

JAPAN TO RECOGNIZE THE CHINESE REPUBLIC

Mikado Selects October 10,
Official Inauguration Day, for Notification.

(United Press Special Wire.)
Tokio, Oct. 3.—The mikado has decided to recognize the Chinese republic. It was stated officially today. Recognition will be accorded before October 10, the day it is expected Provisional President Yuan Shi Kai would be regularly inaugurated.

Rumor of Empire Heard.
Shanghai, Oct. 3.—General Li Yuan Hung, vice president of China, with headquarters in Hankow, was quoted here today as saying President Yuan Shi Kai will not be made emperor without a fight.

It has been reported for days that a strong organization at Peking was planning to turn the republic back into an empire. General Li was the military hero of the revolution.
Among foreigners here there was intense excitement at the news from United States Consul Jameson at Hankow of the killing of an American boy by brigands who captured Tsao Yang, in northern Hupeh province, a few days ago. The consul was uncertain concerning the fate of the American and Norwegian missionaries captured at the same time.

CENTRALIA WELCOMES RAILROAD ACTIVITIES

Centralia, Wash., Oct. 3.—According to information from a reliable source, both the freight and passenger depots of the Olympia & Southern, a branch of the Milwaukee about to build into Centralia, will be located on West Main street. The plans call for the passenger station on the north side of the street, and freight depot, sheds and platform on the south side.
That the Milwaukee will run a feeder branch into the timber and coal territory of the Hanford valley, located just north of Centralia, is freely admitted, but this work will probably be left in abeyance until construction work on the main branch is completed. Two routes into the Hanford valley have been investigated by Milwaukee engineers. One is to cross the Northern Pacific main line near the Martin mill, a mile north of this city, and the other will run up the Newaukum river over into the Hanford valley and connect with the Tacoma & Eastern, another Milwaukee branch.

CATTLE JUDGES KEEN FOR WESTERN STOCK

North Yakima, Oct. 3.—When the annual livestock parade, known as the "1913-1914 parade," circled the track at the state fair grounds, cattle, horses, sheep and swine of a value in excess of the advertised amount were exhibited before the biggest crowd of the fair. The judges in the livestock department, eastern men who are in this part of the country for the first time, are enthusiastic in their appreciation of the western stock.

YOU CAN HELP BABIES BY PURCHASING TAGS

Generous People Expected to Aid Worthy Cause.

Two of babies who will be benefited by the sale of tags.

Sympathy and love of children on the part of Portlanders is expected to fill the coffers of the Louise home fund when some of the charity loving women of the city sell tags on the corners and in the principal buildings tomorrow.

This is the fourth annual tag day to help the institution in its work, which is under the direction of W. G. MacLaren, who has been untiring in the work here for the past five years rescuing many delinquents, as well as finding good homes for homeless little ones.

In addition to this he has succeeded in interesting a number of other cities in the work and that they are succeeding is shown by many encouraging letters from them.

There are about 30 babies in the nursery on Fourteenth, near Washington, at all times and it is open to visitors at any time as is the Louise home also.

Many young women of Portland will be on hand early Saturday morning with a supply of the tags which will be sold on the street corners and other much frequented places in the downtown district. Permits have been secured to sell them in practically all of the large buildings, including banks, hotel lobbies and office buildings.

GLENESLIN STANDS BEATING OF WAVES

Crew Stands by While Authorities Prepare to Investigate Cause.

(Special to The Journal.)
Neahkahnie Mountain, Or., Oct. 3.—Officers and crew of the British three masted sailing ship Gleneslin, which ran upon the rocks at the base of Neahkahnie mountain, Wednesday afternoon, will stand by until further orders, which means probably until George Cherry, acting for British Vice Consul E. M. Cherry of Astoria, surveys the wreck and decides on future action. Mr. Cherry is expected to reach the wreck this afternoon.

The Gleneslin, listed about 30 degrees towards sea, has so far withstood the battering of the waves, which have not been heavy and shows no signs of immediate breaking up. It is believed it will be impossible to salvage her, however, because of the holes torn in her bottom as she went on the rocks. Sailors of her crew have been plying between shore and the wreck saving each of their personal effects as they came for.

Many persons living nearby and at the close-in beach are visiting the wreck and photographing it at close range.

No information of a more definite nature as to the cause of the wreck has been obtained, and it is considered probable that there will be no new developments until official inquiry has been started.

Crew May Come to Portland.
It is believed that arrangements will be made by the British vice consul to have Captain Owen Williams and the crew of the Gleneslin come to Portland to be paid off.

Reports have been received locally that the bar tug Walrus, which was sent to the wreck, patrolled nearby but was not called upon for assistance.
Captain Lyndon Vaysey, local survivor for Lloyd's, left last night to survey the wreck.

The manufacture of ferretillium, for which there is a great demand all over the world is increasing rapidly in Norway.

VENERABLE FOWL HAS PLACE IN EXHIBITION

North Yakima, Oct. 3.—Fatted turkey said to be older than North Yakima itself, has been found in the stores here by State Food Inspector Will H. Adams and his assistant, Miss A. B. Wimple. The venerable fowl is on exhibition at the state fair, where the booth of the state food department with its specimens of reconditioned and "chickenless" turkeys is attracting much attention from housewives.

Wood Going Up.
Moosehead, Or., Oct. 3.—Scarcity of fuel wood has sent the price from $4.50 a cord, and the market is practically unappreciated with the better grades of much fuel. Inferior woods are being burned of necessity.

Union Will Take Day Off to Visit Fair
Union, Or., Oct. 3.—Friday, October 10, will be Union day at the county fair at La Grande, and a special train will carry the visitors from this place. It is planned to suspend business and attend the fair. The stockmen and owners of fancy drivers of Union have engaged a special room at the fair, and will exhibit there.

A beach builder has invented a new type of wall tie that grips half a dozen bricks instead of two, as usual.
