew Caminetti of Sacramento is guilty or not guilty of breaking the Mann white slave act by taking to Reno, Nev., Lola Norris, also of Sacramento, "for immoral purposes," probably will be determined here before night by a jury in United States Judge Van Fleet's court, which took the case at 12:10 o'clock today.

Up to 12:30 o'clock the jury deliberated on the four counts in the indictment against Caminetti, and at that time Judge Van Fleet adjourned court until 2 p. m.

As in the trial of Maury I. Diggs, the defense took an exception to the court's charge as a basis for carrying an appeal to the higher courts.

Warns Against Pity.
At the conclusion of his instructions Judge Van Fleet impressed upon the jury that they were not to allow sympathy for the family of the defendant to tincture their judgment.

This followed shortly upon the interruption by Mrs. A. Caminetti, Sr., wife of the commissioner general of immigration and mother of the defendant, who rose during the proceedings to object passionately to a part of Government Prosecutor Sullivan's argument.

The salient points set out in Judge Van Fleet's instructions were that it was sufficient to establish the guilt of Caminetti if the jury found that he had aided in securing the transportation of Lola Norris and Marsha Warrington from Sacramento to Reno, whether he actually had anything to do with buying the tickets or not.

"It is not necessary," said the court, "to show any specific declaration of intent to carry them here for immoral purposes, debauchery, as contemplated in the Mann act, includes any steps taken by a man to lure a woman away from the paths of virtue."

Court Defines Debauchery.
"That man debauches a woman, who by manifestation of affection, attentions, automobile rides, gentle compliments, theatres and in other ways wins her confidence and love, and who then

ANTIQUATED SIGNALS, BEWILDERED FLAGMAN, TELL TALE OF WRECK

New Haven Engineer Could Not See Signals, Raw Flagman Didn't Know Duties.

New Haven Wrecks in 3 Years.
New Haven, Conn., Sept. 5.—Coroner Mix resumed today his secret inquest into the Wallingford wreck. Flagman Murray of the wrecked train was still without bail. President Howard Elliott of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, it was said, played tennis while the inquest was in progress yesterday.

Division Train Dispatcher Kelley testified that five trains crowded with passengers were packed on 10 miles of track, despite the fog. He said four trains were on the tracks between Wallingford and Airline Junction when the first section of the White Mountain express was sent on the same tracks. The crash then followed, he said. The company depends upon signals, Kelley testified, to keep the trains separated.

Signals Are Antiquated.
Engineer Rufus Wand of the Bee Harbor express testified that he could not see the signals 200 feet away. He testified that an antiquated system of "banjo" signals was used on the New Haven road, and that a committee of engineers more than a year ago protested to the officials that the signals

OUTSIDE BUYER PLACES BIG ORDER FOR SHOES FOLLOWING TRIP HERE

One Merchant of Twin Falls, Idaho, New Trade Convert; "Week" Ends Tonight.

Banquet Closes Program.
The Buyers' Week entertainment program will close tonight with a banquet at the Commercial club, beginning at 6 o'clock. All visitors are invited. A program, which C. C. Chapman, secretary of the Jobbers' and Manufacturers' association, says is unusually worthy, has been prepared.

Buyers' Week brought to Portland a man from Twin Falls, Idaho, who otherwise would have gone to Kansas City, Mo., to place a big order for shoes. To his amazement he found that he saved two days' time traveling on the round trip, and he could get his shipment from Portland to Twin Falls ten days sooner than it could have been sent from Kansas City, that the freight was much less, the prices as reasonable, and the stocks even more complete.

"I found that I had done myself a favor in coming to Portland to buy," said this man this morning. He is J. L. Butolph. "I have saved time and dollars. I've got some startling things to tell our Twin Falls people when I get back about the advantages of trading with Portland rather than with Kansas City. I shall certainly do all my buying in Portland, hereafter."

Now Glad He Came.
The wholesalers and manufacturers to whose Buyers' Week invitation Mr. Butolph responded consider his visit one of the most significant events of the week. He comes from a vigorously competitive district, where Portland business men have had difficulty in getting a foothold. He is the first one who has ever come from the growing Idaho community to test the assertions that Portland wholesale stocks are bigger, better and as cheap as can be found anywhere.

"Eight years ago," said Mr. Butolph, "Twin Falls did not exist. There was nothing but sage brush. There is now a population of 8000 people, who have laid 80 miles of cement sidewalk, 1 1/2 miles of hard surface pavement, who have a brilliancy of illumination and an abundance of cheap power, who have built a $150,000 high school and two other schools costing $60,000 and $70,000, respectively, who expect connection

IMMIGRATION OFFICERS WORRIED BY MILITANT

Ellis Island May Turn Mrs. Pankhurst Back to England as a Fugitive.

New York, Sept. 5.—That Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the militant English suffragette leader now on her way to this country, may be denied the right to land, on the ground that she is a fugitive from justice, was intimated today by immigration officials. Superintendent Baker of the Ellis Island immigration station said it had not been decided definitely how to treat the expected visitor.

Mrs. Pankhurst was sentenced to a term of imprisonment for instigating a hunger strike, was released, but she died for lack of food, rearrested as soon as she had partly recovered, again released and rearrested over and over again, and finally, while out on leave, with part of her sentence still hanging over her, she went to France. The British authorities, very glad to see her go, made no attempt to interfere with her.

X-RAY SKIRTS BREAK UP HOME OF MILLIONAIRE

San Jose, Cal., Sept. 5.—Diaphanous skirts have jarred the home life of Mrs. Bertha C. Hanson, 30 years old and pretty, and her millionaire husband, James D. Hanson, aged 60 years. As a result Mrs. Hanson today has filed suit for absolute divorce.

"My husband is an old fossil," said Mrs. Hanson. "I'm built for the X-ray skirts and I'm going to wear 'em. He doesn't like them, but I don't care. Wait until I get my divorce and I'll make his eyes pop."

Hanson admitted he thought the new skirts were "perfectly scandalous."

ATTORNEY GENERAL FILES SUIT AGAINST OFFICIALS OF STATE

West, Olcott and Kay Alleged to Have "Unlawfully Expended" Moneys of Prison "Revolving Fund."

PLAINTIFF SEEKS TO RECOVER $16,518.83

Governor Is Chiefly Blamed in Complaint Filed at Salem Today.

Technicality Basis of Suit.
The suit brought by the attorney general against the members of the state board is based upon a purely technical interpretation of the law governing the revolving fund. All the facts upon which the suit is based have been public property from the first. Investigation by the last legislature resulted in a finding that the board, through technical irregularity, had been taken with a view to the best interests of the state and that the results had been beneficial to the state. There is no charge that the governor or any other member of the board profited by the alleged irregularities.

(Salem Bureau of The Journal.)
Salem, Or., Sept. 5.—Attorney General Crawford this morning filed complaint in the circuit court here in a suit against Governor West, Secretary of State Olcott and State Treasurer Kay to recover to the state the sum of $16,518.83, and for costs of suit.

The complaint charges that the officials above named "conspired and acting together, and assuming to act as a board purporting to have control of what was termed the Oregon State Penitentiary 'revolving fund,' undertook and pretended to direct the defendant, Thomas B. Kay, as state treasurer, to enter and credit on his books of account all moneys received by him from the sale of brick by the officers of the Oregon state penitentiary, and all moneys received for rent of the stove foundry buildings at said penitentiary, as so called 'revolving fund' for said institution, and that said State Treasurer Kay received from these sources the total sum of $16,995.92."

The complaint further charges that

MYSTERIOUS 'BROTHER OF BROTHER-IN-LAW' GAVE WOMAN MONEY

Mrs. Howard, Testifying in Rietter Case, Explains Where Funds Came From.

Telling a story of a "brother of her brother-in-law" who had a habit of making unexpected calls between trains and who at opportune times presented her with sums of money ranging from $500 to $1700, Mrs. A. E. Howard, wife of Dr. Harry Howard, took the stand for the defense in the suit brought to recover $12,000 worth of property that Max Rietter willed the Howards four days before his death in 1912.

The cross-examination of Mrs. Howard by Attorney Veazie for the plaintiffs, Rietter's two sisters, was so severe that she finally begged a rest and was taken from the courtroom in an almost fainting condition.

According to her testimony this brother, whose name she said is David Duamador, is now in the middle of the Pacific ocean on a route for Tasmania, an island near Australia.

She was unable to tell what his business was, where he usually made his residence, or produce witnesses or letters to show that he ever visited her either at Prosser, Wash., the Howards' former home, or in Portland.

In 1909 she said he sent her a draft for $600 from New York city. Whether it was made out to her or whether she deposited it in the bank, she could not recall.

In December, 1910, the man, who Attorney Veazie characterized as "the mysterious brother of her brother-in-law,"
