for holding him. John Walters was arrested with him, being also discharged.
Franklyn is 33 years old, but looks much younger. During the last presidential election he voted in his home precinct at Pittsburg, Pa., in which some question arose over his age, as he wore knee trousers. Franklyn soon proved by his parents, however, that he was entitled to a vote.

Wanted Wood Removed—A neighbor of Rev. Delmar H. Trimble complained yesterday to Chief of Police Clark that the minister is allowed to keep wood on the street in front of his house an unreasonable length of time. "I would like to know if a minister is a privileged character," wrote the neighbor, who signed himself a "taxpayer." The wood has been there several months and the policeman on the beat does not make him take it in." Rev. Mr.
Trimble lives at 444 East Ankeny street. The police sergeant made an investigation, reporting that the wood had been taken inside.

Charges Greedy to Dog—Miss Isette Lewis, 511 Morrison street, complained against H. E. Greig, a florist on Alder between Fifth and Fourth streets, in the municipal court this morning, accusing him of being cruel to her dog. She charged that the florist kicked the dog, causing it to walk upon three legs.
Greig said the dog stopped at his place and attempted to chase it away.
The court held that kicking a dog was opprobrious to animals, and fined the florist $10. The humane society prosecuted the case.

Hilderbrand, 549 Taylor street, was

Fire Destroys Residence.—The home of P. E. Currie at Fifth avenue and Mayberry streets, Lewis, was destroyed by fire last evening. A lamp exploded at the head of the stairs, causing the blaze. Currie was not at home. Mrs.
Mary Laird was carrying the lamp in her hand at the time. In some way

EGGS AT CHARIVARI
DECIDEDLY MALABROPOS
SAYS MUNICIPAL COURT

Eggs used at charivari are entirely out of order. So held Municipal Judge Stevenson this morning. The judge added that a newly married couple has plenty of trouble ahead, and that anything that resembles rowdyism at or after a wedding is out of date and improper. Hence, he said, the law calls it "disorderly conduct."

The foregoing questions arose in the arrest of three young men who threw eggs at Mr. and Mrs.
John Powell, who were married last evening at the bride's home, 407 Fairbank avenue. The bride was Miss Leah Burton.
As the newly married couple left the home to take their auto mobile for Cleone, Or., a crowd of boys, known as the "Crematory gangs," pelted them with eggs. The clothes of the couple were badly soiled, while the new automobile was coated with the eggs.

Patrolmen Weice and Tevlin had been called to the place, as rowdyism was anticipated. Herman Under and Rynar Under, 144 Vaughan street, both under age, were arrested and turned over to the juvenile court.
George Krimbal, Robert Mc-Bride and Allen Holmes were arrested and taken into the municipal court this morning. Each of the latter were fined $10.
