 District Forecaster.

Fell When Tempted.—Louis Feldman, 15 years old and a son of M. Feldman, 32½ Broadway, was before the juvenile court yesterday to answer the charge of stealing $220 in checks and $140 in cash from the "Red" Jacobs company. He was messenger for the company and was sent to the bank with the money. Instead of going to the bank he took a car to Oregon City bound for San Francisco. He spent $80 of the money buying a ticket to San Francisco, a watch, a suit of clothes and a fountain pen. The remainder was on his person when caught. His parents were out of town and the case was continued until next Saturday. The boy was sent meanwhile to the Frazer home.

Bal Team Entertained.—In honor of the numerous victories of the Piedmont Maroons this season, the members of the team were tendered a banquet Wednesday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bartholomew, 147 Blanding street. Decorations suggestive of baseball prevailed. Miss Edna Young played a piano selection; George Hornby recited "Casey at the Bat," and Lawrence Grimm and Deacon Harlow sang solos. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. John C. Goss, Powell L. Grimm, Mr. Hornby, E. Liedolt, F. Collins, R. Doty, E. Wadsworth, B. Trlein, A. Moehler, L. Hinkle, H. Wold, O. Ashe, Dr. D. Palmer, H. E. Wilmet, E. J. Bartholomew and A. E. Bartholomew.

County and City Disagree.—County Clerk Coffey and his chief deputy, Henry Bush, do not agree with Commissioner Bigelow of the finance department of the city. The county commissioners should stand half of the cost of registering the women for the city election last spring. Mr. Bigelow takes the stand that it was known at the time that a special election would be held this November, but Mr. Bush contends that the city should stand all of the expense as it had the use of all registrations prior to the city election. Mr. Bush submitted a report yesterday to the county commissioners in which his attitude is set forth and a copy of the report will be sent to Commissioner Bigelow.

New York State Society to Meet.—The New York State Society of Oregon will hold its regular monthly meeting Tuesday evening at Manchester hall, 85½ Fifth street. At this meeting each one present is requested to furnish something for the program—sing, dance, make a speech or some other kind of entertainment. Those not doing so are expected to donate five cents to the entertainment fund in lieu of a performance. All former New Yorkers are cordially invited. The society will give a dance in the same hall Wednesday evening, October 2.

It Is Wrong to Assume that a man addicted to drinking liquor can stop of his own accord. With very few exceptions he needs help. We can help him and guarantee to remove all desire for drink in from three to seven days. All we ask is for you to investigate. We make good every promise. Large airy rooms, absolute privacy, home cooking. Automobile service at all times. Call in, no trouble to show goods. Mass Meeting Tuesday Night.—A massmeeting of citizens interested in the proposed interstate bridge over the Columbia between Portland and Vancouver, and the plan to convert Mock's Bottom into a site for deep sea public docks, has been called for Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock at the Northern Portland Beach Club by S. L. Woodard, president, and H. Holtz, chairman of the Interstate Bridge committee of the No. 1 Portland Commercial club. The invitation emphasizes that woman voters are invited to attend.

Inheritance Taxes Adjusted.—Heirs of Justus M. Strowbridge will pay $2657.80 inheritance taxes to the state, and the heirs of Mrs. Rose C. Barker will pay $892.24.

The three Strowbridge heirs and their portions are: Alice D. Strowbridge granddaughter, $1461.74; Alice J. Strowbridge, widow, $959.64; and Mrs. Cate, a stepdaughter who stood in the place of her mother, $226.41.

Alexander and Alice R. Barker, Mrs. Barker's daughters, will each pay $297.28, and William C. Barker, her son, will pay $297.78.

Abandoned His Family.—H. L. Reid, formerly employed in a Willamette valley bank, was arrested at a local hotel for non-support. His wife and children are destitute and he is said to have given them nothing for some time. He admitted to the officers who arrested him that he had been running around with other women.

The J. K. Gill Company have made special arrangements to avoid congestion this week in the sale of school books and school supplies at retail. They will use for that purpose the entire second floor of the Hamilton building, one door north of their Third street entrance. Elevator and stairway. Space 50x80 feet. Adv.

Evolution of Man.—"The Evolution of Man" will be the subject for public discussion at the meeting of the Portland branch of the International Ethical Educational society, at 511 Yamhill street, Tuesday night, September 18, at 8 o'clock. Mr. Pittigott will give the opening address.

THE SICK ROOM

By Dr. Frank Crane.

THE newspaper pages are filled with tides of vigorous life. Advertisers exploit their goods, theatres display their attractions, there are the activities of crime, of politics, of sport; the virile stream of humanity leaps and sparkles beneath the reader's eye. And all the while a great part of these readers are in a condition where the arena of strife does not interest them, and the warmth of the world's blood chills them. I speak of the sick.

They are shut up in darkened bedrooms, they lie in hospital wards, they sit solitary by the window of the sitting-room, or hobble about with crutch or cane. They are the wounded in life's battle, the driftwood upon the banks of life's stream.

So here's a word for them.

Do not imagine that because you are not well you are out of the game. Opportunity is still yours. Some of the best and finest work done for the human race is done by the sick people.

You may no longer be a center of active work in the business of money-getting, you cannot go to your office nor attend to your house, but you can do better than that. You can be a center of cheer and encouragement to all who know you.

If you will put away self-pity, if you will not complain, if you will be just as courageous and intelligent in the business of being unwell as you were in the street and mart when you were well, if in your weakened body you will maintain a stout heart, you cannot realize how you will radiate life and power into all who come in contact with you.

The sick room may be the temple of the house.

There's a little old blind grandmother in a certain home who, by her spirit of sanity and her sense of human values, has reconciled her daughter and son-in-law who were drifting toward alienation, brought a wayward granddaughter and a foolish college grandson to their senses, and governs that household not with rod of iron but with a fairy wand of subtle power.

There is a man, once active in great affairs, but now sitting helpless with paralysis. He is just as brave and hopeful now as ever. Around his affliction have bloomed priceless flowers of love and tenderness, of whose existence he was never before aware.

Your sickness may be a privilege. It will show you, if you can take it heroically, the very best things in life.

You are out of the game of getting-on, but you are placed where certain factors of life of inestimable value may be made clear and usable to you.

In fact, the best part of living is not monopolized by the healthy people. Sickness has its spirit-compensations. Life is very great and wide and high, it has vast mysteries that active people miss. It has reaches of thought and feeling they cannot know.

In your quiet room you may find your soul, your real self; you may have experiences so rich and strange that, when you grow well again, if so be that shall come to pass, you will look back upon these shaded and idle days, as the traveler who has crossed the desert remembers the oasis.

Letters From the People

(Communications sent to The Journal for publication in this department should be written on only one side of the paper, should not exceed 300 words in length and must be accompanied by the name and address of the sender. If the writer wishes to remain anonymous he should so state.)

"Discussion is the greatest of all reformers. It rationalizes everything it touches. It robes principles of all false sanctity and throws them back on their reasonableness. If they have no reasonableness it ruthlessly dashes them out of existence and sets up its own conclusions in their stead."—Woodrow Wilson.

The Bible in Public Schools.—Lents, Oct. 19, 1913.—To the Editor of The Journal—I was not surprised at the action taken by the Ministerial association in their last meeting regarding Bible reading in the public schools, neither was I surprised to see the fair, broad-minded Dr. Eliot opposed to the views of his colleagues.

Of the many different Bibles in the world, and the many different associations of our Bible, which would the association recommend to use? The Buddhist. Naturally it would not be the four Vedas and Puranas of the Brahmins, nor the Tripitaka of the Buddhists, nor the four Kings, etc., of Confucianism, nor the Koran of the Mohammedans, nor the Torah, Nebum, Cethubim and the Talmud of the Jews, nor the Book of Mormon, nor the Greek or Roman Catholic versions of our Bible, but unquestionably it would be the King James or the revised version. Would they then force their version on the minds of the children of those who do not accept the Holy Writ?

Our schools contain children not only of many sects and creeds, but several races. A large percentage are Jewish children; again there are many Roman Catholic and Greek Catholic children, several Buddhists and Mohammedans, Mormons and Deists, freethinkers, agnostics and atheists. Cannot the association understand that the parents of such children consider it a foul shame to be imposed upon? True, there are many, I would say the majority, of children in the schools whose parents accept the Association's Bible, but
