multhoman county is relieved of ne-cessity to meet this interest charge. By a law passed by the last legislature, the state pays the interest on the bonds. Should the bonds be issued for 20 years at 5 per cent this would mean that the state would pay in interest alone 150 per cent of the principal. Cost Insignificant.

Of state taxes Multnomah county, of course, pays one third, but the tax on Multnomah country property for its third of the interest charge would be but 51/2 cents on each $1000 of properly, or a little more than the cost of a streetcar ride, whereas, Clarke county has already agreed to pay an interest charge of $1.67 on each $1000 of prop-

But, since tolls are to be charged for the use of the bridge, it would appear that the entire charge against the public would be lifted. It is estimated that the first year's income of the bridge would be $190,000, of which 60 per cent or $60,000 would be received on the Oregon side. This approximately equals the interest the state would have to pay on $1,250,000 in bonds, including the cost of the approach. Income in the cost of the approach.
