

BILL TO REPAY STATE FOR COST OF INDIAN WARS IS INTRODUCED

Senator Chamberlain Also Has
Measure to Protect Water Supply of Baker.

Washington, Nov. 4.—Among measures of importance introduced in the Senate today is a bill for the relief of the state of Oregon. It provides for the repayment to the state of the sum of $193,648.02, which, in the language of the bill, is "the amount expended by said state in recruiting and securing volunteers for service in Indian wars during the years 1864 to 1867, and not heretofore reimbursed by the United States, as ascertained by the court of claims in its opinion filed December 31, 1908, and verified by audit of the secretary of the treasury, pursuant to the act of Congress approved June 25, 1910."

Another measure introduced by Senator Chamberlain is designed to give protection to the water supply of the city of Baker, "a municipal corporation of the state of Oregon." The bill provides that the public lands within the Whitman national forest situated in the county of Baker, state of Oregon, hereinafter described, are hereby reserved from all forms of location or entry and set aside as a municipal water supply reserve for the benefit of the city of Baker, a municipal corporation of the city of Oregon, to-wit: South half of northeast quarter and north half of southeast quarter section four, township nine south, range 33 east of the Williams meridian.

Baker Given Use of Land.

"Section 2. That to accomplish the purpose of this act as defined in section one hereof, said city of Baker shall have the right, subject to approval by the secretary of agriculture, to the use of any and all parts of the land above described for the storage and conveying of water and the construction and maintenance thereon of reservoirs, pipes, conduits, mains, ditches and other like or any improvements or means for the storage, diversion or transmission of water."

"Section 3. That this act shall be subject to the vested rights of any municipality, person or persons in or to the above described premises or any part thereof or the water thereof."

"Section 4. That the right to alter, amend or repeal this act is hereby expressly reserved."

As chairman of the committee on military affairs, Senator Chamberlain has introduced a bill to regulate the filling of vacancies in the corps of cadets at the United States Military Academy not otherwise provided for by existing law, and for other purposes. The bill provides that hereafter, whenever all vacancies in the military academy shall have been filled as the result of the regular annual entrance examination the remaining vacancies shall be filled by admission from the whole list of alternates selected in the order of their merit as established at such entrance examinations. The admissions thus made are to be credited to the United States at large and are not to interfere with or affect in any manner any appointment authorized by existing law; and whenever by the operation of this or any other law the corps of cadets exceeds its authorized maximum strength as already provided by law, the admission of alternates as prescribed in the proposed act shall cease until such time as the corps may be reduced to its present authorized strength.

It is further provided in section 2 of Senator Chamberlain's bill that the president is "authorized to appoint not to exceed 10 cadets annually to the United States Military Academy, each of whom shall have been recommended to the war department as the honor graduate of an educational institution having an officer of the army detailed as professor of military science and tactics under existing law, and designated in war department orders as an "honor school" upon the determination of its relative standing at the last preceding annual inspection regularly made by the war department: Provided, that the cadets appointed to the academy may be admitted to the academy without entrance examination and shall be in addition to the authorized strength of the corps of cadets as prescribed by existing law and in addition to the appointments authorized in the preceding section."

WIRES PROPOSAL TO MURDER CASE WITNESS

Grass Valley, Cal., Nov. 4.—George Trebilcock, a miner, has wired Chief of Police Johnson of Sacramento, requesting that Cleo Sterling, recently acquitted on a charge of murdering Cherry de St. Maurice, keeper of a Sacramento tendorio resort, write to him with a view to matrimony.

Trebilcock, who admits that he has lived in Grass Valley all his life, stipulates that the young woman must not be a "drinking girl."

She Has to Decline.

Sacramento, Cal., Nov. 4.—Cleo Sterling, recently acquitted of the murder of Cherry de St. Maurice, a woman of the tendorio, who says she is trying to lead an honest life, and who secured employment in the restaurant following her trial, said today that she appreciated an offer of marriage from George Trebilcock, a Grass Valley miner, but had declined his proposal for obvious reasons.

ASTORIA SELLS SEA WALL BOND ISSUE

Portland Agents Take Lot for Chicago Firm of Successful Bidders.

(Special to The Journal.)
Astoria, Or., Nov. 4.—At an adjourned meeting of the Sanitary and Reclamation commission last night final details were completed for the sale of the commission's issue of $100,000 in 40-year municipal bonds to the Harris Trust & Savings Bank of Chicago, Ill., and the contract was signed by the proper commission officials and F. B. Pratt of Morris Brothers' company, Portland, agents for the successful bidder. The bonds will be delivered December 1, and will bear interest at the rate of 5 percent per annum from that date.

The entire issue was sold at par, the Morris Brothers' company, receiving $1875 as agents' fees for the printing and for other services incident to their disposal. The funds derived from the sale of the bonds will be used by the commission constructing the new sea wall along the waterfront of this city.

GILES QUIMBY MAY KEEP TORNOW REWARD

Aberdeen, Wash., Nov. 4.—Under a ruling of Judge Sheeks of the superior court, the county commission were within their powers when they voted to pay Giles Quimby $3000 for his services to the county in killing John Tornow, the outlaw.

The court holds Quimby was not a duly authorized deputy sheriff, but appointed solely to capture Tornow, pay for which service was to be the reward offered by the county.

Relatives of the deputy sheriffs whom Tornow killed are seeking through a suit to recover a part of the reward.

Again the Laws Delay.

Chehalis, Wash., Nov. 4.—John Beaudin, a logger from Adna, convicted of a statutory crime against his 3-year-old daughter, and sentenced to a long penitentiary term, is to have a new trial. The supreme court holds that failure of the presiding judge to see that Beaudin was in court when certain instructions were given the jury is sufficient technical reason for ordering a new trial.

The best you can say for the average man is: "He tried to do his duty."

LOOK INTO STATUS OF WOMEN WORKERS IN ALL THE NORTHWEST

Commission at Tacoma Hears
That Employees Fear for Jobs if They Testify.

Tacoma, Wash., Nov. 4.—The girls are afraid to come—they think they will lose their positions if they do. This was the statement made by several women employees who testified before the State Welfare commission late yesterday at the Y. W. C. A., where an investigation of the conditions of female workers and the question of a minimum wage system was introduced.

Members of the commission evinced surprise at the small number of women present to give their views and suggest methods for a betterment of the condition of the women workers in this city. The answer was that they feared for their positions.

Miss Theresa McMahon of the Welfare commission delivered an address to the women who attended the session, outlining the object of the meeting.

The first branch of labor to be taken up for investigation was the laundry business. One woman stated that she had worked in a laundry for more than seven years. At the time she started she received exactly the same as she does today. She said low wages compelled most of the girls who have no homes, to room together so as to exist on the present rate of pay.

Eight department store girls gave testimony. One young woman told of how, six years ago in Walla Walla, she worked in a store for $6 per week. Later her pay was increased to $7.50. Today, six years later, she is receiving $6 in a local department store.

"The pay some store owners have offered me would startle you," she declared. "One man offered me 75 cents a day for 10 hours' work. Of course I refused it; but after all it is not so very much more than we are receiving in most stores today."

The apprenticeship method was then inquired into. The scheme was explained by one woman who said that a girl is employed at low wages and works for this until she becomes proficient when she asks for a raise. That is the signal for her dismissal and another "apprentice" is put in her place.

"The employer always tells you that if you are 'faithful and grateful' you will get an increase soon," she said. Some of the women, mostly older

TAXPAYERS OBJECT TO NEW COURT HOUSE

Walla Walla Commissioners
Find Their Decision Upset
by "the Pee-pul."

(Special to The Journal.)
Walla Walla, Wash., Nov. 4.—Whether or not Walla Walla county will have a new courthouse appears doubtful. The commissioners had decided to erect one, had accepted plans and had called for bids. But yesterday the taxpayers called a meeting and the commissioners and proceeded to call a halt on the expenditure of $300,000 for a new building.

The old building had been condemned by the architect who was to have erected the new one, and who was the only architect given a chance to draw plans. The first figures of $150,000 were stretched gradually until $300,000 was reached, and it was feared that the cost might even be more.

As a result of the meeting yesterday a committee was appointed to look into the condition of the old courthouse, to see what repairs to make it safe would cost, and to judge if a new building is necessary.

In the meantime the old building has been abandoned and the county offices are located in the Elks' building.

NEW CHRISTIAN HOME OPEN AT WALLA WALLA

Walla Walla, Wash., Nov. 4.—The Northwest Christian home, a benevolent institution for the aged and friendless children of the Christian church of Washington, Oregon, Idaho and Montana, was dedicated here this morning. The home is a large suburban house, purchased for this use, and which has its own water, sewer, heating and lighting plants.

Addresses were made by Dr. J. E. Davis of Spokane, Dr. W. S. Turner of North Yakima, Dr. A. M. Meldrum of Athena, Rev. J. A. Lord of Milton and Professor C. E. Sanderson of the University of Oregon.

Workers, claimed to be satisfied with the present conditions under which they work. They characterized their employers as "humane and considerate."

In the afternoon the employers were given a hearing. Owners of mercantile establishments, factories and laundries testified.

POMONA GRANGE WILL PAY AS IT BUILDS

Yankton, Or., Nov. 4.—Columbia county, Pomona Grange, met in regular quarterly session at Yankton Saturday. So much time was given to the good roads problem that it became a "good roads" meeting, which was fitting at this place, for the Yankton road district has, unaided, accomplished much in the matter of road building.

The Grange put itself on record as heartily in favor of good roads, but unanimously against bonding the county for roads or any other purpose, believing that as much has been done on the "pay as you go" plan the rest can be done in the same way.

In the evening 17 candidates were initiated into the mysteries of Pomona.
