

EVENTS IN SOCIETY

Articles for publication in the Sunday Society Department must be on the society reporter's desk Friday afternoon.

FLOWERS! Banks of blossoms, pyramids of posies, flowers of every variety and hue will blend in one vast symphony of color and mingle their fragrance in a harmony of perfume all for "sweet charity" at the second annual Autumn Flower Show which will be given Tuesday and Wednesday of this week at the Armory by the Portland Floral Society. Society is greatly interested in the show, not only on account of its great beauty, but for the reason that all proceeds will be donated to the Fruit and Flower Mission, that well known philanthropy, whose chief activity is the maintenance of a day nursery on Fifth street for the care of children whose mothers are employed during the day. Mrs. E. C. Meares is the president of the mission.

A beautiful booth is being erected in the Armory where, during the show, one may purchase all kinds of beautiful blooms. The proceeds from the sale also going to the mission, as the flowers are donated by the Floral Society. Miss Mabel A. Beck, Mrs. F. E. Watkins and Miss Harriet Jallison will be in charge of the booth and they will be assisted by the following young girls: Misses Antonette Mears, Madeline Caswell, Alice Smith, Elizabeth Peacock, Helen Wood, Barbara Macy, Katherine McKenna, Virginia Menefee, Delphine Rosenfeld, Mary Bacon, Gretchen Smith, Helene Page, Marjorie Reed, Beatrice McIndoe, Marjorie Hall, Hensley Hart.

Mrs. Thomas D. Honeyman, Mrs. Guy Webster Talbot, Mrs. Julius Meier, Miss Sallie Lewis and Miss Marjorie Hoffmann will act as judges of the decorated tables. The patronesses for the show will include: Mrs. C. F. Adams, Mrs. Everett Ames, Mrs. J. C. Alsworth, Mrs. W. J. Burns, Mrs. Charles F. Beebe, Mrs. T. Scott Brooks, Mrs. Sol Blumauer, Mrs. L. G. Clarke, Mrs. Helen Ladd Corbett, Mrs. Edward Cookinham, Mrs. Paul Froelich, Mrs. John Forbis, Miss Flanders, Mrs. Max Fischler, Mrs. E. C. Giltner, Mrs. A. A. Mortenson, Miss Augusta Marshall, Mrs. E. C. Meares, Mrs. William Morrison, Mrs. C. Lewis Meade, Mrs. J. P. O'Brien, Mrs. Edgar Piper, Mrs. H. L. Pittock, Mrs. Andrew Porter, Mrs. W. B. Morseman, Mrs. Ben Neustadter, Mrs. Johnson Porter, Mrs. A. E. Hooker, Mrs. F. E. Stanley, Mrs. Richard Koehler, Mrs. E. Goldsmith, Mrs. William Honeyman, Mrs. Max Hirsch, Mrs. Ralph Hoyt, Mrs. Solomon Hirsch, Mrs. Ludwig Hirsch, Mrs. Oskar Huber, Mrs. C. E. Jackson, Mrs. G. W. Kleimer, Mrs. L. A. Lewis, Mrs. C. H. Lewis, Mrs. J. Wesley Ladd, Mrs. William Ladd, Mrs. I. N. Lipman, Mrs. William MacMaster, Mrs. A. J. Meier, Mrs. William Skene, Mrs. Ben Seiling, Mrs. J. N. Teas, Mrs. C. E. Wood, Miss Clara Teal, Mrs. Otis B. Wright, Mrs. Holt C. Wilson, Mrs. Morris Whitehouse, Mrs. Jonah B. Wise.

Delavan Peters will receive Saturday afternoon, November 16, at her home in Irvington, Twenty-second and East Broadway streets.

Mr. and Mrs. Gustavus Green Henry announce the wedding of their daughter, Miss Mary Lee Henry, to Honorable Wm. Patrick Lawler of San Francisco, which will occur November 25 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry in San Diego, Cal. Miss Henry is known to many Portland people as the sister of Mrs. Frederick Alva Jacobs, with whom she has visited here. Miss Elizabeth Jacobs, who is visiting now at the home of her grandparents, will be an attendant at the wedding.

Mrs. Emma E. Carroll will at home Thursday, Nov. 13, at a musical tea. The following women will assist on the program: Mrs. Arthur Fronting, Miss Frances Batchelor, Miss Frances Dayton, Miss Agnes Winchell, Miss Katherine Seller. Miss Seller will play several compositions of Miss Marian Bauer, dedicated to Miss Seller.

Mrs. J. P. O'Brien was hostess at an informal luncheon Thursday at her home on Twentieth street. The table was centered with the tiny buton chrysanthemums in yellow. Covers were laid for eight, as follows: Mrs. F. B. Stanley, Mrs. Robert Kennedy, Mrs. A. A. McDonnell, Mrs. Bert Ritchie, Mrs. Cos A. McKenna, Mrs. E. E. Lytle and the hostess.

Miss Diana Erskine, daughter of the British consul and Mrs. Erskine, presided at an informal dancing party Monday evening at her home, when she had about 50 guests of the younger set. Autumn foliage and flowers decked the rooms effectively.

Mrs. W. H. Dunkley entertained Thursday afternoon at her home on Kearney street. There were 11 tables at bridge, arranged with numbers of additional guests who called later for tea. Mrs. E. C. Shevlin, Mrs. E. C. Meares, Mrs. John Alsworth and Mrs. J. Wesley Ladd presided at a handsomely appointed tea table adorned with quantities of the little buton chrysanthemums in yellow arranged in a silver basket. About the drawing room where the card tables were placed decorations were pink, great clusters of cosmos being used with chrysanthemums and carnations.

A splendid light opera has been composed by one of the popular men of the younger set, Leland Smith, and an equally clever and unique libretto supplied from the pen of another Portland man, Preston Smith. Mrs. Helen Ladd Corbett, Ladd together about 80 guests informally at her home last Monday evening and the score was run over with Mrs. Lloyd Smith, Dom E. Zan, Miss Lina Linehan and Oliver B. Hughes staging the soprano, basso and tenor parts. The name of the opera is "Wavaland" and it is supposed to be laid under the sea. There is Battie Neptune, Coralie, Pearlina and any number of other strictly watery characters. The music is catchy and of a distinctive character far above the average of light opera. There is some hope among the society folk of producing it here in the near future as a benefit for charity.

Miss May Brasilia has sent out cards for the evening of November 17, when bronzes, paintings, silverware, chinaware and cut glass.

A brilliant ball was given Tuesday night by Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Weather-wax in Knights of Pythias Temple for the bridal party and friends from Portland.

Miss Willow Fields has been a much feted bride-elect during the past two weeks, since the announcement of her betrothal to James Walsh of Spokane. Saturday afternoon Mrs. Esther Jones presided at an informal affair in her honor. Last Tuesday afternoon the Misses Flora and Mary Jessop gave a luncheon followed by bridge with covers for 20 at luncheon and four tables at cards. Thursday afternoon Mrs. J. Coulson Hare and Mrs. William B. Hare were hostesses at an Orpheum party, followed by tea at the Portland, with covers for nine. A surprise of the tea time was a handkerchief shower for Miss Fields.

This week on Monday Miss Genevieve Mattison will entertain informally. Tuesday afternoon Mrs. Frederic Vrooman (Killedred Armstrong) will give a bridge followed by an informal tea, and Thursday afternoon Miss Helen Hall will be an informal hostess in her honor.

The guests at the theatre party Thursday were: Miss Fields, Miss C. E. Fields, Mrs. Roy H. B. Nelson, Mrs. Fred Gulick, Miss Sallie Sterrett, Miss Marie Gingrick and Mrs. Frederic Vrooman.

Tuesday afternoon at her beautiful bungalow home, "Five Acres," Mrs. George Parrish entertained with 15 tables at bridge. The house was decked in quantities of autumn leaves, with clusters of rare dahlias in harmonizing colors. Mrs. J. G. Parrish, mother-in-law of the hostess, and Mrs. A. R. Parrish, her sister-in-law, were the honored guests. Highest honors at cards fell to Mrs. John Teft, Mrs. M. G. Nasse and Mrs. Jack Marshall. Yates. A number of additional guests called from 4 until 8 for tea.

Complimenting Miss Wm. May Fields, a popular bride-to-be, Mrs. William P. Fildner will give a large reception Monday afternoon from 2 to 5 o'clock, October 17, at her Irvington home, 500 Thompson street.

A wedding of much interest to their many friends is that of Miss Genevieve McBride of this city and Harry E. Trout of Harrisburg, Pa., who were married Thursday, October 30, at the residence of the Paulist fathers in Chicago at high noon.

Miss McBride is a niece of Mrs. D. W. Burke, wife of the late General Burke and of Mrs. Murphy, wife of Colonel John Murphy, U. S. A. retired. She has made her home with the bride's mother, Mrs. F. J. Trout, who is a wide circle of friends in Portland. She was married from the home of Captain and Mrs. Hugh D. Bowker, U. S. A. retired, who also attended the bride and groom. Miss McBride is a brunette, a beautiful girl with an equally beautiful and charming personality.

Mr. Trout will be remembered here as the builder of the Broadway bridge. He is a prominent man of affairs. He is building a bridge at Seattle, Wash., which is near completion, and they plan to make their home for the following six or seven months at Toledo, Ohio, where Mr. Trout has similar work awaiting him.

Now that the "Jappyland" rehearsals have reached the point where the various dances and chorus numbers have lost their first crudities and are beginning to show the swing and vim of harmonious action, enthusiasm is rapidly growing among the 800 young folk who are to participate in the big production to be given at the Armory Thanksgiving week. The musical bits of "Jappyland" melodies are on everyone's lips, and the fancy dancing steps are being practiced everywhere at any time two or more of the dancers chance to meet. Not only are the rehearsals at the Multnomah Hotel assembly room well under way, but all the incidental details of the production, so important to success and so infinite in number, have been set moving and are beginning to shape into systematic organization.

Mrs. Holt C. Wilson and her advisory board have been working tirelessly and report gratifying progress in all the arrangements. The great gym Armory is to be converted into a charming Oriental fairland of banners, lanterns and cherry-blossoms, and numerous picture and cut glass.

Announcement of the complete cast of "Jappyland" will not be made until next week or later, but some of the best vocal talent of the city has been secured for the leading roles, and the cleverest of society dancers are to be in the specialties. The scenic ventures are to be richly beautiful, and the costumes gorgeously gay. "Jappyland" will undoubtedly be in class with the magnificent Kilmoss given in the same place several seasons ago, and many predict that it will even surpass it, especially in the high musical standard. For the ensuing weeks there will be little time, and little energy left for other social distractions, and the activities will all be in the nature of informal entertainment of the "Jappyland" dancers, private rehearsals of the groups, etc. The "Jappyland" dates are to be Thursday and Friday evenings, November 27 and 28, with Saturday matinee to close. Preliminary to the opera proper, a beautiful prelude will be given, opening the production. In this there will be high school girls, led by Miss Margaret Shea, who will represent various flowers, and give five song numbers with special dances and an impressive finale. There will be 20 special numbers in all, the whole woven together with a light extravaganza plot.

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Hofmann were hosts Friday evening at one of the very attractive Halloween parties.

When they had about 50 guests assembled for a fancy dress dancing party. Costumes of every description were worn, the most unique couple being Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Scott, who were given the "apple" of the prize. The dancing was a well-kept scene with winners and Jack o'lanterns peeping from a forest of green and autumn leaves.

Supper was an unexpected affair. Instead of the conventional serving guests were given a tray and silver and told to go to the kitchen cafeteria and help themselves. The invited guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Fish, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Finley, Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Herman A. Friedrich, Mr. and Mrs. John Bracher, Mr. and Mrs. Marion Versteeg, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Cameron, Mr. and Mrs. James Cameron, Mr. and Mrs. F. Palmer, Mr. and Mrs. Ford, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Meese, Mr. and Mrs. Bowman, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fields, Mr. and Mrs. Eltinger, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Stewart, Miss Edna Canyon of Chicago, Miss Anna Lake of Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. Sears, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Curry, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Kline, Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Vincent, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Gillmore, Mr. and Mrs. Frank McCrillis, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Haller, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Scott.

Miss Ruth Church was married Wednesday evening at a pretty home wedding at the residence of her mother, Mrs. W. J. Church, in Clay street, to Kenneth Robertson, the Rev. Luther B. Dyott officiating. The wedding was simply yet charmingly arranged. Miss Genevieve Church, maid of honor, was her sister's only attendant and William Crane, sister's best man. After the reading of the ceremony the bridal party received their many friends. A buffet supper was served from the dining room and an orchestra hidden in a bowery of flowers and greens, furnished music throughout the evening.

Prasiding at the table were Mrs. Louis G. Clarke, Mrs. F. F. Dabney, Mrs. H. E. Parker and Mrs. E. P. Mitchell. Serving punch were Miss Ella McCall, of Hood River, and Miss Elizabeth Parker.

The house was elaborately decked with quantities of autumn foliage and flowers arranged artistically with festoons of smilax.

The bride was stunningly attired in white charmeuse trimmed with beautiful lace in modish design, all unveiled in the soft folds of her wedding veil of rose point fashioned with mob cap, and falling to the hem of her long court train. Her bouquet was of orchids and lilies of the valley.

Miss Genevieve Church was beautifully gowned in coral pink charmeuse trimmed with a cream lace. She carried an arm bouquet of Lady Hillington roses.

Mrs. Church wore a handsome gown of black tulle with lace draped over ivory toned charmeuse.

Mr. and Mrs. Robertson left for an extended wedding trip and upon their return will make their home with Mrs. Church until their new home at Mount Tabor is completed.

Miss Marjorie Lachmund entertained a number of friends on Friday evening at the home of her parents, corner of Sixteenth and Halsey streets in Irvington. Monsieur Henri Gilles, the noted young French pianist, who is touring this country with Georza, was the special guest and delighted the company with some brilliant piano numbers by Debussy. Mr. Arnold Lachmund also played a selection by Liszt. There were opera and other musical charades in which all participated.
