Gondoliers Make First Score.

Venice got away with the first score in the fourth frame when Bayless doubled to center and took third on Brashear's freak single in front of the SEATTLE plate, which touched West after a high hop and then rolled to foul ground. Litschl cracked a beauty to left and Bayless scored.

The big blowup came in the next inning. Harkness started with a single to center and took second when Berry made a bad peg to catch him napping. Carlisle was an infield out and, Kane walked. This gave Bayless a chance to drive the ball out of sight on the right center field bleacher promenade. Brashear doubled to center and scored on Hosp's single across second. That was the end of West. Stanley walked Litschi and McDonnell beat out a hit to McCormick. Hosp strained his spine a bit sliding into third to keep Mc-Cormick from tagging him on the line and O'Rourke ran for him, scoring on Elliott's long sacrifice to Lober.

Elliott's single in the eighth, Speas' error in dropping a thrown ball on Harkness' second sacrifice and Kanes single to center did the business of giving Venice its seventh tally. Speas's single in the sixth, his stolen base and Doane's easy three bagger to right center prevented Portland from Portland being whitewashed Both clubs presented different line-

sps yesterday, Lindsay and Kores being on the bench for Portland. Bobby Davis, a recruit from the Western Tri-State eague, played shortstop creditably, but did not do much with the bat,

PRESIDENT BAUM HAS THREE CHANGES FOR

Wants to Preserve Purchased Players From Draft and Allow Men to Finish 2 Years.

What the Coast League Wants. Right to purchase players at certain periods of the playing season and retain them one year without without being subject to draft. Raising of the player limit in Class AA clubs from 20 to 22

Changing of rule 25 of the national agreement to permit Class AA clubs to purchase players during the season and permit them to play after the close of the season in the leagues from which they were purchased. At present the rules do not permit players to finish two championship seasons in one year.

President Allen T. Baum of the Pacific Coast league, who is making his second annual visit to Portland, today gave out a statement of what the Paific coast league, one of the three class AA leagues in baseball, will demand at the annual meeting of the National Association of Minor League baseball clubs to open in Columbus, Ohio, Tuesday, Nov. 11. The Coast league will be represented by delegates from each club and a strong fight will be made to carry out the several reforms mentioned,

"Under the present rules," stated President Baum, "the class AA league handicapped in several respects, and this is particularly so of the Pacific coast leagues. Owing to our long season out here it is quite necessary for us to have the changes made in the rules that we ask.

Holding of Young Players.

"One of the rules we will press will give the class AA leagues the right to purchase young players at certain times of the playing season and retain them for a full year. Inasmuch as this is a rule affecting the major leagues it will be necessary to have their assent. At present a class AA club may go into the small minors and buy a promising ball player in July or August for a large sum f money, only to have the majors come along in September and draft him with delivery the following spring. The big minors ought to be protected when they pend money and have the right to use he player at least a year. It is abso-utely necessary in order to preserve the baseball standing of the class AA eagues to purchase young players in midseason for experimental purposes.
If that rule had been in effect this year the Portland Coast league club would not have lost the promising Harry Heil-

"The International league has come out very strongly in favor of raising the player limit in class AA leagues to 22 men. The Coast league will give its the class AA clubs should be permitted to carry more players. I am sure that the American association will also advocate this movement, although we have not heard directly from them.

Would Change Old Rule

"The arbitration board, of which I am ne of the 10 members, will be asked a change rule 25, which states that a player who has finished one lengue's hamptonship season will not be eligible to finish the season in a league of longer schedule. The coast delegates will leave about a week ahead of the meeting and spend a day or so in Chicago.

"President Leavitt told me that he was going to make a business visit to the east, but now that Manager Mitza has been drafted, it is very likely that he will look out for a new manager while he is east.

an option until 1916 on the present park but Ewing is anxious to get into new quarters. If he builds this winter Sar Francisco's new home will be one of the best in the minor leagues, as a let of money will be spent in the new plant. That will give us six good ball parks, "Reports from the east show us that the Pacific Coast league is the best balanced and most prosperous minor league, so that there will be no expansion until 1916, at the least. Salt Lake has made informal application but it is unlikely that anything will be done about it. San Diego could not support class D baseball this year, so it shows that town is not ripe for the Coast

"And just a word about the umpiring. I think we have the best staff that could be gotten together. The major leagues have been in hot water all year over the umpiring and the way our men have been going on the coast is quite in contrast.
