

WITH REST OF COUNCIL ON STANDARDIZATION

System, He Declares, Is Unfair in Matter of Cutting and Raising Salaries.

Refusing to agree to the salary standardization fixed for city employees, stating that the system was unfair, inasmuch as those holding small positions and those holding large positions holding other positions had their raised, C. A. Bigelow, commissioner of finance, did not favor the standardization scheme when it came up for discussion yesterday afternoon.

It was remarked by one of the members of the council that he could not see why Commissioner Bigelow should attempt to interfere with the handling of departments other than his own in the matter of salary revisions. To this Commissioner Bigelow replied that he, under the charter, was equally responsible as those who had changed the department affected, but that if the city attorney could fix it up and the provision removed from the charter, he would have nothing further to do with any department but his own.

The new system means a chopping off of more than $15,000 a year in the salaries of the 1500 city employees. About two thirds of the employees are cut, while in extreme cases good sized raises are made. Commissioner Bigelow stated that these raises were too high, in proportion to the cuts made in salaries of other employees.

Upon the recommendation of the chiefs of the fire department it was agreed that the three-zone system, together with the various classifications, should go into effect. It was held that the fire chiefs to work out final plans for the establishment of the fire companies into their respective zones.

Among the salaries Commissioner Bigelow wanted to have changed so that they would be more evened up, he says, were those of Hattie Turner and C. R. Davis of the health department. In the classification it was held to raise Mrs. Turner's salary to $1200 a year instead of the present salary of $1140, and that of Davis to $1140 instead of $1120.

Commissioner Bigelow intimated yesterday that he was opposed to the information bureau now presided over by Miss Nina Smith. He has stated that when the position is taken up on the budget work he will ask that it be eliminated. Miss Smith has held the position only a few weeks, the position having been created by ordinance some time ago.

ATTACK IS MADE UPON WORKINGMEN'S BILL BY WOMAN SPEAKER

The office of a firm of personal injury lawyers, that the passage of the bill was an ambition of Governor West and was prepared by a commission of real-estate men. Mrs. Miller cast the only dissenting vote when the question was put.

Plans for a campaign for funds to perpetuate the Parent's Educational Bureau were discussed this morning, after a report on the past work and on the organization had been made. The committee in charge of the bureau had been ratified. A committee was authorized to suggest plans for securing funds for its perpetuation that will report before adjournment is taken.

There also came up a discussion regarding legislation to provide for the support by the father, of children born out of wedlock, give the child the name of the father and make the child a legal heir.

The matter was referred to the legislative committee. During this discussion, it was announced that the organization had a three-week-old baby girl to find a home for, and members were urged to aid the committee to find a place for the infant.

Interest was manifested in the reports of the various committees. Mrs. R. E. Bondurant, of the dependent widow pension bill committee, reviewed the success of the committee in establishing a widow's pension bill and putting it into operation.

Fair Committee Reports.—The report of the state fair committee was made by Mrs. Harriet Hendy, and Mrs. J. D. Sullivan presented the report of the parents' educational bureau committee. This was signed by Mrs. W. W. Williams, Mrs. H. C. Bransford, Mrs. H. R. Abbe, Mrs. E. A. Sessions and Mrs. J. D. Sullivan. It was after the reading of her report that the campaign for funds was discussed.

In the report by Mrs. W. J. Hawkins, for the city parent-teacher circles, the alleged peculiar attitude of the school board before the appointment of Superintendent L. R. Alderman was commented on and blamed for failure to extend the work to any marked degree. The attitude of Mr. Alderman was highly commended, however, and great hopes expressed for the coming year.

Reports from out of town circles were made by Mrs. J. W. Thatcher of Wichita, Mrs. Charles Brady of Ashland, Mrs. Hugh E. Fitzgerald of Hammond, Mrs. Clara E. Harrison of Portland, Mrs. A. B. Denny of Beaverton, Mrs. Lillian Clark of Clackamas, Mrs. Robinson of Jennings, Delos, and Mrs. G. W. Evans of McMinnville. In every case the work done in the past year was reviewed and the successes commented upon.

Mrs. W. W. Usher of Ashland, Or., presided at the meeting session. Papers Are Read.—Yesterday afternoon's session, over which Mrs. A. King Wilson presided, was devoted for the most part to the reading of papers on various topics of interest to the association. Mrs. J. A. Allen Gilbert talked on "Spiritual Training in the Home," Mrs. C. A. Ward on "Modern Methods of Educating Our Best Children," Josephine Hammond of Reed College on "New Lamps and Candles," and Miss Margaret Russell, clad in ceremonial robes discussed the campfire girl movement.

The talk by Mrs. Ward on education of deaf children was the most important talk of the afternoon. For in it she outlined the history of teaching deaf children to speak rather than make

P. R. L. & P. Explains Its Opposition to Selling Six Rides for 25 Cents.

In no year has the Portland Railway, Light & Power company made more than 8 per cent on its investment and many years never realized near that figure was the statement of William J. Hagenah, expert appraiser for the company, at the meeting of a hearing of the company officials before the city council. The hearing was to determine whether the company could afford to sell six street-car rides for 25 cents as proposed by Will H. Daly, commissioner of public utilities. Beyond listening to the various arguments no action was taken by the council.

WILL CONFER WITH S. P. COMPANY HEADS

General Superintendent D. W. Campbell of the Southern Pacific Oregon lines left for the south early today to confer with President William Sproule and Julius Kruttschnitt, chairman of the board of directors. He expects to meet the officials in northern California and go over with them various phases of the absorption of the Portland, Eugene & Eastern's operating and traffic departments.

It is probable that Mr. Kruttschnitt will be in Portland either Saturday or Sunday, when he will confer with President Robert E. Strahorn of the P. E. & E., who retires November 1 in favor of F. L. Burkhalter, division engineer of the Southern Pacific, this morning. He is expected to discuss a reduction of the engineering staff. He said after November 1, all his men would report to Mr. Burkhalter and all the retrenchment rumors mentioned in the past, construction would be discontinued for the winter, to be resumed in the spring.

Crews that have been operating the work trains during the summer have been laid off, it was admitted today at President Strahorn's office.

SEAMEN'S SAFETY BILL PASSED BY THE SENATE

Washington, Oct. 23.—The seamen's safety bill, introduced by Senator La Follette of Wisconsin, was passed by the senate this afternoon.

During the past year, she said, more than 75 per cent of the deaf children in the United States were taught to speak.

A detailed history of the efforts of the various educators who have turned their best efforts to the deaf was given. The needs of Oregon were detailed and it was stated that the next legislature would be asked to make possible the establishment of day schools throughout the state wherever the parents of a sufficient number of deaf children made application for them. The speaker is the mother of a 3-year-old child, and says that through oral methods of instruction in the lip language, her child now understands and understands almost as well as a normal child.

HUERTA IS WARNED NOT TO HARM TWO MADERO BROTHERS

not have recognized Huerta or for withdrawing recognition now, but the activities of its diplomatic representative, Sir Lionel Garden, in Mexico City, continue to excite the nation and threaten the embarrassment to the Washington government.

The members of the diplomatic corps in Mexico City, it has been well known, are anxious for the United States to intervene in the Mexican situation, but with the exception of Sir Lionel, who said plainly that he did not think Americans understood conditions there, none has so expressed himself as to imply any international differences of opinion concerning the wisdom of Washington's noninterference policy.

Contrary to published reports that the navy department had countermanded an order sending four battleships of the Atlantic fleet to the Mediterranean sea and diverted them to Mexican waters was vetoed today by government officials. It was said the warships Virginia, New Jersey, Rhode Island and Nebraska were assigned to service in the Caribbean sea to protect the vessels there now. It was said the four vessels would sail for Vera Cruz October 29.

There were some signs of worry in administrative circles concerning the meeting of the members of the diplomatic corps in Mexico City, scheduled to be held today, at which it was expected Sir Lionel would figure prominently.

Administration Is Approved.—Washington, Oct. 23.—Cipher messages received at the state department today reported the Mexican situation satisfactory. President Wilson and Secretary of State Bryan discussed the matter this afternoon. It was denied that intervention was under consideration. The administration's attitude would remain unchanged, it was said, at any rate, until after Sunday's election, at which time a statement might be issued next week concerning reports of friction between the United States and England.

Administration officials said that such an exists is annoying rather than embarrassing.

Huerta Won't Even Resign.—Mexico City, Oct. 23.—President Huerta will not take the trouble to resign before running to succeed himself at Sunday's election, it was stated unofficially today. The Mexican constitution prohibits anyone from serving two successive terms as president but Huerta was said to consider that, by suspending the chamber of deputies, he suspended the constitution. It was reported that he feared if he turned over his office to anyone else, no matter how seemingly loyal to him, he might have trouble in getting it back.

Louisa B. Rosenthal Accused in Complaint Filed by Deputy District Attorney.

Louisa B. Rosenthal, owner of the Elby company, in whose offices V. H. Johnson alleged he was assaulted recently, is the first to be prosecuted under the law requiring firms receiving more than 10 per cent interest on loans to procure a license from the state banking board. A complaint signed by Johnson was issued this morning by Deputy District Attorney Deitch, and Mrs. Rosenthal is to appear before District Judge Dayton this afternoon for preliminary examination.

According to Johnson, who is now a collector for the independent Laundry company, he borrowed $67.50 from the company about September 10. For this he was required to procure a note for $58.50 from a friend, which included a clerical error and that the name of his brother, the Rev. W. T. Capers of Philadelphia should have been announced.

The question of giving the negroes a preference in the houses of bishops was referred to a commission of five bishops, five presbyteries, and five laymen, which will report in 1914. A plan was adopted for postponing aged clergymen from $500 to $2000 annually.

WATERFRONT TRAGEDY RE-ENACTED IN COURT

To an audience of 13 jurors, Judge Clifton, attorneys, spectators and court attendants, a tragedy was re-enacted yesterday in the trial of Peter Moeller for second degree murder on account of the shooting of Charles A. Broddie on August 23. Mrs. Minnie Broddie, wife of the dead man, was the principal in the scene. Deputy District Attorney Hammerley took the part of the dead husband and Judge Guy H. C. Corliss assumed the role of Moeller, whom he is defending.

At the direction of Mrs. Broddie, Judge Corliss took the revolver which was used in the fatal encounter and assumed the position in which she testified Moeller stood when he drew his revolver. She showed how she had grappled with Moeller that morning, and how he had changed the gun from his left to his right hand, finally shooting her husband. Then she demonstrated how she had wrenched the revolver from him.

This part of her testimony had a dramatic effect on all who witnessed the rehearsal of the tragedy. She spoke in a clear voice and only once broke down, when asked to identify a picture of her husband. Her testimony was given with no show of malice toward Moeller.

Her testimony was to the effect that she and her husband had taken a glass of beer each with Moeller and that she had left to put the baby to sleep. While in their houseboat next to Moeller's she said she heard the shot fired by Moeller which broke a china cup. This she said frightened her and she returned to Moeller's houseboat.

BUDGET KNIFE STILL BUSY

$50,000 More Cut Down From Dieck's Estimate.—Careful pruning by the budget committee yesterday resulted in about $50,000 more being cut from the estimate for Commissioner Dieck's department and $300,000 more from the estimate for the health department. The committee had previously clipped $24,000 from Commissioner Dieck's estimate, and more than $300,000 from the health department budget.

For surveys Commissioner Dieck has asked approximately $16,000, but the committee allowed only $12,000. Nearly $10,000 was eliminated for boiler and elevator inspection service to be met by several thousands of dollars were cut from the estimate for changing dangerous corners, cutting down curbs, extending sewer pipes and many others. The committee is reported to be working with its work. As soon as the preliminary work is finished the committee will take up every item in detail in attempt to do more eliminating.
