

PURCHASER ENTITLED TO FULL WEIGHT AND MEASURE UNDER LAW

State Provides Free Inspection for Benefit of the General Buying Public.

(Salem Bureau of The Journal.)
Salem, Oct. 22.—The short weight scale and the short measure are common if the county sealers of weights and measures carry into effect the provisions of the new law, providing for the inspection of all weights and measures, as instructed by W. G. Buchtel, deputy state sealer, in a pamphlet just issued by him. The law applies to every kind of weight and measure used in commercial dealings.

The county sealers are not appointed simply to test scales, weights and measures, as this law, in addition, requires them to see that all scales, weights and measures are just and accurate; that they are properly used; that all laws relating to weights and measures and to the sale of commodities by weight or measure are observed and followed, thereby insuring protection to both the business interests and the general purchasing public," says Mr. Buchtel.

"The principal object of a law of this nature is to insure, in trade, the giving and receiving of fair value for what is used, and proper testing of apparatus used is the first requisite necessary to obtain this result.

"The county sealer should visit every business place in the county for which he is appointed, where scale, weight or measure is in use for the purpose of trade, and all apparatus should be tested. When found to be accurate, it should be approved by placing the seal upon it in conspicuous place; when found inaccurate or untrue, it should be condemned and the condemning tag attached in such a manner that it will be plainly visible, and interfere with and prevent the use of the scale.

Purchasers' Rights.
"Under this law, a purchaser is entitled to the true net weight or measure of any commodity ordered, at the time the delivery of said commodity is made.

"It is unlawful to include the weight or measure of anything other than that of the commodity being sold, and any person selling any commodity and including in the weight or measure, as a part of the commodity, the weight or measure of any other article, is committing an unlawful act.

"If a purchaser buys a ham, he is entitled to the net weight of the ham and should not be misled by a canvas cover, and several ounces of wrapping paper. He also, is entitled to buy the ham at its true weight at the time of sale, and not what it did weigh one, two or three months before, and this applies to the sale of all commodities that are subject to a loss or gain in weight while in storage or being held for the purpose of sale.

"While the loss of one, two or three ounces in weight, in any certain sale and to a single person, may not amount to much to him, individually, in the aggregate, the loss to the general purchasing public is very large, and for this reason the sealer should give his close attention to this practice, and insist that purchasers receive the true net weight of all commodities purchased.

About the wood.
"In the delivery of wood, it is the duty of the sealer, on request, to measure the wood delivered, and if a less amount than 128 cubic feet of well piled wood for each and every cord purchased, is delivered, he should bring criminal action against the person responsible for the delivery of the short measure. You are advised that wood piled in the manner commonly known as bulk-heading is not well piled. Bulk-heading causes a loss to the purchaser of from 15 to 25 per cent to the cord, and, where used, a sufficient amount of extra wood should be delivered to cover the loss in the bulk-heading. You are also advised that where wood is purchased by the cord, with the request that it be sawed, that it shrinks. If a cord of the average four foot wood is sawed and repiled, the measurement of the repiled wood will show a loss of 12 cubic feet. In other words, if you order from a wood dealer one cord of four foot wood, and request that he saw and deliver it; if you receive 118 cubic feet of the sawed wood, you have what you paid for.

"On the sale of coal or of ice by weight, the sealer should, on request, where the conditions justify, reweigh

AMERICAN BOARD OF CATHOLIC MISSIONS PROPOSED AT BOSTON

Need of Central Organization to Carry on Work Is Expressed at Congress.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Boston, Oct. 22.—That a central committee in charge of Roman Catholic missions in America will result from the efforts of the Catholic Church Extension Society was the opinion expressed by delegates to the church's missionary congress, who, following adjournment of all but a few sectional meetings, were beginning to leave for home today.

Extension society recently appointed a committee to investigate, among other things, why less money is bequeathed to Catholic than to Protestant missions. Though this committee has not yet reported, Bishop Canavin of Pittsburgh, one of its members, told the congress he believed the explanation was that there is no particular Catholic mission organization to which to leave money.

There were, of course, missionary organizations, he said, but no central one, and their work frequently overlapped. He favored formation of an "American Board of Catholic Missions."

KRUPP GRAFT SUIT IS A BLOW TO GERMANY
Director and Agent of Great Gun Works Accused of Bribing Army Officers.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Berlin, Oct. 22.—Nominally it was Max Brandt and Herr Von Eolcus who were put on trial in the criminal court today, charging with graft in connection with army contracts, but really the title of the case should have been "the German government against Krupp."

Karl Liebknecht, the Socialist leader, opened the Krupp scandal in the Reichstag last spring by making public many secret reports said to have been made by non-commissioned officers in the war ministry to the Krupps to keep them informed concerning their rivals' bids on military supplies.

A court martial sent four of the accused officers to prison. Today it was the Krupps' turn. Brandt was their agent in Berlin. He was accused of doing the actual bribing. Eolcus is a director of the Krupp works. He was accused of having guilty knowledge of the transactions.

or cause to be reweighed, the amount delivered, and where a less amount has been delivered than ordered or paid for, criminal action should be instituted against the person responsible for the shortage.
