

CONSTRUCTION IS KEYNOTE OF TALK BY THE PRESIDENT

At Rededication of Old Congress Hall, Philadelphia, He Says Government Must Alter as Well as Establish.

LAUDS "BROADER VIEW" OF THE UNITED STATES

"Anyone Too Intent on Re-election Is Seldom Worth 'Reelecting.'"

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 25.—President Wilson today, evidently desiring to give his hearers the impression that he is a man doing his duty now as he sees it and is willing to let his future take care of itself, President Wilson today enunciated a new program:

"The president who is too intent on re-election is seldom worth re-electing." Making two speeches, greeting thousands of people in a down-pour of rain, and planting a tree on Swarthmore campus, the president was tired when he left for Mobile, Ala. President Wilson came to Philadelphia to attend the rededication of Congress hall, recently restored to its original form.

"The fundamental business of self-government," he said, in one speech, "is not only to establish, but to alter, so our business today is as great as that of those gentlemen who sat in Congress Hall a hundred years ago. They taught us not what to do, but how to do it."

Business Good of All

In his address in Congress Hall, on the spot on which Washington, Adams and Jefferson were inaugurated, the president gave notice that whatever the effects, he would carry out his plan "with high principle, unselfishness and a desire for the good of all the people."

At Swarthmore college the president strode down the tree-lined avenues between lines of students, all carrying their class and college colors, to a great tent, where the Founders' day exercises were being held. Previously he had shoveled a little spadeful of dirt on the roof of a miniature oak.

The president was immensely delighted with the enthusiastic reception he received in Philadelphia. The whole route from Broad street to the historic old building was jammed with a crowd that roared and waved a noisy welcome, despite the steady downpour of rain. When he arose to speak, he had to wait five minutes before the applause died away.

CENTRAL BANK PLAN, SPRUNG AT ELEVENTH HOUR, FOUGHT BY OWEN

Chairman of Senate Committee Questions Good Faith of Those Who Revive Scheme.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 25.—Chairman Owen of the senate committee on banking and currency today announced his purpose to end any attempt of his committee to provide for a central bank in the measure now under consideration. Mr. Owen has just returned from Boston where he made an address on the currency question.

"The Democratic party always has been against a central bank," declared Mr. Owen. "In everything he has said and done the president, in line with his party, has opposed that suggestion. Were he now to accept this plan so suddenly pre-announced upon the committee he would stab himself. President Wilson never will do that."

"Does it not seem strange that here, on almost the very last day of the hearings before the senate committee this central bank plan under its cloak of public ownership should be dragged in? What is the purpose? Is it to befog the situation and complicate matters in the hope of postponing legislation or indefinitely delaying action by congress?"

Sentiment Against Bank.
I don't think the sentiment of the majority of the committee is for the proposed central bank plan. I can speak only for myself. If such a plan is reported to the senate I should fight it with all the power I have to the bitter end. However, I don't want such a contingency. I believe we will have a bill that will meet with favor in both houses and one that the president will approve and that will afford the country the relief it so badly needs.

Although a majority of the members of the committee believe that a publicly owned central bank as outlined by Mr. Vanderlip, with sufficient branches to care for the needs of so large a territory as is embraced within the 48 states of the union, would be a satisfactory solution of the pending problem, it is not probable that such a solution will be written into the bill. Expediency alone will compel this, for the president and the public will not accept it, and currency legislation of a proper

NEW HAVEN TRAIN IS WRECKED; NO DEATHS

Gilt Edge Express Jumps Track Near Westerly, Rhode Island.

Westerly, R. I., Oct. 25.—Several persons were injured when the Gilt Edge express, New York to Boston, composed of two parlor cars, two coaches, a smoking car and baggage car, was wrecked here tonight on the New Haven railroad.

The accident, caused supposedly by a broken rail, occurred two miles east of here, where there is a 16-foot embankment. The two coaches left the ties, but all the cars remained upright.

The train was heavily loaded and was traveling 35 miles an hour. The wreck caused a panic among the passengers and the first reports received here indicated that there was a heavy loss of life. This caused relief trains to be ordered from New London and Providence.

The railroad officials on the scene reported at midnight that no one was seriously injured.

LOCAL LUMBERMEN GLAD TO FURNISH HUGE LOGS

Chairman Clark of Oregon Exposition Commission, Receives Enthusiastic Support.

Lumbermen representing practically all the mills of the Willamette and Columbia rivers yesterday pledged aid most enthusiastically to the movement to see that the state's buildings at the Panama-Pacific exposition, are built of Oregon wood, with great tree trunks for pillars. The proposition was broached at a meeting of the Pacific Lumber Inspection bureau, which entertained at luncheon at the Commercial club, at which O. M. Clark acted as toastmaster.

The lumbermen promised to see that the best specimens of timber are provided for the Oregon building and several talks along that line were made. Mr. Clark urged that this was an opportunity to advertise Oregon wood to the best possible advantage, and the members were keen to express their appreciation of the fact of exhibiting the lumber in this celebration of the fact that the Luman-Poulsen Lumber company has recently affiliated with the bureau.

SEATTLE HOLDUP MAN OPERATES IN DAYLIGHT

Robs Cash Drawer in Office Building Then Mingles With Crowd.

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 25.—Boldly entering the office of the Transcontinental Freight Company, 325 Alaska building, a 15-story office building in the busiest part of the city, a polished young man, well dressed, and using a silk handkerchief to hide the lower part of his face, shortly before 1 o'clock this afternoon, held up Miss A. C. Anderson, a stenographer in the employ of the concern, and robbed the cash drawer of its contents.

He then bade the girl goodbye and departed without being noticed by others about the building. The thief quickly mingled with the hundreds of persons who were going in and out of the building and was lost in the crowd.

CUSTOMS OFFICIALS RAID WOMEN'S HATS

Mattinee Goes From Across Border Lose Plummage in Detroit.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 25.—Customs officials today seized more than $5000 worth of aigrets and osprey plumes from Canadian matinee goers who crossed from Windsor to visit local theatres. Many tearful scenes ensued in the customs offices when the beautiful plumes were ruthlessly cut from fall bonnets. Some returned to Canada rather than lose their millinery during the visit.

Market Reports

Every stock broker has a ticker in his office to keep him informed on the market; the produce man follows the crop reports and merchants their trade journals; by doing this they always know when and where it pays to buy. You have your market report in The Journal Want Ads; it covers all lines. It is worth your while to study your report as carefully as the stockbrokers, produce men and merchants study theirs.

Under "Household Goods" in today's Classified Section you will find everything from oak chairs for children, to linoleum, and all at very low prices. One ad, for example, reads:

SOLID oak chairs for children 75 cents.

If you feel charitable don't read under "Household Goods"; let some one else save money. If a dollar saved means a dollar earned to you, they study the column.

KINGMAN SAYS MILLION IS ENOUGH FOR YEAR'S WORK ON COLUMBIA BAR

Chief of Engineers in Favor of Increasing Chinook's Capacity With More Pumps.

Washington, Oct. 25.—Chief of Engineers D. C. Kingman, wrote Senator Chamberlain today regarding the improvement of the Columbia river at its mouth, saying that the question of expediting the completion of the improvement is being given very careful attention.

The letter is in reply to letters from the Portland Realty Board, Dr. Alfred Kinney and Senator Chamberlain.

It is based on the recent supplementary report by Major McIntosh as well as other data in the office of the chief of engineers.

It is believed that $1,000,000 is all the cash that will be required in the next river and harbor act, available July 1, 1914.

"As you are aware," says General Kingman's letter, "it is generally impracticable to work on the jetty or bar during the winter months, the work closing about December 1. After the river and harbor act becomes a law, it will take at least two months to prepare specifications for any work which may be authorized by the act, advertise it, and make the necessary contracts and give the contractor reasonable time to begin the delivery of stone under his new contract.

"Work under the appropriation will therefore probably not be in active prosecution much, if any, before September 1, 1914, and even with the greatest possible pushing of the work it does not seem possible that more than 1,000,000 will be required between that time and March 1915, assuming as stated above, that active operations will not be carried on after December 1.

"However, should the act contain a continuous contract authorization as referred, there would be no limit to the work that the work could be prosecuted.

The question of increasing the dredg-

ONE PER CENT TAX WILL BE DEDUCTED BY U. S. AT SOURCE OF INCOME

Income Exemption of $3000 Does Not Apply to Bonds and Mortgages, Is Ruling.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 25.—Secretary McAdoo of the treasury today approved regulations prepared by Internal Revenue Commissioner Osborn for the deduction of the income tax at the source of interest deriving from bonds, notes and other similar obligations of corporations, joint stock companies or associations, and insurance companies.

The normal tax of 1 per cent under the law is to be deducted at the source beginning November 1 from all incomes accruing and payable to every citizen of the United States, whether residing at home or abroad and to every person residing in the United States, although not a citizen, when that income is derived from interest on bonds and mortgages, deeds of trusts or other similar obligations, equipment, trust agreements, receivers' certificates of corporations and joint stock companies or associations and insurance companies, although such interest does not amount to $3000, the limit of income exemption.

City Bonds Exempted.
Excluding from these interest returns all amounts of interest derived from obligations of the United States, its possessions, or a state, city or county.

The corporation or its paying agent in the United States is classed as "debtor" under the regulations and will be responsible for this normal tax return and its withholding, bank institutions or individuals taking coupons for collection being relieved of such responsibility where the coupons or orders for registered interest are accompanied by certificates of ownership signed by the owners of the bonds from which the coupons were detached.

A form of certificate is prescribed in the regulations, interest on which is accompanied by such certificates the collecting agency will withhold the tax of one per cent and shall certify the name and address of the owner of the coupon of

EIGHT HOUR LAW AS IT APPLIES TO STATE IS TO BE TESTED

Board of Control Requests That Labor Commissioner Start Suit.

Salem, Or., Oct. 25.—The State Board of Control today requested Labor Commissioner O. P. Hoff to bring suit against the board to test the question of whether the eight hour law applies to the employees at state institutions. If the courts should hold that it does apply to the institutions, it is stated that no one of the institutions would have sufficient appropriation to carry it through next year without a deficiency.

The governor has said that it might be necessary even to call a special of the legislature to provide for the emergency.

Several days ago the labor commissioner informed the board that the eight hour law was being violated at the state institutions. The commissioner held that the law applies to all persons employed by the state coming under the designation of labor. This probably would include the farm hands, dairymen, cooks, waiters, chauffeurs, etc., many of whom not only work more than eight hours a day, but who are on duty seven days a week.

Board's Position.
The members of the state board took the position that the law applies only to contract work, and does not apply to the regular employees at the institutions.

In the letter to the labor commissioner the board quotes sections four and five of the law in the latter of which says:

"Eight hours shall constitute a day's labor in all cases where the state is the employer of labor, either directly or indirectly, by contract with another."

"The above two sections," says the letter, "cover the same ground and as the board construes them, mean simply that when the state enters into a contract, directly or through another, for the construction of a building or the performance of any piece of work eight hours shall constitute a day's work."

"The board has followed strictly the letter of the law as thus construed, since its passage and, even prior to its

Huerta Swaying Vote U. S. to Warn Europe

AMERICA'S POLICY AWAIT'S OUTCOME OF THE ELECTION

Affirmation of Monroe Doctrine and Repudiation of Huerta Are Expected to Be Made by Administration.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Washington, D. C., Oct. 25.—President Wilson will announce within the next 48 hours whether or not he recognizes the existence of any government at all in the republic of Mexico. The election will be held tomorrow.

Secretary of State Bryan will spend all day Sunday at the state department taking charge of the news for the president who will be on his way to Mobile.

Special Envoy John Lind, charge d'affaires O'Shaughnessy and every consular official in Mexico have been instructed to report the events of tomorrow and the outlook to the state department.

Keen interest was manifested today in the announcement from Paris that the various European powers were exchanging views on the Mexican situation with the object of outlining proper means for the protection of the interests of their subjects after tomorrow's election. This was considered especially interesting in view of the avowed intention of the administration to reiterate the determination of this government to oppose any interference by other nations in Mexican affairs.

While it has become known that the president's policy of insisting that the European powers shall not interfere in Mexico is disapproved by certain state department officials, it is interesting to note that Senator Bacon, chairman of the senate committee on foreign relations, in discussing the Mexican situation today in Philadelphia, upheld the president's policy, saying that England, the interests of the United States in Mexico are infinitely greater than those of the other great powers of the earth. The sending of war ships by other governments is recognized.

MONTEREY CAPTURED BY REBELS AFTER TEN DAYS' CONSTANT FIRE

Several Million Dollars Worth of Property Damaged; Loss of Life Heavy.

El Paso, Tex., Oct. 25.—The city of Monterey, capital of the state of Nuevo Leon and one of the most important strategic points in Mexico, has been captured by the rebels after a 10 days' siege. The city fell yesterday noon, but the confirmation of the early capture was not telegraphed from Monterey until today.

A terrific fire from machine guns was poured into the city for 24 hours, according to reports, and many persons were killed and wounded, while damage to the extent of several million dollars has been done to property.

The rebel force attacking Monterey was commanded by Pablo Gonzales and numbered 2000. Colonel Contreras formed a flank with 1000 veterans of Forson and Carrasco and the same well armed troops. The federal garrison numbered about 2000.

According to the report received here General Mails and Telles with their first forces, were defeated as they hurried to the assistance of Monterey.

The first skirmish occurred at Morales a short distance from the city of Monterey on October 15. The rebels were victorious in this and the insurgent forces then divided, one body rushing to Monterey from the west, another from the east and one band got into the city by using the line of the International Colocational and provincial governor Carrasco and were driven back into Mazatlan with heavy casualties.

The federals are also besieged at Guaymas, and still holding that port, but the revolutionists are steadily strengthening their forces and a final attack on Guaymas is expected to occur in a few days.

General Y. Carranza, the head of the Constitutional and provisional government of Mexico for them, is here and has just appointed three provisional members of his ministry. They are General Ahuero, minister of war; Francisco Escudero, minister of state, and Rafael Zubaran, minister of the interior.

The appointment of five other ministers will follow soon. Provisional governors of several revolutionary states are conferring with Carranza.

Serrano Calero, brother of Manuel Calero, candidate for president, is here on a mission more or less mysterious. He comes via Paris, France, and says he wants to join the rebel forces, but rebel leaders doubt this.

DIAS BOARDS SPECIAL BUT CHANGES MIND; REMAINS AT VERA CRUZ

Huerta Sends Emissary and Train to Bring General to Capital; Guest Is Reluctant.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Vera Cruz, Mexico, Oct. 25.—After hesitating all day whether to obey the command of Dictator Huerta that he come to Mexico City at once, General Felix Diaz went so far as to climb on board the special train of a locomotive and two Pullmans provided by Huerta to take him to the capital, but halted it before it had left the railroad yards.

He will not leave Vera Cruz now until tomorrow morning, at the earliest. "Everything will turn out satisfactorily," was the message sent to Diaz by Huerta. In a letter borne by General Vidaurra.

General Diaz said that Vidaurra brought him a personal communication from Huerta, in which the provisional president asked him to come to Mexico City and be with him tomorrow. Diaz followed were opposed to his going at all, but Diaz insisted that he wanted to please the president.

The special train did not leave the railroad yards until it had pulled away from the platform at 9 o'clock. At 11 o'clock there appeared to be some hitch. The general believed that Diaz at the last moment weakened in his decision to obey Huerta's command that he go to Mexico City. It was evident that he was hesitating for some reason, which he did not care to give out. His chief advisers, however, shortly before midnight, said that he probably would make good his announced determination and would go before morning.

At midnight, Diaz announced that he had finally decided not to leave until 7:30 o'clock Sunday morning, when he said he would go to Mexico City, accompanied by his wife. The special train, however, was still held in readiness.
