

CELEBRATION MARKS 37th ANNIVERSARY OF TELEPHONE INVENTION

Bell Service Commemorates
First Transmission of Voice
by Wire.

The first word spoken over a telephone wire was by Dr. Alexander Graham Bell at the Centennial exposition, Philadelphia, on October 9, 1876. That was just 37 years ago today. The telephone then was the greatest of curiosities. It is now one of the commonest of utilities. The electrically impelled word was carried then but a few feet; the ordinary tones of the voice may now be carried much of the distance across the continent. From a phenomenon associated with the supernatural, the telephone has grown into such a business that every community of the country, nearly, has its service organization. In thousands of cities over the country today the birthday of the telephone will be celebrated as a result of suggestion originated in Portland. One of the most elaborate of the programs will be given this evening in the Multnomah hotel by the employees and officials of the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph company.

Nearly a thousand people connected with the telephone business in Portland will gather in the assembly and ball rooms. Two orchestras will furnish music. There will be special entertainment stunts. The employees of the company will furnish both a male and ladies quartet.

W. J. Phillips, division commercial superintendent, will make the address of welcome, and introduce four telephone pioneers of Portland whose total service is 135 years, an average of 33 1/2 years for each—Thatcher, Bacon, Curran and Duffy.

Portland took the lead in planning a celebration of the birthday of the telephone. It will be made here an annual event. Other cities are planning to follow Portland's lead.

At the celebration this evening B. C. Carroll from the San Francisco office, will be present. H. T. Scott, president of the company, has found it impossible to come, but has sent this message:

"Please present my regrets to the committee, and if the trains were so rapid as the telephone I should certainly attend the thirty-seventh birthday celebration."

J. C. Nowell, vice president and general manager of the company, sent regrets in regular birthday form, his message reading:

"Please forward to the committee in charge of the telephone birthday at the Multnomah, October 9, my regrets that I cannot attend. Best wishes for many happy returns of the day, and congratulations on the gathering of so many of the family and friends to do honor to the occasion."

KEMP NOT TO MAKE A PLEA OF INSANITY

Complete admission of the charges under which he is being held by the government were made yesterday afternoon by G. W. Kemp to United States Attorney Clarence J. Reames. Following an absence of two years, during which time he had been considered as dead and his bondsmen were liberated, Kemp was taken into custody Tuesday.

An interesting development of yesterday was that Kemp had spent a considerable portion of the two years as an inmate, under an assumed name, at the government insanity hospital near Mt. St. Helens.

In explaining this to Reames, Kemp said that he had been worrying so much over his crime that he thought his mind had become deranged. He was sick he said, and homeless, and in that condition the Alaska officials decided to send him to the sanitarium.

There is no question of Kemp's sanity at the present time, according to United States Attorney Reames. Kemp assured him, he says, that he did not intend to put up an insanity plea or even fight the case, but will plead guilty to the charge before Judge Bean tomorrow morning.

In his explanation Kemp declared that he had not made away with more than $100 of the money of the nursery firm for which he was working, and for the defrauding of which, by using the mails, he was indicted by the federal grand jury.

Immediately after leaving Portland, he said, he went to Alaska.

GOVERNOR MAY CALL LEGISLATIVE SESSION

Money Needed if Eight Hour
Law Applies to State Employees.

Salem, Or., Oct. 8.—If it should be held that the eight-hour labor law applies to the employees at the state institutions, it is possible that a special session of the legislature will be called to make additional maintenance appropriations to meet the emergency.

State Labor Commissioner Hoff has notified the state board that the law is being violated at the institutions and that he is now endeavoring to enforce a compliance with the law.

Governor West said today he would ask the attorney general for an opinion as to whether the law applies to the state institutions and if he holds with the labor commissioner, the matter will be taken up with the heads of the various institutions to ascertain the additional cost of maintenance, as the existing appropriations were based on the present hours of labor. If the threatened emergency would be of sufficient consequence to justify it, the governor will consider calling a special session of the legislature.

"This is a funny country," commented the perplexed foreigner. "You celebrate your 'Labor Day' by taking a rest, and your Sunday, which you call your day of rest, is the day when everybody works the hardest."

TEACHERS TELL HOW 'WILD MEN' TERRORIZE WOMEN AND CHILDREN

Frequent Attacks by Degenerates in Oakley Green Are Cause of Complaints.

How degenerate characters have terrorized school teachers and pupils of the Oakley Green school and residents of the district on the peninsula was related to the city commissioners this morning by the principal of the school and several women teachers, when the officials paid a visit to the school and the scene of the haunts of the so-called "wild men."

According to the teachers and others, children have been frightened out of their wits while passing through a thickly wooded tract near the school, when suddenly confronted by uncouth men. An attack was even made on one of the women teachers a few days ago, it is said.

According to a report made to the police a week ago a little 7-year-old girl had been the subject of an attack from one of the degenerates. Following the report the entire neighborhood was searched, but no trace could be found of the person responsible. Since that time numerous reports have been made by other children that they had been accosted while on their way to and from school by the "wild men."

The city commissioners this morning were told that the latest appearance of the fellows who have terrorized the neighborhood was an attempted attack on one of the teachers. She, it is said, was so badly frightened that she could not attend school for several days.

Parents, for fear their children may be attacked, are keeping them home and the principal of the school has ordered all children to keep away from the wooded tract on their way to and from school.

As the police have been unable to find trace of the men, the principal of the school took the matter up with the city commissioners in an attempt to have the tract strung through the heavily wooded tract near the school.

This morning Commissioners Daly, Brewster, Sigel and Dick visited the school property on the north a tract of nearly 50 acres thick with underbrush. The property is owned by W. K. Smith, who is now being sought by the commissioners so that he can be ordered to cut down the trees at least 50 feet wide around the entire tract. If this is not done immediately the city will probably have it done.

A man will remember to his dying day the things he learned at college—unless he happened to learn them from books.

"Quick, Successful Treatment for the Drink Habit"

Before the "Neal Treatment" Became So Well Known

Men who drank to excess could, and did, "EXCISE" THEMSELVES BY SATISFYING: "Yes, I know I drink more than is good for me. But I cannot spare two or three weeks from my work, my business, my home, my friends, taking treatment." Now, in all such persons we point out the "NEAL WAY" of EXCISING and healing the "EXCESSIVE DRINKER" and his "EXCESSIVE" become ABSOLUTELY "WONDERFUL" when we assure them that the

CHILDREN TO AID IN FIGHT AGAINST FLIES

Campaign Will Begin in Earnest Next Spring; Conference Held.

"Portland—The Flyless City." Meeting in the office of City Superintendent of Schools Alderman this morning, a conference was held, attended by Dr. C. F. Hodge, of the civic biology department of the University of Oregon; City Physician Marcellus, Mrs. P. S. Myers, president of the Parent-Teachers' association, and Superintendent Alderman, at which was commenced the preparation of preliminary plans to bring about the possibility of the adoption of the above slogan.

When the first flies begin to appear next spring the campaign will begin in earnest and school children as well as grownups will be asked to take a hand in ridding the city of its annual pest. During the intervening months the boys and girls will be taught through the manual training departments how to construct fly traps, fly swatters and fly nets. Pamphlets will be prepared and distributed to show the method of construction of these necessary articles of warfare. The pamphlets will demonstrate the uses of these articles and will show by graphic representation the results, giving illustrations of conditions before and after using.

When the campaign is commenced the children will be asked to join in killing and destroying flies. Investigations will be made in all parts of the city to discover filth wherever it exists and steps will be taken to remove all such breeding places for flies. Every possible step will be taken to make Portland a flyless city.
