U. S. SHAKES OFF THE MANACLES OF PROTECTION TODAY

New Tariff Law Signed by President Wilson Last Night in Effect Though Old Rates Apply Temporarily.

RANK AND FILE OF THE NATION AIDED—WILSON

Merchandise in Bond to Be Released Upon Receipt of Copies of Law.

Washington, Oct. 4.—Custom officers throughout the country today grappled with the task of administering the new tariff bill. It was predicted it would be running smoothly within ten days. Technically the statute becomes effective today, but collectors were advised to assess temporarily under the old rules. This, it was said, would permit the immediate importation of merchandise. The new rates will be figured out later. Merchandise worth from $75,000,000 to $100,000,000 is held in bonded warehouses awaiting the new law. It will not be released until the collectors receive copies of the measure. Effects Will Be Slow. Congressman Underwood, who engineered the new tariff bill through the lower house, warned consumers today that they must not expect the lower duties to have much effect on the cost of living for several months—perhaps not for a year. "The goods the merchants have on their shelves now," he explained, "were bought on the old high tariff basis. Only the competition which the new law must cause will bring prices down. Until merchants have disposed of their present stocks, naturally they will not be disposed to accept the new order of things. The same is true of manufacturers who have on hand stocks of raw materials bought at high tariff figures. For instance, the new wool tariff's effect will not be felt until next March, and the full effect of the reduction on sugar will not be felt for three years."

DEFICIENCY BILL IS PASSED BY SENATE

Deputy Marshals and Collectors Taken From Civil Service.

Washington, Oct. 4.—The urgent deficiency appropriation bill, carrying provisions for abolishing the commerce court December 31 and removing deputy collectors and deputy United States marshals from the civil service rules passed the senate today. The measure, as passed by the house, not only abolished the commerce court but legislated the present judges out of their jobs. The senate provision, however, retains them as circuit judges until their judgments are terminated either by resignation, death or the end of their terms. The removal of the deputies opens the way for $1,000,000 worth of patronage for the Democrats.

COLONEL OFF FOR SOUTH AMERICA IN GREAT ANGER

Unspoken Criticism of Wilson's Mexican Policy and Expression on the Panama Canal Published in Papers.

ROOSEVELT HAD CUT FROM MANUSCRIPT

Much Enthusiasm at Farewell Banquet Given by the Progressives.

New York, Oct. 4.—Theodore Roosevelt sailed for South America today in a towering rage. He spoke last night at a Progressive banquet, and portions of his address which he had decided at the last moment to withhold, got into the newspapers. In them the ex-president admitted that there would have been no Panama canal if he and his advisers had not "taken Panama." And he bitterly criticized the Wilson administration's Mexican policy, saying the proper course would have been "my method as exemplified in Hayti." The address had been delivered before the colonel discovered that it had been printed unexpurgated in the newspapers, just as it was given out in advance for publication. Party Embarks on Liner. Roosevelt and his party were passengers on the Lamport & Holt liner Van Dyke. The party included the colonel, Mrs. Roosevelt, Miss Margaret Roosevelt, Secretary Harper, Naturalists Anthony Plaza, G. K. Cherry and Leo Miller and the Rev. Father John Zahn of the Provincial Order of the Holy Cross. Mrs. Roosevelt and Miss Margaret Roosevelt will be back on the Van Dyke on its return voyage. There was a big crowd at the pier to see the expedition off. The ex-president will deliver an address on "American Internationalism" at the Rio Janeiro university, one on "Character and Civilization," in Sao Paulo, and one on "The Democratic Movement in a Republic," in Buenos Ayres. He is also scheduled for a speech at the University of Santiago. Between speeches he will hunt in the Amazon valley. Sticks by Progressive Principles. Before departing he said he hoped his trip would put him in "fighting trim" for the congressional and state elections next year. "We go," was his last message, "to carry to our brothers in the south a message concerning the ideals of the newer and greater democracy which has come into being among us here." In his speech at the banquet last night, he declared his devotion to the principles of the Progressive party. "I wear my opponents that the fight has just begun," he said. "Whatever may betide in the future, of one thing the disciples of an easy opportunism may rest assured—I will never abandon the principle to which we Progressives have pledged ourselves, and I will never abandon the men and women who drew around me to battle for these principles. They and I stand with our faces toward the morning; and will never yield the ground we have taken or flinch from the fight to which we are committed." Gifford Pinchot, Senators Brister and Poindexter, ex-senator Beveridge, Miss Frances A. Keller and John Purroy Mitchell had seats at the guest table. There was considerable enthusiasm and waving of handkerchiefs. Roosevelt was shown a newspaper shortly before he left, containing an interview with Republican "Boss" Barnes of New York state, accusing the Progressives of making a "deal" with Tammany, as a result of which Justice Searby was nominated on the Progressive ticket. "By George," he said, "I'm glad I saw that. It's merely one of Barnes' habitual lies and I'm glad to brand it as such."

BURGLARS OF ARTISTIC TASTE ROB HOUSE OF CUT GLASS AND DOILIES

Home of Franklin I. Fuller Entered and Goods Valued at $500 Taken Away.

Burglars with artistic tastes entered the home of Franklin I. Fuller, vice president of the Portland Railway, Light & Power company, 508 Spring street, last night, and carried away all the cut glass in the house, a lace lunch cloth and some doilies, some silver utensils and some miscellaneous articles. Mr. Fuller estimates his pecuniary loss at $500. Many of the articles, though, had a sentimental value, being presents from friends. "The peculiar feature of the burglary," said Mr. Fuller, "was the selection of articles made by the burglars. They went into the sideboard in the dining room and took all the cut glass in the house. This included a big bowl, some 15 or 18 inches in diameter. Another large article taken was a silver tray and tea set. The tray was over two feet long. They also took

New York, Oct. 4.—Magistrate Frosoli apologized to Herman Oelrichs and discharged him today. BRITISH SHIP GLESSLIN WRECKED AT BASE OF NEAH-KAH-NIE MOUNTAIN

GLESSLIN WILL BE SOLD AT AUCTION IF PLANS ARE MATURED

No Hope That British Ship May Be Saved Because of Damaged Bottom.

Astoria, Or., Oct. 4.—Reports received this morning from Neah-Kah-Nie mountain are that the three masted British ship Glesslin, which grounded on the rocks at the foot of the mountain Wednesday afternoon, still holds together, with only a slightly increasing list towards the sea. The plan is to attempt to refloat the vessel, the filling of Bridgport on the west side of the Willamette just above the North Bank bridge, and the construction of slips and piers for deep sea shipping there. It is $250,000 in bonds should be asked which will be divided between the purchase of land and initial improvements about as follows: Bridgeport, 180 acres at $3000 an acre, $540,000; Mook's bottom, 440 acres at $300 an acre, $132,000; Swan island, 265 acres at $1000 an acre, $265,000; total, $1,175,000. COUNCIL AMENDS CITY ORDINANCE TO HASTEN THE BOND MEASURES

Time for Submitting Extended to Oct. 18, by Commissioners, Today.

The time for submitting issues at the special election November 4 was extended to October 18, when the city commission passed an emergency ordinance amending the McNary ordinance this morning. The law has been that all measures must be filed 30 days before the election. This amendment permits the submitting of measures not less than 15 days before the election. The law was amended largely at the instance of the public dock commission. It will submit a measure asking the issuance of probably $2,500,000 in bonds for the development of the immense dock and harbor development plan described in The Journal yesterday. The plan includes the removal of Swat Island and the creation of a turning basin 40 feet deep where the island now is; the filling of Mook's Bottom and the construction of slips and piers there; the filling of Bridgport on the west side of the Willamette just above the North Bank bridge, and the construction of slips and piers for deep sea shipping there.

ACCUSE N. Y. GUNMAN OF MURDERING CHILD HE HELD FOR RANSOM

Unknown Infant Beaten to Death in Flat of Notorious Slaver.

New York, Oct. 4.—An unidentified golden haired baby lies dead in the morgue with a bruise on the side of the head. The police assert the baby was killed by Joseph Depuma, a notorious gunman and white slaver, and believe the child probably was kidnapped and held for ransom. Ralph Pasqua, an undertaker, is held on the charge of removing a body from one county to another without a permit. Pasqua says Depuma called him to a flat on Fox street, the Bronx, and ordered him to take charge of the corpse. The undertaker says he demanded a death certificate, but that Depuma showed a gun in his face, saying, "This revolver, containing five soft nosed bullets, will act as a certificate." Depuma, Pasqua alleges, told him that the baby bothered him at night by asking for water and that he beat her to death. The police found three loaded revolvers and a quantity of cocaine in the flat. Depuma, a woman, and the child occupied the flat for three weeks. A woman's photograph was found in the room and the police are seeking its original. Pasqua said the woman wept when he moved the body and that Depuma ordered her to "shut up." An autopsy showed death was caused by a hemorrhage of the brain, the result of a beating.

STEAMSHIP SPOKANE HITS ROCK, GETS OFF AGAIN LITTLE INJURED

Vessel Believed to Have Hit Vancouver Island on Slow Speed in Foggy Weather.

Seattle, Oct. 4.—The following dispatch was received at 10:15 this morning by the Pacific Coast Steamship company, from the captain of the steamer Spokane, which went ashore on Vancouver island last night: "Transferred passengers back to Spokane. Everybody and everything O. K. Spokane proceeding to Seattle under own steam." Seattle, Oct. 4.—The steamship Spokane, Pacific Coast Steamship company, went ashore on Vancouver island, 15 miles north of Cape Lazo and just south of The Narrows. In the absence of any definite information from the officers of the vessel it is believed that the Spokane went ashore while traveling under slow speed; to have struck at the point indicated in the message she must have been about three miles out of her course, which is accounted for by the foggy weather of yesterday. The steamships La Touche and At-Ki were in the immediate neighborhood at the time of the wreck and answered wireless calls for help. When the La Touche arrived at the scene of the wreck, the passengers were being rescued in the life boats. They were put aboard the La Touche until the Spokane floated again. This is the second wreck in which the Spokane has floundered. On June 23, 1911, she struck Riddle Rock, in Seymour Narrows, east of Vancouver island, and was run ashore to prevent her from sinking. Two passengers were drowned. The Spokane was built at San Francisco in 1902 and is registered in New York. She is 227 gross tons and 1354 net tonnage. Her length is 370.1 feet; beam, 40.1 feet; and depth of hold, 17.2 feet. The Spokane carries a crew of 65 men.

DUG FROM TOMB IN MINE THROUGH 80 FEET OF ROCK

Rescued Man Staggered Toward His Savers and Falls in Faint at Their Feet; Is Quickly Revived.

FED FOR EIGHT DAYS BY MEANS OF A PIPE

Affecting Scene When Husband and Wife Are Reunited in Mine.

Centralia, Pa., Oct. 4.—Thomas Toleshek was released from the Continental mine here at 7:25 a. m. today. He had been entombed eight days. Rescuers dug through nearly 80 feet of solid rock and coal to reach him. They could not use dynamite for fear he would be killed. Toleshek, digging from inside his tomb, progressed three and a half feet toward his rescuers. He was impressed by a heavy rock fall in the mine. Throughout the eight days of his imprisonment Toleshek talked with the members of the rescue gang, and with his wife, and received food by means of a pipe the workers had forced through the barrier which separated them. He was courageous and cheerful throughout, though occasionally he cried out when startled by fresh falls of rock. Physicians were afraid he would go insane. Faints From Very Joy. As the rescuers broke their way into the little chamber which confined him, Toleshek gave a shout, staggered toward them, staggered for a moment, and then, before anyone could reach him, fell to the ground. Mine Inspector O'Donnell sprang to his side and lifted him. Doctors were with the party, restoratives were applied and the patient quickly revived. As he recovered himself his eyes met his wife's, and in an instant the two were clasped in one another's arms, the woman crying and praying with joy. Hair Touched With Gray. Mine Inspector O'Donnell provided for Toleshek's needs from the start. He reached the surface unassisted except for the occasional support of his wife and O'Donnell. A waiting automobile took the couple home. Toleshek's hair had grayed slightly during his imprisonment, but the doctors pronounced him in much better physical and mental condition than they had expected. They believed he would soon be in as good health as ever. Scores had waited at the mine all night to see the rescue. The final shift of workers began digging at 11 p. m. and should have been relieved at 7 in the morning, but, realizing how near they were to the end of the task, asked and received permission to complete it. Goes Home to Sleep. Toleshek's pulse was normal, a fact considered remarkable by physicians. He retired at 9 o'clock and went to sleep immediately. Arriving at his home, Toleshek found scores of presents of foodstuffs and liquors, but his physician forbade him to indulge in either. The final minutes before the rescue were the most anxious ones. The rescuers feared that a fall of rock might crush the prisoner.

FORTY FOOT WALL OF WATER SWEEPING ALL BEFORE IT IN TEXAS

Cloudburst Sends Flood Down Guadalupe Valley; 75 Persons Marooned.

Austin, Texas, Oct. 4.—Presumably as a result of a cloudburst, a wall of water 40 feet high was rushing down the Guadalupe valley this afternoon, sweeping everything before it. Floods already have destroyed the crops in the Guadalupe and San Marcos valleys. Seventy-five persons were marooned, at least according to Santa Ana Mount, two miles south of Gonzales. Two boatloads of provisions have been sent to them.

MARIE LLOYD SAILS WITH JOCKEY DILLON

New York, Oct. 4.—Bernard Dillon, the jockey, and Marie Lloyd, the actress, who arrived here recently, traveling as Mr. and Mrs. Dillon, and were detained by the immigration authorities on the ground their relations made them undesirable immigrants, sailed for England on the Olympic today. The Washington authorities, overruling local officials, had notified Marie Lloyd, who came here professionally, that she might land under bond. In the meantime, however, the actress had decided the preferred lot to stay. She had been confined to a stateroom in the city last night.
