PUBLIC MEETING TO BE HELD NOVEMBER 5 TO DISCUSS BUDGET Patrolman Induces Her to

City Officials Will Explain How City's Money Is to Be Expended.

With the preliminary work of the dget committee about finished and a various estimated appropriations out down to conform with last year's stimates so that the tax levy will not be more than 7.7 mills, as was last pear's, plans were made this morning by the budget committee for the first public hearing to be held Wednesday. November 5, in the city hall. At the bearing the public will be given an op-portunity to learn just what every dol-lar is used for in running the city gov-

The largest item clipped this morning by the committee was $150,000, the estinated interest on improvement bonds alling due during 1914. Last year ap-roximately $175,000 was appropriated rom the general fund to care for the rest payments, as it was thought at the time there would be an insufficient unt paid into the city treasury by erty owners who had their assessnt bonded. During the last few nths, however, those who were behind their bonded assessments install-nts were compelled to pay the amount due or have their property sold, and in this manner considerable money was with the clipping off of the $150,000 for interest it will mean that hereafter the city will compel payments by property owners when the installments ar due, and in this way care for the pay-ment of interest on improvement bonds, as it is figured that there will be only during 1914.

On the completion of the pruning this orning it was found that the $700,000 would have to be clipped from the budget estimate to keep the levy down to 7.7 mills had been eliminated. Estimates are to be secured immediately from the heads of the city departments of the amounts that will be necessary of the amounts that will be necessary during the month of November. Included in these will be the claims coming in and which have direct bearing on the amount to be raised by taxation.

Although it has been definitely determined that the levy will be kept down to 7.7 mills, which will include the estimates for the dock commission, the sail-es for the dock commission, the estimate of that commission may be cut considerably at a meeting to be held beween members of the commission and the budget committee.

While it has not been definitely deermined, it is thought that with the mills tax levy there will be enough mey to care for the regular expenses of the city, and enough more to care for the $15,000 to be used for a municipal detention and industrial home for unfor-tunate women. This $15,000 is to be used in the preliminary work, and does not mean that the home can be fully built and equipped for that amount. Mayor Albee plans to put in an appropriation each year until the home is firmly established.

DETERMINE EFFICIENCY Employes Will Be Checked Closely Each Day.

with the new efficiency system for city employes taking effect probably December 1, cards will be given to each employe on which must be specified the amount of work done daily. On the amount or quantity and quality of work done will be given marks to be used as efficiency basis.

done will be given marks to be used as efficiency basis.

An attempt will be made, it is said, to put the system in effect for the water department before December 1, so that it can be determined who are to be retained January 1, when sweeping changes are to be made in the department. On that date Commissioner Daly expects to put his plan of collecting water rentals quarterly into effect, and it will mean that of the large force about 20 men will be dropped.

According to officials of the water department, discharging 20 men would mean that those who have been hired the most recently would be the first to go, while they are among the most efficient. With the new efficiency system in effect, however, it may be possible to retain the capable and discharge inefficients, though they may have held the positions for years.

Mayor Albee Figures on Establishing Broom Factory.

Arrangements were made this morning by Mayor Albee with the Standard Broom company of Montavilla to try out his plan of giving blind persons opportunity to learn the broom-making opportunity to learn the broom-making of the question was trade. While this at present is in no tion on New York states as a municipal scheme, if the mayor finds out that it is gractical he will probably agitate that a factory be established under city supervision. He against further delay. received assurance from the factory of-ficials this morning that those who are blind and wish to learn the trade will be given opportunity to start immediately. Plans for handling these people have not been definitely determinel, but this is to be done by officials of the company.

WOMAN EXPIRES IN TAXI ON WAY FROM DEPOT TO HOSPITAL

While being rushed from the North Bank station to St. Vincent's hospital in a taxicab this morning an elderly woman having in har possession a railroad ticket signed, "Mrs. Nell A. Smith," died of heart failure before the hospital was reached. The woman, who was about 65 years old and apparently of German extraction, alighted from a Spokane train at the North Bank station and was suddenly taken ill. She was attended by Gity Phylsician Fred J. Ziegler, who ordered her sent to the hospital. She was dead before the cab reached the institution.

WOMAN IS DISSUADED FROM ENDING HER LIFE

Abandon Idea of Committing Suicide.

Mrs. Emma Cochran, mother of 10 children, of whom five are living, went to the police station yesterday afternoon to write a farewell note before committing suicide. From Patrolman Ernest Johnson court officer and bailiff, she borrowed a pencil with which to write the letter. of her intentions, the woman returned the pencil to Johnson, who suspected all was not well. In answering his questions she told of her plans to jump from the Morrison street bridge. She gave up the notes, promising to not carry out her intentions. The jail matron took charge of the woman. It is charged that Cochran has abused his wife for several months. He is em-ployed by the Damascus Creamery com-

One note written by the woman at the station reads:
"I am tired of life, so will go to my death. God knows my life. Tell them all good-bye for me. You will find my body in the river at Morrison street."

The second note spoke of a desire to see her 1-year-old baby. The children are in the care of the juvenile court. A warrant is out for the arrest of Cochran on a charge of assault and battery, while the woman is being cared for at the city tell.

COMMISSION FORM OF GOVERNMENT CHEAPER IS DIECK'S ASSERTION

Present Administration Should Not Be Charged With Expenses Inherited.

The charges made that the commission form of government is proving more expensive than the old form are unjustifiable, according to Robert G. Dieck, commissioner of public works, at a discussion meeting held last night in the First Unitarian church, at the close the First Unitarian church, at the close of the regular services. Figures to bear out his statements were produced by Commissioner Dieck, who carefully explained the expenditures for his de-

Those who had made the charges that the commission form was proving more expensive and who had gathered some figures to prove their point, have not, according to Commissioner Dieck, taken into consideration the claims due from councilmanic form. These claims, amounting to several thousand dollars, had to be paid and should not be in-cluded in the regular running expenses of the city government, he pointed out.

In the department of public works, according to the commissioner, back claims alone amounted to more than $5500. Credited against the general $5500. Credited against the general fund were 13 claims, amounting in all to $2127.92, and against the street repair fund 14 claims, amounting to $3433.85. Mr. Dleck said that these claims, while included in the expense of the city government, could not be considered as to any extra expense having been contracted for prior to the taking effect of the new charter.

With all of the claims taken care of and the work thoroughly systematized, it will not be many months, said Mr. it will not be many months, said Mr. Dieck, before the city would be running much cheaper than ever before under the old system. Pointing out the need of appropriations for the department of public works, Mr. Dieck told of the new plans contemplated for 1914. He told of the dangers now existing from danger curves, an improper highway scheme

There are four major features to b considered in municipal engineering, said the commissioner, that are abso-lutely necessary. These are the water supply, sewerage, building construction considerable time will be necessary before a perfect plan is completed. He told of the new problems confronting the department of public works and ex plained the new procedure of handling bonded improvements for street work.

WOMEN ARE WELCOME

AS PARTICIPANTS IN BRIDGE DAY PAGEANT Portland Man to Study Its

Committee Discusses Big Parade Which Is to Bring the Campaign to End.

Women's organizations of Portland are to be just as welcome in the "bridge day" parade as are men's, according to a decision reached today at a luncheon at which the parade was discussed by the pageant committee.

The secretary of the bridge committee was instructed to send specific in-vitations to the various women's clubs, though arrangements for automobiles in which the women may ride probably will be left to the organizations them-

It was reported that several depart ment stores had promised to be repre-sented in the parade with floats, and that plenty of music would be provided by bands and orchestras.

After the luncheon the committee went to the city hall for a conference with Mayor Albee and the commission-ers relative to the city's official repre-sentation in line and a half holiday for city employes.

The committee asks that business houses wishing to be represented in the parade notify the interstate bridge head-quarters in the Commercial Club building, so the committee will know definitely how to organise the parade.

W. J. Clemens, grand marshal of the day, went over the tentative line of march today to be sure no obstructions would interfere with the itinerary, as announced in The Journal yesterday.
