MEDFORD INITIATIVE FREIGHT RATE LAW VOID, DECLARES JUDGE

As is well known to everyone, freight rates for shipments of goods in quan-titles less than in full carload lots are always higher than the rates for shipgoods in full car lots. The Medford bill provides a scale of just how much higher this shall be. This scale is expressed in percentages. For example, the law says that where the railroad has fixed the minimum weight of a car of goods at 20,000 ounds, the carload rate for that commodity shall not be more than 70 per cent of the less than carload rate.

Law Whipsaws Company. This means, therefore, that the railroad company, in such instance, must either make its less than carload rate so high that it is almost prohibitive, in order to make anything on the carload rate, or it must make its full carload rate so low that nothing will be on the larger shipments.

In either instance, the railroad company is bound to suffer, in the opinion of the federal judges, and no words are wasted in the saying that such is the case in the decision.

For many years there has existed on all railroads in the territory west of Chicago a scale of freight rates which has been known as the Western Classification. This has been adopted and recognized by the Interstate Commerse Commission, as well as the State Railroad Commission of Oregon.

The initiative act classification dif-ASK YOUR fers materially from the Western Classification according to the decis-ion, and in commenting upon this dif-PHYSICIAN ference, this the judges in their deciswholly irreconcilable and cannot be observed in practice unless the carrier in many cases walves some portion of the many cases waives some portion of the less than carload rate and this the law does not require. The act therefore cannot be enforced without doing injustice to the carriers, which is the same as taking property without due process of Law Is Incongruous.

"Thus it will be found that in the application of carload rates under the initiative act, assuming that the less than carload rate remains the same, the rates will be largely increased for the carriage of coal, hay and straw. lumber, brick, stone, sand and livestock, while on the other hand there would be a reduction in such commodities as grain, flour, salt, groceries and other articles which are usually carried in the smaller quantities."

"So it is at once apparent that the initiative act, if applied for freight rate regulation, would work a very radical change in practically all rates and require an almost complete readjustment Dr. Joseph A. Blake, whose wife has in carload and less than carload rates sued Mrs. Mackay for $1,000,000 for within the state.

"We have nothing to do with policy of the law. That is a matter solely for the law power. We can only determine whether it is susceptible of

Rigid "Spread" Impractical,

"It becomes manifest, from a consideration of all the various conditions the White Star line, due here on Wed-nesday. It was not until he received rates, that it is hardly possible to adopt and apply a rigid 'spread' in classification between less than carload and carload rates so as to proshipper, and it is illy adapted for justs so disastrously for the rebel army. mote the best interests of carrier or equitable, reasonable and indiscriminatory ratemaking for all commodities and all conditions,

"From the bills were submitted in these cases, it apof the family that the young man has pears that reasonable maximum rates about succeeded in bringing about a have already been established by the reconciliation between his father and State Railroad commission for the mother, who have been living apart regulation of transportation companies.

Observing these regulations, the companies have been left to themselves in regulation of the 'spread' and it would seem now to fix an absolutely rigid 'spread,' as is done by this act, unduly trenching upon the rights of the com-

"We do not deny that the legislature, the people or the railroad commission may determine and adopt a reasonable 'spread' as applied to specific commodities, but that is a very different question from one arising from an edict that a certain definite and rigid 'spread' shall be applied to all commodities, regardless of their charater or the distance that the shipments are to be made.
"Indeed, the act would seem to defeat liself.

Act Is Void.

"We conclude," says the decision, that the initiative act is unconstitutional and void and must be so treated. The injunction is allowed and made permanent and the defendants are to

The order thus made applied to all the cases instituted by all the railroads of the state against the railroad comnission. These cases, which, as stated instituted as injunction before, were suits two weeks after the people voted upon the measure, were directed against Clyde B. Aitchison, Thomas K. Campbell and Frank J. Miller, as members of the State Railroad commission; A. M. Crawford, attorney general, and district ettorneys and prosecuting attorneys of nearly every county in the state. was done to prevent any of these officials from attempting to enforce the act until it could be passed upon. The cases were started by all the railroads in the state. Demurrers to the cases were interposed by the railroad commission, and other defendants and these demurrers were overruled Arguments were heard at the time of this demurrer, and because it was so lengthy, at that time the case was allowed to go to the judges on, its own merits, without any further discussion.

A special act of congress provides that where state officers are made defendants in an injunction suit before a federal court, three judges, two of them of districts and one of the cir cuit court of appeals, must hear the arguments. In this instance Judges Bean and Wolverton represented this district, and Judge Gilbert was the cir-
