Migratory Birds Flying From William Tamley Confesses He and Companion, Also Arrested, Committed Crimes,

Hunters are cautioned to remember that the new Weeks-McLean game statute provides a closed season on all migratory birds that fly from one state to another between the hours of sunset and sunrise. Hunters who have been shooting on the supposition that the Oregon law, allowing shooting one hour before sunrise and one hour after sunset as well as all day, will accordingly have to mend their ways, for the federal eral holdups in Seattle.

The two men with the woman and child arrived last week from Seattle, having left that city when the police got close upon their trail. Friday, Tam-ley asked his wife to walk with him to Oregon City, both to beg what they could on the way. She refused. A quarrel followed, in which the woman threatened to drown herself in the river. When she awoke yesterday morning, her

When she awoke yesterday morning, her husband was gone.

Mrs. Tamley reported the matter to the police. She left the one year old child in the apartments on Vancouver avenue, where the four people have been living, took her coat and umbrelle to a second hand dealer to pawn, but the dealer gave the woman $1, with which to get something to eat.

During her absence, Detectives Golts and Royle took up investigation of the case, locating the husband at Oregon City and Anderson at the apartments, Detective Royle arrested Amierson.

Both men admitted to the detectives they had committed the arimes charged in Seattle, further stating they had planned to hold up a bartender last Thursday evening on Williams avenue, and their plan was frustrated.
