

WOOL MARKET QUIET IN BOSTON WITH BUT SMALL VOLUME TRADE

Total Transactions for the Week Are but Little Above 2,000,000 Pound Marks; Most Business is Showing in Domestic Fleeces.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 25.—Wool market for the past week in the Boston market is estimated at only a little over 2,000,000 pounds.

Transfers have been almost entirely of domestic wools. Opinions differ as to prices. Some dealers report values a little easier, while others claim to be getting fully as much now as before the passage of the Underwood bill.

Manufacturers are showing some interest in buying moderate quantities of actual sales of goods. Foreign wool show only scattering sales according to the present quiet market.

BUTTER MARKET GETS A JOLT FOR PRINTS

City and Country Creamery Interests in Combat for Control of the Local Trade.

The last day of the week showed the resumption of the conflict between the city creameries and country makers. The price of butter in prints was forced to the center of the market.

POSSIBILITY OF NEW "LID" FOR MARSHFIELD

Marshfield, Or., Oct. 25.—While city politics has so far been quiet, the campaign is now starting. That there will be a marked division of parties is evident by the cutting of a new party.

The call for the meeting for the organization of a civic league is the outgrowth of a banquet held by the Brotherhood of Churches, so it is likely the league will favor a closed town. It is believed that a direct wet and dry vote will be brought about in Marshfield as soon as possible.
