SULZER'S FRIENDS GET A LOVING CUP FROM EX-GOVERNOR

Crowd in 'The People's House' After Red Fire Parade, to Cheer Deposed Official and Show Hatred of Tammany.

CHARACTERISTIC TALK DELIVERED BY SULZER

Big Money Offered Him to Go on Lecture Stand and Give His Story.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Albany, N. Y., Oct. 18.—A dash of rain somewhat damped the enthusiasm of William Sulzer's adherents, who tonight marched with a big band and an ample supply of red fire and fireworks to give the impeached governor a loving cup at "The People's House."
Doors of the mansion were opened to the multitude, and it was speedily jammed with a wet, but cheering crowd that was welcomed by Sulzer himself. Banners carried in the march and subsequently stacked, all dripping, against the costly wall decorations, bore the inscription "Our Bill; he dared to do right," and "William Sulzer, victim of corrupt bossism."
Secretary Platt aided to welcome the people and introduced J. W. Forest, a local progressive leader, who presented the loving cup in a speech hot with arraignment of bossism and filled with laudations of Sulzer. Samuel Thomas also spoke in a similar vein, after which Sulzer personally addressed the crowd briefly and in familiar words.
Accusing "Arrogant Boss."
"For nearly a quarter of a century," he said, "I have been a worker in the vineyard of the people, and added, 'now I am a private citizen by the decree of an arrogant boss whose dictates I defied.'"
He declared "the people understood I was impeached, not because of the offense with which I was charged, but because I refused to do Mr. Murphy's bidding and pursued the corrupt public servants who have been his tools and henchmen."
Money Offered Sulzer.
In conclusion, Sulzer shouted "Tammany hall cannot take away my manhood, my self-respect and my determination to keep up the struggle for honest government."
Secretary Platt gave out a statement that Sulzer had been offered $10,000 by a certain party to go on a lecture tour.

IMMORALITY ATTACKED BY EPISCOPALIANS IN SPEECHES IN NEW YORK

Problem of Prostitution Must Be Solved by the Church, Declares Dean Sumner.

New York, Oct. 18.—Flaying those who maintain that prostitution is a "necessary evil," three leaders in the Protestant Episcopal church tonight condemned a double standard of morality and the liquor interests with the vehemence of uncompromising opponents.
Speaking at a men's mass-meeting in the New Synod hall at the Cathedral of St. John, the Divine, they began what many bishops and delegates to the general convention hope for—a movement within the church further to restrict marriage and to make the remarriage of divorced persons more difficult.
"Is prostitution necessary to manhood; womanhood; to the prosperity of a town or to the sanctity of the home?" asked the Rev. W. T. Sumner, dean of the Cathedral of St. Peter and Paul, of Chicago, who with the Rev. Dr. W. Williams Tomkins, and George Wharton Pepper of Philadelphia, spoke. "Have we sunk so low in civilization that the marital state is considered so lightly that man will make a business contract and give his life in order to hold it inviolate, and yet will kneel before the altar of God and there make the most holy contract that man can make—to be true to the one he loves—and then go out and break it?"
"Wholly and unequivocally never!" he thundered as the audience sat in death-like silence. "The plea that vice is necessary," he said, "is an insult to the honor of womanhood, a reflection upon manhood, and the celibate clergy. Dean Sumner condemned segregation and regulation of vice.
"Segregation does not solve even the remotest phase of it," he argued. "Regulation does not regulate, and never has even given a false security. The only method to pursue is constant and persistent repression as an immediate plan. Absolute abstinence is the ideal."
City clubs, social settlements and commercial organizations can never solve the problem, he said. "That is up to the church, which, he maintained, will be aided by woman suffrage.
After declaring that there is no more damnable influence in the community today than the liquor interests, which he characterized as the greatest contributing force to these conditions, Dean Sumner began a bitter condemnation of married men leading a double standard of life, asking "who are the $3,000,000 men who furnish the $10,000,000 vice profit in Chicago each year?"
Styles of women's clothes also came in for denunciation.
"A false standard of living and of dress, for the indecent and immoral dressing of women today," he said, "is one answer to the question: 'Why does the girl go wrong?'"

MILITANT SUFFRAGETTE ORDERED DEPORTED

WAR AND TORTURE CARRIED ON IN ENGLAND, MESSAGE MRS. PANKHURST SAYS SHE BRINGS

She Tells American Suffragette She Fears Americans Do Not Understand Why Property Is Being Destroyed by Women of Great Britain.

By Rheta Childs Dorr, noted suffragette and author of "What Eighty Million Women Want."
New York, N. Y., Oct. 18.—"I suppose you know that the anti-woman suffragists have accused you of coming to the United States in order to stir American women to violence and disorder. Would you mind giving a plain statement of the object of your visit?" I asked Mrs. Pankhurst.
"I certainly have no idea of inciting violence in American women," she replied. "Fortunately for them they have no need to resort to violence. Their suffrage movement seems to be proceeding successfully along orderly lines."
"In England the situation is unhappily quite different."
"The object of my visit is two-fold. In the first place I want to bring the militant movement up to date. I think the majority of American women understand us to a certain point. They understand why it was necessary for us to interrupt meetings at which cabinet ministers were speaking because in no other way could we secure a hearing until we did things of that sort; the newspapers refused to give publicity to our cause.
"American women understand and sympathize with our deputations to the leaders in the house of commons; with our opposition to government candidates at by-elections, with our demonstrations, our parades and processions.
"The destruction of property.
"What I fear they do not understand is the logical progression of our war on the government as expressed in destruction of property; our defiance of the courts and our refusal to accept prison sentences for offenses we never denied committing."
"I shall try to make them understand, at any rate, I shall present our side of the matter."
"You see," said the suffragette leader, "when the entire press is in the hands of the opposition it is not to be expected that the woman's side will be fairly represented, is it? As a matter of fact, the English press inforges us just as much as it can. It steadily and consistently misrepresents us and very frequently it prints deliberate falsehoods about us."
"Bomb Outrages Imagined."
"Half the so-called bomb outrages attributed to the suffragettes never had existence at all outside the imagination of reporters. However, it is not my object to deny any accusations of this kind."
"What I desire to make clear is the fact that war is being waged, not only by women against the government, but by the whole machinery of government, parliament, the courts, the police and the secret service against women."
"Women Being Tortured."
"I want the American people to know that in England women are being tortured as the most desperate criminals among men have not been tortured since the middle ages."
"The liberal government, beaten and discredited by the militant suffragettes, its candidates defeated at the by-elections until nothing except the allegiance remains to keep it in power, has had recourse to a piece of legislation absolutely unprecedented in the history of English law. I refer to the infamous 'Cat and mouse act' framed in the first place to make me a convict without actually killing me and put into effect in the hope of crushing the health and vitality of women sent to prison for trivial offenses."

MORAL TURPITUDE REASON GIVEN FOR HOLDING MILITANT

Mrs. Pankhurst, Detained by Immigration Authorities, Is Awaiting Word From Com- missioner Caminetti.

REFERS INVESTIGATORS TO AMERICAN HISTORY

Asks About Moral Turpitude Involved in Boston Tea Par- ty and Similar Incidents.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
New York, Oct. 18.—Excluded from entry to the United States on the grounds of having been convicted in England on a crime involving moral turpitude, Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, militant suffragette leader in that country, tonight occupied the same detention room at Ellis Island wherein was detained Cipriano Castro, South America's "stern" petre.
The Madison Square Garden mass meeting at which Mrs. Pankhurst was to have made her first speech tomorrow night, has been postponed until Monday night.
Mrs. Pankhurst was denied admittance to this country today after a secret hearing which lasted an hour at Ellis Island, and during which she was denied representation by counsel. L. C. Stewart, assistant superintendent of Ellis Island; S. A. Eppler, permanent member of the inquiry board, and A. P. Schell, law clerk of the local immigration office, composed the board of inquiry which held Mrs. Pankhurst.
"Expect Release on Bond."
The militant leader expected to be released tomorrow at noon on bond, pending an appeal to Washington or the federal courts, the same course which proved successful in securing for Castro landing privileges here.
The first step in the fight to overrule the action of the inquiry board will be taken tomorrow when Herbert Reeves, retained by Mrs. Pankhurst, Belmont to represent Mrs. Pankhurst, appears before Commissioner General of Immigration Caminetti in Washington to argue her case.
Upon the decision of Commissioner General Caminetti and the approval of his finding by the secretary of labor, depends the question of Mrs. Pankhurst's entry here.
"Moral Turpitude Denied."
Before leaving tonight, Attorney Reeves made known his whole argument on the claimed fact that the crime for which the militant leader was jailed in England does not involve moral turpitude, but that offense was purely political one and that she was tried under an ancient law under which men

EDITORS OF OREGON TAKE FIRM POSITION ON PROPOSED LAWS

Resolutions Favor Interstate Bridge, University Appropria- tion and Better Roads.

The campaign for the proposed interstate bridge over the Columbia at Vancouver was strongly endorsed, a decision was made to fight for the state university appropriations and oppose the referendum aimed to cripple its resources, and the building of permanent national highways were commended in a set of strong resolutions unanimously adopted by the Oregon State Editorial association shortly before the adjournment of the annual convention yesterday afternoon in the Press club. Albert Bede of the Cottage Grove Sentinel was elected president, and Phil Bates was re-elected secretary by acclamation.
In addition the association went on record as favoring the campaign for clean advertising, the state-wide use of Oregon made goods, and demanded the passage of a state bill regulating billboards outside of incorporated cities and their removal, especially along the Pacific Highway and all principal county and state highways. In this connection the resolutions state that all bill boards

PORTOLA GIRLS FETED BY ROYAL ROSARIANS IN TRULY ROYAL STYLE

Reception, Banquet and Dance Are Features of Great Ova- tion Given Californians.

The poppy of San Francisco vied with the rose of Portland last night. In fact, 12 poppies from sunny California were accorded the most rousing and genuine ovation and reception that ever was given in honor of a visiting body of maidens in this city before.
With the Royal Rosarians as hosts, the visiting Portola girls were guests of honor at a banquet tendered them at the Oregon hotel. Over 100 Rosarians and their friends were present to pay them homage. Chosen by their native city to represent it in the northwest in order to advertise San Francisco's big fiesta, the Portola girls, who were met at a dance in the Crystal room.
The banquet was one round of hale Portola girls, well met. Speaker after speaker paid tribute to the beauty of the visitors, praised their celebration, the Portola, and compared with it Portland's own feast of the flowers, the Rose Festival, and then invariably

M'INDOE NOT AGAINST DREDGING OF CHANNEL

Published Account to Contrary Untrue, Declares United States Engineer.

Major James F. McIndoe, district government engineer, very emphatically denied last night the truth of a statement in a dispatch from Washington yesterday intimating that in his supplemental report to the chief of United States engineers he had recommended against the continuance of dredging on the bar at the mouth of the Columbia river.
"Such a report is absolutely untrue," said Major McIndoe.
"I have made no secret of the fact that in my supplemental report I had recommended the continuance of dredging on the showing made by the dredge Chinook."
"Before my report was formulated I announced that I would recommend the continuance of dredging if the Chinook had had any material effect in channel deepening. The Chinook did make a showing, and I have not changed my position. It is regrettable that any other impression should have been given in circulation."
Major McIndoe explained why his report, which was to have been received in Washington by October 1, did not get there sooner. "By mistake it was sent from his office direct to the chief of United States engineers in Washington. It should have been sent through the superior office at San Francisco."

S. P. WINS CONTENTION WITH TRAINMEN OVER NEW SUBURBAN LINES

First Arbitration Between a Western Road and Men Under Erdman Act Concluded.

San Francisco, Oct. 18.—The first arbitration held between a western railroad and its employees under the new laws was concluded today. The Southern Pacific company and the organization of engineers, conductors and trainmen.
The majority opinion of the arbiters upheld the contentions of the Southern Pacific and the distinction between street car service and suburban electric service.
Hearings before the board of arbiters were held for two weeks. The board was composed of E. M. Montgomery, vice president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers; W. R. Scott, general manager of the Southern Pacific, and Judge F. Davis, appointed by the federal board of mediation. The brotherhoods were represented by T. A. Gregg, vice president of the Order of Railway Conductors, and C. B. McLaughlin, vice president of the Railway Trainmen. Henry C. Booth of the legal staff of William F. Herrin, chief counsel of the Southern Pacific, looked after the company's interests.
"Trouble Starts in Oakland."
The origin of the controversy was in the Southern Pacific putting on a street car service between the Sixteenth Street station, Oakland, and Alameda, and manning it with street car men on street cars. The brotherhoods claimed that their men should be employed and the dispute assumed a wide scope, embracing operations of the Southern Pacific in street car service over its entire system.
The company is making large investments in Portland, Or., and vicinity and the riding of the board of arbiters covers this field as well.
When the Southern Pacific electrified its Alameda county suburban service it continued the former engineers and conductors as electric motormen and conductors, under an agreement with the organizations that the same rate of pay would apply.
"Street Car Service Held Distinct."
The organizations demanded that any form of electric service should be paid on the same scale. The Southern Pacific refused to accede to this demand, claiming that street car service

NO CURRENCY LAW AT SPECIAL SESSION

Hope for Enactment of Adminis- tration Measure Is Given Up.

Washington, Oct. 18.—All hope of enacting the administration currency bill into law at this session were given up today. Confidential reports made to the president set November 10 as the earliest possible date upon which a report on the measure could be looked for from the senate banking and currency committee. At the same time it was stated that six weeks of debate would be consumed by the senate before the bill could be passed on to the conferees of the senate and house.
Senator Stone of Missouri, gave notice in the senate today that he would address that body Wednesday on the necessity of immediate action on currency legislation.

MISTAKEN FOR DEER, YOUNG MAN IS KILLED

Elmer Conger of Jacksonville, Or., Shot by Hunting Com- panion.

(Special to The Journal.)
Medford, Or., Oct. 18.—Elmer Conger, 28 years old, living on a ranch near Jacksonville, was shot and killed in the Dead Indian country this afternoon, the other side of Ashland, when mistaken for a deer by another member of the hunting party, Coroner John Peri left tonight for Ashland to get the body and bring it to this city. Conger had been hunting for several days with his brother, A. P. Conger, and a number of friends living in Jacksonville.
As none of the party have reached Ashland yet, the details of the accident are not known. Elmer Conger was well known in Rogue river valley and came from a prominent family. The Southern Pacific warship has been sent out to destroy the hulk.

SQUAW MARRIES MAN WHO GAVE HER WHISKEY

Cornwall's Imprisonment Ends When Mollie Clark Becomes His Bride.

Stevenson, Wash., Oct. 18.—Dan Cornwall, who was arrested three weeks ago for giving whiskey to an Indian squaw, and who has been in jail since that time, will probably not be prosecuted, because today, Mollie Clark, the squaw, went to the jail and was married to him. Inasmuch as a wife need not testify against her husband, the state had no case against Cornwall, and he was released for his honeymoon.
Mollie Clark, that was, is a full-blooded Cascade. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Charles N. Nellor. Mrs. Cornwall is 50 years old. Her husband is 25.

VOLTURNO, STILL AFIRE, IS SIGHTED BY LINER

St. Louis Passed Her Three Days After She Was Abandoned; Hulk a Menace.

(By the International News Service.)
New York, Oct. 18.—The Uranium liner Volturmo is still burning in mid-ocean, according to Captain Jamison of the American liner St. Louis, who arrived here today. He reported that he passed the Volturmo three days after she was abandoned.
The ill-fated ship had drifted from latitude 48-28; longitude 84-33 to latitude 48-7; longitude 85-4. This is in a northeasterly direction and into the middle of the steamship lane. A British warship has been sent out to destroy the hulk.

BRITAIN LOOMS UP AS SUPPORTER OF DICTATOR HUERTA

Close Alliance Between Lord Cowdray's Oil Interests and Mexican Executive Begins to Make Itself Evident.

POWERS DIVIDED AS TO ATTITUDE TO HUERTA

Confirmation of His Resigna- tion Is Lacking—Germany Calls Diplomats Meeting.

(By the International News Service.)
Washington, D. C., Oct. 18.—No confirmation has been received at the state department of the rumors current today that General Huerta had resigned the presidency of Mexico. A long dispatch received from Charge d'Affaires O'Shaughnessy, however, made it clear that the Huerta administration has received its greatest encouragement from the British minister in Mexico City and the British interests throughout the republic. These important things are set forth in Mr. O'Shaughnessy's message:
The British colony in Mexico City and British moneyed interests elsewhere in Mexico are standing by Huerta and the Huerta government.
The British minister has adopted as his the views of the British people on the situation possibly on the advice of his home government. The minister holds that when Huerta resigns, the British government should be a man who would take care of British interests in Mexico, as Huerta has done.
Oil Influence Is Felt.
The belief of administration officials here is that Great Britain is asserting a domination over the diplomatic corps in Mexico City, and is ignoring the United States because this government has not shown an inclination to consult with the other.
Ambassador Cardon's evident personal pique and Lord Cowdray's English syndicate's control of vast Mexican oil holdings were considered significant facts influencing events in diplomatic meetings in Mexico City.
Great Britain, Japan, Spain and most of the important South and Central

WOMAN SHOT DOWN BY HUSBAND; MAY BE FATALLY INJURED

Charles Haas Wounds Wife and Another Man, Then Flees; Police on Trail.

Charles Haas, a meat cutter employed by the Jones Meat company, shot his wife in the abdomen and William Hill in the side last evening at the Hill residence, 400 East Emerson street, where the woman has been hiding from her husband the past 10 days. The woman was taken to the Good Samaritan hospital, where City Physician Ziegler and Dr. R. J. Marsh operated upon her. The physicians report she has a fighting chance for her life. Hill's injuries are not serious. Haas had not been captured at midnight.
Hill and the Haas family have been friends for 25 years, both men being employed by the same concern. Haas worked under Hill at the market. For the last three years, Haas has had more or less trouble, being taken to Denver, Col., nine months ago to face a larceny charge, but the accusation was dropped. His wife has been working at the Oregon

KING WILL INVEST MILLION FOR PRINCE

Returns From Lancaster Duchy to Pay for Securities.

London, Oct. 18.—King George will shortly invest more than $1,000,000 in stocks and bonds for the benefit of the Prince of Wales. The purchase will be made in the name of Leopold De Rothschild, who has lately become associated with the conduct of the financial affairs of the royal family. The money represents accumulated revenues from the duchy of Lancaster, which is the property of the Prince of Wales, but the latter will not have complete control of the income, until he reaches his majority.

THAW'S COUNSEL FILES BRIEF OF "INSIDE FACTS"

Information Includes Disclosure by Dutchess County Grand Jurymen.

Concord, N. H., Oct. 18.—Counsel for Harry K. Thaw filed today a brief with Governor Parker giving the so-called "inside facts" of the effort on the part of William D. Ingram to secure an indictment charging conspiracy against Thaw. The remarkable part of the brief is that it contains information which must almost of necessity have come from members of the "Fishbone county grand jury" before whom the indictment was sought.
