

BISHOP BRENT FINDS TREE DWELLING MORO IN NEED OF CIVILIZING

National Committee to Help Uplift Wards of the Nation in Philippines.

(Special to The Journal.)
New York, Nov. 3.—Right Reverend Charles H. Brent, Episcopal bishop of the Philippines, who is attending the Episcopal convention in New York, returns to the Philippine Islands on November 8 to continue his life consecrated work among the Moro tribes. Bishop Brent, who is a great believer in the possibilities among these queer little brown people of the Philippine Islands, who subsist on camotes and corn, wear no garments, and make their homes in tree tops, will before his departure receive a splendid recognition: the self-sacrificing work he has already accomplished in the Philippine Islands. His friends in this country have just completed an organization which is known as the National Committee for Uplifting Wards of the Nation. This national committee is working under the auspices of the Harmony club of America, which has a membership of several thousand men and women throughout the United States who are interested in uplift work.

On this committee, which is to assist Bishop Brent in his work, are many noted names among which are Francis E. Clark, D. D., president, United Society of Christian Endeavor; Admiral George Dewey, president, general board, U. S. navy; Mrs. Adam Denmead, national president, Daughters of the King; Mrs. Henry M. Fingler; Ralph M. Grant, commander-in-chief, Sons of Veterans, United States; Major Henry L. Higginson, former national president, Daughters of American Revolution; William B. Moody, president Northfield schools; John R. Mott, chairman, International Y. M. C. A. committee; George Wharton Pepper; Mrs. George Shady; Mrs. William G. Slade, president, United States Daughters of 1812; Mr. and Mrs. I. N. Phelps Stokes; Josiah Strong, D. D., president, American league of social service; Mrs. William H. Taft; Mrs. Mary Logan Tucker; Major General Leonard Wood, chief of staff, United States army; Rear Admiral Charles H. Stockton, commander of the Order of Washington; Miss Mabel T. Boardman, chairman, American Red Cross; Eliza B. Masters; Mrs. Corillard Spencer; Mrs. L. L. Funk, national president, Children's Day association; Mrs. P. V. Pennypacker, national president, General Federation of Women's clubs; Mrs. W. Emilen Roosevelt; General Marcus H. Wright, vice commander of the Order of Washington.

Work Is Non-Sectarian.

The national committee, the secretary of which is Kenneth B. Day, and which has its headquarters at 30 Church street, New York city, has for its aim the raising annually a fund of $100,000 to carry on the non-sectarian work that Bishop Brent has planned for the Moro tribes.

Bishop Brent has been in the Philippines since 1901, and has devoted his life to this work in the islands. He has already accomplished great good among these wards of the United States. For instance, in one section families who were dwelling in tree tops, years ago, have comfortable homes in decent villages, and are cutting their grass with American lawn mowers. The telephone, telegraph, sewing machine, automobile, railroad, artesian well, farming tools, and other modern conveniences are increasingly welcomed and used by the natives, who are not devoid of intellectual capacity and have considerable manual dexterity. The math and head work of the women, the brasses and wood work of the men, display artistic ability and have real intrinsic value—even in their crude state.

Bishop Brent's plans take in the social, industrial, educational and evangelic work on the million or more pagan and Moro inhabitants. He hopes to cure them of their chronic ills, such as malaria, hookworm, black fever, and the like, and teach them how to live so as to avoid the tropical diseases so prevalent which are due to climate but to unhygienic habits.

Teach Children Citizenship.

In his educational work Bishop Brent will teach the boys and girls the duties of citizenship, and give them such ethical and moral guidance as will prevent the cruelly and immorally prevalent among their elders. At the present time only a thousand pagan and Moro children out of an estimated total of 300,000 are receiving school advantages. For more than ten years Bishop Brent has toiled, prayed, written and planned to bring about the education and civilization of these Moro savages.

He has been aided by the gifts of money sent from churches and philanthropists in America, by the earnest efforts of civilian, military and naval Americans in the Philippines, and by the loyal devotion of native helpers. Hospitals, homes, industrial schools, a cathedral, and other institutions of civilization have been established, chiefly in the island of Luzon.

To maintain this work and extend it properly, the National Committee for Uplifting Wards of the Nation, which just organized, hopes to be able to provide a guarantee fund of $100,000 a year. Two handsome subscriptions for this fund have already been received from Mrs. Russell Sage and Mrs. William Brewster. While several other large contributions have been pledged, the committee will welcome subscriptions of any amount.

GOVERNOR ASKS FOR SUPPORT OF WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION PLAN of the state and my own ambition is to repay them in such constructive legislation as will remove abuses which have become their burdens and thus make for better government. I regard the workmen's compensation act as one of the greatest steps yet taken in this direction and therefore most earnestly appeal to the working men and women of this state to give it their support.

"Vote 'Yes' and you will not only bring prompt relief to many helpless wives and babes, but to our congested courts and our overburdened taxpayers."

In his appeal State Printer Harris says: "I was one of the three who represented labor in compiling the compensation act. The committee of nine, representing the Grange, the employers and labor, worked with the utmost frankness and perfect harmony in preparing the measure. Concessions were freely made by each of the interests represented, but the greatest concessions by far were made to the wishes of the labor members, and further important concessions were made to them during the consideration of the bill by the legislature.

"Certainly it is not a perfect measure, but experienced men pronounce it the best one in existence up to this date. It is a step forward, a foundation on which to build. Its effect will not in any way retard, but will altogether promote justice to labor and will greatly accelerate the action of public sentiment toward a greater and wider protection of the veterans and martyrs of industry.

Will Be Gossended.

"I have listened as open minded and as conscientiously as any man can to the objections of those of my friends in the labor movement who oppose this measure, and with certain of their arguments I am in hearty accord, but in asking defeat for the measure they are certainly overlooking a very large proportion of unfortunates to whom it will be a godsend.

"It seems to me there should be a willingness on the part of those who are better protected to make some concession to those who are comparatively without protection, particularly so when the latter represent the greater need, if not also the greater number."

jury investigation last spring. The motion also asked that the government turn over the grand jury evidence.

Affidavits Are Filed.

Two affidavits were filed by the government attorneys in reply. One of these was filed by Smyth, stating that a telegram had been received from the attorney general, instructing him to "resist to utmost any motion for order submitting to defendants testimony taken before grand jury."

The inclusion of this telegram in the affidavit Carey took exception to, and in his statement declared that the telegram had been introduced in an effort on the part of the government attorneys to influence the court.

for the Bell interests on the Pacific coast, testified in the hearing before a special examiner there early last month, some of the statements he made conflicted with evidence he had given before the grand jury, according to the grand jury testimony which Mr. Smyth held in his hand, and from which he questioned Pillsbury. It was then that the defendant attorneys made the demand for the grand jury evidence and the papers.

Carey stated this morning that it was necessary in the suit to have a transcript of all evidence presented before the Seattle grand jury last February. He explained that Smyth allowed them to have the Pillsbury testimony before the grand jury, but that he has consistently since that time refused to turn over any of the rest of the grand jury evidence.

Says Government Had Advantage.

The government had all the advantage in preparing the case, stated Carey, in having the files and letters of the company, while the telephone companies were laboring under the disadvantage of not even having their own papers.

Admitting that it was an exception for grand jury proceedings to be made public, he contended "that there was very great need of relaxation of the rule in this case.

"There is no question," he declared, "that the things that were investigated by the grand jury under the criminal section of the Sherman act formed the basis for the civil suit."

"We believe in this country that there is nothing to allow the United States to empoir our files and keep them in secret from the defendants. We must believe that the United States attorney general has issued instructions to keep these records secret."

Spirited denial of this charge was made by Constantine J. Smyth in the argument asking for denial of the motion. Smyth declared that the government was ready at this time to turn over to the defendants copies of their letters, files and contracts, of which there are 200 or more. As for the grand jury evidence, Smyth said, the government was decidedly unwilling to turn over any portion of it.

Decisions Read.

"They (the defendants) have no right to this matter," he declared. "They have distributed nothing to it and have paid none of the expense of securing it. If it was a private plaintiff instead of the government in this case, that plaintiff could not be forced to turn over his private information to the defendant."

Decisions were read to show that the government could not be forced to turn over records of this kind, and that the department of justice cannot be subpoenaed by any court, or that it is subservient to the orders of any court of the land. The grand jury evidence was a part of the private investigation made by the government, maintained by Smyth, and it should not be ordered to turn this record over any more than it should give to every defendant a record of the facts ascertained by a special agent of the department of justice in working up a case, testified in the hearing before a special examiner there early last month, some of the statements he made conflicted with evidence he had given before the grand jury, according to the grand jury testimony which Mr. Smyth held in his hand, and from which he questioned Pillsbury. It was then that the defendant attorneys made the demand for the grand jury evidence and the papers.

INTERSTATE BRIDGE MEASURE ACCORDED UNLIMITED SUPPORT

tages under which the bridge will be built.

Even with the state paid interest and toll and franchise revenue disregarded, the bridge, with its approach at a total cost of $1,750,000, though spanning the second greatest river in the United States, is to cost no more than the Broadway bridge over the Willamette, and less than the new railroad bridge.

The labor unions, grange, commercial organizations, fraternal bodies and civic societies have united in endorsing the bridge. It has been endorsed where political subjects are ordinarily barred. Ministers yesterday preached sermons inviting the members of their congregations to vote for the bridge.

Such unanimity of support is unprecedented. Business judgment, progress and patriotism together dictate, "Vote for the interstate bridge."

BANK MUST DISGORGE BROKERS' SECURITIES

Washington, Nov. 3.—Creditors of Lathrop, Haskins & Co., brokers of New York, who failed for $3,000,000 during the operations of the Hocking Valley pool in the stock market, today won their suit before the supreme court against the National City Bank of New York to force the bank to surrender securities worth $170,000 transferred to the bank just before the firm's suspension three years ago.

JANE ADDAMS TO GIVE MRS. PANKHURST DINNER

Chicago, Nov. 3.—Although Jane Addams recently expressed the opinion that suffragette militancy is fundamentally wrong and in spite of the fact that she refused to serve on the committee chosen to receive Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst here, Mrs. Pankhurst will be the guest of honor at a dinner Miss Addams will give tonight it was announced at Hull house.

MASSACHUSETTS EXCISE LAW HELD TO BE VALID

Washington, Nov. 3.—The United States supreme court, in a decision today, held that the Massachusetts excise tax law is valid. The law imposes a tax upon corporations engaged in other than interstate commerce. That the Massachusetts law was void because it was an unlawful burden upon interstate commerce and took property without due process of law was alleged by the two corporations testing the constitutionality. The tax levied is one-fiftieth of 1 per cent upon the par value of authorized capital of foreign corporations doing business in the state, but not engaged in interstate commerce. The law exempts telegraph, railroad, telephone, express and similar corporations from the tax. The Baltic company asserted that in its copper business it was engaged in interstate commerce, as did the Dental Manufacturing company, both of which maintain offices in Boston.

A special committee, named to advise with the Industrial Welfare commission as to the minimum wages and maximum hours for women, reported that it deemed it unwise to interfere and suggested that the association approve what the commission has already done.

Resolution was adopted suggesting that the ministers of the city observe Sunday, November 9, as World's Temperance day.

ANOTHER NOTE ABOUT THAT WILSON WEDDING

Washington, Nov. 3.—When Miss Jessie Wilson, daughter of the late President, was married to Mr. Frank P. Taylor, she will wear a modish traveling suit of dark cloth and velvet trimmed with dark fur. The wedding gown will be made in three piece style, and be rather simply tailored. It is now being fitted at a smart Connecticut avenue shop. A chic hat of velvet fur will accompany it.

The Lace Sale

An Emphatic Success

—Those who thought they knew the Lipman & Wolfe store last year will find it a different store this year. This great organization, after a year's development is now demonstrating its power. It is made up of many men and many women—EACH A SPECIALIST—so that when we announce a sale in this store it means that the man or woman to whom the task is assigned knows his or her business thoroughly—MORE THOROUGHLY than in other stores where buyers are compelled to buy for many departments.

In This Great Lace Sale

—Women expressed themselves surprised, astonished, puzzled that this store should have its counters heaped high with the most fashionable laces that at regular prices it is difficult to secure, to find that these laces were sold at half and less than regular prices.

That Genius, Paul Poiret

—Dominates the world of fashion in women's apparel. With his origination of the La Minaret costumes he set his hand and seal upon THE VOGUE OF LACES. It's lace—lace—lace on everything. —How fortunate it was for us that this sale was schemed, prepared and worked out months ago. Had it been an "OVERNIGHT" affair this sale would not have been possible—but then this store never does hold "HURRIED OVERNIGHT" sales. That is one of the reasons why all our sales are so well attended. —As the well-known old familiar saying goes— "When Lipman, Wolfe & Co. advertise a sale you know it's true."
