Was Well Known Here.—J. Fred McCutcheon, well known among railroad men of this city, met death at Weed, Cal., on October 25, in a railroad accident. The body was brought to Carlton, Or., where burial services were held October 28. Rev. T. P. Schlosser for the Baptist church at Carlton officiating. Interment was in the McBride cemetery where his parents were buried. Mr. McCutcheon was survived by a widow, a small son, five brothers and two sisters. He was born in Colfax, Wash., 35 years ago, his parents bringing him to Carlton when he was six years old. He entered the railroad business 16 years ago and for many years was in the employ of the Oregon Short Line company in this city, having become a conductor in that company's service before leaving its employ to go to California.

J. W. Teal Will Speak.—Joseph N. Teal will be chief speaker before the Progressive Business Men's club tomorrow and his subject will be "River Improvement and Its Relation to the Columbia River and Portland." Mr. Teal is expected to outline a plan for utilizing the opportunity for water transportation. Because of unusual interest in his address members of several other commercial and civic organizations have been invited. Judge Stevenson's reception will be held at noon in the Multnomah hotel. A. C. Newell will be chairman of the day.

Petitions in Bankruptcy.—A petition in bankruptcy was filed with the federal court today by attorneys for Mike Ivanhoff, Kosta Nikoloff and Ivan Tevof, proprietors of the Sophia restaurant in the north end of the city. The partnership indebtedness is $375.72, with assets of $90, and there are several smaller totals of individual liabilities and assets. Attorneys also filed a petition in bankruptcy for Lewis W. McMurtry, general manager of Willows county, whose indebtedness is $6755.70 and assets $473.

See Yourself in the Pictures.—If you attended the big bridge day parade held in this city last Saturday afternoon, you should go to the Columbia theatre Thursday or Friday, and see if you cannot recognize yourself or your friends in the pictures of the event which will be shown. The camera men caught over 500 feet of film during the parade and all the important features of the pageant are shown. You should not miss it. (Adv.)

Salesman, Not Sailor.—Harry Mitchell dressed like a sailor and offered furs for sale, representing that the goods had been smuggled into the city. This scheme was operated in the resident district. Patrolman Burke found the man making such canvass and charged him with falsely advertising his goods, although he had a city license to sell them. This morning Judge Stevenson of the municipal court fined the man $40.

Arrested for Larceny.—For the third time within a year, Fred Erickson has been arrested in Portland for larceny. This morning Judge Stevenson of the municipal court, gave him 265 days on the rockpile for taking a purse and handbag. Erickson was released from the county jail 10 days ago after serving 40 days on the rockpile. He was to inquire at rooming houses for a room, then take whatever he could find.

Arrested for Gambling.—Seven members of the Walters' club at 148 1/2 Fifth street were arrested early this morning for gambling. They are Frank Mahon, Henry Grunning, Richard Henderson, Lewis Field, George Phillips, Barney Barnell and Edward Land. Money to the amount of $30 was found in the game. The case will be heard Saturday morning in the municipal court.

"Ramble Through Rome."—Rev. Father McNamee will give an illustrated lecture on "A Ramble Through Rome," at St. Francis Church hall, Corner Eleventh and East Pine, Thursday evening. Father McNamee just returned from Italy and his lecture will prove very interesting. There will be a musical program. The public is invited.

The United States Civil Service commission announces that on December 3 examination will be held in this city for chief mine surgeon (male) for position in the bureau of mines, Pittsburgh, Pa., at a salary ranging from $2400 to $3400 per annum. Persons desiring to compete will file their applications to Z. A. Leigh, postoffice department.

Live Wire Causes Trouble.—While walking his best pet cat, Patrolman J. R. White found a "live" side-walk grating at East Thirty-fifth street near Belmont. In some way, an electric light wire had come in contact with the grating. The grating was barricaded until repairs can be made today.

What a Nurse Says About Salgrene.—Any one suffering with rheumatism, lumbago or kidney trouble will find quick relief by taking two ounces Salgrene mixed with four ounces Olive Oil and take two teaspoonfuls every three hours. Salgrene contains no alcohol. Alcohol is so irritating to the kidneys. For sale at all drug stores. (Adv.)

Frightens Hold-Up Men.—Two men attempted to hold up Frank McCrum, of 217 East Fifty-fourth street, last night at 11 o'clock, but were scared away by another pedestrian. The hold-up was at East Sixtieth street and Forty-second avenue.

Injuries Prove Fatal.—From injuries sustained when an engine struck him, Andrew Nelson died last night at the Good Samaritan hospital. The accident happened in the O.-W. R. & N. yards. Nelson was a laborer and lived at Southeast.

At East Portland Library.—Tonight Professor Sweetest of the University of Oregon will give a "Toadstool Talk," illustrated with stereoscopic views, at the East Portland branch library, East Eleventh and East Alder streets.

Mission Circle to Meet.—An important meeting of the Florence Meade Mission circle of the Universalist church will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. M. E. Meade, 335 Clackamas street. The literary fea-

Portland Liquor House Brings Suit Against O.-W. R. & N. Co. in Federal Court.

Suit filed in the United States district court this morning by F. Zimmerman Co., wholesale liquor dealers, against the O.-W. R. & N. company will probably be carried to the supreme court of the United States in an effort to secure a ruling on the constitutionality of the Webb act. The Webb act, which relates to the interstate shipment of liquor into dry territory, is the government's only statute so far passed supporting the "dry" or local option movement.

The action, which is mandatory, is returnable before Judge Wolverton Monday. The answer of the railroad company will not be filed before that time, but it is anticipated that it will set forth that the railroad company refuses to carry shipments of liquor to Heyburn, Idaho, because of the Webb act and the fact that state statutes make the town "dry."

The suit is friendly and both parties agree to the facts. The liquor company was refused the right to ship over the O.-W. R. & N. across the Oregon Short Line a gallon of whiskey consigned to Heyburn.

Attorney George B. Guthrie, representing the plaintiffs, stated this morning that his contention at the hearing, in respect to the Webb act, is that it is unconstitutional because it gives a state the right, by enacting "dry" legislation, to regulate interstate commerce. This will be the plaintiff's principal point in the case.

The Webb act has never been taken to the supreme court in an effort to determine its constitutionality, although it is one of the most discussed measures passed by congress in recent years. A state judge in Iowa recently declared it unconstitutional, and federal courts in both the states of Minnesota and Kentucky have denied its legality.

EASTERNERS TO ROUTE THROUGH PORTLAND

That a majority of the people who come west to attend the San Francisco exposition in 1915 will make Portland one of the points on their itineraries was the message William McMurray, general passenger agent of the Oregon-Washington Railroad & Navigation company brought back with him from a 13,000 mile trip through the east.

"Prospects are good for a heavy travel next year and an overwhelming number of people the next," said Mr. McMurray today. "New England will send a large quota and the whole Atlantic seaboard will be represented in great numbers. Mr. McMurray has been away eight weeks, attending two conventions of passenger men and visiting Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Montreal, Winnipeg, Calgary, and most of the other railroad centers of the east.

"I counted up yesterday and found I had traveled 13,111 miles," said Mr. McMurray. "I got home just in time to meet the rain, but that makes the return the more enjoyable."

ture of the day will be a paper by Mrs. C. W. Ertz on "Famous Women in Reform and Religious Work." Among other matters to come before the meeting will be arranging for the annual bazaar. All interested will be welcome.

The W. C. T. U. will serve a family dinner, 11:30 to 2 o'clock, November 6 and 7, in the Behrke-Walker building, Fourth and Yamhill. Price 25 cents. Come and get some of mother's cooking. It's good. (Adv.)

WHEREABOUTS OF SON SOUGHT BY MOTHER

Does anyone know the present whereabouts of Albert Morton, at one time a resident of Portland, but more recently of Corbett, Or.?

He is also known to have lived in Warrendale, Or. Back in Pennsylvania his mother is conducting a search all the way across the continent for him. Morton, who is a blacksmith by trade, has not been heard from since February, 1911. He is described as being about five feet eight inches tall, weighs around 130 pounds, has black hair and is 30 years of age. Any information concerning him should be addressed to his mother, Mrs. N. Morton, Vintonville, Cambria county, Pennsylvania.

URGE THAT NO TIME BE LOST IN STARTING WORK ON BIG SPAN

a uniform and harmonious program of bond selling and bridge construction might be made.

In dealing with the authorities on the Washington side of the Columbia, the governor of Oregon will act as ex-officio chairman of the Multnomah county commissioners.

Under the law the county commissioners must arrange, 30 days after it is settled, that the bridge bonds be voted, for the issuance of the bonds and must proceed to do so as soon as possible. Legal requirements will be anticipated, if possible, in order that work on the interstate bridge may begin soon after the first of the year, and in order that the great span may be completed by the beginning of 1915.

"I intend to bring the necessity for immediate action before the county court today," announced Mr. Nolte.

"The reasons against delay are just as strong now that the bridge has been voted as when we used those reasons as pre-conditions to the vote. It is the bridge will pay for itself three ways—increased traffic, increased realty values, opportunity for trade with Clark county farmers. In North Portland we are isolated so far as connection with a farming community is concerned. The bridge will end that isolation. I feel like thanking the people for their vote on the interstate bridge, not for my sake but for theirs. It was the cleanest campaign I have ever known."

"I believe it is incumbent upon the board of county commissioners," said Chairman Holman, in speaking of the bridge bonds, "to see that every dollar is spent judiciously, along the lines of efficient business procedure, and without any waste whatever. If it is not necessary to sell the bond issue of $1,250,000 to build the bridge, and its approach, so much the better."

"Multnomah county's approval of the interstate bridge bonds is one of the most significant things accomplished in a decade," said Mayor Riley of the interstate bridge committee.

Portland Will Be Market. "It means that Portland is not to be satisfied with anything less than a complete supremacy as a market in the Columbia basin, and that she is ready to meet any neighborly offer of cooperation, and to do her share in the up-building of surrounding territory."

"It means, too, that she is ready to help close the only gap in the Pacific highway from British Columbia to Mexico. The committee is gratified at the overwhelming endorsement given the project and feel that future events will reward the vote for the bridge as enthusiastically expressed yesterday."

"The committee is gratified, too, because of remarkable support given the bridge by all classes of citizens and organizations."

"I think especial credit is due the great number of smaller organizations that not only endorsed the bridge but whose members worked hard for it," said C. C. Chapman, who served as secretary of the campaign committee.

Commercial Club Active. The interstate bridge committee for Multnomah county was appointed by the Portland Commercial club. It includes Frank B. Riley, J. H. Nolte, Whitney L. Bolge, David E. Lofgren, Judge M. G. Munly, E. G. Crawford, John E. Logan, W. M. Killingsworth, C. C. Chapman and E. N. Weinbaum, assistant secretary. A number of Clark county citizens were very effective supporters of the Multnomah county campaign, including Allison Burnham, Henry Cross, W. F. Conaway, James P. Stapleton, H. L. Moody.

The committee first secured the passage of an act by the legislature defining the bridge as a permanent road, thus permitting bonds for its building to be issued under the terms of the county bonding act. The measure provides that the state shall pay the interest on the bonds, which are to be sold for not less than par, to draw interest of not more than 8 per cent, and to run not more than 30 years. The county commissioners constitute the bonding committee, and the governor and the county commissioners constitute the responsible agency to arrange franchise, construction and other matters with the Clark county authorities.

SEVEN BOYS CALLED INTO JUVENILE COURT

Seven boys in North Portland have been summoned to appear in the juvenile court for taking wheat from the Crown flour mills. Detectives Goitz and Grism took up investigation yesterday. The boys would gather the wheat under the elevator and peddle it to families keeping chickens.

The lads accused are Albert Stone, 563 Savier street; Chester Pullen, Twenty-fifth and Lake streets; Edward Zesofsky, 54 Wilson street; Leon Goosena, 619 Savier street; Leo Baden, 595 Uphur street; Clifford McCroskey, 333 Nineteenth street, and Adam Koontz.

PEOPLE TO BE GIVEN OPPORTUNITY TO VOTE ON PLANNED PROJECTS

City Officials Will Ask Expression of Opinion on Proposed Expenditures.

Unable to secure sufficient funds for the building of a municipal paving plant, a public market and other purposes by taxation, without raising the proposed tax levy of 7.7 mills, the city commissioners meeting late yesterday afternoon in Mayor Albee's office decided to submit bond issues to the people at the special city election, December 9.

The aggregate amount will be about $275,000 including the cost of park improvements. Along with these bond issues will be submitted the various amendments to the charter.

It is planned to have the voters authorize the sale of $200,000 for permanent improvements in Washington, Macleay and Laurelhurst parks, $50,000 for the establishment of a municipal paving plant and $25,000 for a public market.

Most of these items were included in the various budget estimates, but they could not be considered without raising the tax levy. It was decided to put the matter up to the people for authority to sell bonds.

Tentative plans for the construction of a paving plant have already been made by a committee from the department of public works. This committee recently made a trip to Springfield, Or., to inspect the paving plant in operation there. Several sites for this structure are now being considered.

Originally $12,000 had been asked for the establishment of a public market. Later this amount was raised to $17,500. It was finally eliminated from the budget by the budget committee. The commissioners yesterday decided to increase the amount to $25,000 and have the people authorize the sale of bonds.

The issuance of serial bonds paying either 5 or 6 per cent interest running 15 years as advocated by City Auditor Barbur met with the approval at the meeting, and it is probable that an amendment to the charter covering this will be submitted for a vote. With serial bonds it will be possible, it is said, for the city to pay them off at the rate of 10 per cent each year and extending the payment period over a term of years.

C. & E. BALLASTING TO BE DONE BEFORE MAY

Completion of the new steel work and the ballasting of the Corvallis & Eastern branch of the Southern Pacific before next May was the prophecy today of D. W. Campbell, general superintendent of the railway system in Oregon, after his return from an inspection trip.

Mr. Campbell found the work now beginning fairly to show, with 75 pound steel rails laid as far west of Corvallis as Noon. The ballasting is proceeding at the rate of half a mile a day.

"That the work when completed will make the beach line to Newport as substantial as a main line road was the conclusion reached by the superintendent after his inspection."
