

WEALTHY MAN PLEADS GUILTY; HIS GIRL-WIFE WITNESS AGAINST HIM

Accused Hurls Inveective at Woman in Federal Court Hearing.

John Alena, a wealthy Spaniard who has been on trial in the federal court charged with bringing a woman to this country from Spain for immoral purposes...

While Rosa Fustes, his 12-year-old wife, was testifying to the abuses she had been subjected to by Alena, the latter suddenly half rose out of his place...

Again after the trial, as the girl was leaving the court room, Alena rushed after her, dragging with him John Montar...

The girl told of living a virtuous life until Alena came to her home at "Palma de Mayores..."

Then she said, speaking through an interpreter, as she knows hardly any English, Alena by force compelled her to take up the immoral life to make money for him.

The girl was so frightened by the big Spaniard that she was almost afraid to speak, and it was not until she had been rescued by Assistant United States Attorney Johnson that she would continue.

Alena owns two business properties in Aberdeen, one in Montezono, 200 shares of national bank stock and thousands of dollars worth of other negotiable paper.

Rosa Fustes is at the Home of the Good Shepherd, on the east side, in the care of the sisters, where she is learning English and sewing. She will likely be deported.

Court had just opened this morning when Attorney Matthews of Alena's counsel announced that Alena had decided to plead guilty.

"Yes, since my wife has gone back on me," Alena whined when Judge Bean asked him if he desired to plead guilty.

Alena was also indicted for violating the Mann white slave act, but this charge was dismissed. He is liable to a sentence of 19 years in the penitentiary and deportation afterwards.

INTERSTATE SPAN IS TRUMP AT MEETING

"An afternoon at bridge" was what Frank Branch Wiley characterized his little tete-a-tete with the members of the Women's Improvement Government club at the public library yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Abigail Scott Duniway, "mother of suffrage," also addressed the women of the club, who manifested a keen interest in the bridge proposition and afterward made their unanimous way to the court house, where they registered that they might cast their ballot November 4.

Several meetings of labor union men will be held at Labor Temple tonight, and A. Burnham of Vancouver, J. H. Nott and H. O. Parsons of Portland will tell them about the bridge and urge their indorsement.

A meeting of the fraternal committee appointed for the big parade November 1 will be held this afternoon. It is planned to have as large a number of lodge members as possible in line, and overtures are being made to the Harman club to have representation from the railway employes in the line.

Action Begun to Enjoin Use of Buildings for Immoral Purposes.

Dr. Andrew C. Smith was named as a defendant in two suits filed this morning by District Attorney Evans under the abatement law, to enjoin the use of two buildings at 308 and 310 Couch street for immoral purposes.

Bonds of $2500 are being prepared in the Louise Olcese case to insure the injunction against Mrs. Olcese's property on North Second street. The injunction was issued some time ago by Circuit Judge Cleeton and at first Mrs. Olcese was inclined to appeal to the supreme court.

This afternoon's hearing will be held before Circuit Judge Cleeton in the suit against Eileen Pelton and Etta Fell, owners; Frank Bolam, agent; and Beatrice St. Clair, lessee, to enjoin the use of 15 North Eleventh street for immoral purposes.

JOHN S. SCHENCK, OF THE DALLES, IS DEAD

(Special to The Journal)

The Dalles, Or., Oct. 17.—John S. Schenck, prominent citizen and banker, died of apoplexy at his home in this city last night. Mr. Schenck, though suffering from ill health for several years, had been actively engaged in business until a week ago, when he was stricken with the fatal attack.

He was a pioneer business man of this section, having come to Oregon via Tahama in 1851. For a number of years he was employed by the old Oregon Steam Navigation company. In 1875 he became the company's agent at this place. In 1885 he started a banking business here, having as his associate H. M. Beall now of Portland. Later the institution became the First National Bank and Mr. Schenck has been president continuously. Three years ago the bank created a complete banking house, a five-story edifice a structure that cost $100,000.

Mr. Schenck was married to Mrs. Naomi Mitchell of The Dalles 36 years ago, and besides the widow, Mrs. S. Sheldon, a sister is the only relative who survives.

John S. Schenck was 73 years old, was a member of the B. P. O. E. and the Masons, and was a vestryman of the St. Paul's Episcopal church. Funeral service will be held Sunday afternoon.

Boys Suspected of Burglary

Purvin Bros., grocers at 150 Union avenue, when they opened the store this morning were startled by signs of confusion, for the safe, which is always left unlocked, and used merely for fire protection, was standing open and the contents strewn on the floor.

Burglars had entered the store. Nothing of value was taken, but the police or proprietors have been able to discover.

The police believe the work to have been done by boys.

MOTHER REUNITED TO HER DAUGHTER AFTER MANY YEARS' SEARCH

Eva Mattox Will Return East With Parent Whom She Had Not Seen Since Childhood.

By an amicable agreement in the juvenile court this morning between the parents, Eva Mattox, the 17-year-old daughter of Gurnie Mattox, a shoemaker of 661 Alberta street, was restored to the child's mother, now Mrs. G. A. Patterson, of 3410 Bellefontaine street, Kansas City. The matter did not come up for trial before Judge Gatens as the parents settled it themselves before the judge reached the court house.

Tears and kisses, laughs and telegrams, all played their part and little Eva, who has been separated from her mother for nine years, will leave for the home of her stepfather, who is a Kansas City railway official, Sunday night.

The present Mrs. Patterson separated from Mattox in 1897. Mrs. Patterson securing a divorce. The child was taken by the father several years afterward, and immediately afterward both disappeared. Mrs. Mattox married again but continued her search for her daughter, who has since been located in Portland with the father. She was placed in charge of the juvenile court for incorrigibility three years ago, and has been living at the Good Shepherd's and Fryer homes since.

Six weeks ago she wrote to her mother but did not mention her address. The envelope in which the letter was enclosed bore a blurred cancellation stamp, "Port-". Mrs. Patterson forthwith wired the chief of police and came west as soon as she heard of the child's whereabouts.

She attempted to leave with Eva Monday, but was restrained by Miss E. L. Butler, probation officer, until the matter could be investigated. Telegraphic communication with probation officials in Kansas City established the Pattersons' fitness for taking care of the child, and with her father's consent, mother and daughter will leave Sunday.

A family reunion home at the court room this morning settled the whole matter amicably and the party left in the best spirits. Mattox was accompanied by his sister, and his brother and sister-in-law, while Mrs. Patterson was entirely alone.

"I am the happiest mother in all the world," she proclaimed as she left this court house.

LEGALITY OF MUNICIPAL COURT AGAIN ATTACKED

Motion to Dismiss Case Continued for Argument in Circuit Tribunal.

A second attack upon the legality of the municipal court was made in the circuit court yesterday when Attorney Edwin G. Amme asked that the case against Grace Edwards, who appealed was sentenced to 72 hours in the city jail by Municipal Judge Stevenson for seducing a woman. The motion was made before Circuit Judge Morrow, and on motion of Deputy City Attorney Myers, the case was continued until the motion to dismiss could be argued.

As in the first attack made before Circuit Judge Kavanaugh, in the case against Grace Edwards, who appealed from a five day sentence and was given 16 days by Judge Kavanaugh, the municipal court was contended to be without authority because not provided for by the charter. In such case it was claimed that an ordinance could not establish the court. It was also alleged that the circuit court could not hear a city case as a court of original jurisdiction.

Should the courts rule that the municipal court is not legally established, it would invalidate all convictions since the new charter became effective. It is expected that in such a case City Attorney La Roche will appeal to the supreme court for a ruling.

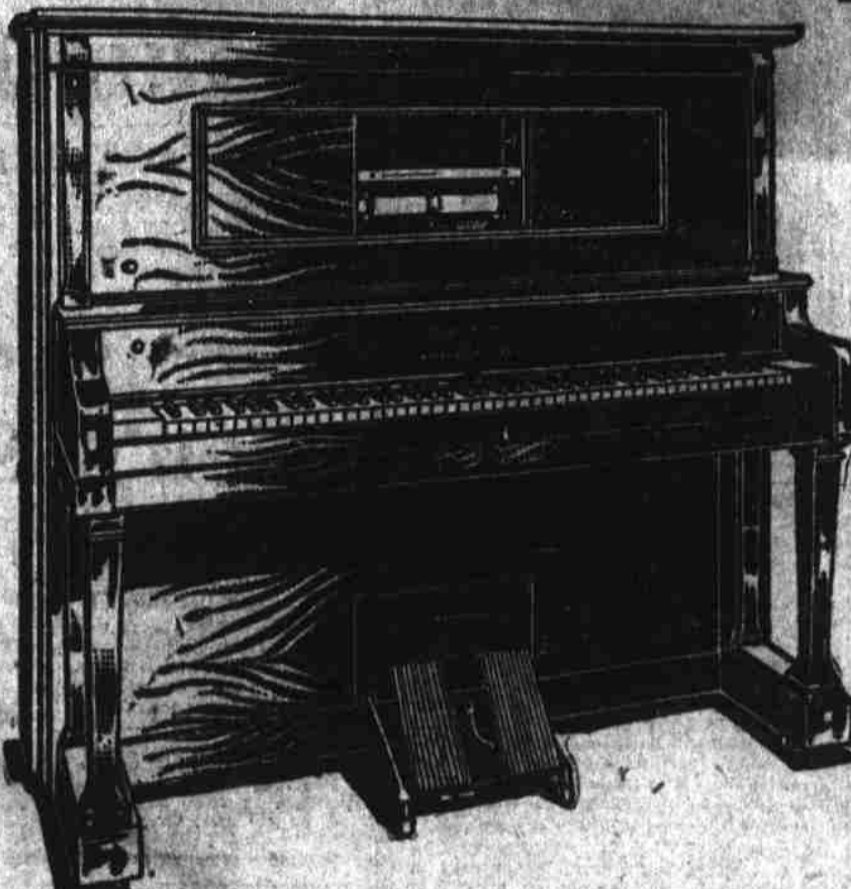

"While I have not made a thorough examination of the charter, I have no fear of the legality of the municipal court," said Municipal Judge Stevenson this morning. "There appears to be no question but that the charter provides for a municipal judge, so he must have some place to hold court."

FUNERAL OF J. J. SIREY WILL BE HELD MONDAY

Mr. Sirey had been a sufferer for some time from valvular heart trouble, but his condition was not regarded critical until the final attack came on, a short time before he died. He was 45 years of age and has been a resident of Portland for many years. He is survived by Mrs. Sirey and one daughter, Mrs. E. McBride, 221 Sixth street.
